BIOGRAPHY OF YO JOE

Joshua Hassan, known in the music world as Yo Joe, originally hails from Kaduna State, but he moved to Ogun State after completing his education. It was while freestyling on street corners that he uncovered his musical abilities; his friends would exclaim "yooo Joe" whenever he delivered a rhyme, eventually inspiring his stage name, Yo Joe.

Having grown up in Nigeria, he has faced numerous challenges, including skepticism about his aspirations to become a rap star, even from his beloved mother who preferred he concentrate on academics. Despite this, he released a track titled "I THANK GOD," which caught the eye of Aftashok, the mastermind behind DG Animations. Together, they produced an animated version of the song. This collaboration led to features in Hello Atlanta Magazine and DG Magazine in the USA.

Yo Joe joined Port City Music Group and gained radio exposure on Hot 2100 Savannah in Georgia as well as L-Vegas Radio, hosted by DJ Lugar Slam in Nigeria. He's performed at various events, mostly private parties and gatherings, and is a prominent figure in the Expansion Of Port City Music Group (AFRICA) expansion of Port City Music Group into Africa.
