INTERESTED in Earning a Linked Learning Micro-Credential?

Linked Learning Micro-Credentialing Program At-A-Glance

- A three-salary-point class with three courses (two modules each) completed over one academic year.
- Blended learning format with instructor-led (synchronous) sessions and high-quality eLearning (asynchronous) content.
- Educators participate in a community of practice and create Evidence of Learning Artifacts for reflection and submission.

Educators who earn the Linked Learning Micro-Credential:

- Deepen understanding of Linked Learning's core components to support integrated, relevant instruction for post-secondary success.
- Understand how high-quality performance assessments support equitable student outcomes.
- Build knowledge of student-centered, project-based instruction that prepares all students for college, career, and life.
- Engage in continuous professional learning through reflection and feedback to improve practice.
- Lead implementation of systems and instruction that sustain Linked Learning pathways.
