How to Survive on a Desert Island

Lorenzo Coltellacci, Alice Ourghanlian

Explore a new world one page at a time!

- A book that celebrates the magic of reading, showing young children that books can be a source of comfort, creativity, and adventure
- Makes big ideas accessible and reassuring for young children, reframing a survival story as a tale of imagination rather than danger
- Encourages engagement with books in a variety of ways that stretch beyond the page and into play

Have you ever wondered if you could survive on a desert island? All it takes is a single book. Turn its pages and you'll find everything you need, from shelter and shade, to sustenance, and escape.

Explore the island from above, lounge in the shade of your favorite tale, and find shelter from the rain. How much do you really need to survive on a desert island? As it turns out, just one thing... your favorite book!

Lorenzo Coltellacci, born in Rome in 1992, is a comic book and picture book writer, including graphic novels about M. C. Escher, Joy Division, and The Cure. His books have been translated in more than 10 countries.

Alice Ourghanlian was born in France in 2002. The Fisherman and the Mermaids

Diana Marciano, Dávid Pogran

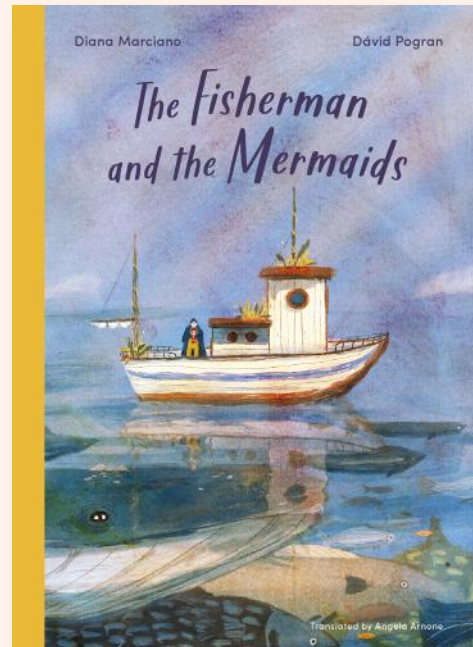

A magical story about a fisherman who learns that the most valuable things aren't what you're given, but the dreams, memories, and wishes you keep.

- Beautifully atmospheric illustrations from Dávid Pogran will enchant readers young and old
- A debut book for Diana Marciano and Dávid Pogran, originally published in Italian
- An important tale of appreciating what you have and not giving into the temptation of vanity or riches

As the sun rises over the ocean, an old fisherman casts his net into the sea and sings a lonely tune. To his surprise, three magical sirens appear – and offer him everything he's ever wished for: to be young again, to be rich, and to be happy forever.

But there's a catch... All they want in return is a memory, a dream, and a wish.

The offers sound amazing... until the fisherman begins to wonder: what do those things really mean? And what happens if you give them away?

Diana Marciano is the author of several works ranging from essays to comics. She works as an editor and copywriter for various publishing houses and dedicates herself to film adaptations of novels and plays.

Dávid Pogran is an illustrator and designer from Poprad, Slovakia, passionate about bringing stories to life through art. Inspired by nature, music, and dreams, his work explores the harmony between reality and the surreal—with flowers often stealing his attention.

Something in the Darkness

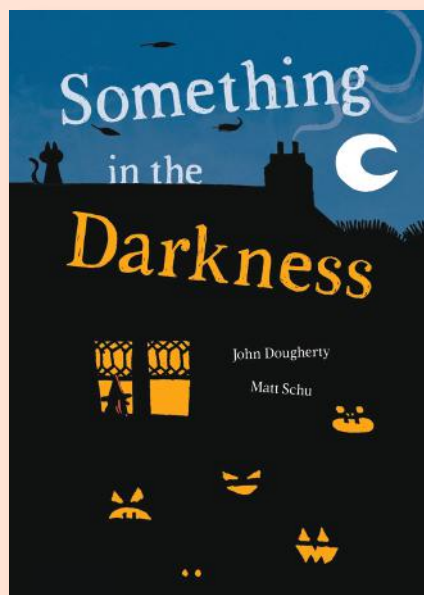

John Dougherty, Matt Schu

A hilarious Halloween treat from an award-winning author, this spine-tingling tale brims with eerie suspense and a powerful message: sometimes what frightens us most in the dark is less fearsome in the light.

- A modern classic in the spirit of Jon Klassen's The Skull and Oliver Jeffers' There's a Ghost in this House
- Suspense that deepens with every page, keeping readers captivated but with a funny twist at the end
- Written by an award-winning author celebrated for exceptional storytelling
- Striking limited palette artwork with award-winning appeal

As night falls and strange whispers seem to follow your every step, the question lingers – what's out there in the dark?

Packed with suspense, this unputdownable story will keep young readers on the edge of their seats, eventually revealing that some things are more frightening in the darkness than they are in the light . . . with a humorous twist along the way!

John Dougherty has been writing children's books for over 20 years. His work includes Stinkbomb, the Ketchup-Face series and There's a Pig Up My Nose. His beautiful picture book The Hare-Shaped Hole has won multiple awards. A former teacher, John is an advocate for both public libraries and the importance of reading for pleasure.

Matt Schu is a Portland-based artist and children's book illustrator. He studied art at the University of Oregon and worked as a graphic designer before turning to illustration. His paintings have been shown at Nucleus galleries, and he was awarded the Regional Arts and Culture Council Catalyst grant.

This Book is Bursting with Monsters

Christina Dorner, Édouard Manceau

With simple actions that make monsters appear and disappear, this playful counting book helps teach numbers to little ones.

- A joyful, hands-on read that invites children to interact and join in the action
- A fun counting book that helps little ones to identify different parts of the face
- Colorful and endearing artwork
- For fans of Ed Emberley's monster books

This silly, immersive story invites little ones to interact with a cast of monsters as they appear and disappear before their very eyes! Each page turn reveals a delightfully strange new creature. Can you find the green two-headed monster, or the one with six eyes and six arms? Little ones will love practicing their counting skills and expanding their vocabulary as they say hello and goodbye to these hilarious monsters.

Christina Dorner is a children's book author and has been a primary school teacher and headteacher in Lingolsheim, Bas-Rhin, since 2003.

Édouard Manceau was born in the Vendée countryside in 1969, studied at the Angers School of Fine Arts, and lives often in Toulouse and occasionally in Paris. He loves making books with words and pictures. He has written about 130. When his books are ready, they embark on long journeys and often end up in preschools. The Green Child

Hollie Hughes, Britta Teckentrup

A heartfelt, hopeful story about how small changes can make a big difference to our planet.

- A magical modern fable, blending timeless storytelling with an important environmental message
- Celebrates the beauty and importance of nature's changing seasons
- Encourages children to protect our planet and live in harmony with nature
- Pairs Britta's atmospheric, collage-style artwork to gentle, rhythmic text

In the deepest, darkest forest, where the trees twist gnarled and wild, along a winding path we find . . . a deep asleep Green Child.

As winter shifts into spring, the Green Child rouses from slumber and breathes new life into the world. She ushers in the changing seasons until summer finally arrives. But as the days grow hotter and longer, the forest begins to wither away. The Green Child realizes she has a job to do: to send a message to all of humankind . . . but will anyone listen?

This timeless modern classic is perfect for young nature lovers.

Hollie Hughes is the author of many much-loved picture books, including the bestselling, award-winning The Girl and the Dinosaur. She runs writing workshops for children and adults and regularly takes part in literary festivals and events.

Britta Teckentrup is an award-winning illustrator and author based in Berlin. She's published over 80 children's books in over 20 different countries. She uses both handmade and digital techniques to create beautiful collages.

Grizzly

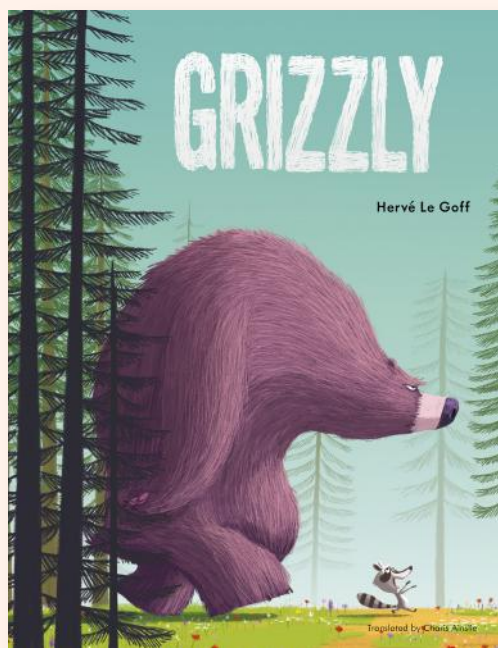

Hervé Le Goff

A humorous celebration of friendship that will make even the grizzliest of grumblers smile!

- The perfect picture book for cranky little ones, prone to grumbles and stomps
- Expressive artwork and a comedic duo, reminiscent of Steve Smalls's I'm Sticking with You and Suzanne Lang's Grumpy Monkey

It's the perfect day for a stroll, thinks Raccoon, but this morning, his best friend Grizzly doesn't feel like doing anything . . . well, grrr, except for grumbling!

Join one exuberant raccoon and his grumbly best friend as they spend a day in nature, going swimming, eating berries, napping in the shade, and, best of all, complaining! Grizzly loves to growl and grumble at everything Raccoon suggests but, in the end, there's nothing he loves more than spending time with his best friend. Packed with humor, this relatable tale of grumpiness is sure to put a smile on even the grouchiest little ones.

Hervé Le Goff was born in Saint-Brieuc, France. He is a graduate of the Beaux-Arts where he obtained a Diplôme National d'Arts Plastiques. The Bear Cubs and the Christmas Wish

Zemanel, Émilie Michaud

Join four little bear cubs as they learn the true meaning of Christmas and discover that nature has its very own gift for them in this timeless story.

- Timeless, classic feel makes this a great gift!
- The first in a four book series, each with a gentle tie-in to the seasons
- Cute, memorable characters that children will love
- Perfect for fans of Nick Butterworth and Shirley Hughes, and classic, traditional stories such as The Jolly Christmas Postman

Nestled in Bramble Wood lives Mommy bear, Daddy bear, and their cubs: Daisy, Clover, Aster, and Basil.

As winter settles in and the trees grow bare, the little family busy themselves with preparations for Christmas. But suddenly, Daisy wonders: Who will give Mommy and Daddy a Christmas gift?

Determined to find the perfect gifts, the bear cubs set off through the forest. They try to capture the blue of the sea, the rush of the wild winds, the warmth of a sunbeam, and the reflection of the moon, but each treasure is impossible to take and they return home empty handed. But they soon discover that Christmas isn't just about the perfect gift, and that nature has a way of rewarding the kind-hearted.

Zemanel is an actor, director, and author who has staged many works, including his own. He has written many picture books and activity books for children.

When Night Sleeps

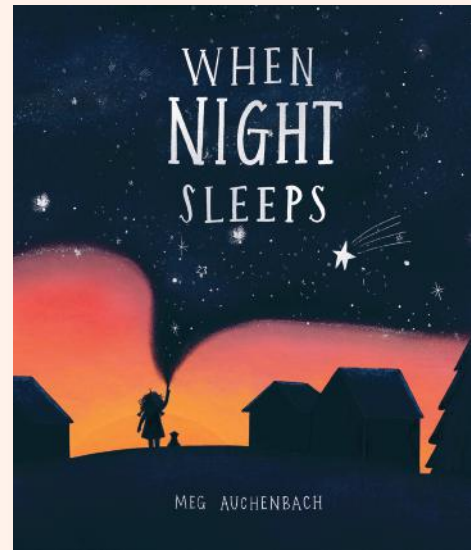

Meg Auchenbach

A fresh, imaginative take on a bedtime story, When Night Sleeps reveals where Night cuddles up during the day.

- A fresh approach to a classic bedtime tale - perfect for coying up with before a restful night's sleep
- A sweet and imaginative story that will help kids feel a little less afraid of the dark
- Beautiful, comforting art perfectly captures the quiet mood

When Night sleeps, does she wrap herself in a blanket of stars and tiptoe around, looking for a cosy place to settle in? Does she need a warm bath and ask to be snuggled in tight? Does she dream of beautiful and unknowable things?

When Night Sleeps imagines what happens to Night when her job is done and it's time to rest. As the narrator wonders whether Night asks for more covers on a cold winter's night, a young girl helps Night get tucked in and ready for bed. And in the end, Night returns the favor and sends the girl off to slumber.

Brilliant Sun, Luminous Moon

Agnes Monod-Gayraud, Elin Manon

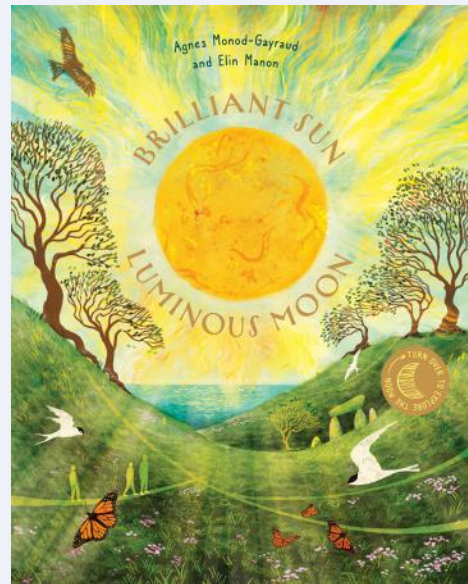

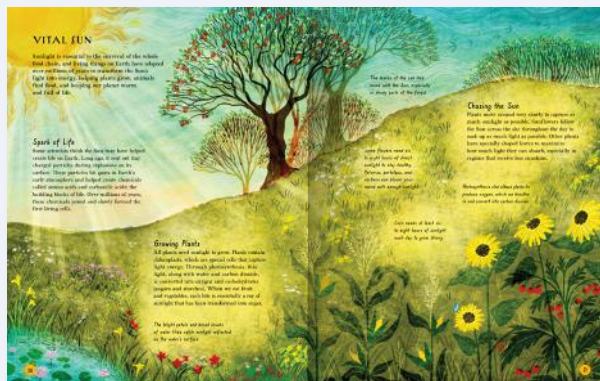

An introduction to our nearest cosmic companions, cleverly designed so it reads from both directions: one side is dark, but flip it over and the other is bright, meeting in the middle in a stunning eclipse.

- Explore the mysteries of the Sun and Moon through stories and science
- Discover origin tales from cultures around the world
- Beautifully illustrated to captivate young minds and inspire curiosity about the universe
- Aligns with key curriculum subjects including science, history, geography and cultural studies

What makes a solar eclipse happen? Why does the Moon seem to change shape? And how does the Sun keep our planet alive?

For thousands of years, people, from the Ancient Egyptians to the Greeks, have looked up with the same questions. Their stories, observations and growing scientific knowledge have helped us understand how the Sun and Moon influence life on Earth today.

Blending ancient myths with facts, diagrams, and modern discoveries, Brilliant Sun, Luminous Moon reveals what we really know about our nearest cosmic neighbors.

Sea to Sky

An Introduction to Planet Earth

Pui Lee

This stylish book presents Earth's ecosystems from sea to sky, with stunning graphics and fun facts.

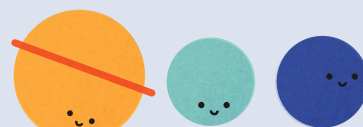

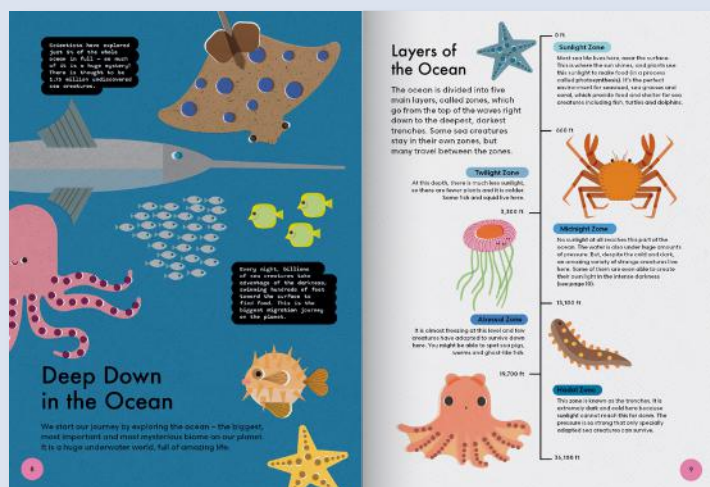

- A vibrant introduction to planet Earth, packed with fun facts
- Striking, bold artwork and easy-to-read text
- The second book in an exciting new series (following Head to Toe: An Introduction to the Human Body) that looks at core curriculum topics and makes learning fun
- Distilling big topics into a fun and accessible format for children 7 and up

Did you know the deepest part of the ocean is over 36,000 feet below the surface? Or that clouds have their own names, like cumulus and cirrus? This visually stunning infographic series explores Earth's incredible habitats, starting at the ocean floor and moving up through deserts, forests, mountains, and into the sky!

Sea to Sky presents a collection of weird and wonderful facts about our planet's ecosystems.

Pui Lee is a freelance graphic designer and illustrator based in London. As a branding, campaigns, product and packaging designer, Pui has worked with reputable global brands including Mulberry, V&A, M&S and The Body Shop.

Footprints

Walk the Path of Our Earliest Ancestors

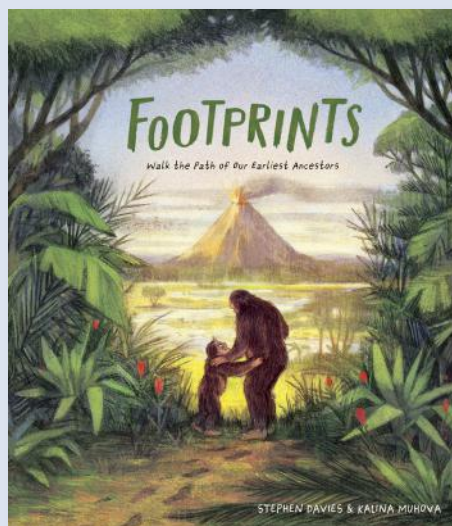

Stephen Davies, Kalina Muhova

Discover the fascinating story of Lucy, the first known hominid to walk on two feet, in this beautifully illustrated book that connects us to our distant past.

- Perfect for fans of The Search for the Giant Jellyfish, Footprints is an unforgettable exploration of our ancient past
- Epic true story takes readers back 3.6 million years to meet Lucy, and explores her later discovery by pioneering paleoanthropologist Mary Leakey
- Incredible illustrations and graphic novel-elements bring to life this ancient world
- Strong award-winning potential
- Back matter includes fascinating facts about Lucy and Mary Leakey's excavations

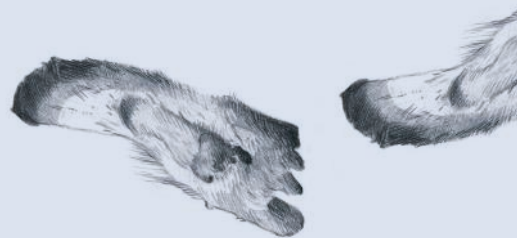

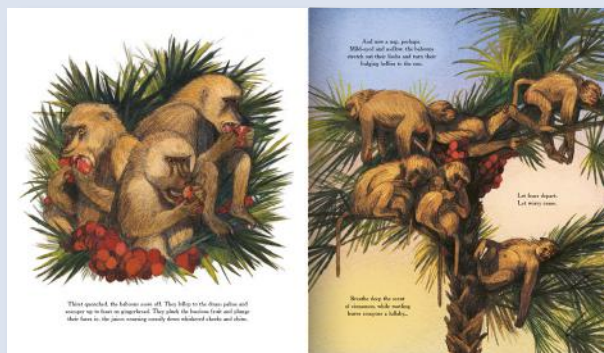

Meet Lucy. She may look familiar, but her story began 3.6 million years ago. This beautifully illustrated book imagines her world as she roams ancient landscapes with knife-toothed cats and towering giraffes, while navigating raging volcanoes and fierce storms.

Inspired by the discoveries of Lucy's skeleton and the Laetoli footprints, Footprints blends scientific breakthroughs with engaging storytelling.

Stephen Davies is an award-winning children's writer. He is the author of the Hilda tie-in novels based on the popular animated series, as well as the Sophie adventure series and numerous picture books.

Kalina Muhova is a Bulgarian illustrator based in Bologna, Italy, where she studied at the Academy of Fine Arts. She is a founding member of the artists' collective, Brace. Her work includes Sofia dell'Oceano, a graphic novel by Marco Nucci that won the Bartoli Award at the ARF Festival.

The Mermaid of the Deep

Leisa Stewart-Sharpe, Khoa Le

Based on the life of Sylvia Earle – the first person to walk the deep ocean floor untethered – this epic story of aquatic discovery will inspire young explorers all over the world.

- Inspirational and enchanting with a gentle conservationist message
- Spotlights the often overlooked achievements of women in STEM fields
- Gorgeously illustrated narrative non-fiction for a picture book audience
- Includes back matter for children to learn about Sylvia Earle's work in more detail
- Little People, Big Dreams meets The Search for Giant Arctic Jellyfish

Sylvia loves everything about the ocean. Watching the dolphins dive through the surf, Sylvia longed for nothing more than to follow them into their underwater world and discover their secrets. But dreams don't come true . . . or do they?

Based on the groundbreaking story of a real-life ocean explorer, this stunningly illustrated book delves into the depths of Sylvia Earle's life, career and achievements.

Leisa Stewart-Sharpe is a trained journalist turned children's author. Originally from Australia, her books are published in 14 languages. She has a bestselling BBC non-fiction series as well as titles on conservation and exploration.

Khoa Le is an award-winning Vietnamese illustrator and author. She is passionate about traveling, learning about different cultures, and discovering the beauty in the world.

Mountain, Boulder, Pebble, Sand

Rebecca Van Slyke, Danielle Ridolfi

Moving across time and changing shape with the shifting surface of the earth, the poetic text and stunning illustrations combine to make an informative and unique take on the rock cycle.

- Introduces the rock cycle and erosion in the simplest terms for young readers
- A topic that hasn't been covered before in this lyrical way with gorgeous and stylish illustrations from Danielle Ridolfi
- An acclaimed picture book author writing her first true non-fiction title
- A perfect STEM title for school and libraries, as well as caregivers who want to share a love of scientific curiosity

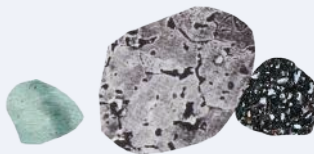

Crrr-ack! A boulder falls from a mountain and cracks into cobbles, which transform into pebbles, then granules, then sand, and silt. What began as a mountain in the clouds forms a mountain in the ocean... and the cycle begins again.

A gorgeous introduction to the rock cycle for the youngest geologists.

Rebecca Van Slyke's books have received multiple starred reviews, and have been spotlighted by Junior Library Guild, CBC Hot Off the Press, Booklist Lasting Connections, Chicago Public Library's Best of the Year, and a B&N National Story Time selection. Rebecca lives with her family in Washington state.

Danielle Ridolfi is the recipient of the 2024 Ezra Jack Keats / Kerlan Memorial Fellowship from the Ezra Jack Keats Foundation. She holds an MFA in Illustration and Visual Culture from the Sam Fox School of Design and Visual Arts at Washington University in St. Louis.

Jacominus Gainsborough: With Love

Rébecca Dautremer

Fall in love with Jacominus Gainsborough, a loveable rabbit with a big heart, in this intricately designed, masterfully illustrated laser cut book.

- A gorgeous, one-of-a-kind gift, featuring an incredible laser cut design for a unique reading experience and a beautiful package complete with slipcase and a limited edition art print
- A heartwarming story about love and patience that will capture the hearts of generations
- Phenomenal artwork by critically-acclaimed author and illustrator
- The third in a collection of books celebrating the life of Jacominus Gainsborough

Join Jacominus Gainsborough as he waits at the docks, heart racing, for his dearest friend, Sweetie, to arrive. He has an important question to ask her, but only if she arrives by noon! If she doesn't make it, he will never get to ask his question or hear her reply.

With stunning artwork and incredible laser cuts, this book is a work of art that draws you in from the very first page. Walk alongside Sweetie and experience every moment of her journey – as love hangs in the balance. A tender story that reminds us that the best things in life are worth waiting for.

Rébecca Dautremer, born in 1971 in Gap, Hautes-Alpes, is a celebrated French illustrator and author of children's literature. She studied graphic design at the École nationale supérieure des arts décoratifs and transitioned from photography to illustration in 1996, a shift that influenced her focus on lighting in her artwork. Dautremer's first children's book, L'Amoureux, was published in 2003 and won the Prix Sorcières. Known for her evocative gouache paintings, she collaborates professionally with her husband, author Taï-Marc Le Thanh.
