The Maxim Light Bulb Story...

In February 2016 Status International acquired the brand name Maxim from JF Poynter Ltd, trading as, Maxim Lamps. Maxim Lamps is one of the oldest companies in the lighting industry with the first Maxim lamp produced in 1879.

Maxim History

The Maxim brand has a long and distinguished history dating back to the 19th century when it was established by Sir Hiram Maxim, an American engineer and inventor. He developed an incandescent lamp at the same time as Edison, Swan, Sanger, Man and Lane Fox with lamps which had carbonised paper for filaments.

Sir Hiram Maxim's first light bulbs were produced in 1879 and in the following year 50 Maxim lamps were installed at the New York Safe Deposit Company. However, it was Edison who was to get the credit for the invention of the electric light bulb as his lamps were installed a few months earlier on a steamship.

Sir Hiram Maxim transferred his activities to England during the 1880s and produced light bulbs in London. However, by the turn of the century his interests had turned away from the manufacture of light bulbs to his other inventions such as the Maxim machine gun.

The factory manager, Mr JF Poynter, took over the ownership of the Maxim brand from Sir Hiram Maxim in 1910.

Lamps were produced at the London factory until 1951 when the plant was transferred to a new factory in Hurstpierpoint, West Sussex, with new offices built alongside.

Leslie Poynter, the grandson of JF Poynter, had been appointed Commercial Director in 1945. He purchased new plant to meet the increased demand and manufacturing continued at Hurstpierpoint until the late 1970s when due to an increasingly competitive market, a decision was taken to cease production at home and import the range of Maxim light bulbs.

The Maxim brand name and ownership of the Company remained solely in the hands of some of the Poynter family until February 2016 and the family are justly proud of Maxim's long history and the association with Sir Hiram Maxim.

February 2016 started a new Journey for the Maxim Brand.
