Let's move the world forward.

At Emory, we believe in those with the ambition to achieve, the passion to learn, and the optimism to see the possibilities ahead.

Here, you'll have the freedom to collaborate and hatch new ideas—plus, every lab, stage, and court on which to learn, act, or take the lead.

Come discover a shared sense of community, purpose, and opportunity—a distinctive energy that we share with our hometown of Atlanta.

Once you're here, you'll become part of it all.

Two places to start and three paths to choose.

An Immersive College Experience in an Iconic Location

Oxford College is located in the small, historic town of Oxford, Georgia. Just a few minutes away, the city of Covington adds an unexpected energy to the mix. It's a town you may already know without ever having been there. Its charming historic square and thriving local business district has served as the backdrop for countless films and television series, including Footloose, Sweet Magnolias, and The Vampire Diaries.

Students spend most of their time on Oxford's lively campus, while Covington's restaurants, shops, events, and creative spaces provide a nearby option for exploring, relaxing, and experiencing the culture of the region. Together, Oxford and Covington create a college setting that feels both personal and dynamic.

Emory faculty members are more than experts—they're award-winning authors, scientists, and changemakers. They bring all that commitment and experience to the classroom—making a big difference in your education. Our faculty will challenge you to broaden your understanding of the world, collaborate across disciplines, and grow in fundamental ways.

FACULTY MENTORSHIP

Emory faculty are accessible, and all students have a faculty adviser. Through programs such as the Scholarly Inquiry and Research Experience and Summer Undergraduate Research Experience, undergraduates conduct research and even publish alongside faculty across the sciences, arts, and humanities.

ACADEMIC OFFERINGS

You'll have multiple ways to combine your academic interests with essential experiences in and beyond the classroom, including first-year seminars focused on exploration, discovery, and reflection. Along with majors and minors, there are numerous joint and dual degree programs including one in engineering with Georgia Tech.

GLOBAL LEARNING

With 110+ programs across 40+ countries, studying abroad at Emory means going far to see more clearly—a chance to expand your perspective, enrich your academics, and immerse yourself in new cultures for a summer, a semester, or longer.

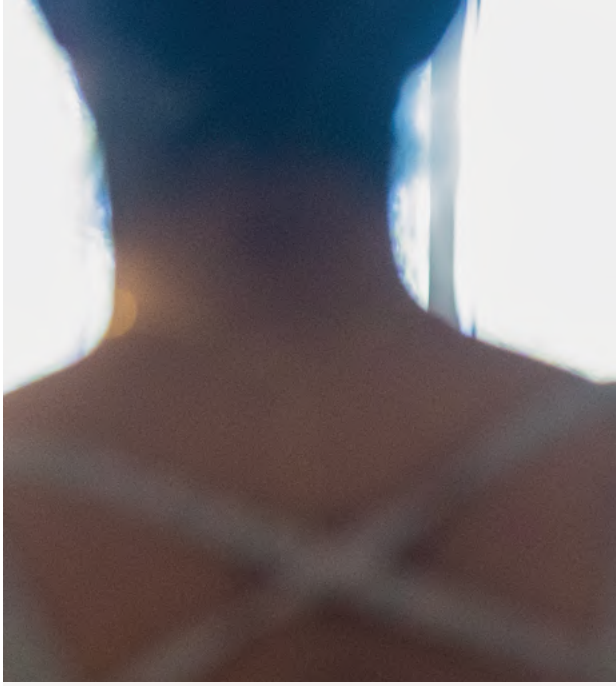

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

Learning by doing, Emory students apply classroom knowledge to real-world problems and gain valuable insight into their personal and professional development. Internships, research, job shadowing, and applied arts opportunities provide experiences across Atlanta and around the globe, with financial support available.

Making college affordable.

Emory offers one of the nation's most generous aid programs to help students attend college.

For first-degree domestic undergraduates, need-based loans have been replaced with institutional grants. And students from families earning up to $200,000 with typical assets qualify for free tuition.

TUITION-FREE FOR STUDENTS WHOSE FAMILIES EARN $200,000 OR LESS

The new Emory Advantage Plus program provides free tuition to students from families with earnings up to $200,000, with typical assets.

- To qualify, students must be domestic, first-degree undergraduates eligible for federal financial aid (i.e., US citizens).
- Students must be enrolled at least half-time during fall and spring in one of Emory's four undergraduate schools: Emory College, Oxford College, Goizueta Business School, or the School of Nursing.
- Families must have total earnings up to $200,000, based on FAFSA and CSS Profile, with typical assets.
- Students must qualify for need-based aid, which is reviewed annually. The program covers up to eight semesters of tuition (fall and spring only).
- Many students will also receive aid that exceeds tuition, as Emory meets 100% of demonstrated need.
