INTRODUCTION

The Castle, Bude. Steeped in History Come and Discover

Welcome to The Castle Heritage Centre in the heart of Bude. Our Grade II listed building, one of Bude's finest and oldest, is nestled in the sand dunes overlooking Summerleaze Beach and runs alongside the Bude Canal.

The Castle, originally the home of Sir Goldsworthy Gurney, was built in 1830 and is steeped in history, which makes it a great place to visit whether young or old.

It's imposing, yet elegant and unaltered, Victorian façade houses the heritage centre, art galleries, Café Limelight and gift shop. Our lawned area and bandstand are the site of many events and are the perfect spot to come and enjoy a picnic.

We are open throughout the year from Wednesdays to Sundays from 10am and offer free admission. The building and grounds are owned and operated by Bude-Stratton Town Council. A warm welcome awaits you here at The Castle.

Inspiring Exhibits

From Prehistoric to modern day Bude, you can immerse yourself in the rich heritage this small town gives to its visitors. We have over fifteen exhibits at the centre, all free entry and open seven days a week. Find out about the Bude formation, a distinctive rock formation unique to this area. During the 1930's, a fossil fish was discovered within the Bude formation and named Cornuboniscus Budensis. See the fossil on display, which has not been found anywhere else in the world. Further displays include shipbuilding and shipwrecks, featuring Bude's most famous wreck, the Bencoolen. Maritime links continue, with a display on Bude's little known link to probably the most famous wreck of all, the Titanic. Also featured downstairs, is an exhibition about the railway, documenting its history and subsequent demise in Bude through a series of interesting artefacts.

Exhibitions continue with the Bude Canal. Discover the story behind this unique waterway, with its working sea-lock and its historical importance to Bude. A detailed model shows how goods were transported uphill via the inclined plane, a feat of Victorian engineering. D-Day provides a link to Bude's more modern past, with US Rangers using the cliffs of Bude to practice before heading to the beaches of Normandy. An exhibition shares some of the memories of the Rangers in Bude by local residents.

Weathering The Storm Exhibit

“Weathering the Storm”, tells the story of how saving lives at sea, has defined the people and community of Bude for centuries. This new exhibit can be found in The Maskell Room which is off the Cowie Corridor on the first floor of The Castle. You can access this through Café Limelight or through the heritage centre on the ground floor. If you’d like to hear more about the stories of Bude’s ‘Unsung Heroes’, why not pop in for a visit.

The Storm Tower Exhibit

To commemorate the history of the Storm Tower and the historic journey it has experienced, a dedicated exhibit has been installed at The Castle Heritage Centre. The exhibit features information on the Acland family, the history of the Storm Tower, the past and recent moves to preserve the tower, the community's involvement and a look at climate change which is the reason why the much loved landmark was moved and saved.

This exhibit can be found on the ground floor of The Castle, just off the reception area, right of the main stairs.

The Gurney Room Exhibit

The Gurney Exhibit is a 're-imagining Sir Goldsworthy Gurney' from the original exhibition. Sir Goldsworthy Gurney designed and built The Castle in 1830. He was a Victorian scientist, inventor and engineer, whose achievements have been largely forgotten by society. The exhibit has three themed areas, explaining Gurney's key experiments with creating a steam driven carriage, his experiments with light, and the steam jet. Three new interactives engage with the viewer to bring his ideas to life. An element of fun runs throughout the whole exhibit. The Gurney Rooms are located on the first floor just off the Cowie Corridor.

Sarah O'Connor creates felt and wool artworks depicting wild animals, inspired by concern for the pressures they face from human activity. I've spent so many mornings on the local beaches, just sitting with a sketchbook, watching the sea throw itself at the rocks over and over. These paintings came out of that. I want you to feel what I feel out there: the wind, the noise, the sheer size of it all. Come stand in front of them with me.

This exhibition will be in The Willoughby Gallery on the first floor.

I have lived in Cornwall for 25 years and this beautiful place continues to inspire me. My work is an alchemy of soul and magic. I am never sure what will appear on the canvas. But I get lost in the process, information about yourself as well.

This exhibition will be in The Blanchminster Gallery, on the first floor.

Faith Chevannes & Maddy Meaden
'Between Land and Wing'

Opens: 28 November 2026

Last day: 17 December 2026

This exhibition explores the quiet relationship between place and presence. Along the coast, land is never empty: cliffs hold birds, hedgerows shelter movement, and gardens thrive as ecosystems. By showcasing two ways of seeing, the show reflects on how our landscape is shaped not only by weather and time, but by the lives that pass through it, settle, and return. This exhibition will be in The Willoughby Gallery on the first floor.

'Headspace'

Opens: 28 November 2026

Last day: 17 December 2026

My current body of work explores my enduring fascination with the human face and head, drawing on many years of experience as a sculptor and studio potter. The sculptures are crafted in clay, with subtle colours and textures achieved through the ancient technique of pit firing. This exhibition will be in The Blanchminster Gallery, on the first floor.
