INDIA FUEL CRISIS RESPONSE

India is facing one of the most serious fuel and cooking gas shortages in recent history. As conflict in the Middle East continues to disrupt the Strait of Hormuz, a critical route through which much of the world's oil and LPG supplies travel, the impact is being felt across India. Major international news organizations have reported on the growing fuel crisis, rising energy costs, LPG shortages, and transportation disruptions affecting millions of people. Reuters has reported that India is experiencing severe LPG supply challenges, with cooking gas shortages becoming a major concern for households across the country.

While national reports tell part of the story, we are hearing directly from pastors, church planters, and Christian leaders serving on the front lines throughout India. They report long lines for LPG cylinders, delayed deliveries, soaring prices, and families struggling to cook daily meals. In some areas, people are waiting months for cooking gas. Others are forced to pay many times the normal price on the black market just to feed their families. Reports from around India have documented long queues, shortages, and the emergence of black-market LPG sales as supplies remain constrained.

Transportation costs have also increased dramatically, making it more difficult for families to access food, employment, medical care, and other necessities. The burden falls especially hard on the poor, widows, daily wage workers, and families already living on the edge of survival. Reuters and other news outlets have reported that disruptions linked to the Strait of Hormuz have driven up fuel costs and created significant economic pressure throughout India.

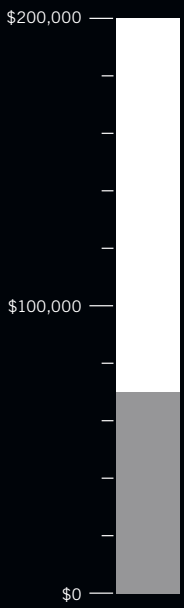

In the midst of this crisis, CICM International is responding as the hands and feet of Jesus.

Our goal is to assist 1,000 struggling families by providing:

- Two months of groceries
- Rice, lentils, flour, and cooking oil
- Electric stoves
- Cooking utensils compatible with electric stoves

These supplies will help families prepare meals even when LPG gas is unavailable while providing immediate relief during this difficult season.

Most importantly, every family we help will hear that Jesus Christ loves them and has not forgotten them. As we meet physical needs, we also seek to share the hope of the Gospel and demonstrate Christ's compassion in tangible ways.
