YOUR GUIDE

Trinidad and Tobago is the southernmost island country in the Caribbean.

Consisting of the main islands Trinidad and Tobago, and numerous much smaller islands, it is situated 130 kilometres (81 miles) south of Grenada and 11 kilometres (6.8 miles) off the coast of northeastern Venezuela.

Trinidad & Tobago has many notable citizens that include CLR James , Winston Duke, Nicki Minaj, Floella Benjamin as well as many others.

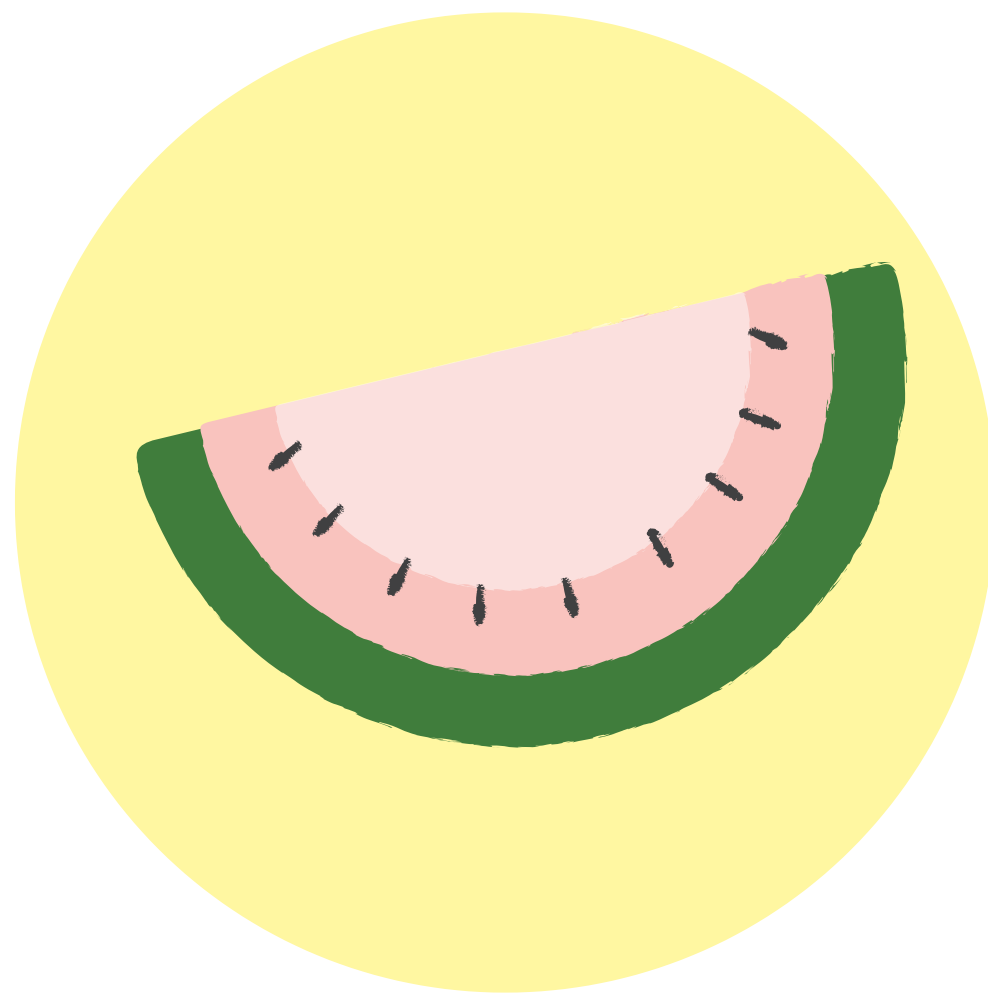

Trinidad & Tobago is rich and diverse in terms of it's history and culture which you can explore and find out more about with the Very Puzzled Trinidad & Tobago map jigsaw puzzle and this guide book.

THE BENEFITS OF JIGSAW PUZZLES

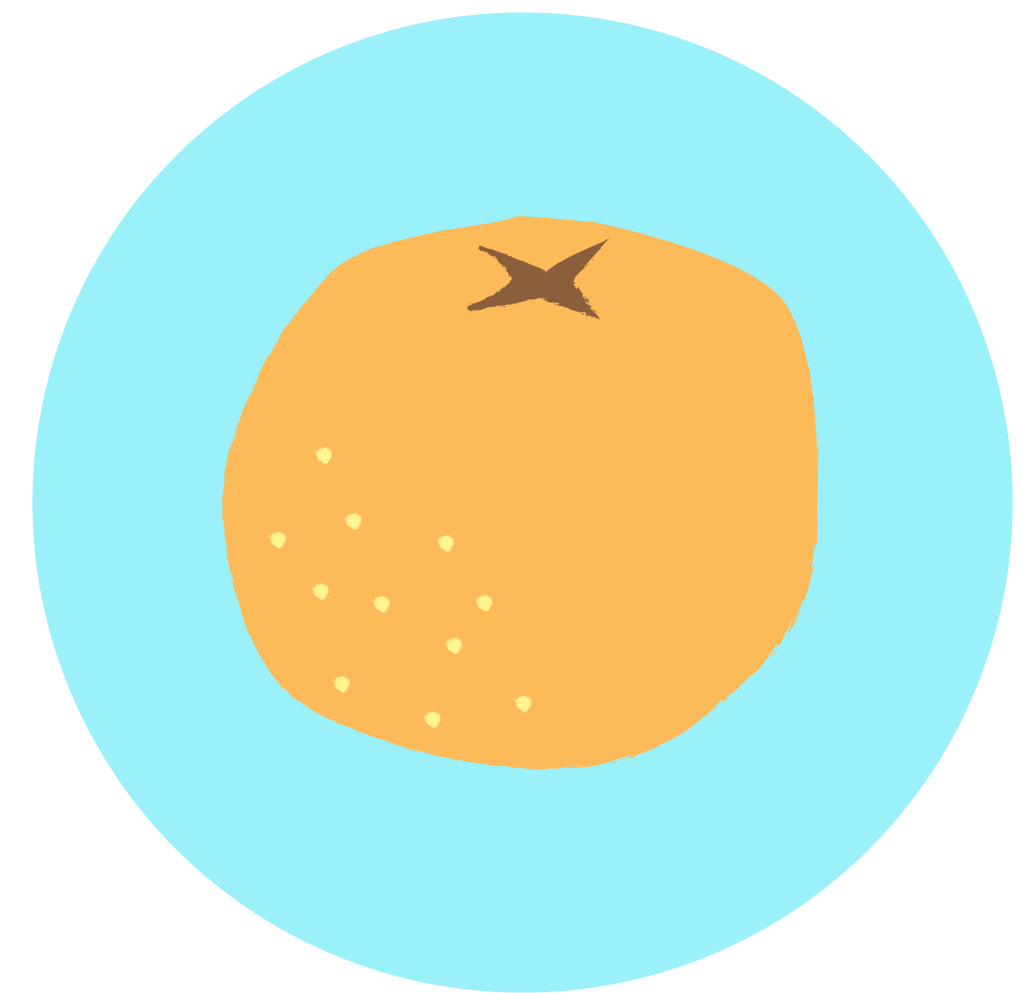

HAND-EYE COORDINATION

Your child will develop a keen relationship between what their eyes see, what their hands do and what their brain relates to this information.

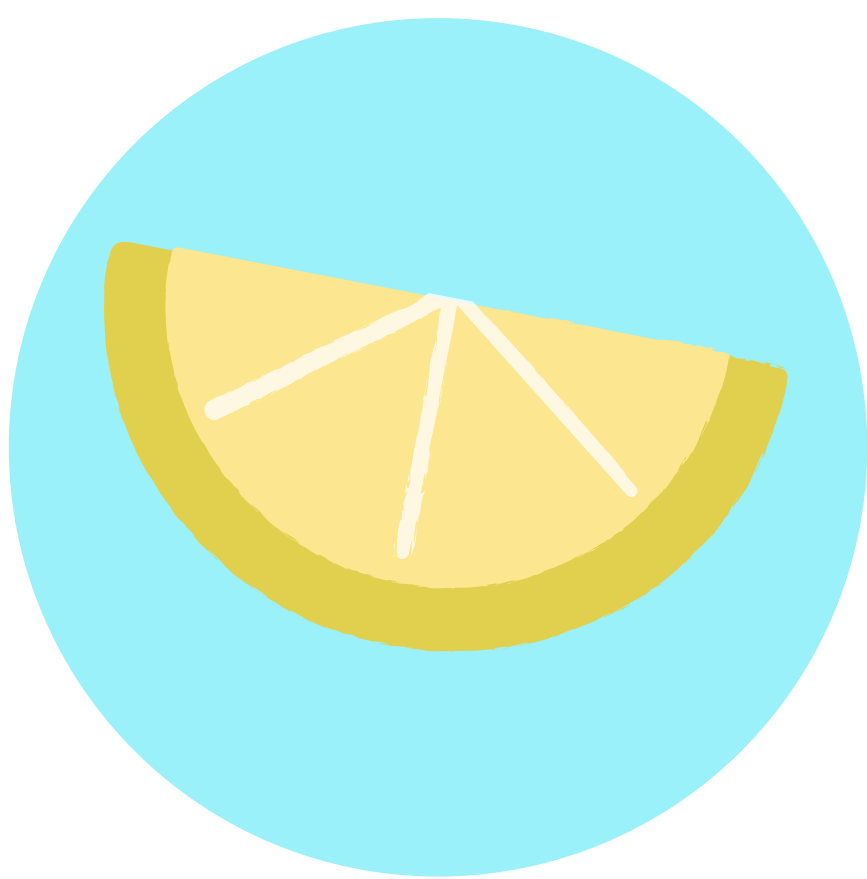

MOTOR SKILLS

Larger puzzle pieces and stacking puzzle games can enhance the large movements of your child to the point where they can then work on their fine motor skills.

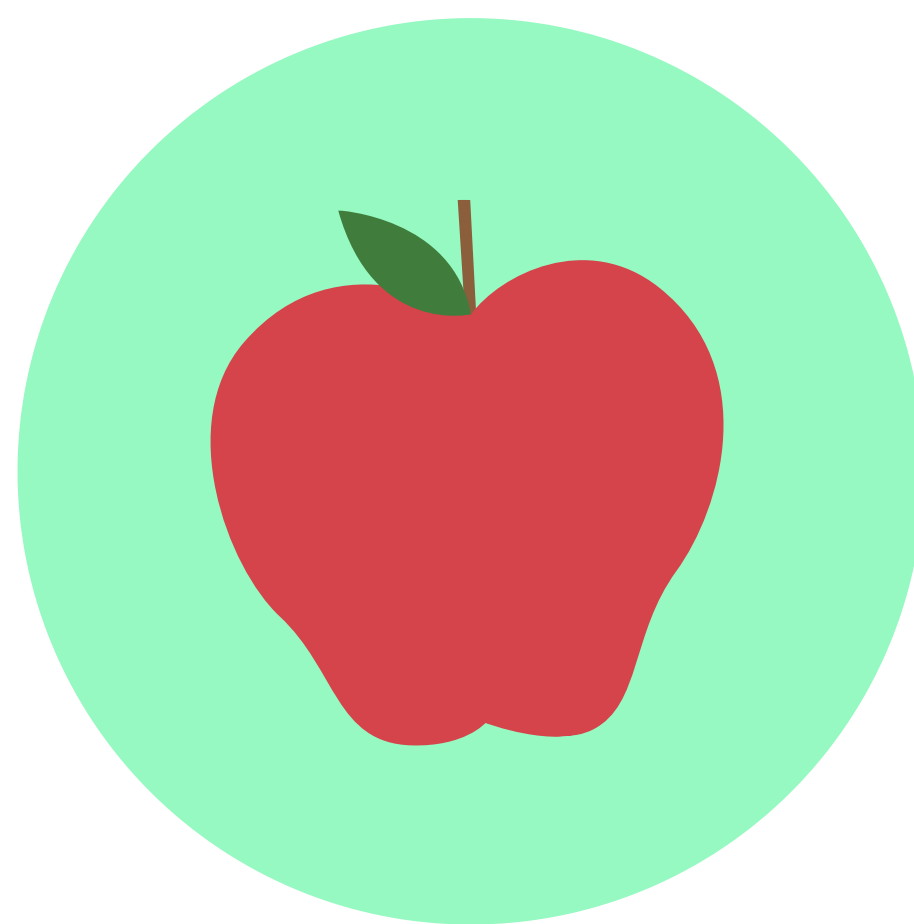

UNDERSTANDING THE WORLD

There is no better way for your child to gain an understanding of the world around them than by letting them literally manipulate the world around them.

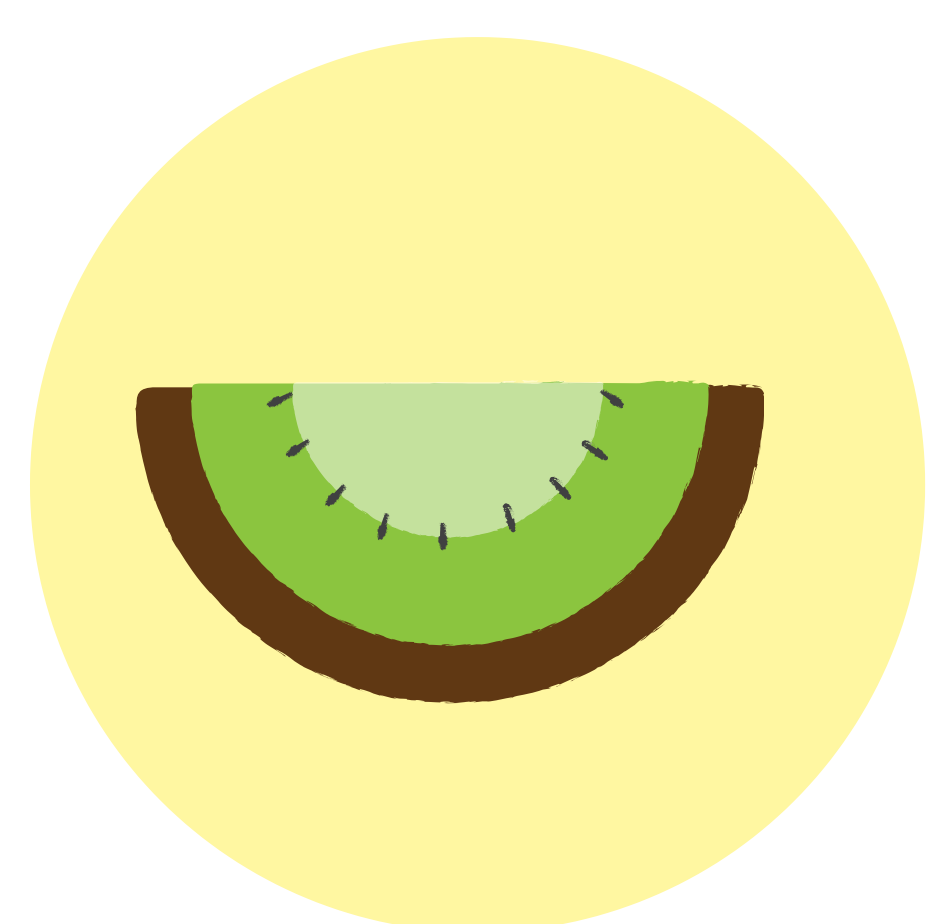

SHAPE RECOGNITION

The first puzzles we use are simple shapes — triangle, squares and circles. From there more complex shapes are used until the abstract jigsaw puzzles are used.

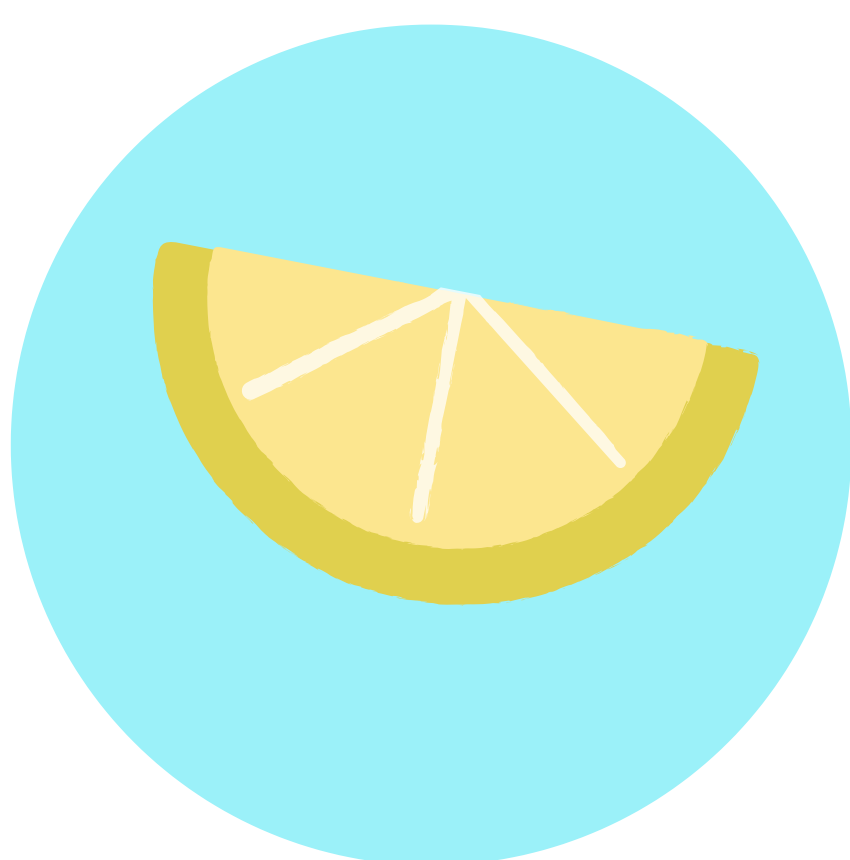

MEMORY

Your child has to remember the shape of pieces that don't fit for when they will fit later on.

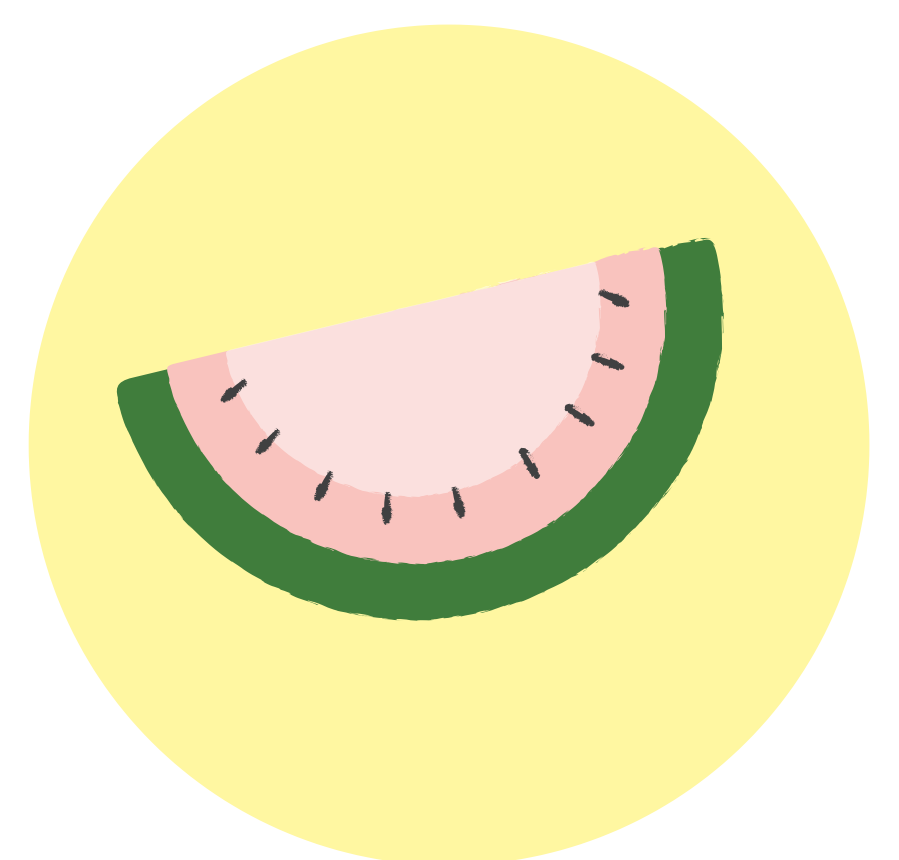

PROBLEM SOLVING

Either the puzzle piece fits or it does not. Your child uses critical thinking skills to solve the puzzle and, best of all, you can't cheat a puzzle!

SETTING GOALS

The first goal is to solve the puzzle, the next goal will be a series of strategies your child comes up with to solve the puzzle. Such as putting familiar shapes or colors in one pile for future reference.

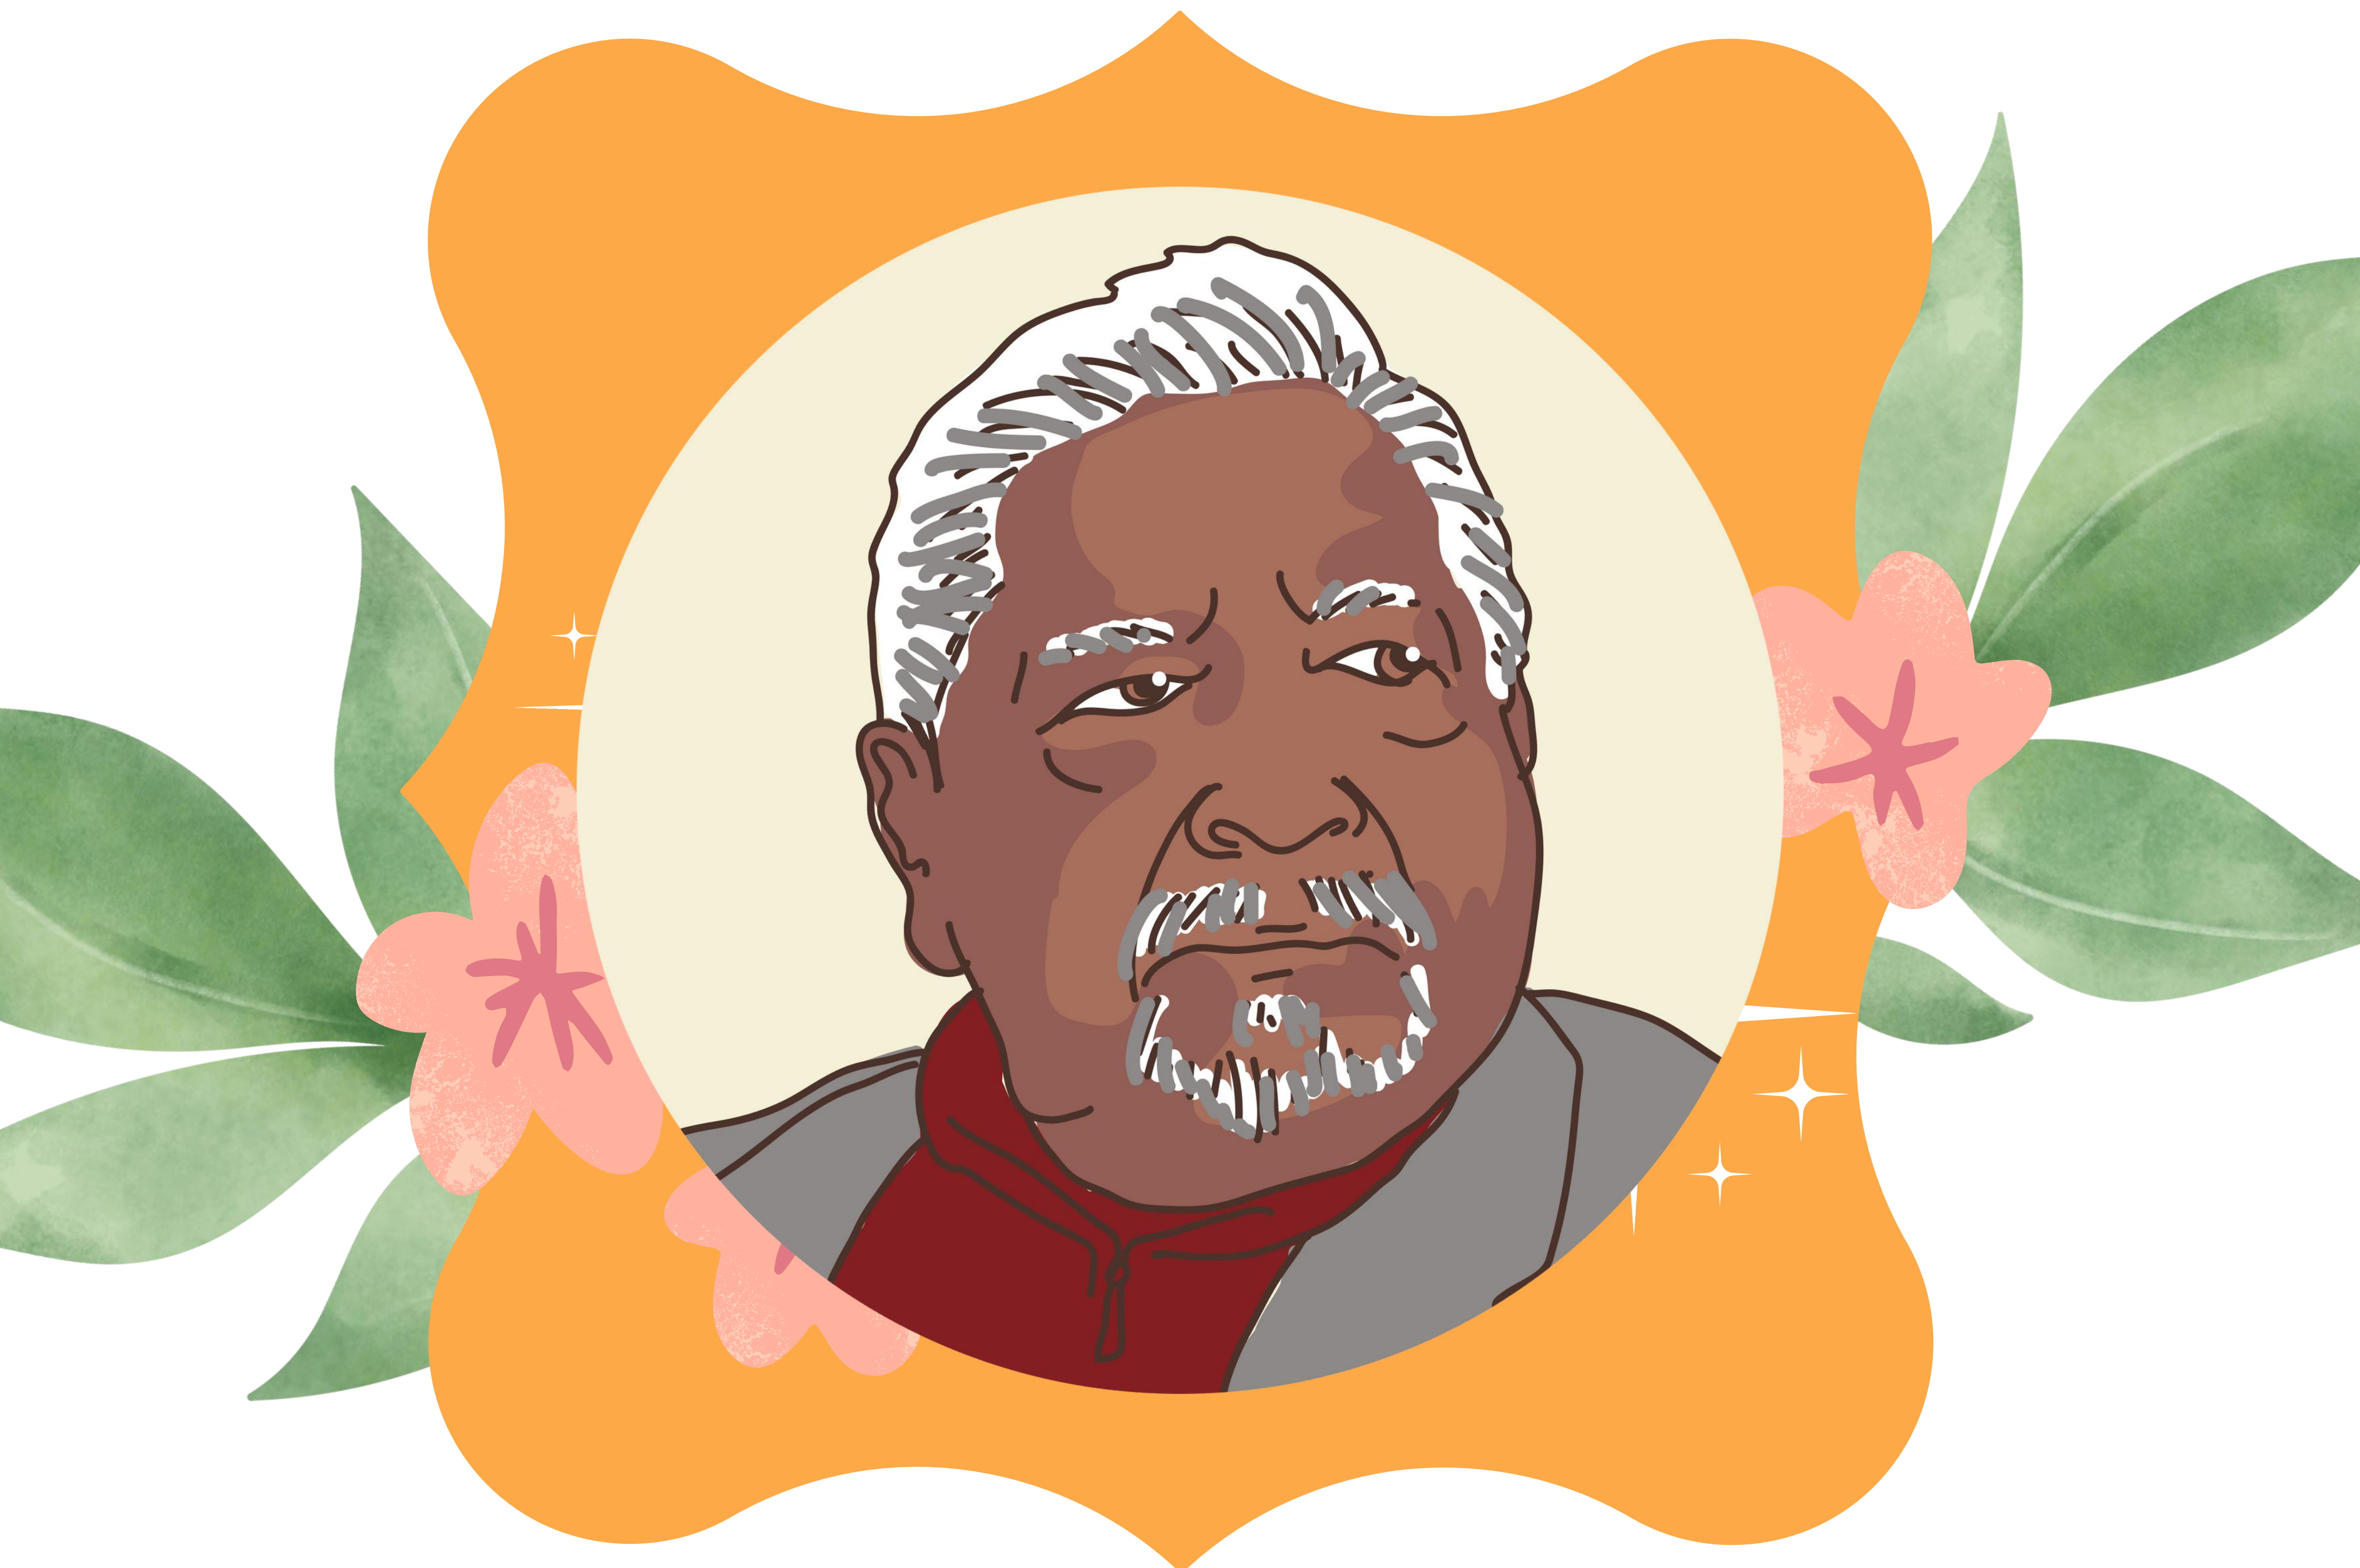

PATIENCE

Puzzles are not like sports, you can't just step up to the plate and swing until you knock it out of the park. You must practice patience and slowly work through the puzzle before you reach the ending.

V.S. NAIPAUL

(17 August 1932 – 11 August 2018)

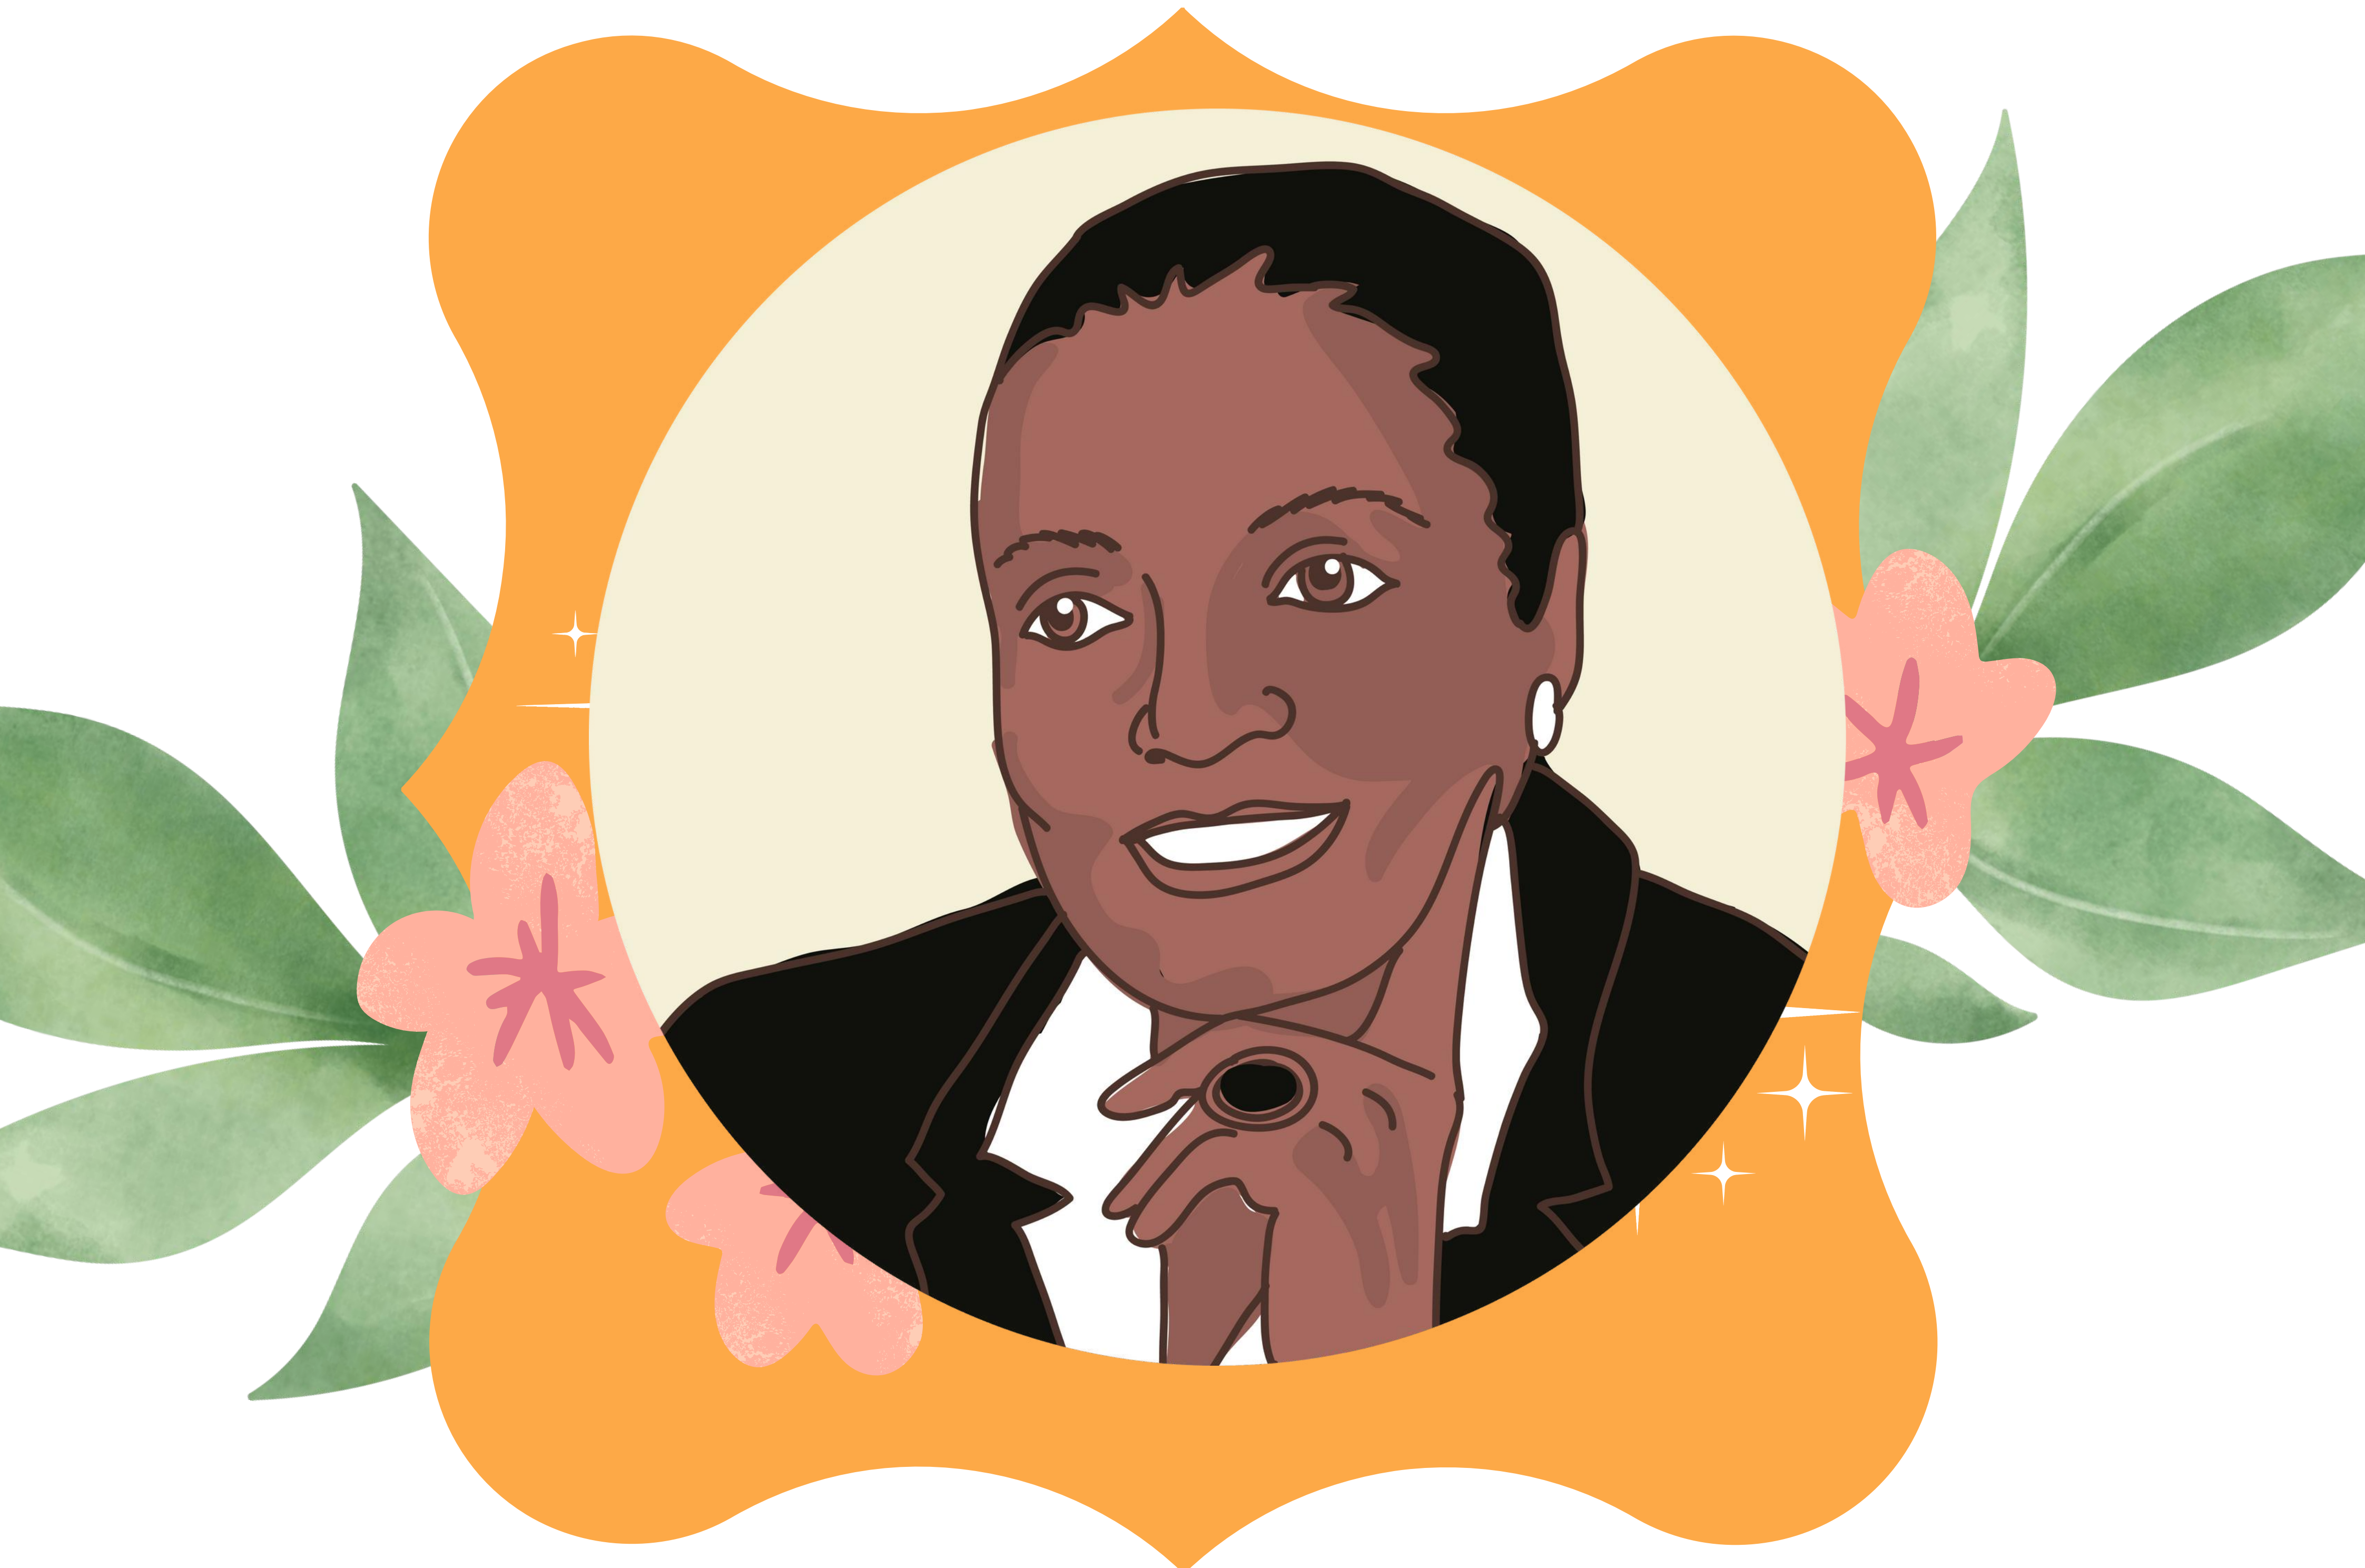

Sir Vidiadhar Surajprasad Naipaul was a Trinidad and Tobago-born British writer of works of fiction and nonfiction in English.

He published more than thirty books over fifty years. Naipaul won the Booker Prize in 1971 for his novel In a Free State. He won the Jerusalem Prize in 1983, and in 1989, he was awarded the Trinity Cross, Trinidad and Tobago's highest national honour. He received a knighthood in Britain in 1990, and the Nobel Prize in Literature in 2001.

In the late 19th century, Naipaul's grandparents had emigrated from India to work in Trinidad's plantations as indentured servants. His breakthrough novel A House for Mr Biswas was published in 1961.

ELIZABETH NUNEZ

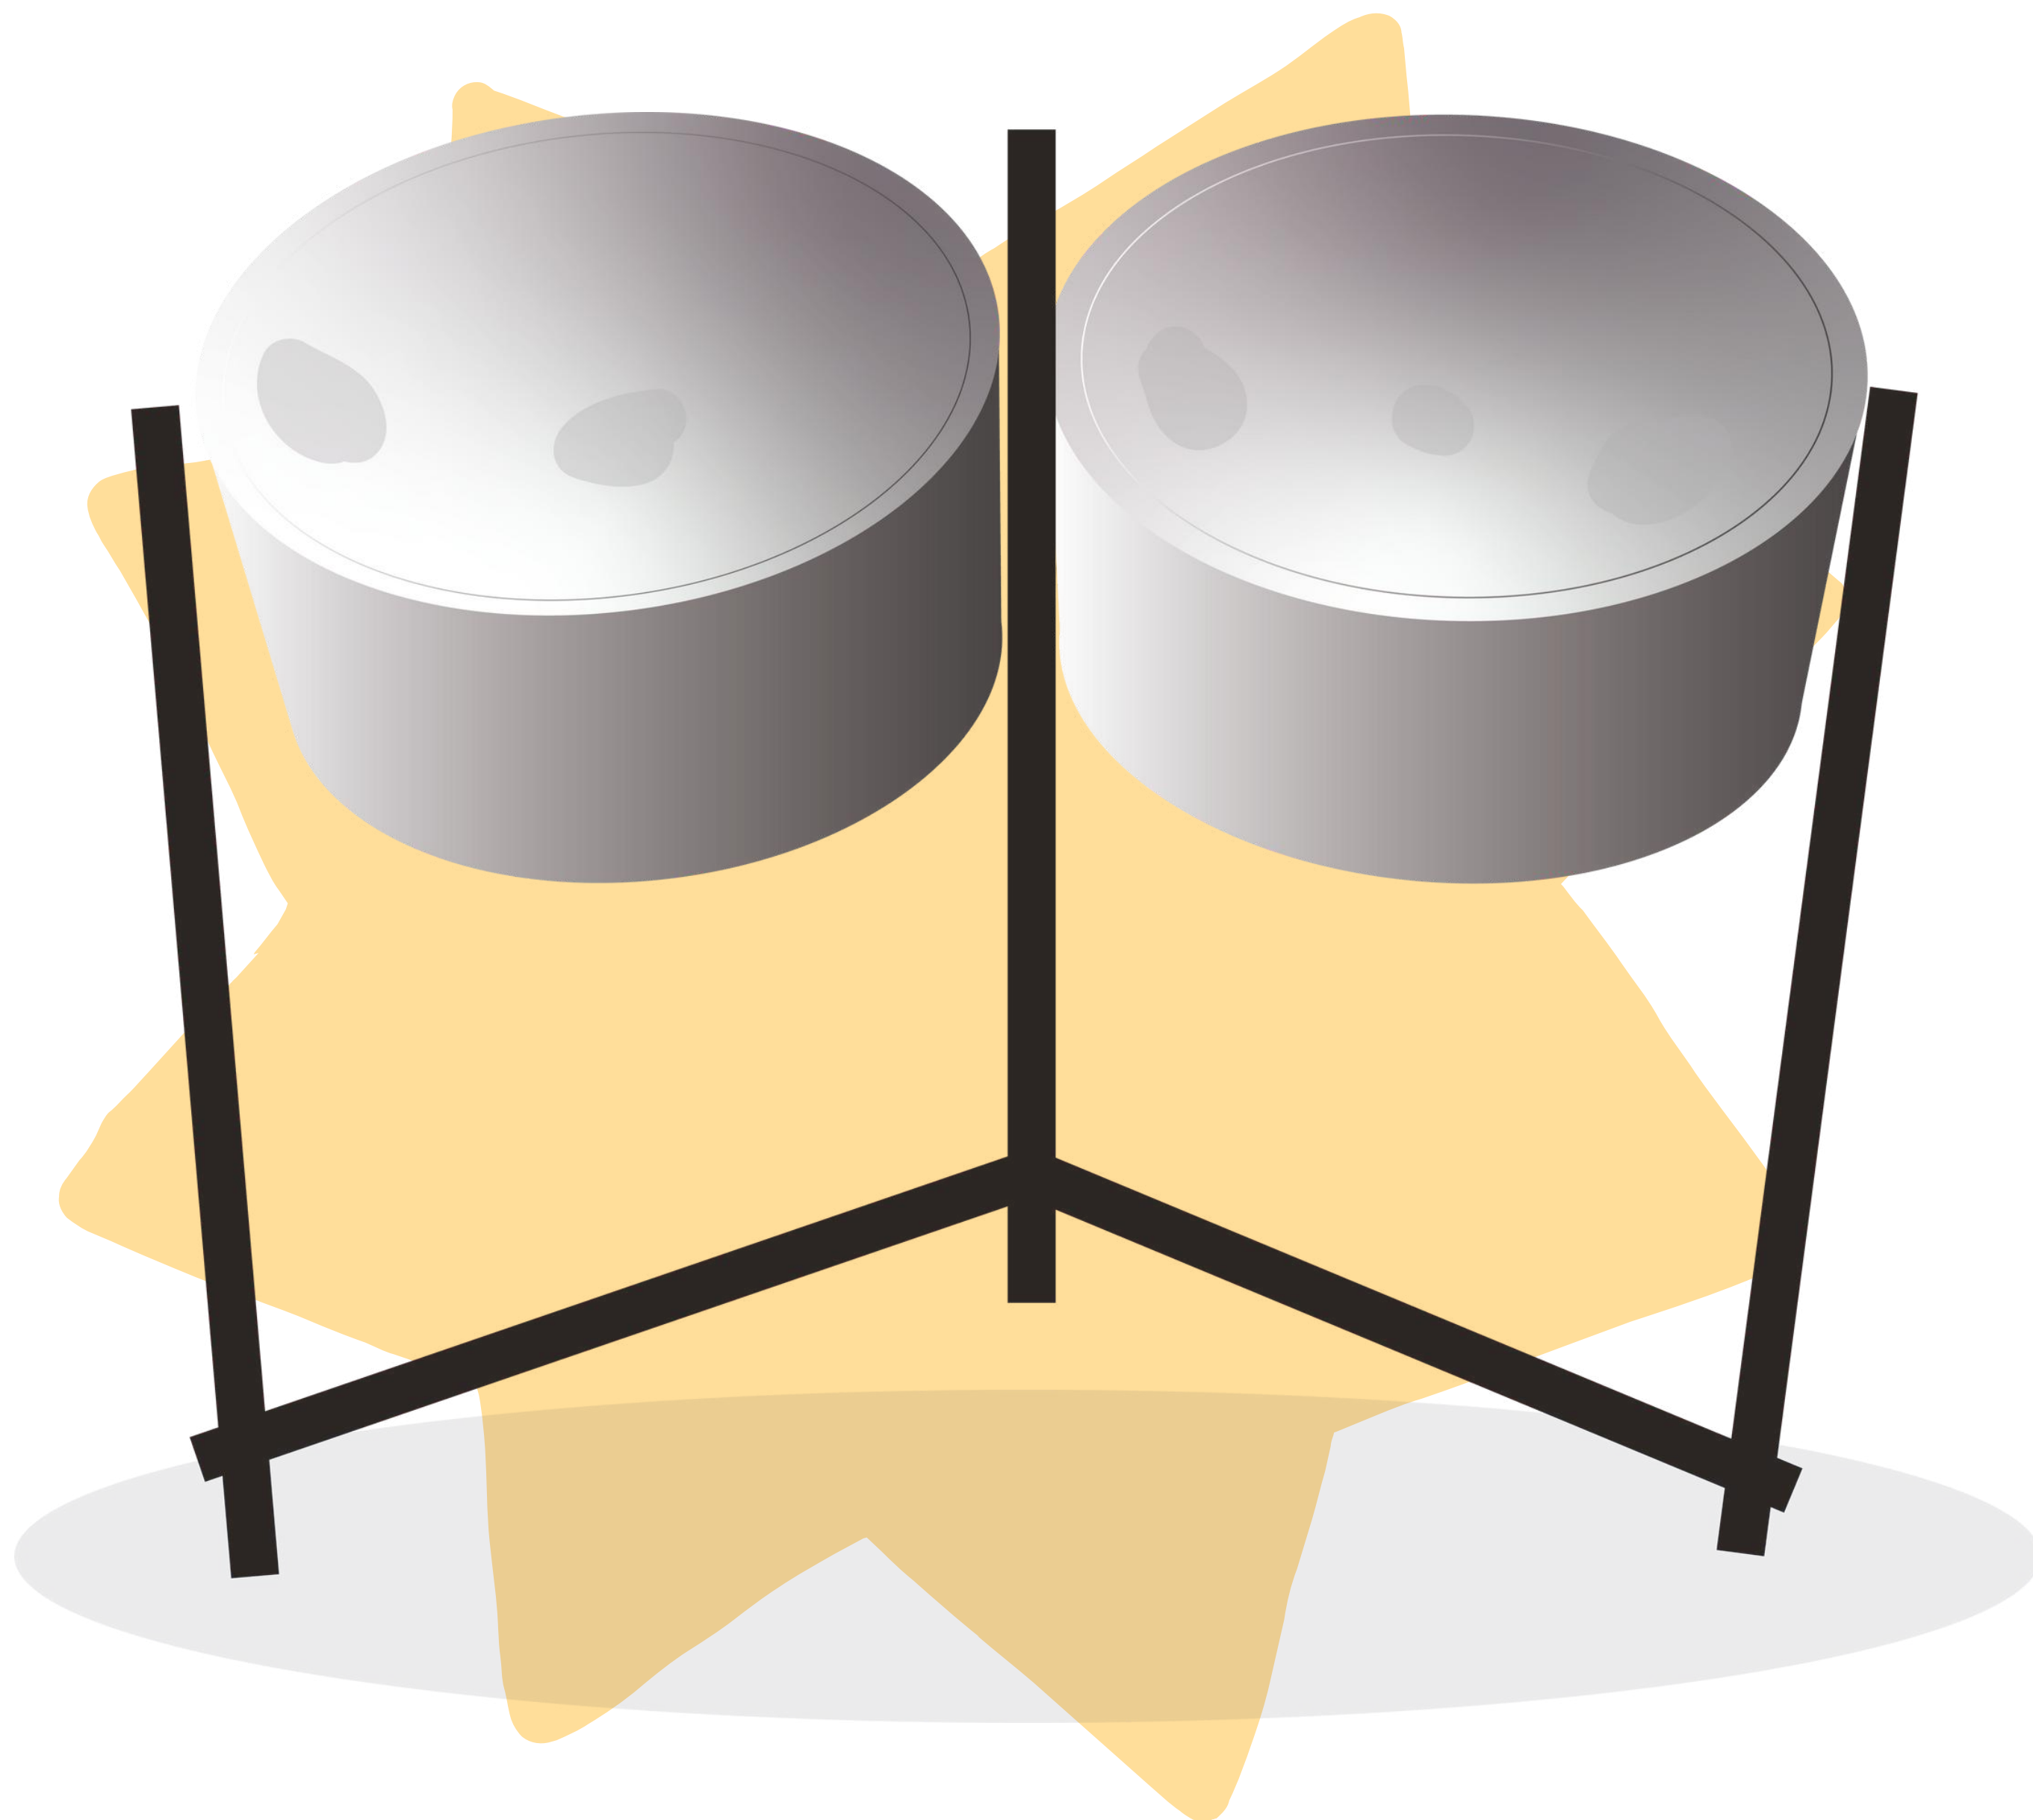

(1944)

His 1936 book Minty Alley was the first novel by a black West Indian to be published in Britain.

CARNIVAL

Carnival in the Caribbean has a complicated origin. It's tied to colonialism, religious conversion, and ultimately freedom and celebration.

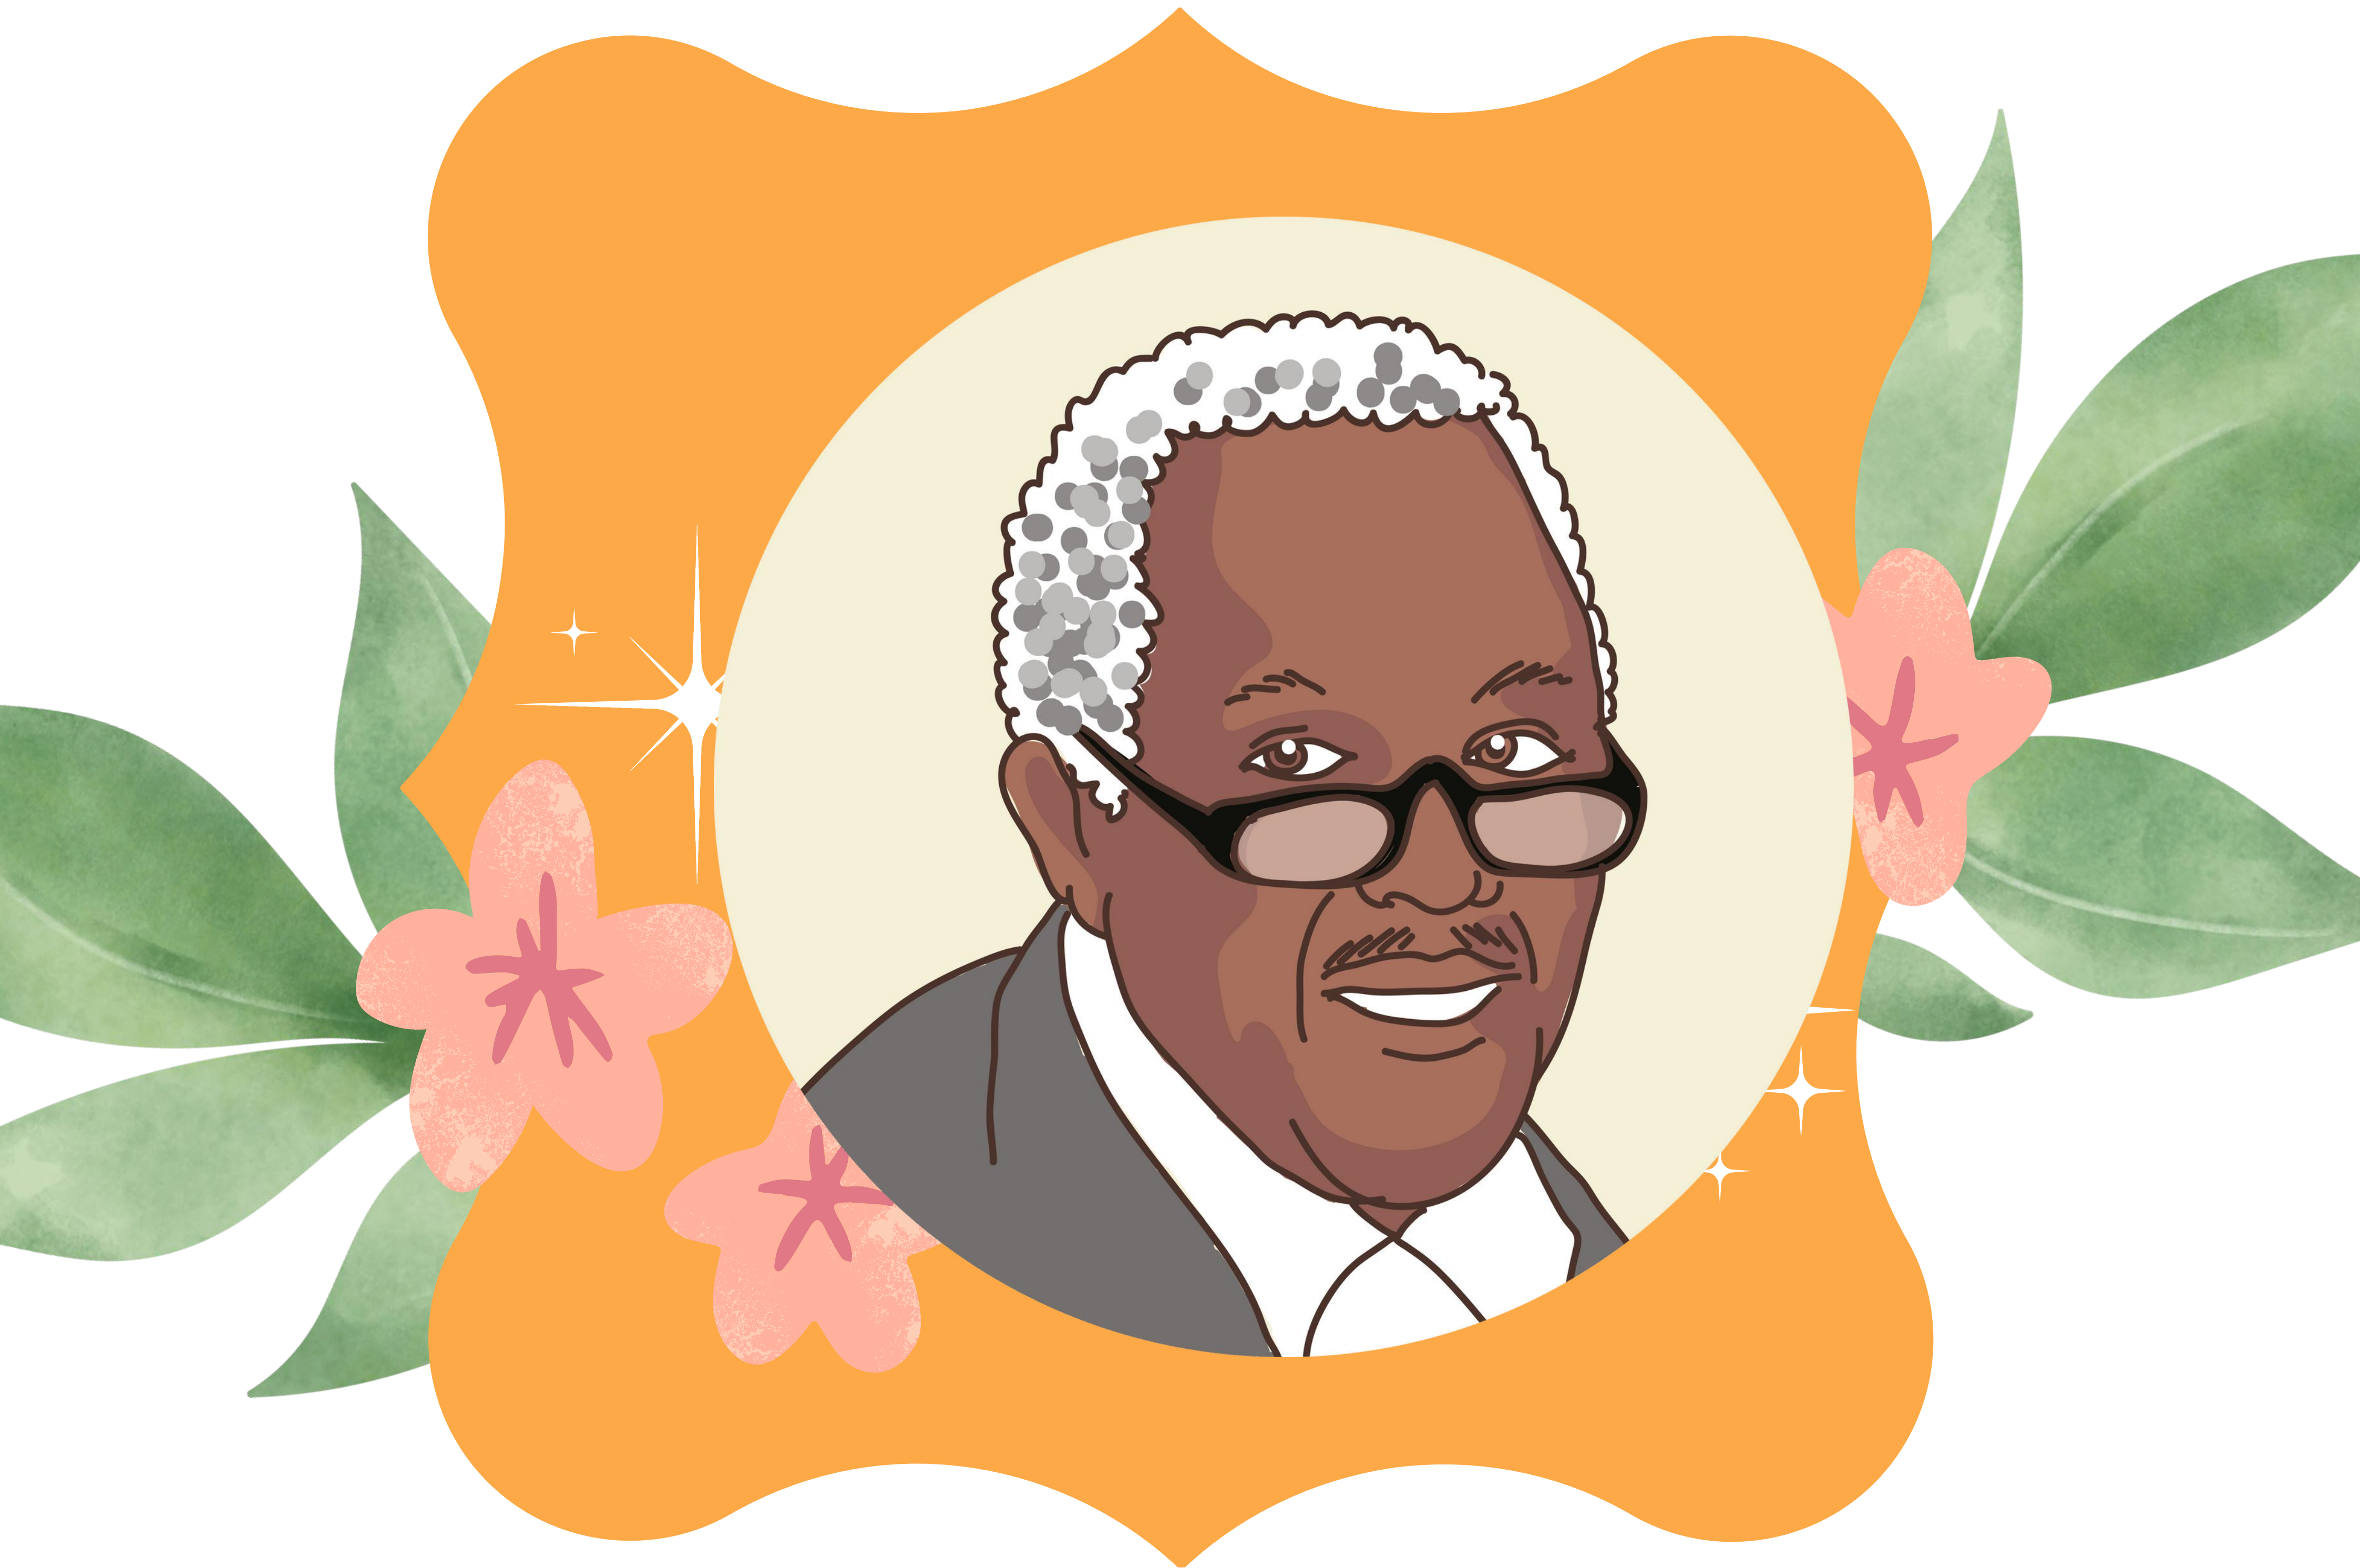

Historians say they believe the first "modern" Caribbean Carnival originated in Trinidad and Tobago in the late 18th century.

By the beginning of the 18th century, there were already a large number of free Black people in Trinidad, along with French immigrants, earlier Spanish settlers, and British nationals (the island came under British control in 1797). This resulted in Carnival's transformation from an implanted European celebration to a more heterogeneous cultural tradition that included influences from all ethnic groups. With the end of slavery in 1834, the now completely free populace could outwardly celebrate their native culture and their emancipation through dress, music, and dancing.

These three elements—dressing in masquerade, music, and dancing—remain central to Carnival celebrations.

JOHN LA ROSE

(27 December 1927 – 28 February 2006)

John La Rose was a political and cultural activist, poet, writer, publisher, founder in 1966 of New Beacon Books, the first specialist Caribbean publishing company in Britain, and subsequently Chairman of the George Padmore Institute. He was originally from Trinidad and Tobago but was involved in the struggle for political independence and cultural and social change in the Caribbean in the 1940s and 1950s and later in Britain, the rest of the world.

Headley was born in Trinidad, the daughter of Hannah and Eric Headley. In 1989, she moved to Fort Wayne, Indiana in the United States at the age of fifteen with her mother and brother Eric Junior when her father was offered a job as pastor of McKee Street Church of God with headquarters in Anderson, Indiana.

DOUBLES

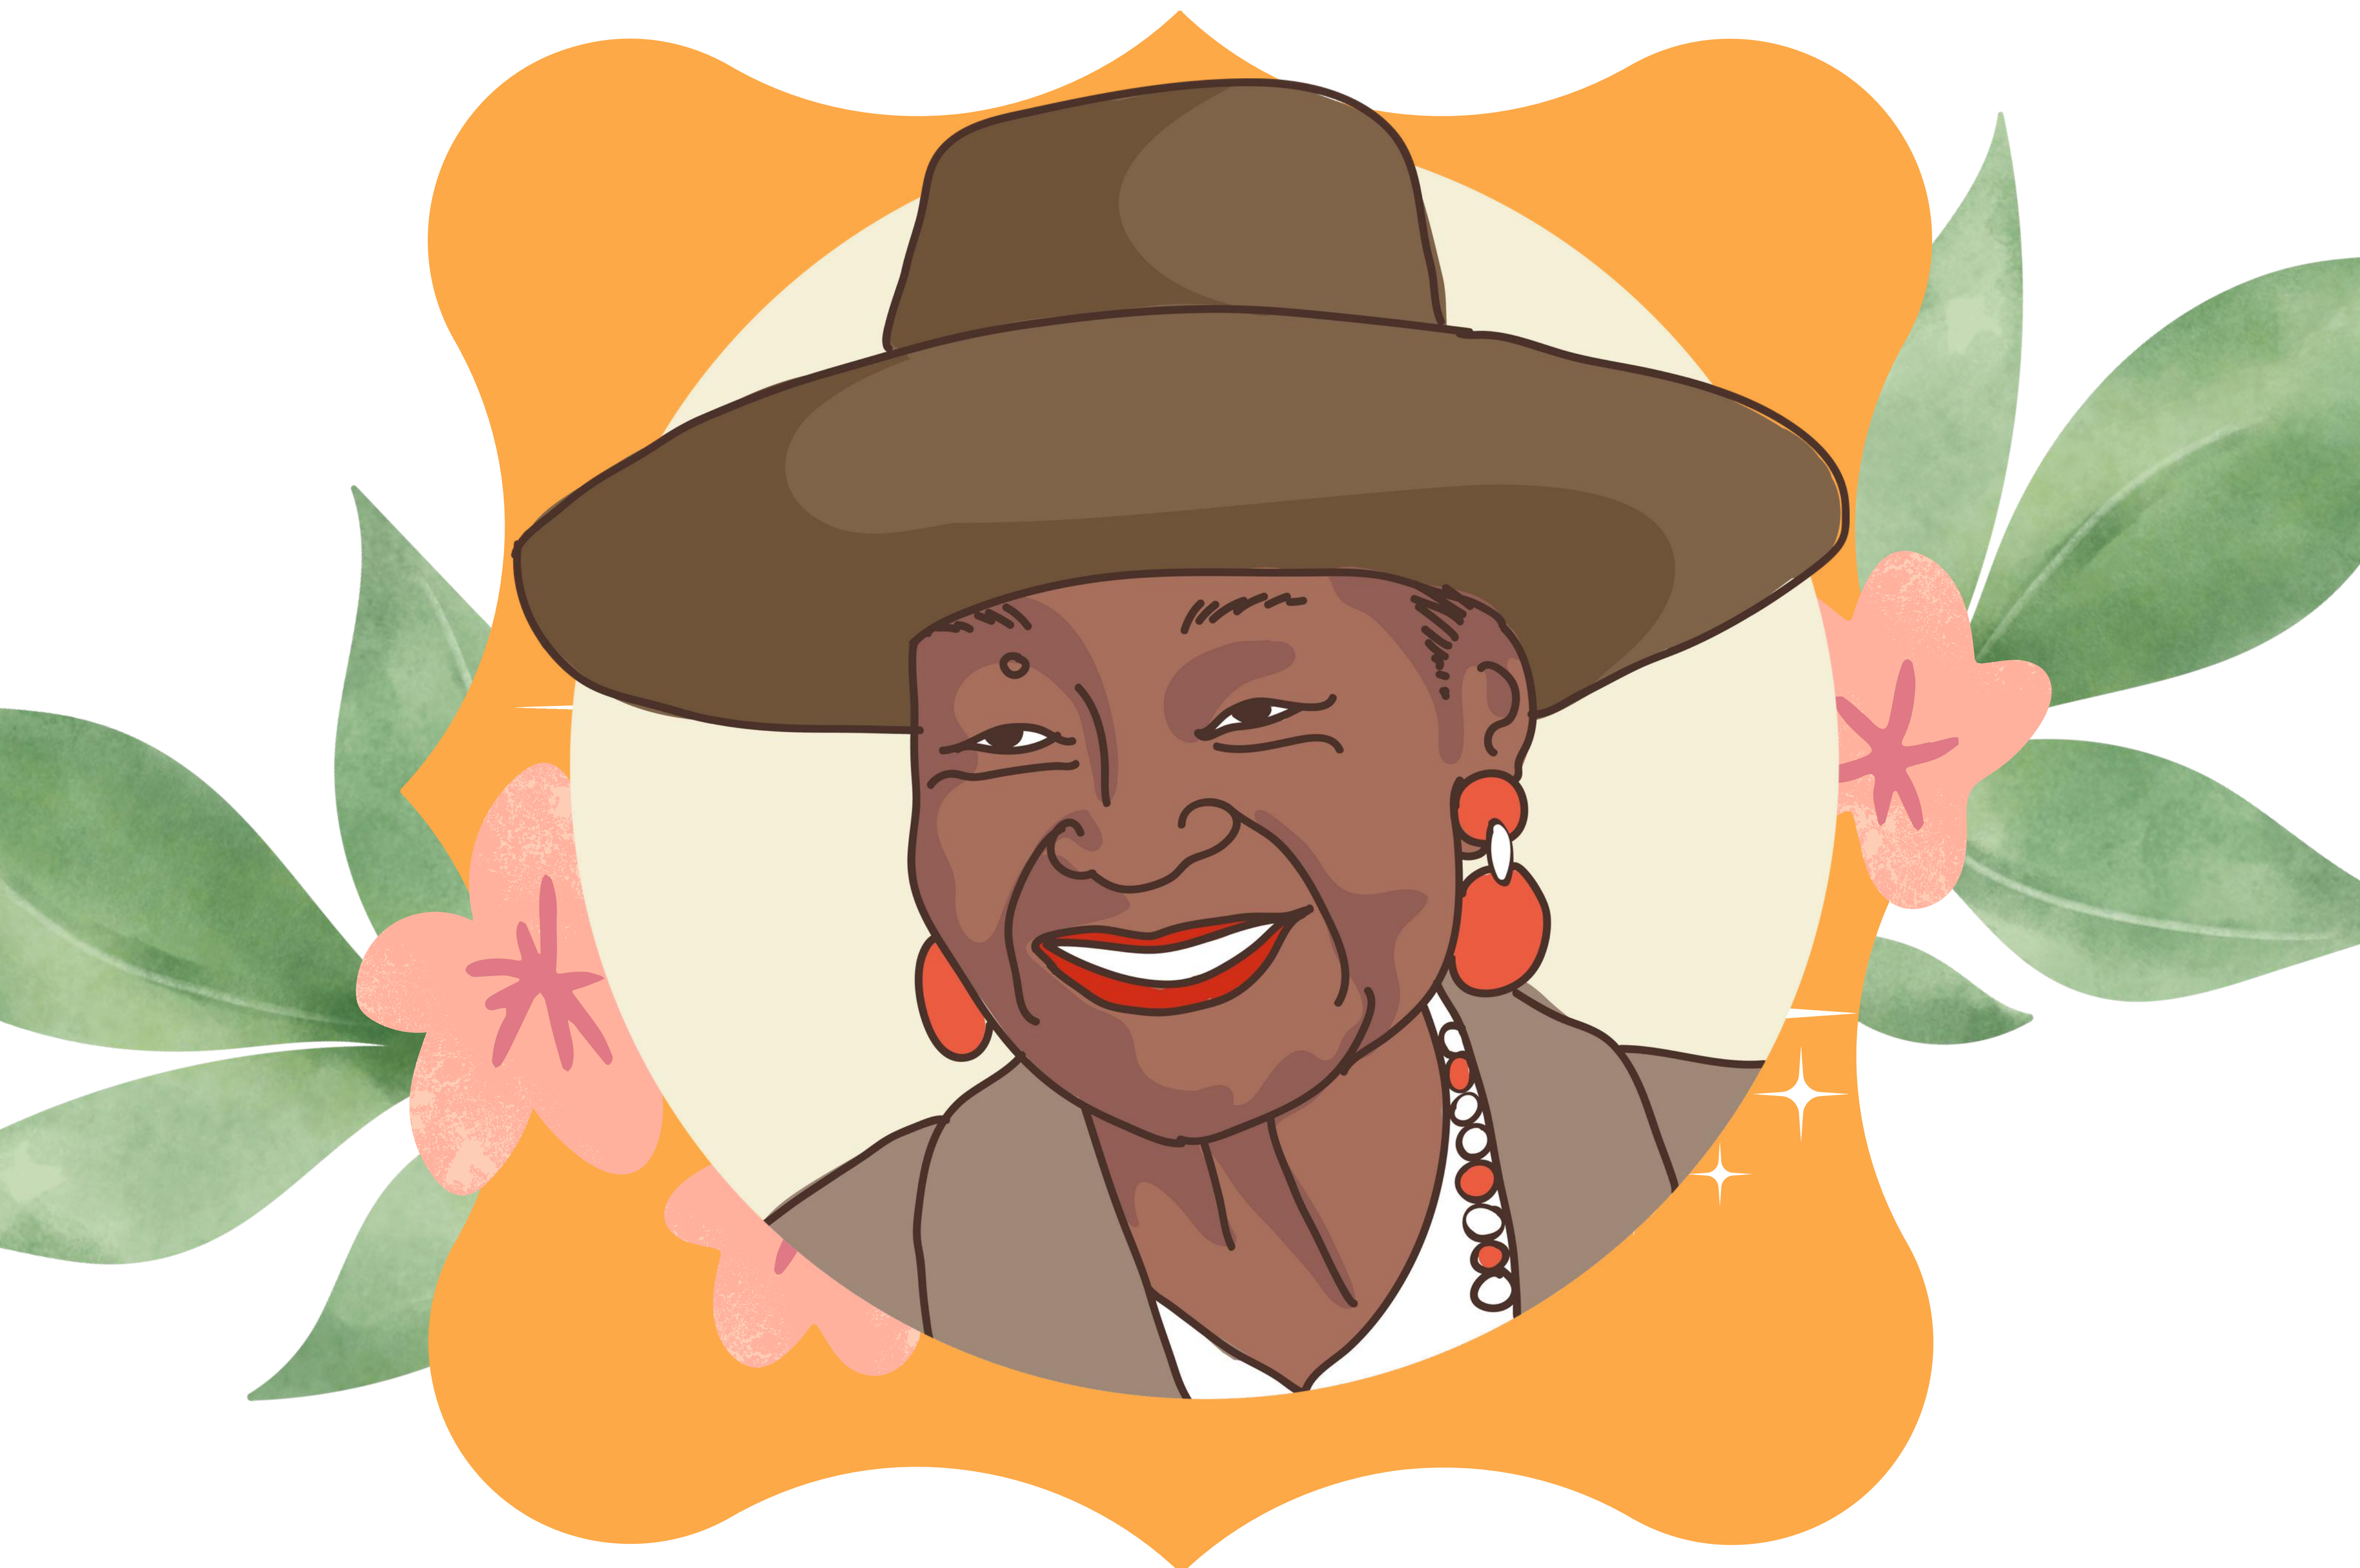

Doubles is a common street food originating in Trinidad and Tobago. It is normally eaten during breakfast, but is also eaten occasionally during lunch or as a late night snack and popular hangover food for local Trinidadians. Doubles is made with two baras (flat fried dough) and filled with curry channa (curried chickpeas) and various chutneys.

Doubles as a dish was created in Fairfield, Princes Town by Emamool Deen (a.k.a. Mamudeen) and his wife Raheman Rasulan Deen in 1936. Mamudeen used to sell the bara (flat fried dough) and channa (chickpeas) separately. When people buying these two items began requesting to double the bara in their orders the name "doubles" was coined.

Doubles can be served spicy, sweet, or savory. Condiments include a spicy pepper sauce, green mango chutney, chandon beni (also known as culantro), coconut, and tamarind.
