Polychrome Marble Coffee Table

Created as part of Giuseppe Porcelli's collection for Casa Cabana, this sculptural coffee table translates the richly layered atmosphere of Martina Mondadori's Milan home through Porcelli's own contemporary language.

A mahogany-stained solid wood structure is crowned with a graphic surface of marble and black resin, while polished steel traces the edge and feet. Warm wood, coloured stone and reflective metal come together in an elegant play of material and contrast, giving the piece a distinctly architectural presence.

Polychrome Marble Console Table

Giuseppe Porcelli reinterprets the decorative richness of Casa Cabana in this striking console, balancing architectural geometry with an expressive use of material.

Its mahogany-stained solid wood structure supports a richly patterned top of marble and black resin, framed with polished steel detailing. The composition brings together warmth, colour and reflection in a piece that feels at once rooted in the traditions of the decorative arts and unmistakably contemporary.

Tortoiseshell Plexiglas Bar Tray Table

A theatrical interpretation of the traditional drinks table, Giuseppe Porcelli's Bar Tray Table channels the layered glamour of Casa Cabana through a characteristically playful combination of materials.

A tortoiseshell-effect Plexiglas tray sits above a slender black powder-coated iron structure, punctuated by brushed solid brass spheres. Handmade viscose cords and tassels bring softness and movement to the graphic frame, transforming a functional object into something altogether more decorative.

Velvet Ottoman with Bamboo and Brass

Rich in texture and detail, Giuseppe Porcelli's Velvet Pouf distils the eclectic spirit of Casa Cabana into a compact decorative object.

Upholstered in soft viscose velvet, the piece is finished with lacquered natural bamboo handles and brushed brass details, including solid brass feet. The juxtaposition of velvet, bamboo and metal gives the pouf an almost jewel-like character, reflecting Porcelli's instinct for combining traditional decorative references with a distinctly modern sensibility.
