EDITOR'S NOTE

Welcome, Welcome, Welcome

A triple welcome is in order because the Winter Edition is another power packed issue, full of incredible stories depicting the various aspects of the human experience. This issue is rather special, because it comes at the end of a very very successful Esther Austin Global Meet and Greet USA Fall 2023 tour, promoting TurningPoint: Music and Lifestyle Magazine as well, as we build out on our own legacy.

This particular trip to the USA has been a journey of manifestations, walking strong and tall in faith and watching the magical unravelling of a dream that has been so long in the birthing of, with seeds sown from way, way back. The feeling to have created a legacy, because of our journey, feels surreal and so incredibly fulfilling.

The theme 'Legacy Builders' is a powerful nod to all those who understand the symbolic importance, of creating and building a legacy, and who on some level are creating pathways that transform, evolves and builds ideas into something concrete that can and will inspire, influence and even change the trajectory of their world and that of others.

'A legacy cements your life's work as something that benefits future generations'

In this issue we feature Soul and RnB Legend Alexander O'Neal who is on his 'Time to Say Goodbye' Farewell Tour. A man who is certainly leaving a huge legacy to the world. Sharing front cover exclusive with Alexander is UK Rapper 'Shocka' who talks openly about his struggle with mental health, being sectioned 4 times and who now uses his platform as a mental health advocate, to sing about self-care and love and why what he does is to honour his late mother.

Then we hear from the sons of some of the world's greatest singers, Roy Hamilton Jr and Joe Tex II, talk about their legendary father's legacies.

Both men are working hard to champion their fathers' names into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.

We hear from UK digital artist Tim Williams who is leaving an indelible mark on the world of contemporary art. We take a sneak peak inside photoshoot held in Los Angeles, by Fashion and Portrait Photographer
