MAKING TRACKS

The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that, the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

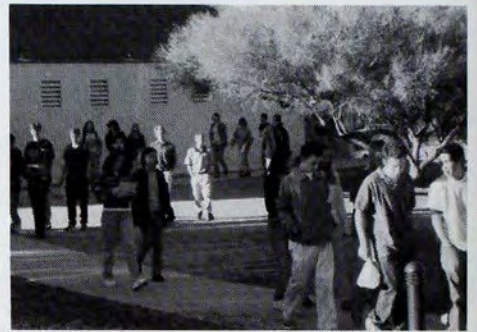

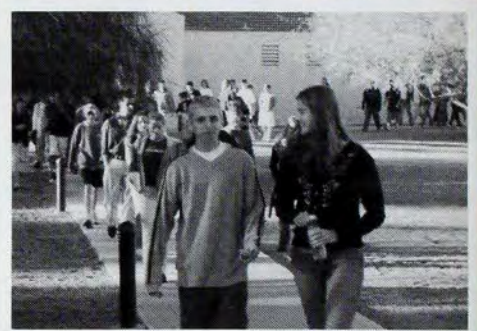

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I--
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

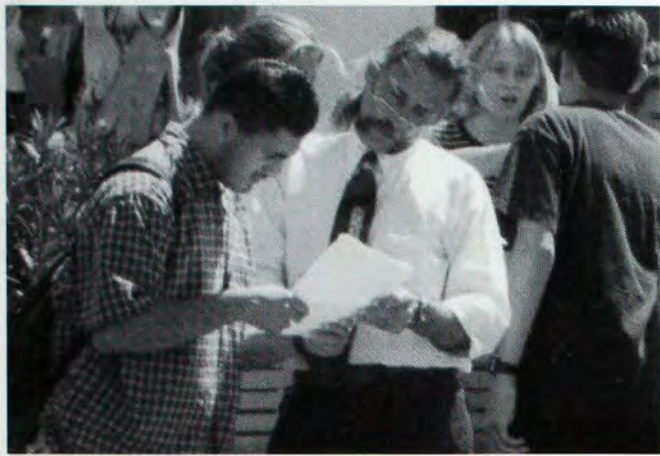

--Robert Frost

Does the road wind up-hill all the way?
Yes, to the very end.
Will the day's journey take the whole
long day?
From morn to night, my friend.

-- Christina Rossetti

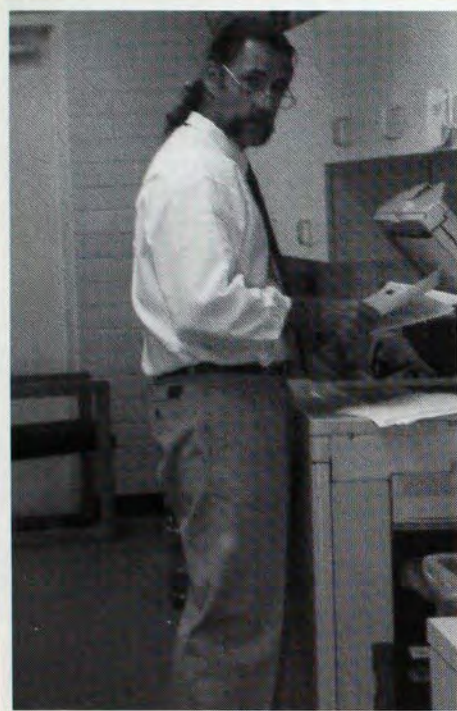

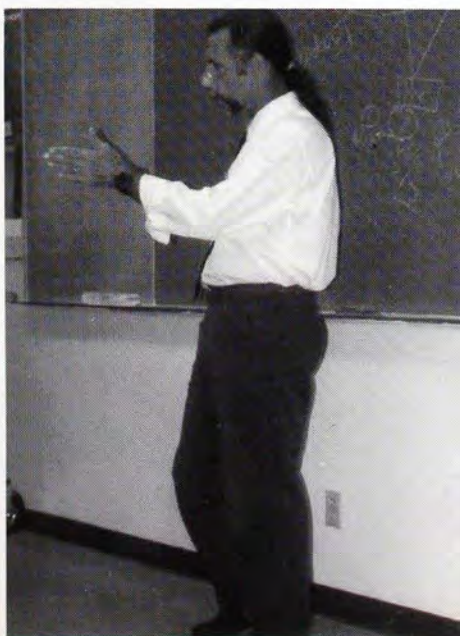

Senior Dedication

Mr. Martin,

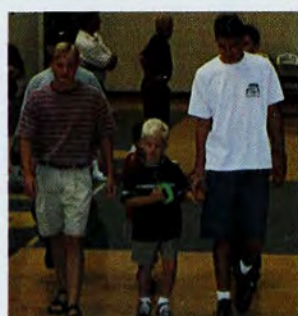

We would like to thank you for all the time that you've dedicated to making our days here at PCDS memorable. We've enjoyed your guidance, wit, and humor. Despite all of the vicious rumors about American History, we can honestly say that junior year would not have been as wonderful without you. Your enthusiasm was and always is contagious and we thank you for always bringing life into the classroom. The constant "tension" between you and "Doc" always made us laugh. We hope that the "Class of 1999 Lounge" remains in your room as a constant reminder of the class that truly appreciated who you are and what you have done for us. We will sincerely miss you as a mentor and a friend.

Adam Manika, Eric Wassmann, and Joseph Abate discuss the procession.

opening day procession

Traditionally, the first day of school begins with an all-school assembly. Each year, the seniors walk in with the kindergartners as a symbol of school unity and community. Opening day festivities also include a welcome back from the Head of the School, Mr. Brewster. When asked about their experience during the opening day procession, many kindergartners remarked "I don't remember the first day of school." The seniors enjoyed the experience. According to Chris Rethore, it was "an emotionally riveting experience and was something [he'd] looked forward to for [his] four years in PCDS" high school. The experience was the opposite for Erin McKinely: "No little kid would grab my hand." Overall, this is a well-liked tradition.

Quick Quips

"I had a boy [senior] and it was fun."

-Charlie Wilde

"It was fun. We got to see all of our friends."

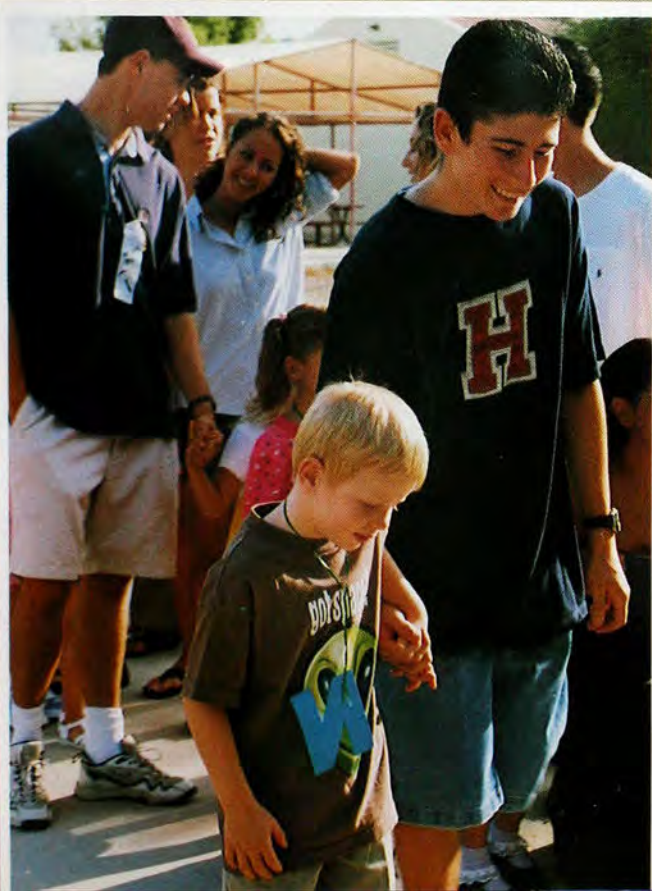

-Max Mattern

"I was eight feet tall compared to these kids."

UPPER SCHOOL PATHS

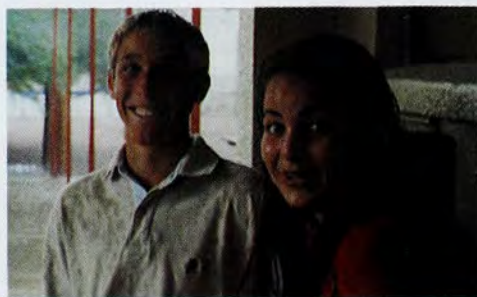

Upper School is the crossing of many diverse paths. We each bring our energy, excitement, and dreams as we venture farther along our paths. Skills are taught and challenges are met while our own expectations reach new heights. The friendships and camaraderie formed at PCDS give us the encouragement to push for success with each step we take. Our Upper School experience will be a cherished memory as we each continue our journey.

Head of School, Galen Brewster

Where the faint of heart dare not step.

Footprints

by Galen Brewster

Footprints in the sandstone, old as petroglyphs, like on a beach after a wave or two. Lean, not too big, the spacing says a runner; long stride, weight forward, must have been going fast to some place vanished long ago. No signs of looking back, it slows you down but you better, or you might not know who you are.

Mr. Brewster and Eric Medoff discuss where to go from here.

The Three Heads

Barbara Heal
Lower School
Head

We all begin with a set of footprints, unique to who we are. These footprints leave a message for others to read.
They tell which way we are headed,
leave clues to our future.
The lower school directs these footprints,
one step at a time, forward into an exciting future.
Barb

Each of us leaves footprints everyday of our life. Some are like those made in sand and are soon erased and forgotten. Others, which can be either positive or negative, will remain long after we are gone. Think about where you walk.

We patronize the animals for their incompetence, for their tragic fate of having taken form so far below ourselves. And therein we err and greatly err. For the animal shall not be measured by man. In a world older and more complete than ours they move finished and complete, gifted with extensions of senses we have lost or never attained, living by voices we shall never hear. They are our brethren, they are not underlings; they are other nations, caught with ourselves in the net of life and time. - Henry Beston

This is the beginning of a new day. I have been given this day to use as I will. I can waste it or I can use it for good. But what I do today is important because I am exchanging a day of my life for it. When tomorrow comes, this day will be gone forever, leaving in its place something I traded for it. I want it to be a gain and not a loss, good not evil, success not failure, in order that I shall not regret the price that I have paid for it.

There is no prejudice that the work of art cannot eventually overcome. (Andre Guide) * Perhaps there are still children who have not yet eaten men? Save the children . . . (Lu Hsun) * I believe that art is the only form of activity in which man as man shows himself to be a true individual. Only in art is he capable of going beyond the animal state, because art is an outlet to regions which are not ruled by time and space. To live is to believe; that is my belief, anyhow. (Marcel Duchamp) * La poesia no es un escape sino una realidad. (Flora Calderón) * The problem with the actual world is that . . . humans have been wondering whether there is a message and, if so, whether this message makes sense. With fictional universes, we know without a doubt that they do have a message and that an authorial entity stands behind them as creator . . . (Umberto Eco) * Heaven, when it is about to place a great burden on a man, always first tests his resolution, exhausts his frame and makes him suffer starvation and hardship, frustrates his efforts so as to shake him from his mental lassitude, toughen his nature and make good his deficiencies. As a rule, man can mend his ways only after he has made mistakes. (Mencius) * Chose your battles wisely. (Sunxi and my mother) Y nuestro, orgulloso, . . . la regla de oro que me dio mi madre. (Rosario Castellanos) * The superior person pursues what is right and the petty person pursues profit. (The Analects)

GETTING THEIR

Art by Gordon Krnjaic

1998 was a great season for the PCDS 4A varsity swim team. The women's varsity finished with their best record ever, 9-1, beating Apache Junction, Peoria, Cortez, Greenway, and Washington, to name a few. The women's team was led by Captain Carli Garcia-Rodriguez, who had a strong finish at Regionals, along with defending state-champion Heather Lee and Meghan Bullock. The men's team finished, 5-4, with a winning record for the second year in a row. The success was a team effort. We will sorely miss our departing seniors--Carli, Liz, Meryl, Mariah, Amanda, Becky, and Bob.

FEET WET

The 1998 Dive Team was undoubtedly the most successful PCDS dive team ever. The team gained some new members to bring the total to 10 divers. We had an outstanding season, and sent 4 girls and 2 boys to the regional meet. Two divers, Michaela Skloven and Stephen Canova, qualified for the State Championships. Stephen's performance qualified him for the final round, and he finished in the top 15 in the state.

DR. JOHN COLLINS

The Bible teaches us that "to every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven." The season has come for my dearest friend to retire, but I'm sure that there will be a purpose to his many future endeavors. Still, I cannot hide my sadness, and my heart feels the pain of the void left by John Collins' departure. Phoenix Country Day will never be the same zany, wild, fun place that witnessed the "Doc" ranting and raving. You have enriched my life beyond bounds that you can comprehend. I thank you for every precious moment that we've had over the past thirteen years. Go in peace and in good health, my friend, for your spirit will always be by my side.

-- Mr. Dave Martin

STEPHANIE FISHER

Stephanie,

Thank you for your teaching, for your leadership, for admissions and ISAS, for your graciousness, for your humor and insight, for being smart, stylish, and witty, and for your courage and strength in adversity. Our admiration and confidence in your success go with you.

--Your Old Headmaster

JESSIE HINTON

Jessie Hinton officially retired in December 1998. He started work for PCDS in February 1965, making him the employee who has been on the books the longest. When he first came to PCDS, he was one of 3 employees in maintenance, compared to the 17 that are in that area now. He worked as a custodian, on grounds, and in the maintenance department. Jessie's working knowledge of the plant was utilized many times in the past and will be missed in the future, although I'm sure we can call on him when the need arises.

What I have just written seems like such a small tribute to a kind and gentle man who put his whole life into making this campus what it is today. I think I can say this for everyone who knew and worked with Jessie: we wish you only the best.

--Mr. Duane Bergstrom

JOHN MACK

John Mack came to PCDS the summer of 1991 as temporary help in the maintenance department. He stayed until an accident led to his early retirement. Some may not have known that John had a master's degree in education and had taught school for approximately 15 years. He had also owned and operated a nursery and had worked in construction and general building maintenance before coming here. We all relied not only on John's past experience in maintenance, but also on his knowledge of the campus and its workings. He seemed to know where everything was.

The comment "John did more than I thought" was made by one who took on some of his responsibilities. I'm sure he isn't the only one who feels this way. I would like to say this for all who know John: our thoughts and prayers go with you in your recovery and retirement.

-Mr. Duane Bergstrom

ED PETTENGILL

An accounting of the hours put in by Mr. Pettengill since he arrived here in 1984 would be just the beginning of understanding the depth of his commitment to Phoenix Country Day School.

Your next step would be to look back at his work with computers and Middle and Lower students. Mr. Pettengill understood the value of integrating technology in the curriculum rather than just offering it as a separate subject -- well before it became mainstream thinking. He began what we continue today.

Next would be a tour of the campus' computer and phone networks and the many functions they provide. After Mr. Pettengill (Ed, to the people he now serves) became Systems Network Supervisor in 1994 to develop and support campus communications and administrative computing, our technological capabilities expanded quickly, giving us new ways to interact with information and each other. His ambition for what the School can provide its community has been matched only by his hours of commitment to the systems' reliability.

Thank you, Ed, for the efforts that came forth from your feelings for this institution we call Phoenix Country Day School. It will be a hard act to follow.

-- Mr. Eric Neuffer

ANNE SALZMANN

Anne Salzmänn served the Phoenix Country Day School community as counselor, colleague, and friend. In the last fourteen years, we have learned to value her warmth, her honesty, her patience, and her genuine good will toward students, parents, faculty, and staff. Anne taught Perspectives and You and Others classes, organized leadership groups, developed the ninth grade fall trip, and refined the Upper School adviser system. We came to trust her, respect her, and love her. We wish Anne well in her new endeavors as School Head at Verde Valley School and will miss her presence, her smile, and her wisdom.

You came home in the morning bringing three new lives and we stood by in quiet awe watching your many triumphs both in and out of the riding rings and always with grace and aplomb courage and humor
 You already know who you will be that same one you are now your genius is the good and strong heart always already there from that glad morning till now

While we, still in rapt awe watch you prepare for those still higher jumps over which you will soar landing triumphantly

The year is “finished baking” as Cags would say, and all of our hard work has paid off. We have a book that we can be proud of. Of course the book would not be complete without thanking our trusty and consistent staff. So—Layout/Copy Staff: Kim, Lilli, Melanie, Michelle, Sarah, Sonia, Tatum, Zach, Tommy, Nadia, Meredith, Ashley, Andria and Lexie. Thank you for all of the effort you have put into making the yearbook a success. Look at each page and think of all of the hours you spent fighting with PageMaker, croppers, icky orange pencils and those tags, and smile because you’ll never have to listen to either one of us yell about deadlines again!

Photo Staff: Jessica, Erin, Chris, Sarah, Caroline, Ashleigh and Callie. Where would we be without pictures? Thank you for your dedication, diligence and hard work.

We all know that the first part of the book that is seen is the cover. In that light, we’d like to thank Gordon for creating a wonderful drawing for the cover.

Last but not least, Mrs. Kolbet. Without your guidance, wisdom, patience and technical support, this book would not exist (though according to Mr. Flail, it doesn’t exist anyway). We don’t know how to thank you enough— who knows, maybe some day we will take you to Blue Burrito and we’ll pay!

A big merci beaucoup to all of the eighth graders who helped us identify and layout your pages. Take pride, and continue on into the Upper School. You’re wonderful!

We hope everyone enjoys the memories eternally encapsulated in the yearbook, or at least enjoys looking at the pictures.

Margot LaNoue and Krista Scott
in Chief

To the PCDS Community:

I would like to thank the entire staff of the Phoenician for all their hard work in producing a book of which they can be proud. I would especially like to thank the four yearbook divas: Jill Carland, Katie Green, Margot LaNoue and especially Krista Scott in the production of the book. The school community has been an enormous help in matching names with faces.

We apologize for any errors you may discover and we hope you enjoy this year's yearbook and appreciate the dedication of our students.
