Jordan Peet-Martin

Course: Access to HE (Health Professions)

How was education for you as a younger learner?

I achieved 11 grades at GCSE level (grades A-C), followed by a Level 3 BTEC in Music Production which led to a period studying Music Production at Falmouth University, but I left the course early as I decided it wasn't the course for me.

How did your Access tutors support you during your studies?

I have benefited from regular one-to-one sessions, support with learning and detailed feedback on assignments. Nothing is too much trouble and the team have your best interests at heart.

What was the biggest challenge during your studies?

Remembering the academic writing skills was initially quite challenging but with support, I've managed to develop this skill and build on my prior knowledge.

Why did you decide to return to education?

I have had a range of job roles in a diverse variety of sectors including a self-employed labourer, restaurant manager and most recently as a domiciliary care assistant with adults experiencing physical and mental health needs.

After realising my skills in working with people as a manager, I sought deeper connections in my professional career. I really enjoyed my time in management, so I decided that nursing could be an option for me and the Access to HE course at NSCG seemed to provide all I needed to progress on to a degree. Having already gained qualifications when I was younger, I could apply for this course so that was fairly easy.

How has returning to education changed your life so far?

The diploma has helped me to really think about my future and after a long break, it has given me the skills to apply for university. I completed the diploma over the summer and I am now studying General Nursing at the University of Staffordshire. I want to then ideally complete a Master's degree in prescribing once I graduate.

What would your advice be to other adults looking to study an Access to HE Diploma?

I would say don't let the fear of past experiences hold you back. Starting a course may be scary but the reward is confidence, pride and new opportunities. Taking the leap back into education can feel overwhelming especially if you have doubted yourself or struggled in the past, but it is truly worth it.

Access to Higher Education

Fast-track your way to university alongside your personal commitments with one of our BRAND-NEW blended Access to HE Diplomas starting this January. These nationally recognised qualifications are equivalent to 3 A Levels and are ideal if you didn't achieve the grades needed to study a university-level course, or if you've been out of education for a while.

An Advanced Learner Loan is available to help you to cover the costs of studying. This loan is written off if you progress onto and complete a degree-level courses, meaning you can study the Access to HE Diploma for free.

Natalie Wilson

Course: Employability and Essential Skills

Which courses have you studied so far at NSCG?

I am currently studying English Confidence for Life and Work, but I have also recently completed lots of other courses.

These include: NCFE Award in an Introduction to Early Years Settings; Confidence for the World of Work; Introduction to Becoming a Teaching Assistant; Introduction to Working in Early Years; Computer and Digital Skills for Beginners; Using AI Confidently in Everyday Life; Maths Confidence for Life and Work; Preparing to Work in Schools and Introduction to Volunteering.

What made you decide to come back to college as an adult learner?

I decided to return to college because I wanted to grow personally and professionally. Working as a school transport escort made me realise how much I enjoy supporting children and being someone they can feel comfortable around.

I wanted to develop my knowledge and skills so I could have an even more positive impact on the children I work with as a transport escort and for my own children too.

You have studied a lot of courses at NSCG. How have they changed your life so far?

The courses have motivated me to become more independent. I have even taken driving lessons and gone on to pass my test which is lifechanging for my career prospects.

How did you feel on your very first day?

I must admit that I felt nervous but also proud of myself for how far I've come.

What have you learnt so far that will help you in your career and everyday life?

The courses have helped me to communicate more effectively, to understand children better and become more aware of different needs and perspectives. This also helps me in my current job.

Have you found any parts of the courses really tricky?

Balancing studying with everyday life, work and my children has been challenging at times but the best part has been gaining the confidence I need to push myself further to benefit others and to make a positive difference to my own children's lives. I hope that I am a good role model to them.

How are you enjoying learning at the NSCG in Town Learning Hub?

The facilities are amazing and really easy to get to being in the centre of Stafford. Everything is so new and accessible so it will appeal to adult learners of all ages.

Write
future.

Paniz Shayesteh Rastin

Courses Studied: Level 1 ESOL, Level 2 ESOL, Level 1 Teaching Assistant and Employability

Why did you decide to study at NSCG?

Along with improving my English, I wanted to feel more confident in my daily life and at work. When I moved to the UK, I realised that good English was very important to me.

I wanted to be able to speak to people more easily, understand conversations and feel more comfortable in different situations. I have my own education, work experience and interests but I wanted to take my English to a higher level and to find the right words in conversations.

How did you feel on your first day?

I felt quite nervous and stressed because everything was new to me. But when I actually arrived, I felt more relaxed. Everyone I met gave me a warm and friendly welcome so I soon settled into college and the work.

Have there been any big challenges for you?

The hardest part of learning English for me has been grammar and the pronunciation of some words.

Sometimes I know what I want to say, but I need more time to find the right words or say them correctly. I have seen my English improve little by little and I'm now not afraid of making mistakes.

How are you enjoying learning in the new NSCG in Town Building?

The new centre in Stafford is sparkling - it feels brighter and more comfortable and welcoming. I really like it as we are all adult learners and we share experiences with each other which helps in our conversations and learning. Everyone has their own life and reasons for studying, so it is nice to support each other.

Do you feel you are growing in confidence?

Definitely! I am happy to ask questions to improve my technical skills and to join conversations.

My writing has also improved a lot and I can express my thoughts more clearly.

These improvements have given me more confidence in everyday life too which is just as important.

What's next for you?

I want to carry on studying at NSCG and I am looking for a job that I will really enjoy and that connects with my interests and experiences in art.

I have always loved creative work, and I am also very interested in make-up especially in film which is something I would look into at NSCG.

Get career ready at NSCG.

Are you ready to make a big change in your life and Be More in your career?

Getting into work whether for the first time, after a career break or as part of a career change can feel overwhelming. But with the right skills and support from NSCG's adult learning team, we can help to make your dreams a reality.

Many of our adult courses run at our town centre venues and are designed to do more than just teach you new skills. They help you to grow in confidence rediscover motivation and develop the tools you need to succeed both in the workplace and in everyday life.

If you're looking to improve your job prospects, gaining a recognised qualification can make a big difference and these entry-level courses are a great place to start. Many employers now expect applicants to have core skills in English and maths, particularly in sectors such as administration, customer service and healthcare. Strengthening these essential skills can open the door to new opportunities, further training and long-term career progression.

Convenient, town centre learning

Many of our entry-level and functional skills courses including maths, English and digital skills courses run from our exclusive town centre adult learning hubs, making studying more accessible than ever before. With great transport links and designated spaces, our dedicated tutors are on hand to support you every step of the way.

English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL)

If English is not your first language, our ESOL courses can help you build confidence and improve your reading, writing, speaking and listening skills.

With dedicated tutors and a supportive learning environment, you'll develop the communication skills you need to feel more comfortable at work and in social settings.

English, Maths and Science

If you didn't achieve a grade 4/C GCSE English or maths, or you're hoping to change careers, gain a promotion or progress to higher-level study, our FREE part-time adult courses could be the ideal next step.

All courses lead to nationally recognised qualifications. From Entry Level through to GCSE, we provide a strong foundation for your future learning.

Skills for Work

Open doors to your future with one of our employability courses which are designed to enhance your skillset and build your knowledge and opportunities.

From volunteering to administration skills, our friendly and experienced tutors will guide and support you to succeed.

Have your say! We are proud to offer an ever-growing programme of part-time courses designed especially for adult learners with their needs in mind.

Is there a course you would love to study, but not something we currently offer? We would love to hear your suggestions on courses that would really benefit you, your lifestyle and your future career development.

Have your say and help us to shape the future of adult learning courses at NSCG.

Staff Spotlight

Min Charlesworth

Can you tell us a little about yourself and your role as an Adult Learning Tutor?

I started my journey at Stafford College 15 years ago as a Learning Support Assistant, supporting learners with a wide range of needs. Seeing learners grow in confidence, develop new skills and achieve goals they never thought possible continues to be the most rewarding part of my role and is what inspired me to pursue a career in adult education.

How do your classes create a supportive and welcoming environment?

I believe my classes are supportive and full of warmth because I understand many of the barriers that adult learners face. I often share my own educational journey, including the fact that I returned to studying as a busy adult.

While completing my degree, I was balancing work, family responsibilities and studying, and I did not even have access to a laptop. Because of these experiences, I understand how challenging it can be to return to education and juggle learning alongside everyday life.

You are teaching in the brand new NSCG in Town venue, in Stafford Town Centre. What is the best thing about teaching in this new venue?

The best thing is the sense of community that the new venue in Stafford Town Centre brings, with everything and everyone in one place.

It's great to see learners coming through the doors and feeling part of something welcoming and inclusive. I get excited about teaching topics and qualifications that directly support people and help them build practical life skills.

Most of all, I enjoy being part of a place that genuinely makes a difference to people's lives, both in their education and their social development.

How does learning within the community help people feel more connected?

Learning in the community helps people feel more connected because they are learning in places that feel familiar and safe. It gives people the chance to meet others, talk, and share experiences, which can lead to friendships and a sense of belonging.

Being around others in the same local area can help people feel less alone and more part of something, making learning feel more relaxed and enjoyable.

What would you say to someone who is thinking about joining an adult learning course but feels nervous?

It's completely normal to feel nervous about starting something new, but adult learning is very welcoming and supportive.

Education doesn't have to feel formal or pressurised, and there are lots of flexible, relaxed courses designed to build confidence and skills at your own pace. You could even start with a confidence course as a gentle introduction.

The main thing is taking that first step, once you do, it often feels much easier than expected.

Let's talk finance.

Have you discovered the ideal course but are concerned about the cost of returning to education? We're here to help you study at NSCG. As an adult learner, you can access financial support to assist you in your studies. The type and amount of funding you may qualify for will depend on factors such as your previous education, study level and financial situation.

Thinking of studying your first Level 2 or 3 course?

If you are 19-23 and studying your first full Level 2 or 3 qualification, then you may be entitled to your course for free. If you are currently claiming benefits or earning less than £25,000 per year, then some of our qualifications are free.

Useful funding information:

Total course fee includes the exam fee where applicable. Full terms and conditions for fee remission and learning loans can be found at nscg.ac.uk/support

Advanced Learner Loan:

Many of our adult learners pay for their Level 3 and above courses with an Advanced Learner Loan. You'll only repay when your income is over £480 a week, £2,083 a month or £25,000 a year (before tax and other deductions). This loan is not means tested and is not subject to any credit checks.

When you successfully complete your Access to HE Diploma and then progress onto and complete a degree-level course, you do not have to pay back your Advanced Learner Loan.

Take your knowledge higher.

Take the next step in your career by studying a university-level course at your local college. Whether you're aiming for a promotion, planning a career change, or looking to retrain in a new industry, NSCG can help you achieve your ambitions.

We offer a wide range of university-level vocational qualifications designed to fit around your life and accelerate your career. Choose from full and part-time HNCs, HNDs, Higher Technical Qualifications (HTQs), Foundation Degrees and degree-level apprenticeships, all developed in partnership with employers to ensure you gain the skills industry demands.

Our career-focused programmes combine academic knowledge with practical, real-world application. You'll build the technical expertise, confidence and professional skills needed to progress in your current role or transition into a new one. With flexible study options available, you can balance your learning alongside work and family commitments.

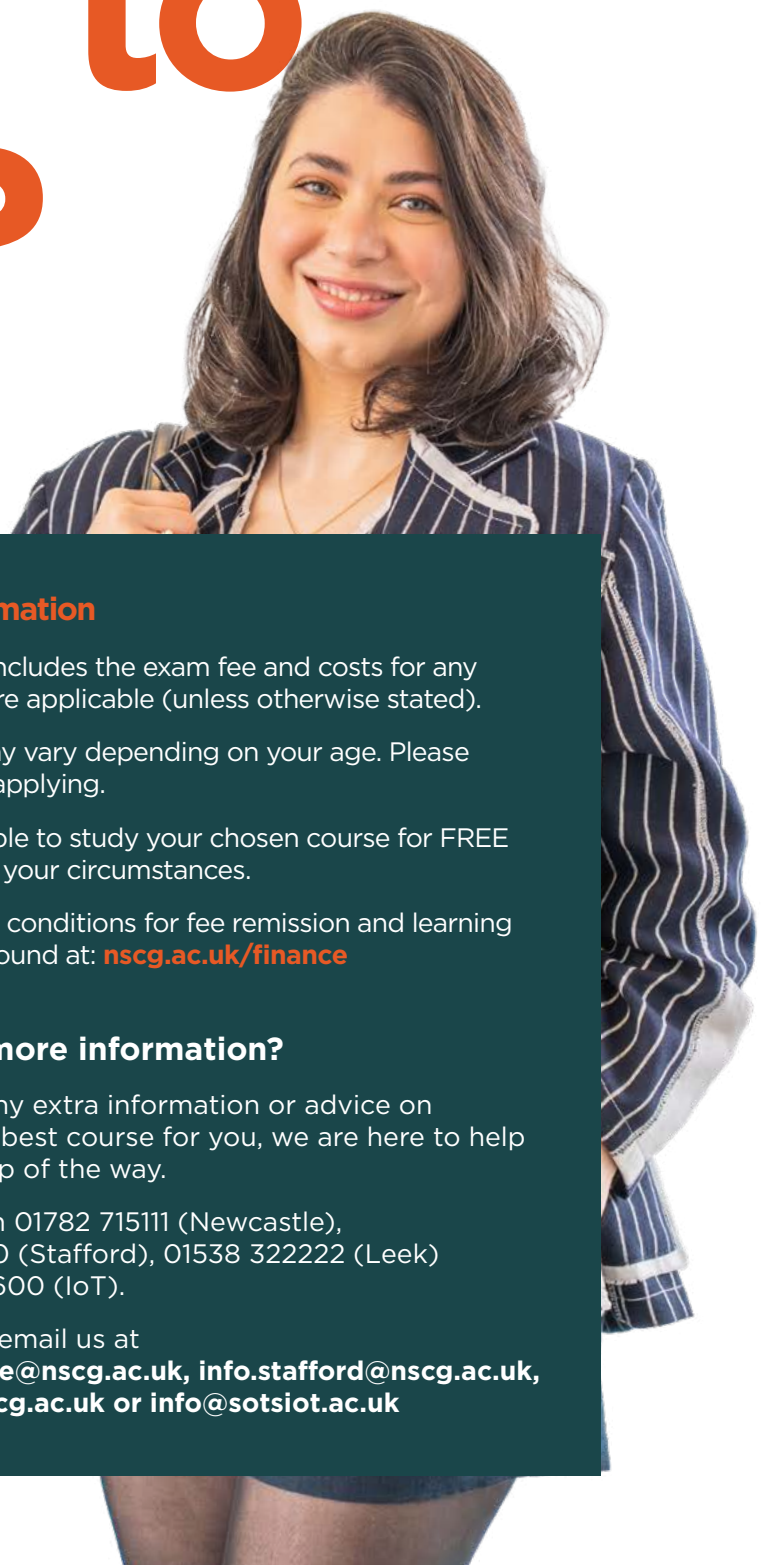

Rated 'Outstanding' by Ofsted, NSCG is committed to delivering high-quality teaching, exceptional support and strong employer links. From day one, you'll develop industry-aligned skills that enable you to make an immediate impact in the workplace and enhance your CV.
