Our Strategic Intent

Finance and Governance

To achieve long-term financial sustainability, with surplus funds reinvested into player development, facilities, programs and the overall strength of the club.

Key initiatives:

- Grow player registration across all programs
- Increase sponsorship revenue
- Build stronger grant and fundraising capability
- Improve bar and canteen profitability
- Establish and protect a $50,000 financial safety net
- Strengthen financial discipline and cost management

Cricket Program

To develop players, coaches and teams through a connected club-wide cricket program.

Key initiatives:

- Build an aligned cricket strategy across all teams
- Improve coaching and player development
- Strengthen junior boys and girls pathways
- Create clear pathways into senior men's and women's cricket
- Grow turf cricket opportunities
- Recruit players through schools, past players, new residents and come-and-try days
- Support social cricket and inclusive entry points into the club

Social Responsibility

To ensure people from different backgrounds, experiences and capabilities feel welcomed, safe and valued at Holy Trinity Cricket Club.

Key initiatives:

- Grow and integrate the All Abilities program
- Promote multicultural awareness and inclusion
- Support community backyard cricket and accessible participation
- Improve recycling and waste management practices
- Use cricket as a vehicle for connection, belonging and community contribution

Culture and Wellness

To promote the health, wellbeing and connection of members across the whole club.

Key initiatives:

- Continue mental health awareness events
- Deliver Pride Cup and inclusion-focused activities
- Strengthen past, present and future club connection
- Build whole-of-club events such as A Night at Hayes Park
- Celebrate volunteers, life members and long-term contributors
- Explore mentoring opportunities across players, coaches and volunteers

President's Report

Jordan Papadopoulos

This has been a significant season for Holy Trinity Cricket Club. Not just because of what happened on the field, but because of what continued to take shape around it: our people, our programs, our culture, our financial position, and our place in this community.

When I look back on 2025/26, I don't start with a ladder position or a scorebook. I think about Thursday nights at Hayes Park. Players, families, juniors, volunteers and life members together. Kids running through the rooms. Parents catching up.

Volunteers behind the bar, on the barbecue, setting up and packing down. That is what a healthy cricket club looks like. It doesn't happen by accident. It is built, season by season, by people who care enough to keep showing up.

Two Seasons into Our Strategy

In 2023/24, the committee established a clear strategic direction for the club, structured around four pillars:

- Finance and governance
- Cricket program development
- Social responsibility
- Culture and wellbeing

The goal was straightforward but important: to ensure Holy Trinity was not merely surviving from season to season, but actively building the foundations for long-term success.

Season 2025/26 demonstrates that strategy beginning to materialise. We have strengthened our financial position, grown our cricket programs, expanded our community reach and continued to create a club where people of different ages, backgrounds, genders, abilities and experiences feel genuinely welcome.

We are not a perfect organisation. No club is. But we are moving with purpose, and the results this season reflect that.

President's Report

Financial Performance

One of the clearest achievements of this season has been a material improvement in the club's financial position. The FY26 Strategic Finance Plan set a primary objective of achieving break-even or profitability while maintaining the club's community values and member experience. The results indicate we have done considerably better than that.

Based on the final financial reports, total income increased from approximately $123,801 to $182,889 — a rise of $59,088 or 47.7%. Total expenses increased by $11,949 or 10.8%, moving from $110,172 to $122,121. The club has shifted from an operating deficit of approximately $3,652 to an operating surplus of $26,145. Net assets now sit at approximately $115,166, made up primarily of cash across term deposits and transactional accounts.

The headline is a shift from an operating deficit of approximately $3,652 in the prior period to an operating surplus of $26,145, a turnaround of almost $29,800. These numbers tell a great story of hard work by many across the club.

A milestone worth acknowledging specifically is the establishment of the club's $50,000 financial safety net. At year end, $30,000 was held in an existing term deposit, with a further $20,000 to be placed into a short-term deposit before the season starts. This is not money set aside because we don't know what to do with it. It is a deliberate buffer, protection against unexpected shocks, and evidence that the club now operates from a position of strength rather than constraint.

Financial sustainability is not an end in itself. It is what enables us to keep investing in cricket, coaching, equipment, community programs and the member experience that makes Hayes Park what it is.

Revenue Growth and Operating Discipline

The revenue improvement has been broad-based, not driven by a single source. The club saw strong growth across several key revenue streams, including bar and canteen sales, player registrations, fundraising, sponsorship, donations and merchandise.

Bar and canteen revenue increased to $64,332, up from $35,675 last year, supported by updated pricing and more consistent canteen operations. Player registrations increased to $48,541, while fundraising grew to $29,061, driven by weekly meat trays, Thursday night fundraising and increased Mega Draw ticket sales.

President's Report

The bar and canteen pricing strategy, introduced at the last AGM, was a considered decision. The club increased selected items while deliberately protecting affordability in community-critical areas: Thursday meals, water, food items and Gatorade remained accessible. The intent was to improve financial sustainability while keeping Hayes Park materially more affordable than commercial venues in the area. The early results suggest that balance was achieved.

That said, good governance requires us to look beyond the headline number. Merchandise margins, inventory management, event profitability and expense classification all require ongoing attention. The work of building a financially strong club is not done when you post a surplus, it is done when the systems and people underneath that surplus are robust enough to sustain it.

I would like to thank Lynette Durham for her support and commitment since joining the committee. Lynette leaves the Treasurer role having delivered a significant impact, and on behalf of the club, we thank her and congratulate her on the strong financial position she has helped build.

Cricket Program

This season the club fielded 9 senior teams and 7 junior teams.

That breadth reflects genuine demand. People want to play cricket at Holy Trinity. New players are finding their place. Past players are returning. Families are becoming more deeply connected to the club, not just as participants but as part of a community.

The junior program delivered one of the most exceptional seasons in the club's recent history. Four grand finals. Four premierships — two junior girls and two junior boys. Results like that don't emerge from a single season's effort. They are the product of years of coaching investment, volunteer commitment, parent support and a club-wide belief that junior pathways deserve genuine resourcing.

The growth of the junior girls program deserves specific recognition. What began as a breakthrough initiative several years ago has evolved into a genuine, sustainable pathway. We are now seeing girls come through juniors, develop into senior players, take on leadership roles and contribute to the broader identity of the club. That is exactly what a well-structured club looks like.

President's Report

Inclusion and All Abilities Cricket

The All Abilities program is not a side project. It is part of the club and across the season, we saw players grow in confidence, new friendships form, families engage more deeply, and the broader club community embrace the program in meaningful ways. The All Abilities exhibition match with Life Members was one of the most significant evenings of the season — juniors, seniors, life members, families and All Abilities participants sharing the same space, with history, joy and genuine connection all present at once.

Through the Get Active in Darebin program, we also created additional entry points into the club: Saturday morning All Abilities activity and Thursday evening women's cricket. A strong club doesn't wait for people to find the door — it opens the door wider.

Community Impact

This season demonstrated what is possible when a local cricket club uses its platform with intention. A Night at Hayes Park was one of the largest events in the club's history. Through our partnership with Merri Outreach Support Service, the event raised enough funds to provide approximately six and a half months of crisis accommodation for women and children escaping family violence.

A local cricket club in Darebin helped create months of safety for people who needed it. That is community impact in real terms.

This season also marked the fourth consecutive year the club recognised World Mental Health Day at Hayes Park with Dan Williams. That consistency matters. It signals that this is not a gesture — it is a commitment. Community clubs are often where conversations start. Where someone notices a teammate isn't quite themselves. Where a quiet check-in becomes something important. Holy Trinity should continue to be that kind of place.

President's Report

Culture, Events and Belonging

Culture is sometimes talked about as if it is complicated. It isn't. Culture is whether people feel comfortable. Whether they feel safe. Whether they feel seen. Whether they come back.

This season, that culture was visible across the club — on Thursday nights, at Ladies Day, at the Junior Christmas Party, at the Mega Draw and across the many small moments that never appear on a scoreboard but define what a club actually is. One comment from a junior parent captures it well:

"I'm comfortable leaving my son alone at the club. You've built an amazing culture."

That is the standard. A place families trust. A place members know they belong — regardless of age, gender, sexuality, background, ethnicity or ability.

Recognition and Milestones

At the Cricket Victoria Community Awards, Holy Trinity was named:
• Best Junior Initiative in Victoria
• Best Community Partnership in the State

To receive both awards in the same evening is a genuine honour. But it is important to be clear: these awards belong to everyone who contributed — coaches, coordinators, committee members, volunteers, parents, players, sponsors and community partners. Awards like these reflect accumulated effort across many people and many seasons.

Julie Wright's 35 Years of Service Award was a special moment. Thirty-five years of contribution to one club sits in a category of its own. The club is measurably better because of Julie's presence and service.

Darren Wright played both his 400th and 450th games for Holy Trinity this season. Nearly 10,000 runs, 68 wickets and hundreds of juniors coached over the course of a career. That is not just a playing record. That is a life built around this club.

These milestones matter because they remind us that Holy Trinity is built across generations. New players arrive, young players develop, leaders emerge — and people like Julie and Darren show us what sustained commitment to a community club looks like.

President's Report

Acknowledgement of Volunteers

None of this is possible without volunteers. To the committee, coaches, captains, scorers, selectors, team managers, junior parents, bar and canteen volunteers, event organisers, sponsors, life members and the many people who simply answer the call when something needs doing this club is built by you.

The work that doesn't appear on a scoreboard: cooking meals, marking lines, opening rooms, scoring games, running raffles, organising events, cleaning up and coming back the following week. That is the foundation everything else stands on. Thank you.

A special thank you also to Rob Philpott, who is moving to regional Victoria this year. Rob has been a wonderful supporter of Guru and the famous Thursday night dinners, and we are grateful for everything he has contributed to the club. I would also like to acknowledge outgoing committee members Emily Whitfield and Chris Cimoli for their commitment, hard work and contribution over a number of years. Their efforts have helped make Holy Trinity a stronger and more connected club.

Outlook

The challenge now is to protect and extend the momentum we have built. We have strengthened our financial position but our systems, revenue discipline and cost controls need to keep pace with a growing club. We have grown our cricket programs but investment in coaching pathways and player development must continue. We have created powerful community events but their sustainability depends on structure and support, not just goodwill. We have built a strong culture but culture requires active protection through leadership, behaviour, inclusion and care.

Hayes Park has become a place people genuinely want to be. The next chapter is about making sure the infrastructure, systems and governance of the club are commensurate with that.

This season showed what is possible when strategy, effort and community align. Holy Trinity Cricket Club is stronger than it was two years ago — more connected, more inclusive, more financially secure and more visible in the broader community.

That is something every member, volunteer and supporter should be proud of.

Treasurer's Report

Lynette Durham

I am pleased to present the Treasurer's Report for the 2025-26 season, in my last season as Treasurer. This year represents a significant turnaround in the Club's financial position, delivering a net surplus of $26,144.83, compared with a loss in 2024-25 of -$3,652.38. We have also increased our Balance Sheet position, with $115,166.34 in net assets, made up primarily of cash across term deposits and transactional accounts.

This improvement reflects a stronger overall income performance driven by several strategies implemented after last year including solid fundraising outcomes, canteen initiatives, and a continued focus on managing operating costs.
Finally, as this is my last year as Treasurer, I would like to sincerely thank the committee, volunteers and all members for the support and help you have given me in this role. It's been a privilege to contribute to the Club, and I am proud to be handing things over with our finances in a strong position.

Overall Performance – Profit & Loss

Income.
Total income for the financial year was $182,888.75 compared to $123,800.96 last year. The Club saw strong growth across several key revenue streams:

- ·Canteen revenue increased $64.332.39 up from $35,675.24 last year, driven by updated pricing, and more consistent canteen operations (a big thank you to Deb for your support!)
- ·Player registrations $48,540.86 compared to $35,277.35 – driven by increased pricing and higher player numbers across seniors and juniors
- ·Fundraising $29,061.43 compared to $19,673.79 – driven by weekly meat trays, Thursday night big wheel & increased Megadraw ticket sales.

We also saw sponsorship grow, with some existing sponsors increasing their contributions, and we were fortunate to receive several donations that brought a combined almost $9,000 to the club.

Merchandise also increased significantly this year to $17,842.80 with a number of new offerings including back packs, vests and hoodies, and an increase of new players in seniors and juniors coming into the club.

Treasurer's Report

Expenses:

Total expenses were $122,121.45, up from $110,172.13 last year & while expenditure increased versus last season, it occurred alongside a much stronger income result and reflects the scale of Club activity across the year.
Key expenditure areas this year include:

- Fundraising expenditure increased to $9,534.07 from $5,611.82 reflecting an increased investment in line with the income generated
- Presentations – a significant increase to presentation costs to $13,172.42 from $2,866.00 due to prior-year expenses being recognised this year, and higher attendance at both junior and senior events. To manage ongoing costs year on year, we have replaced most trophies with medals, while increasing the price of the senior presentation night. The club will continue to subsidise the junior presentation night to keep it free, supported this year by ~$1,000 in parent donations.
- Umpire & association fees have increased in line with the number of participants/teams, as have catering purchases & casual assistance costs with the increased sales
- We have seen a reduction in coaching fee costs with less final appearances, and one-off specialised coaching reduced
- The gas & electricity costs have also reduced – we were incorrectly charged double for last year, so the council has credited additional costs leaving us in negative for this year
- Pre-season training costs for indoor nets has been prepaid this year to cover August/September usage

Overall Performance – Balance Sheet

The club is in a strong financial position at year end with $115,166.34 in net assets, made up mainly by cash in term deposits and transactional accounts.

Treasurer's Report

The $30,000 sitting in the existing term deposit is earning over $1,000 interest each year, and we will be putting a further $20,000 into a short-term deposit which will end before the season starts to earn further income. The committee will continue to review investment strategies o maximise this income potential.

We are carrying a high inventory balance for merchandise which will be gradually sold as players swap out aging NMCA uniforms for new ECA branded kit. We don't anticipate any write offs for old stock at this stage.

There are a few small liabilities to carry over to next year - $1,400 in unspent grant money, and $850 held over payments for NZ girls' trip ($500), and incentives to allocate against registration fees for certain individuals next year.

Outlook

This has been a strong, rebuilding year for the club from a financial standpoint, establishing strong cash reserves for any upcoming capital projects, or other operational needs e.g. additional specialist coaching.

Continued focus on sponsorship, grants & fundraising needs to be maintained so that our subsidised projects can be continued – junior winter program, junior presentation night & Xmas party. In addition, strong cost control to ensure expenses are kept in line with revenue should continue.

Cricket Program Reports 2025-26

Juniors Report

Anthony Ilott

Season 2025-26 will be a year to remember for the junior program with four premierships across the boys/mixed and girls programs.

We had seven teams compete in the junior boys/mixed comps in the ECA and the NMCA, with an influx of new players bringing their skills and families into the HTCC team. Most notably, we fielded two under 10s teams for the first time in many years and the majority of players from 2024-25 returned to play again, showing the strength of our program.

The highlights were of course the two premierships in the U14B and U14C competitions, congratulations to all the players and the coaches - Richard McElhinney and Trav Mullin - who have had so many near misses in previous seasons. Felix Park also won the ECA bowling award for the U14C, congratulations on a fantastic year.

The U18s had a great year, reaching the semi finals before going out in a heartbreaking loss to Bulleen. With the majority of the team also playing prominent roles in the seniors, its proof of the development and opportunity for our juniors.

Having stepped up to Division B this year, it was a tough season for the U16s who missed out on the finals despite some really strong performances during the season. Maiden half centuries, playing a game with the sprinklers on and lots of towering sixes were some of the highlights.

The U12s competed in the NMCA and it was a season of learning and progress for the kids, the majority of who were playing where they could go out for the first time. The really tough losses early in the season where the older teams got hold of them, turned into tight tussles by the end of the season. I look forward to seeing what they can do next year.

U10s continued to be a lot of fun, when the games weren't rained out! With a format that focuses on fun and learning, the games are not about winning and losing, and we hope to see all the kids back next year.

The junior girls program has been an overwhelming success this season. Some high level numbers:

- Participation – up from 24 to around 40 junior girls (around 35% of jnr participation numbers)
- Teams – 2 teams up to 3 teams
- Outcomes – 2 premierships

These are just outcomes. The success has been driven through the hard work of the girls combined with a great environment and great coaching.

Junior Cricket Program

There was a large group that completed our winter program last year and the growth of the girls has been immense. This winter program we have more girls than boys. There is a determination and they are incredibly coachable and growing again quickly. We also now have 2 indoor cricket teams being run by parents.

Training with the senior womens group has transformed through the season as the girls have matured and realised how capable they are. We have run journals and played in coloured clothing as we are aware of some of the key challenges with girls at this age in terms of drop out and around 14 and then around 17 (for different reasons).

The great pleasure has been seeing the group work together and help each other out and the deep friendships across the group. They have had a number of social activities outside of cricket. This has also extended to the great success of the social womens team where they have added a lot of colour to the club. The girls have grown as people and we look forward to season 2026 / 2027 with a plan to field 4 and maybe up to 5 teams.

The key challenges are retaining a pathway for the younger girls where numbers of 7 – 11 year olds can be a challenge. We have run after school programs at Westgarth and Wales St Primary Schools over the last two years with large numbers but only a couple each year coming across to play. We also ran a Saturday morning program for girls through the summer where we had soccer / football for 45 minutes and cricket for 45 minutes which attracted a number of girls. We plan to continue this next year and would like to run some sessions with Thornbury / Santa Maria pre – season to bring in more girls into our stage 2 / 3 pathway.

We are actively working through pathways to senior cricket and rep cricket with our senior womens group and also we have been working with Fitzroy Doncaster to encourage the girls that are keen to play rep level cricket for age group level cricket as well as playing for ECA.

Womens Report

Minnie O'Sullivan

The 2025/26 women's season was very much a development year for the group, with a strong focus on growth, opportunity, and continuing to build the foundations of the program both on and off the field.

This season created valuable opportunities for players to step up, take on new responsibilities, and continue developing confidence and experience. Throughout the year, the group showed resilience, commitment, and a genuine willingness to learn, which was reflected in the progress made across the season.

A significant step forward for the program was the move into Division 1 of the Northern Metropolitan Cricket Association women's competition. Competing at this level provided the team with the opportunity to test itself against stronger opposition each week and experience a higher standard of cricket. While this brought new challenges, it was an important experience for the continued development of the playing group and highlighted the potential within the side. The increased level of competition encouraged players to further develop their skills, improve their understanding of the game, and build confidence in more competitive situations.

The team also enjoyed some strong success throughout the Spring competition, making it through to the semi-final. It was particularly pleasing to see players grow in confidence throughout the year, with many taking on greater responsibility both during games and around the club environment.

Another major positive throughout the season was the integration and connection across the wider club. The women's program continued to strengthen its relationship with other teams, particularly through shared warm-ups with the men's program before training sessions. These moments helped create a stronger sense of unity and inclusion across the club. Building these connections helped create a more welcoming and supportive environment for all players and contributed to a strong club culture throughout the season.

The season also saw the club welcome several new players into the women's program, including some who had never played cricket before. Watching these players learn the game, gain confidence, and become part of the team environment was one of the highlights of the year. The willingness of existing players to support and encourage newer teammates played a major role in creating an inclusive and positive environment where everyone felt comfortable getting involved regardless of experience level.

Womens Cricket Program

What started as a simple opportunity for people to try cricket, and for daughters to share the game with their mums, quickly became something much bigger.

Week after week, players of all ages and backgrounds came together to learn new skills, challenge themselves, and most importantly, have fun. For many, it was their first time stepping onto a cricket field.

But as the season progressed, something else began to happen. What started as a social team began to develop into a genuinely competitive one. Players grew in confidence, skills improved, and before long the group had become a team that other clubs knew they would have to work hard to beat.

What made the season special wasn't the wins and losses. It was the friendships that formed, the confidence that grew, and the sense of belonging that developed over the summer. Seeing players arrive not knowing many people and leave feeling connected to the club was incredibly rewarding.

The social women's program showed that cricket can be about far more than competition. It can be about community, inclusion, opportunity, and creating a place where everyone feels welcome.

Another positive was the continued connection between the senior women's program and the junior girls pathway. Tuesday night training sessions alongside the junior girls helped strengthen relationships across the program while also providing younger players with visible role models and a clearer development pathway into senior cricket.

These sessions created strong connections between players and reinforced the importance of continuing to grow girls' and women's cricket within the club. Overall, the 2025/26 season laid important foundations for the future growth, development, and long-term success of women's cricket at the club.

Mens Report

Lewis Williams

As another cricket season comes to a close, it is a great opportunity to reflect on a year full of growth, memorable moments and strong performances across the senior men's program.

The senior men's program continues to play an important role in the broader club, providing competitive cricket, leadership opportunities and a pathway for junior players moving into senior cricket. Across our six senior men's teams, including five Saturday sides and our Sunday Turf team, the season was defined by improvement, effort, enjoyment and strong club connection.

The season also started in unforgettable fashion, with the First XI defending 162 against the reigning premiers in Round 1. The three wickets taken late on Day 1 completely shifted the momentum and created an electric atmosphere around the club.

A major positive throughout the season was the competitiveness shown across all six senior men's sides. Every team improved on last year, supported by strong training attendance, great club spirit and a positive atmosphere across the program. Improved training numbers helped lift preparation, strengthen connection between grades and create a more competitive environment throughout the club.

The First XI, led by Eddy in his first season as captain, achieved several strong milestones. The side improved its ladder position from last season and produced a number of strong bowling performances throughout the year. The opening round victory and consistent pressure with the ball helped set the tone for a competitive season at the top level.

The Second XI produced several memorable performances throughout the year. Tom Coulter's five-wicket haul against Glen Waverley in Round 2 was a highlight, while Sam Costello's direct hit to defeat Clifton Hill in Round 7 provided one of the most dramatic finishes of the season. The outright win against Burwood/Canterbury in Round 9 showcased the team's quality, while M. Perazzola's century against Alphington in Round 13 capped off a strong year. The side also achieved the significant milestone of becoming the club's first senior men's side to make finals in the ECA.

The Third XI saw several standout individual and team performances. DJ's pair of 78s, one aggressive and one more measured, demonstrated his ability to play whatever role the team required. Rowan's opening bowling proved a major weapon throughout the year, while Ollie Sherlock's development was one of the great success stories of the season. Stepping up from junior cricket is never easy, along with other junior earning their place through consistent performances and maturity beyond their years.

Mens Cricket Program

The Fourth XI delivered plenty of memorable moments and great club spirit. Harry Atkins' victory lap after hitting the winning runs in the team's first victory in two seasons was unforgettable, especially after leaving Max stranded on 96 the week before. Isaac's leadership throughout the season was outstanding, while Minnie's batting performances continued to impress. The All Abilities match again featured prominently as a season highlight and reinforced the connection between the men's program and the broader values of the club.

The Fifth XI continued its proud tradition of developing young players, with four juniors making their senior debuts during the season. Ollie Sherlock's four wickets on debut and later half-century were particularly impressive. The side also celebrated an incredible eleven retired 50s during the season, continuing the famous tradition of rewarding each milestone with a Golden Gaytime at the end-of-season catch-up, resulting in plenty of ice creams being handed out.

The Sunday Turf side also had a season packed with highlights. Bailey's hat-trick, Acho's first wicket on turf, Antony's century, and Tom Straube and Soc opening the batting all stood out as memorable moments. It was also fantastic to see Ryan complete his first season of cricket and become part of the club community.

Holy Trinity Cricket Club T20 Team

Holy Trinity Cricket Club, Socrates Papadopoulos - 3rd XI

One of the most encouraging signs for the future was the continued transition of junior players into senior cricket. Seeing young players not only debut, but contribute meaningfully, shows the pathway between junior and senior cricket is becoming stronger. These moments are important because they show the men's program is not just about the current season; it is helping build the next generation of Holy Trinity players.

The development of players such as Socrates Papadopoulos along with other juniors stepping into senior cricket, reflects the strength of the club's pathway and the importance of giving young players the right opportunities, support and encouragement. When juniors can move into senior teams and feel trusted, welcomed and valued, the whole club benefits.

A sincere thank you goes to all players, captains, coaches, selectors, volunteers, supporters and families who contributed throughout the year. Fielding six senior men's sides each week takes a significant amount of coordination, flexibility and commitment. The efforts of everyone involved, from selection through to matchday support, are greatly appreciated.

The foundations built this season leave the men's program in a strong position heading into next year. The challenge now is to continue developing our younger players, strengthen depth across all grades and keep raising the standard of what it means to represent Holy Trinity.

All Abilities Report

Damian O'Sullivan

The All Abilities program has become one of the clearest expressions of what Holy Trinity Cricket Club stands for: inclusion, belonging, participation and community connection.

This season marked our first year in the Melbourne All Abilities Cricket Association, known as MAACA. After three seasons of building consistent participation through our Saturday morning program, the club was committed to taking the next step: increasing participation and entering a competitive team in the Sunday morning MAACA Division 3 competition.

This was a significant milestone for the club. We made the decision to enter a team properly — registered in PlayHQ, wearing full club attire and competing against established teams in a recognised competition. It was an important step in creating a genuine cricket pathway for players of all abilities.

The momentum generated was outstanding. We registered 13 regular players, which was a long way from our first come-and-try day, where the only people in attendance were volunteers standing beside a very lonely barbecue.

That growth did not happen by accident. It came through persistence, promotion and a lot of behind-the-scenes work. The club continued to promote the program through social media, flyers, local networks, cold calling old lists, contacting other sporting codes with All Abilities programs, and attending Northern Special Schools Sports Association events.

That work paid off.

The team played every second Sunday, and the energy and enthusiasm were electric. That momentum also flowed back into our Saturday morning program, where some weeks we had 17 players involved, along with parents and carers joining in. Locals would stop and watch, drawn in by the joy and energy around the group.

There were many things that made the season special, but the leadership of Josh Cloonan as on-field captain and coach created great stability and guidance. Ted Baynes, as vice-captain and assistant coach, was also inspirational. Ted's growth and development as a leader, role model and example of inclusion within the club was outstanding.

One of the most powerful outcomes of the program has been the confidence shown by parents, guardians and carers. They know Holy Trinity is a place where players can experience connection, belonging and genuine value. Players are now regularly seen around the club on training nights and Saturdays, spending time in the clubrooms, watching the senior teams and being part of the broader club environment.

All Abilities Cricket Program

That is what makes this program so important. It is not separate from the club. It is part of the club.

That was especially clear at Presentation Night, where a whole table of All Abilities players attended, delivered speeches and proudly received acknowledgement. Moments like that show the program has moved beyond participation alone. It has become part of the identity and heartbeat of Holy Trinity.

The absolute highlight of the season was the twilight exhibition match at Hayes Park against Brunswick. Held on the same night as Life Members Night, the event brought together All Abilities players, life members, senior players, families and supporters in one shared club moment. The feedback from the senior playing group, life members and All Abilities families was overwhelmingly positive.

It was one of those nights that reminded everyone what a community cricket club can be.

A sincere thank you goes to DOS, Minnie and Whitty for the way they helped regulate and support the space throughout the season. Thank you also to John Candusso, Lead Teacher at Croxton, whose guidance and experience were invaluable as the club continued to develop this new approach to cricket.

Holy Trinity Cricket Club All Abilities Team

Holy Trinity Cricket Club, Jared Huysing

We also thank the parents, carers, families, volunteers and supporters who helped make the program possible. Their trust, encouragement and involvement have been central to the success of the season.

We are excited for what comes next. The club is planning several off-season catch-ups, and a second team may be possible if we can properly resource it. The next challenge is to ensure the program remains supported and sustainable as participation continues to grow.

This has been a fabulous season for All Abilities cricket at Holy Trinity, and we believe there are many more to come.

Life Members, Events and Impact

Life Members

This season, Holy Trinity Cricket Club continued to honour one of the most important parts of any community club: the people who have helped build it.

Life membership is not simply an award. It is one of the highest honours a club can give. It recognises sustained service, commitment, leadership and contribution over many years. More than that, it connects the past, present and future of Holy Trinity.

This year, we were proud to hold our Life Members Dinner at Hayes Park. It was an outstanding evening and one of the most meaningful club events of the season. The night brought together life members, current players, families, volunteers and supporters in a way that reminded everyone of the depth of history and community that sits behind the club.

What made the evening even more special was that it also featured the All Abilities exhibition match against Brunswick Cricket Club. That match captured so much of what Holy Trinity stands for. It brought together life members, senior players, All Abilities players, families and supporters in one shared moment. It was not just a cricket match. It was a celebration of inclusion, belonging and club connection. The atmosphere around Hayes Park was outstanding, and the feedback from life members, the senior playing group and the All Abilities community was overwhelmingly positive.

There was something powerful about seeing those generations and programs come together. Life members who have given so much to the club were able to watch and share in one of the newest and most important parts of our future. Our All Abilities players were not on the outside of the club looking in. They were front and centre, wearing Holy Trinity colours, playing at Hayes Park and being celebrated by the broader club community.

That is what a strong club looks like. A club that honours its history, but also keeps opening the door wider. The Life Members Dinner and All Abilities exhibition match will be remembered as one of those nights where the spirit of Holy Trinity was easy to see. It had history. It had joy. It had connection. It had inclusion. It had people from different parts of the club sharing the same space and feeling part of something bigger than themselves.

Holy Trinity Cricket Club Life Members

Life Members

This season also saw two new Life Members inducted at the Senior Presentation Night: Jordan Papadopoulos and Damian O'Sullivan.

Both Jordan and Damian have made significant contributions to Holy Trinity Cricket Club over many years, giving their time, energy and leadership to help strengthen the club on and off the field. Their induction recognises not only the roles they have held, but the care, commitment and consistency they have shown in serving the club.

Jordan's contribution has included leadership as President, helping drive the club's strategic direction, community partnerships, inclusion initiatives, financial sustainability focus and broader club growth. His work has helped position Holy Trinity as more than a cricket club as a community organisation with purpose, ambition and heart.

Damian's contribution has been equally significant. Through his leadership, service and ongoing commitment, Damian has played a critical role in the development of the club. His work across administration, strategy, cricket operations and club support has helped provide the structure and reliability that strong community clubs depend on.

Life membership is not given for one moment or one season. It is earned through years of contribution. Jordan and Damian's induction reflects the respect and gratitude of the club for what they have given, and continue to give, to Holy Trinity.

As we celebrate new life members, we also acknowledge all existing life members whose service has shaped the club we know today. Their contribution is part of the fabric of Holy Trinity. The club's future is stronger because of the foundations they helped build.

This season reminded us that history and progress are not separate. At Holy Trinity, they belong together.

We honour the people who came before us, we celebrate those continuing to serve, and we keep building a club that future generations will be proud to inherit.

Holy Trinity Cricket Club Life Members

Club Events

Events continued to play an important role in strengthening the culture, connection and community spirit of Holy Trinity Cricket Club this season.

Across the year, the club delivered a broad range of events that brought together players, families, volunteers, life members, sponsors, supporters and the wider community. These moments are an important part of what makes Holy Trinity more than just a place to play cricket. They create the shared experiences, friendships and memories that keep people connected to the club.

This season included several key events across the club calendar, including World Mental Health Day, Pride Cup, Ladies Day, A Night at Hayes Park, the Mega Draw, junior and senior presentation nights, the Christmas Dinner and Party, Thursday night meals and other social gatherings throughout the year. Each event served a different purpose, but together they told a consistent story: Holy Trinity is a club that values people, belonging and community impact.

World Mental Health Day remained an important part of the club's wellbeing calendar. This season marked the fourth year the club has recognised the day at Hayes Park, again reinforcing the importance of mental health awareness in community sport. Local clubs are often places where important conversations begin, where people notice when someone is not quite themselves, and where support can happen in quiet but meaningful ways.

Pride Cup again reflected the club's commitment to inclusion, respect and creating a safe environment for all members of the community. Events like this matter because they make the club's values visible. They send a clear message that Holy Trinity is a place where people should feel welcome regardless of background, identity, sexuality, gender or life experience.

Ladies Day continued to grow as a valued social event and celebration of women across the club. It provided another opportunity to bring people together, recognise the contribution of women at Holy Trinity, and continue building momentum around women's cricket, female participation and broader club connection.

Holy Trinity Cricket Club - World Mental Health Day

Club Events

The Christmas Dinner and Party was another highlight, particularly for families and juniors. With strong numbers back at Hayes Park, it showed the strength of the club's family culture and the importance of creating events that are not only for players, but for parents, siblings, volunteers and supporters as well.

The Mega Draw also played an important role in the club's fundraising and social calendar. Beyond the financial contribution, events like this create energy around the club and give members another reason to come together, support the club and enjoy each other's company away from match day.

Presentation nights, both junior and senior, gave the club the opportunity to celebrate the season properly. They recognised individual achievement, team success, volunteer contribution and the many moments that made the year memorable. These nights are important because they give people time to pause, reflect and celebrate the effort that goes into a cricket season across every level of the club.

The standout event of the season was A Night at Hayes Park. This was one of the biggest and most meaningful events the club has delivered. Held in partnership with Merri Outreach Support Service, the event brought hundreds of people through the gates and demonstrated what is possible when a local cricket club uses its platform for something bigger than sport.

The night combined family entertainment, community connection, fundraising and awareness. But its real impact was measured in what it helped make possible. Through the event, the club helped raise enough funds to provide approximately six and a half months of crisis accommodation for women and children escaping domestic violence. That is an extraordinary outcome for a local cricket club. It showed that Holy Trinity can be a genuine force for good in the community. It showed that Hayes Park can be more than a sporting ground. It can be a place where people gather, contribute, learn, connect and help create real-world impact.

Across all events this season, the common thread was connection. Whether it was a major community event, a presentation night, a Thursday meal or a social gathering, each one helped build the feeling that Holy Trinity is a place people want to be part of. That feeling matters.

It is how culture is built. It is how volunteers stay connected. It is how new families become part of the club. It is how sponsors and partners see the value of supporting us. It is how players feel part of something larger than their own team.

Community Awards

This season, Holy Trinity Cricket Club received significant recognition at the Cricket Victoria Community Awards, winning two major honours:

- Community Partnership of the Year
- Junior Initiative of the Year

These awards were an important moment for the club because they recognised the work being done well beyond match-day results. They reflected the broader direction Holy Trinity has been building over recent seasons: a club focused on participation, inclusion, community connection and meaningful impact.

The Community Partnership of the Year award recognised the strength of the club's work in using cricket as a platform to support and connect with the wider community. Through initiatives such as A Night at Hayes Park, our partnership with Merri Outreach Support Service, mental health awareness events, All Abilities cricket and other community-focused activities, the club has shown that local sport can play a real role in bringing people together and supporting causes that matter.

A Night at Hayes Park was a clear example of this impact. The event brought hundreds of people to Hayes Park and helped raise enough funds to provide approximately six and a half months of crisis accommodation for women and children escaping domestic violence. That is a powerful outcome for a local cricket club, and it showed what is possible when players, families, volunteers, sponsors and community partners unite behind a shared purpose.

The Junior Initiative of the Year award recognised the strength and growth of the club's junior program. This season, the junior program continued to show the value of long-term investment in coaching, pathways, participation and family engagement. The success of the junior boys and girls programs, including four junior grand finals and four junior premierships, was outstanding. But the award also represented more than results. It recognised the environment being created for young players to learn, improve, build friendships and feel part of the club.

These two awards belong to the whole Holy Trinity community. They recognise the work of coaches, coordinators, parents, volunteers, committee members, players, sponsors and partners who continue to give their time and energy to the club.

Most importantly, they confirm that Holy Trinity is building something meaningful.
