We recently had a K-State welding student attend one of our company day events, where she showed strong interest in our company. To build on that connection, we invited her back for a hands-on experience with Doherty Steel.

She received a tour of our facility and an immersive introduction to our welding operations. This gave her the opportunity to connect classroom learning with real-world application, and gain a real feel for the work we do every day.

IBUILD SHOWCASE

We had a great time at the National Institute for Construction Excellence iBuild Showcase alongside students and staff from many school districts.

Events like iBuild give students the opportunity to explore our industry firsthand, connect with professionals across a variety of trades, and engage in hands-on learning outside the classroom. We enjoyed being part of those conversations and sharing what real-world pathways and opportunities in the industry can look like here at Doherty Steel.
