THE Cosmic Odyssey SCHOLARSHIP

Sending families affected by pediatric cancer on an incredible trip to US Space Camp. Together.

Cosmic Odyssey launched in 2021 by Niko Blanks (Flight Operations Engineer at Blue Origin + Pediatric Cancer Survivor) in partnership with the Austin Hatcher Foundation for Pediatric Cancer, Yuri's Night, and U.S. Space + Rocket Center offers children impacted by pediatric cancer and their families an extraordinary opportunity to attend Space Camp.

"We want to make sure they know that they can achieve their dreams no matter what challenges they face."

VOLUNTEER HOURS

Over the past four years, Cosmic Odyssey has sent 100 individuals to camp, supported by 35 volunteers who contributed a total of 650 hours.

Families work together as a group throughout the weekend to successfully complete training and missions. Every participating member of the scholarship family (adults + children) are a part of the weekend

WHY SPACE CAMP?

- Inspire and encourage young cancer patients, survivors, and their entire families to dream big and pursue their passions despite adversities.
- Explore and embrace a world of possibilities, fostering resilience and optimism.

SCHOLARSHIP INCLUDES

- Traditional Space Camp mission and activities for the entire family!
- Guided tours of the U.S. Space and Rocket Center.
- Visits from members of the U.S. Space Camp Hall of Fame.
- Space Camp flight suit, graduation certificate and wings.
- Travel, hotel, food, drinks and tuition provided at no cost to the families.
- Memories for a lifetime!

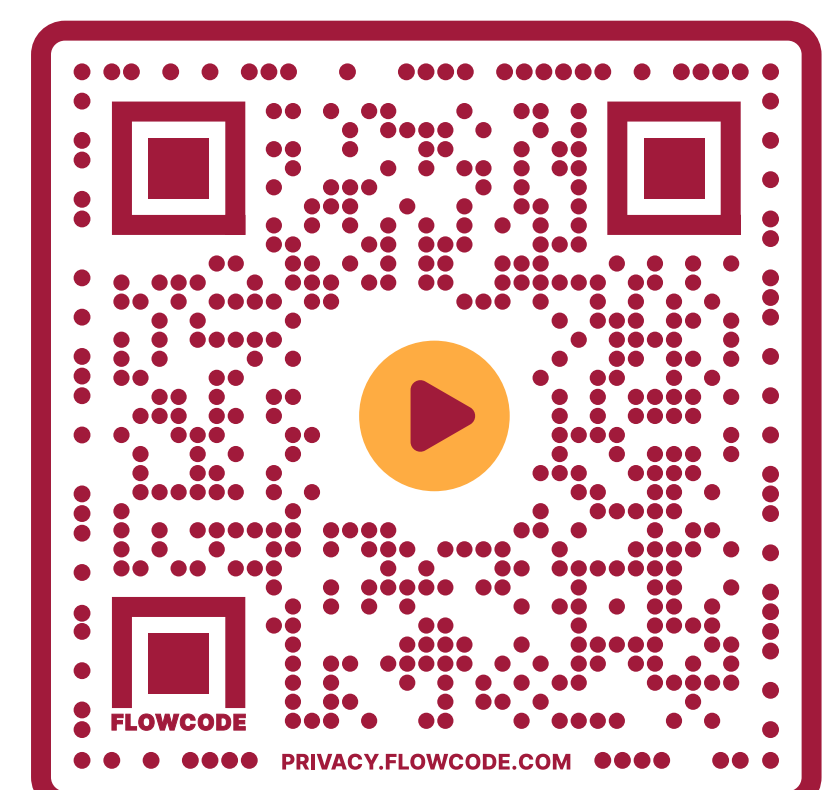

“

It was very satisfying to see my son discover a new world that he will be able to venture into when he is older and even more so with the example of Niko and the team of professionals in a space that motivates him to do so despite his illness.”
