“Every child comes with the message that God is not yet discouraged of man.”

-Rabindranath Tagore

Somewhere in every classroom, a future scientist is doodling in the margins, a storyteller is whispering to a friend, a leader is tidying up what others left behind without being asked, and not one of them knows it yet, which is the beautiful secret of a school like ours, where every day gives a child room to grow into more than they ever imagined, and where we are lucky enough to cheer from the front row.

So here is what we wish for every Goenkan. May you be curious enough to keep asking, brave enough to be wrong, and kind enough to bring a friend along. May you learn early that a score never decided your worth. May you carry your home, your language, and your values wherever you go, and leave every room a little warmer than you found it.

The year is not over, and the best of it is still ahead, because at GD Goenka Public School Habra, we thrive for life!
