Ideas Brought To Life In Cake

From architectural landmarks and product replicas to stories and entirely original concepts, I create bespoke cakes tailored to each individual brief to celebrate your milestone moments.

I thrive on the challenge of transforming a concept into a three-dimensional masterpiece, blending sculpture, hand-painting, and intricate edible details.

Whether it's a corporate anniversary, a high-profile product launch, or something beautifully out of the ordinary, the possibilities go far beyond what you might imagine for a cake.

A Brief Brought To Life

The Eden Project | The Big Lunch 2026

"The cake was the star of the show... Everyone was completely astounded by the level of detail, precision and skill." The Eden Project

Created for the Eden Project's launch of The Big Lunch and The Big Help Out 2026, this cake brought together a whole community street party in miniature.

From houses and gardens to individual figures, shared food and volunteering activities, the details reflected the spirit of bringing communities together. The finished cake took centre stage at a celebratory Big Lunch during the royal visit and was cut by Their Majesties The King and Queen.

What Could We Create?

A cake doesn't have to look like a cake.

It could be a building, a product, a favourite object or an idea that tells the story behind your business. It can even be interactive: think sounds, lights, moving elements.

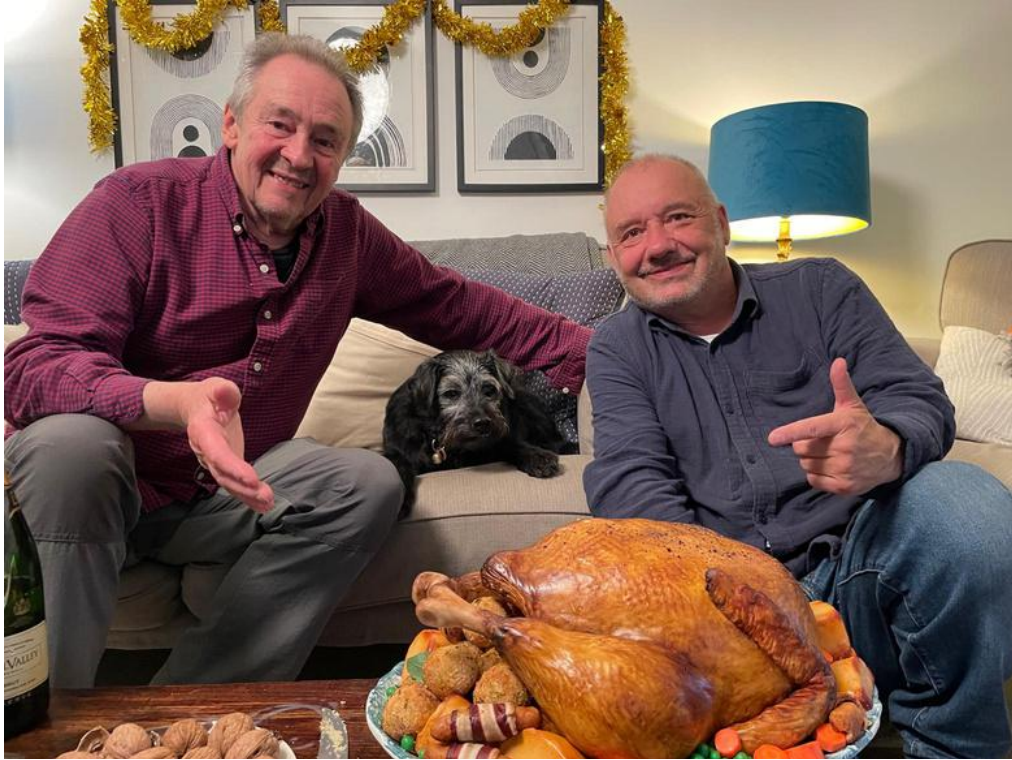

From sculpted designs and architectural replicas to hand-painted details and edible illusions, I enjoy exploring different ways to bring a brief to life.

Selected Projects

Over the years, I've had the opportunity to work on some wonderfully varied briefs, from cakes for television and magazine features to business milestones and one-off commissions.

No two projects are quite the same, and that's what makes my work so interesting, varied & exciting.

BBC Two | Gone Fishing

An architectural cake commissioned by Legacy Homes to celebrate its 250th home, following an introduction from its PR agency, Antler.

From Idea to Cake

A Little About Me

Hi, I'm Niki, a cake artist based in South East Cornwall. I've been creating bespoke cakes professionally since 2012.

With a background in art, design and pattern cutting, I've always enjoyed the challenge of taking an idea and figuring out how to make it work in three dimensions.

I bring those skills into my cake designs, combining sculpture, painting and intricate edible details to create something individual to each brief.

How It Works

Developing your idea

Whether you have a fully realised brief or just the spark of an idea, it all starts with a conversation. Simply let me know what you are organising, when and where it is happening, and what you have in mind.

Together, we will discuss the possibilities, taking into account the design layout, scale, practical setup requirements, and your budget. Because every commission is entirely custom, pricing is tailored specifically to your individual brief.

Early inquiries are always welcome, particularly for larger or more complex installations.

Setup and delivery

I personally manage delivery and on-site setup where required, ensuring each cake is safely transported and presented. I deliver across Cornwall, Devon and the South West. UK wide commissions will also be considered, please get in touch to discuss your requirements.

Depending on the scale and stability of the design, collection from my studio in Liskeard can also be arranged for smaller pieces.

Handling the details

Once your commission is confirmed, I develop the final design and manage the preparation behind the scenes. From translating your branding or ideas into intricate edible features to liaising with your venue and discussing dietary requirements, I take care of the cake-related details to help everything run smoothly.
