

BEER & CIDER PORTFOLIO

by Libra Drinks

WELCOME TO LIBRA DRINKS BEER & CIDER PORTFOLIO

Welcome to our new Beer & Cider brochure in which you will discover our fantastic range of great brands.

The business was founded back in 2005 and has successfully grown to where it is today by having a large portfolio of some of the very best beers & ciders.

We pride ourselves in curating a range that delivers you great brands from local, regional, national and global producers all from suppliers that offer fantastic support to our customers in trade. In an everchanging world we keep our ears to the ground to ensure our range remains fresh and in line with market trends.

Your beer and cider offering can have a huge impact on your business. From having the right range to suit your customers, to ensuring your business is as profitable as it can be, finding the right balance can be crucial. Our Account Managers are on hand, in conjunction with our brand owner partners, to help you in every aspect from selection to serve, offering a wealth of experience and expertise. We will provide technical dispense support and work with brand owners to provide appropriate glassware and point of sale to give your customers the best possible beer & cider drinking experience.

Every year the landscape of the beer market changes, we are currently riding a wave of World Lagers with distributors battling to have the next big trend to hit the lips of lager drinkers. Whether that be from the Mediterranean shores or from further afield in Japan or Mexico. Whilst away from lager we continue to see an ever increasing number of players in the Stout game as brands try to split the G of Guinness demand.

Even the craft and cask market continues to find ways to innovate and adapt to consumer demands. More and more brewers are placing more emphasis on modern style of cask beers in an attempt to recruit younger drinkers to a category so synonymous with the quintessential British Pub. No longer is a pint of hazy beer something to feared and sent back, more likely signalling a big juicy flavour that consumers can session and enjoy. All the while traditional brands such as Bass are enjoying a renaissance as consumers flock for that nostalgic brand they know and love.

As much as we'd like to, we can't list everyone's brands, but we are confident that by working alongside all the National players blended with great producers such as Tiny Rebel, Westons traditional brewers like Timothy Taylor & Ossett and of course with emphasis on local heroes such as Castle Rock, Liquid Light and Neon Raptor, we are able to offer you a "One stop shop" solution to everything beer & cider. We hope you enjoy browsing through our colourful brochure and find some great brands for your customers to enjoy.

MOLSON COORS

In 1786, English immigrant John Molson founded Canada's oldest beer brewery on the banks of the St. Lawrence River in Montreal. He wrote, "My beer has been universally well-liked beyond my most sanguine expectations." The legacy continues seven generations later with brands like Molson Canadian, first brewed in 1959 and still one of Canada's most iconic and best-selling beers.

Adolph Coors, a penniless brewer's apprentice, stowed away on a ship from Germany in 1868 and made his way west, coming upon perfect water in Clear Creek in Golden, Colorado, at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. He opened a brewery in 1873; 105 years later, Coors Light was born and is now enjoyed by beer drinkers in over 25 countries worldwide.

TRADITIONAL CIDER

SEACIDER

SeaCider was founded by Mark Francis who started out as a Brewer in Brighton, Sussex. Mark would constantly be touring Sussex delivering his beer to pubs and driving around the local countryside. He soon noticed an abundance of apple orchards that were not harvested and left unloved. He also noticed that many pubs did not stock local cider and there didn't seem to be many cider-makers left in Sussex.

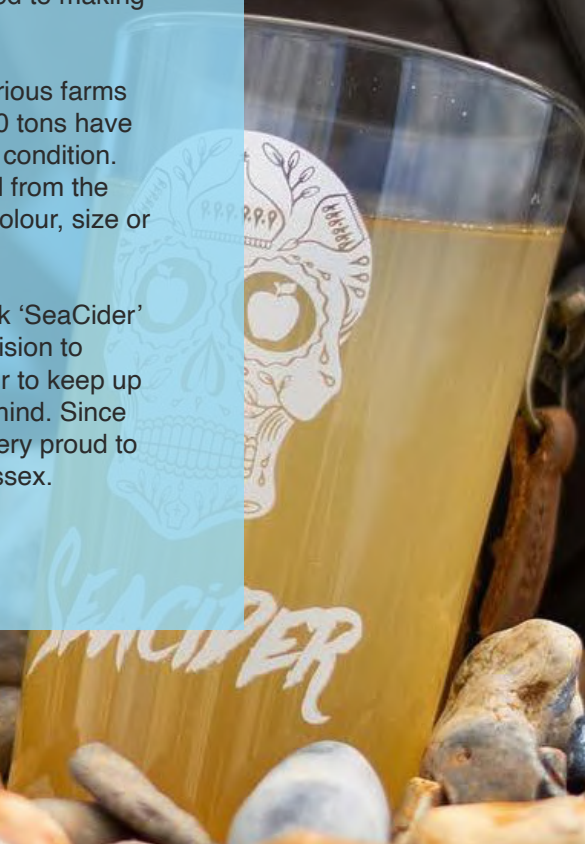

After devouring every book he could find on cider-making and gathering up as many local apples as he could, he tentatively started to make cider and began selling it to pubs alongside his beer. After a lot of trial and error, Mark soon became as dedicated to making cider as he did beer.

The apples have been sourced from various farms across Sussex and Kent and around 300 tons have been cold stored to keep them in good condition.

All of these apples have been rejected from the supermarket chains for being the wrong colour, size or shape.

Almost straight away pubs began to stock 'SeaCider' and Mark had to make the hard decision to concentrate all his efforts on making cider to keep up with the demand and leave the beer behind. Since then he hasn't looked back and now is very proud to be the largest Cider-maker in Sussex.

We're independently minded and independently made.

That means we do things our own way. Not the quick way. Not the easy way, but the right way and that takes time. It's what makes us as refreshingly real as our herefordshire cider. What we stand for means something. For five generations we've been going beyond, striving to be genuinely better.

GWYNT Y DDRAIG

In the autumn of 2001 we made our first few barrels of cider on the home farm here in Llantwit Fardre, South Wales. What started as a hobbyist's experiment quickly became much more serious and an expanded selection of draught and oak-matured Btlsd ciders followed – each refined over time. The result is, what we believe, some of the finest traditional ciders available.

Placing flavour and quality at the core, our range is still traditionally made here on the farm using carefully selected ingredients, simple recipes and striking blends. Now world-renowned, Gwynt Cider is available in 7 countries around the world. We're proud to be multiple award-winning, and refreshingly Welsh!

THIRSTY FARMER

The Fear family have been making Cider for as long as anyone can remember, but the first commercial batch was sold by Mr Metford Fear to a public house in Weston Super Mare.

Then the same cider was made for friends, family and farm workers by John Fear on his farms in Somerset. John in turn passed down the art of real cider making to his son Andrew.

In 2005, Andrew, having settled in Nottinghamshire and realising the commercial potential of the cider began to produce it, as "Thirsty Farmer Cider", to sell at Country Fairs and Food Festivals.

Since then, "Thirsty Farmer Cider" has continued to grow in popularity. And has won CAMRA's Best Cider in the East Midlands and 2 Gold stars in the Guild of Fine Food Great Taste Awards.
