Who we are

A national community for multicultural broadcasters

Multicultural Voices Australia (MVA) brings together multicultural broadcasters, community radio programs, media professionals and multilingual content creators from across Australia.

Formerly the National Ethnic and Multicultural Broadcasters' Council (NEMBC), MVA has a long history of supporting the people and organisations creating radio and digital content for Australia's diverse communities.

We believe multicultural media is stronger when we work together, sharing knowledge, creating opportunities, supporting one another and making sure our voices are heard.

When you join MVA, you become part of a national network connected by language, culture, community and a shared commitment to multicultural broadcasting across radio and digital platforms.

Why become a member?

Be part of something bigger.

Membership is about more than the benefits you receive. It's about being part of something bigger, a national community of people passionate about the value of multicultural broadcasting.

Connect

Build Strong Connections with Others.

Connect with broadcasters, programs, stations and media professionals who share your passion for multicultural broadcasting.

Develop

Keep learning, growing and sharing what you know.

Build your skills, discover new ideas and learn from the experiences of others across the sector.

Have a Voice

Help shape the future.

Your experience, perspective and ideas contribute to the conversations and priorities that shape our sector.

Celebrate

See your work recognised and valued.

Celebrate the people, programs and organisations that make multicultural broadcasting what it is, and the contribution you make to the sector.

“Being part of MVA gives me a real sense of belonging. I know there’s someone in our corner, working to create opportunities, find support, and make things better for multicultural broadcasting”
— MVA member
