R-RATING SLIP RESISTANCE

The R rating for slip resistance is a standardized measure used to evaluate the slip resistance of flooring materials, including granite tiles.

It indicates how slip-resistant a surface is, especially when wet or under certain conditions. This rating is crucial for applications where safety is a concern, such as in commercial spaces, bathrooms, or outdoor areas.

The R rating ranges from R9 to R13, with each level representing a different degree of slip resistance. It is determined through a standardized test called the ramp test. This test involves a person walking on an inclined ramp covered with the flooring material, which is gradually tilted until the person slips.

Here's a breakdown of the R rating scale :

CLASSING	INCLINE ANGLE	SLIP RESISTANCE	AREA OF USE
R9	6° - 10°	LOW	▪ Suitable for dry indoor areas, such as living rooms and bedrooms. ▪ Not recommended for areas that are frequently wet or exposed to water.
R10	10° - 19°	MEDIUM	▪ Suitable for most indoor applications, including residential kitchens, hallways, and low-traffic commercial spaces. ▪ Can be used in areas that may occasionally get wet but not continuously exposed to water.
R11	19° - 27°	HIGH	▪ Suitable for areas that may become wet, such as bathrooms, kitchens, and laundry rooms. ▪ Often used in commercial kitchens or areas where water spillage is likely.
R12 SUPER STOP	27° - 35°	VERY HIGH	▪ Suitable for commercial spaces, industrial areas, and outdoor surfaces exposed to water, like swimming poo surrounds and outdoor terraces. ▪ Provides excellent slip resistance even when the surface is wet or greasy.
R13	Over 35°	MAXIMUM	▪ Suitable for areas with a high risk of slipping, such as heavy-duty industrial floors, ramps, and wet processing areas. ▪ Often used in commercial or industrial settings where continuous water exposure is expected.
