Why You Should Buy Gold Jewelry

Gold jewelry is a timeless and essential element to any woman's accessory collection. It is a great investment, and with proper care, it can be handed down to future generations.

Quality of Gold:

In general, the first thing you need to consider when buying gold jewelry is the quality of the gold. Gold purity is measured in karats, with higher karat gold being more valuable and softer. 24 karat gold is the purest form of gold and is too soft for jewelry. Most commonly used in jewelry are 14k, 18k, and 22k gold. 14k gold is the most durable and affordable option, while 18k gold has a higher gold content and is a bit more valuable.

At Neuhaus Jewelry we work with 18K gold.

Design and Style:

Gold jewelry can come in various designs and styles, from traditional to contemporary. When selecting a design and style, consider your personality, preferences, and clothes. Do you prefer bold or delicate pieces? Are you looking for something that you can wear every day, or are you searching for something for special occasions? You may also want to consider the latest trends and how they fit into your wardrobe.

Match Your Skin Tone:

Your skin tone can have a significant impact on how gold jewelry looks on you. When selecting gold jewelry, you should match it to your skin tone. For fair skin, rose and white gold should complemented perfectly. Yellow gold compliments moderate-skin toned individuals while for those with olive or dark skin, it is best to opt for 22k or 24k gold. Consider trying on different gold tones to determine what looks good on your skin.

Maintain your Gold Jewelry:

Like other jewelry, Gold jewelry needs to be maintained to keep its shine and beauty. Clean your gold jewelry regularly with soap and water to remove dirt and sweat. You can also use a gold cleaning solution specifically formulated for gold cleaning. It is best to keep your gold jewelry stored in a box separate from other jewelry to prevent scratches.

Shopping for gold jewelry shouldn't be stressful, but rather enjoyable.

The gold jewelry you choose should reflect your personality and enhance your beauty.

Start your search today, and invest in a timeless piece of gold jewelry that will forever be, valuable and beautiful.
