Get Whole-of-Life Value with EF Furniture

Durable, sustainable school furniture designed for long-term performance in New Zealand classrooms.

At Educated Furniture, we design and manufacture school furniture with long-term durability, practical performance and environmental responsibility in mind. By using Laminex Melteca® across a large part of our classroom furniture range, we help schools create learning environments that are attractive, hardwearing and built to last.

1. Sustainable Materials

Melteca is made using responsibly sourced wood fibre from New Zealand forests and is supported by independent third-party certifications, including Eco Choice Aotearoa and FSC® certification.

With low formaldehyde emissions, Melteca also contributes to healthier indoor learning environments for students, teachers and staff. It also supports the New Zealand Green Building Council's Green Star rating tools, assisting projects working toward recognised sustainability outcomes.

2. Built for Busy Classrooms

Classroom furniture needs to work hard. Melteca's hardwearing surface is highly durable, scratch-resistant, stain-resistant and impact-resistant, making it well suited to demanding education spaces.

3. Lower Whole-of-Life Costs

By extending the useful life of school furniture, durable materials help reduce maintenance, repairs, refurbishment and replacement over time. This supports lower lifecycle costs and helps minimise the environmental impact associated with manufacturing, transport and disposal of replacement products.

4. Environmental Transparency

Melteca Environmental Product Declarations, or EPDs, provide independently verified lifecycle data, including information on embodied carbon, energy use, resource consumption and end-of-life recovery potential. This gives schools, designers and project teams greater confidence when making informed, sustainable material choices.

Why does all this matter for schools?

Choosing durable, locally made materials helps reduce lifecycle costs, minimise waste and support better environmental outcomes over the full life of the furniture.

Locally Made. Designed for Learning. Built to Last.

Educated Furniture combines New Zealand manufacturing, durable materials and thoughtful design to create school furniture that delivers value well beyond the day it is installed.
