Club News

By Clay Thomas, General Manager · Seminole Lake Country Club

Although October began with a continuation of September's rain, it ended with two beautiful weeks of cool, dry weather. The golf course is finally dry, and it is in excellent condition. We are excited for a great winter season.

We were pleased to welcome many members back last week with our Fall Member Appreciation Night on Tuesday. Pat Best entertained us with his great music and members enjoyed Chef David's excellent food while visiting with old friends.

Remember that beginning November 1, the golf course will be private for golf members and their guests only before noon.

We look forward to seeing you around the Club.

As winter approaches, we want to remind our members to stay on the cart paths around the greens. Please look out for turn-out stakes about 30 yards short of the greens. This will help us to keep the turf around the greens healthier through the cooler winter months.

Golf News

By Mark Codianna, Head Golf Professional

On October 31st we had the Superintendents Revenge golf tournament set up by our Superintendent Travis. I will update you with the results in next month's newsletter.

November 7th is the start of the Two-Person Match Play Tournament. It is a bracket-style tournament where you and your partner will play a net best ball against two other golfers. We currently have eight women's teams which makes a perfect bracket. On the men's side we have 26 teams so six more teams will make a perfect bracket of 32 teams. This is a fun format that we don't play very often so if you are not signed up, make sure you do so.

Our annual Nite-Lite Tournament will be held on December 4th this year. The Nite Lite Tournament is only open to the first twelve four-person teams that sign up, so sign up early. I will put the sign-up sheet out sometime in early November. It is a fun scramble with nine holes played in the evening, followed by a light dinner and the nine holes in the dark. The golf course will be set up with a bunch of glowing lights, and you will be provided with glow golf balls. We will be playing the front nine at night this year so please come by the golf shop and sign up.

I think that everyone will agree that our greens are as good as they have ever been. As they have matured, they have become much more receptive to approach shots. That also means that your approach shots are leaving pitch marks on the greens. Please remember to repair your ball marks to keep our greens smooth and healthy through the winter.

AGRONOMY & COURSE MAINTENANCE

Course News · Green Side UP

By Travis Woods, Head Greens Keeper

FALL AGRONOMY MILESTONES

- Oct: Treat golf course with pre-emergent herbicide
- Early Nov: Overseed driving range tee
- Early Nov: Open new section of 9 green

I hope that you all enjoyed the creative and challenging course setup for my Superintendent's Revenge event. I've heard about 4-putt greens, 5-putt greens and even a 12-putt on hole 10 last year. Maybe it wasn't fun for you, but it was fun for me!

We were happy to open up the new front section of green on hole 9. This will make for some fun and interesting new hole locations on that green. I am excited to begin utilizing the new area with its subtle false front.

We are happy that the course has finally dried up from the previous few months of rain. We have finally gotten everything mowed out and the fairways are looking great. We put a lot of effort into improving the teeing areas over the summer, including adding a few new tee boxes. All of the teeing grounds are looking healthy, and we are ready for winter.

I have been busy spraying pre-emergent herbicide over the last few weeks. This is a crucial fall practice that will minimize weed growth through the winter and into the spring. The staff have been pruning ornamental shrubs around the golf course and mulching beds using the mulch that came from the tree trimming that we performed over the summer.

In the coming week we will be overseeding the driving range tee. We will have the practice tee set up in front of the tee box in order to give the seed time to get established. We hope to move back onto the overseeded tee in mid-November.

See you around the golf course.

Events Recap

Cosmic Tennis was a cosmic hit. The adults were amazed, like the kids, by how their outfits and the balls glowed, LOL! Players then competed in various doubles games with Coaches Erick and Matt on the court in the glow-in-the-dark arena. Coach Jorge provided great MC work along with awesome surround sound music. A big thank you to my team: Terry, Hextor, Dale, Abby, and JoAnn for all their hard work with the lights, decor, and food.

WELLNESS, MOBILITY & ATHLETIC LONGEVITY

Improving Rotational Power for Golf and other Sports

By Jodie Johnson, Fitness Director

Improving rotational power boosts performance in golf and other rotational sports, producing easier swings with more power. Proper technique is vital, so consulting your golf pro is always recommended. In the gym, increasing rotational range of motion, muscle strength, and fast muscle recruitment will help build and maintain power.

Because these traits vary by athlete—some excel in mobility, others in speed or strength—measuring and targeted training are essential. With better rotational power and solid technique, you can expect higher clubhead speed, ball speed, and shot distance. Segmented rotation, such as upper- and lower-body dissociation, reveals specific mobility limits. Below are exercises to improve these key areas and elevate your golf performance.

"Consistent pre-round warmups and posterior shoulder activation protect joint health and extend your athletic longevity for years to come."
