her busy day.

Mrs. Barbara Heal

Farewell to a great leader

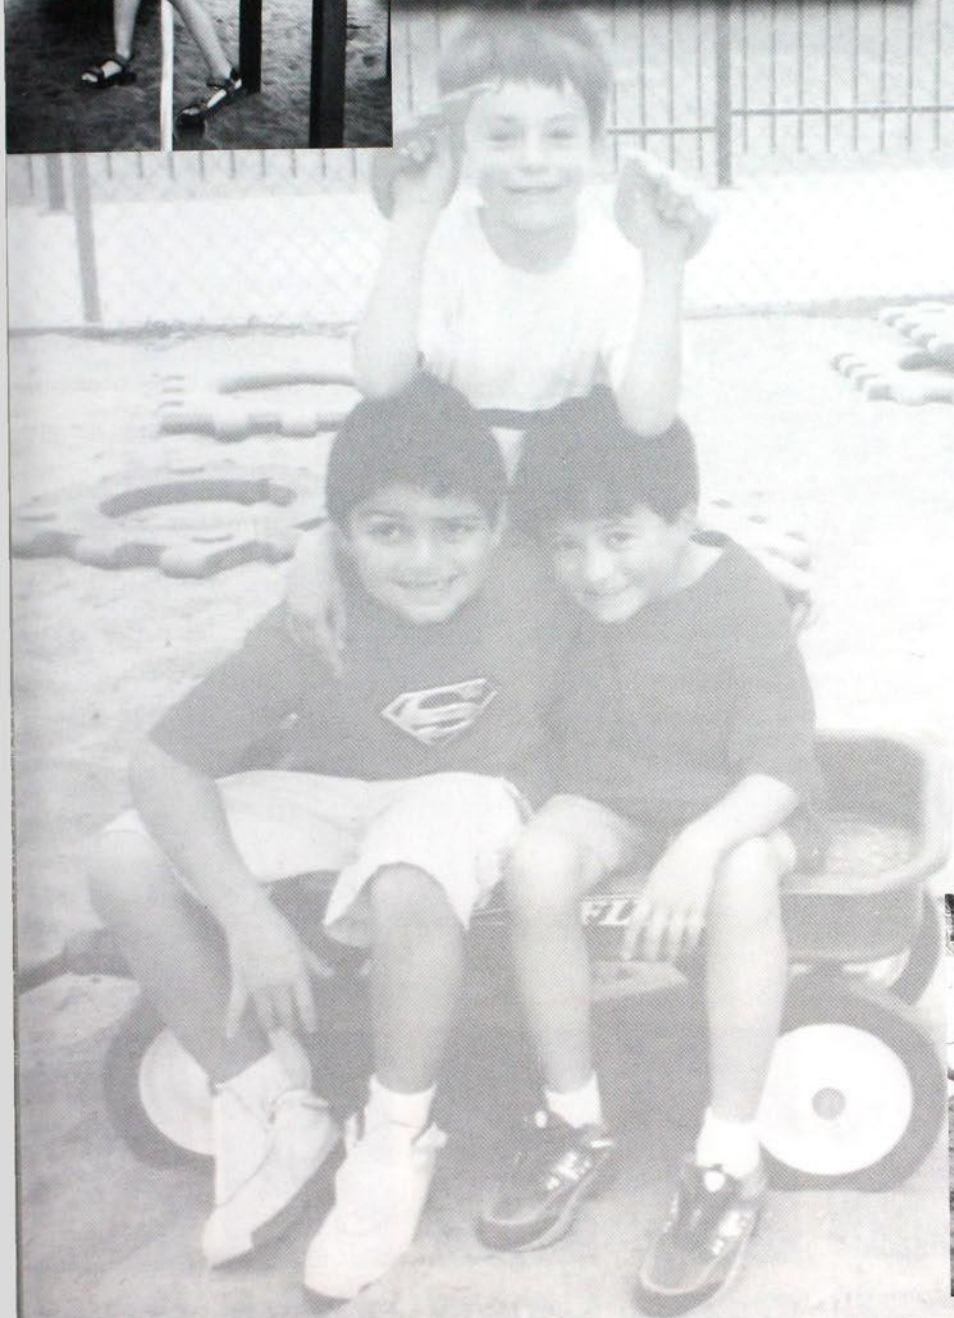

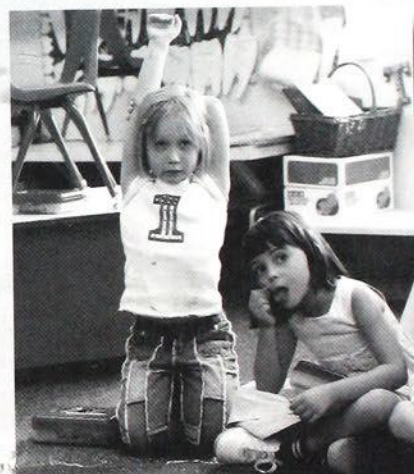

To say goodbye . . .

In the six years Barbara has been in the Lower School, she has become an integral part of the entire PCDS community. It is hard to imagine the Lower School without her. Barbara's exuberance and positive attitude have had an impact on everyone who has had the privilege of working with her. She has been a great leader, educator, mentor, and friend whom we will all miss dearly. Her influence on PCDS will be felt for many years after her departure. We know she will be thinking of us as often as we will be thinking of her. To say goodbye, we would like to tell you, Barbara, that you epitomize the following inspirational quote by Charles Swindoll: "Encourage one another. Many times a word of praise or thanks or appreciation or cheer has kept people on their feet."

Thank you for your support, encouragement, and wisdom.

A friend will strengthen you with her prayers, bless you with her love, and encourage you with her hope.

Life's challenges are not supposed to paralyze you, they're supposed to help you discover who you are.

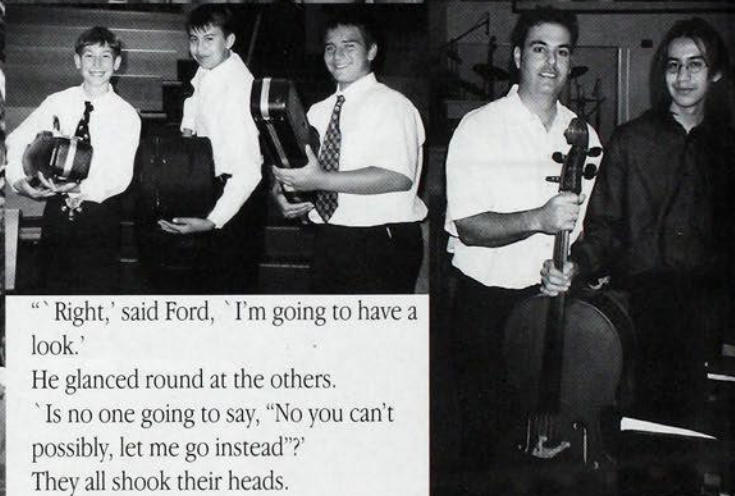

Lord, I believe in you. I'll always believe in you. Though I can't see you with my eyes, deep in my heart your presence I find. I'll keep my trust in you. Let the whole world say what they may. No one can take this joy away. Lord, I believe.

"Right," said Ford, "I'm going to have a look."
He glanced round at the others.
"Is no one going to say, 'No you can't possibly, let me go instead'?"
They all shook their heads.
"Oh well."

"Things are more like they are now that they have ever been."

President Gerald Ford

"It takes two to lie. One to lie and one to listen." "Everything's too damned expensive these days. This Bible cost 15 bucks! And talk about a preachy book! Everybody's a sinner! Except this guy!" Homer: America, take a good look at your beloved candidates. They're nothing but hideous space reptiles. [unmasks them] [audience gasps in terror]

Kodos: It's true, we are aliens. But what are you going to do about it? It's a two-party system; you have to vote for one of us [murmurs]
Man1: He's right, this is a two-party system.

Man2: Well, I believe I'll vote for a third-party candidate!

Kang: Go ahead, throw your vote away! [Kang and Kodos laugh out loud] [Ross Perot smashes his "Perot 96" hat]

The next day, Kodos announces the result: "All hail, President Kang." The field in front of the Capitol has now become a working ground where humans are whipped by aliens and used to carry materials. The Simpsons family is working too.

Marge: I don't understand why we have to build a ray gun to aim at a planet I never even heard of.

Homer: Don't blame me: I voted for Kodos.

"Here we GOOO! ... Amado, stop unlocking the door!" -541 |>0Z0

"Ever since I started working, every single day of my life has been worse than the day before it. So that means that every single day that you see me, that's on the worst day of my life."

"What about today? Is today the worst day of your life?"

"Yeah."

"Wow, that's messed up."

Ferris Bueller, you're my hero.

And, I'll never say everything's okay, you don't want to say that you're giving up right now, just hold your ground and don't give up in what you believe.

-Less Than Jake

"I don't like my job, and I don't think I'm going to go anymore."

"Won't you get fired?"

"I don't know, but I'm not going to go."

Don't get me wrong, I'm not condoning fascism, or any -ism for that matter. -ism's in my opinion are not good. A person should not believe in an -ism, he should only believe in himself. I quote John Lennon, "I don't believe in The Beatles, I just believe in me." Good point there. He was the walrus. I could be the walrus and I'd still have to bum rides off of people.

Dr. Egon Spengler: I blame myself.

Dr. Peter Venkman: So do I.

Dr. Raymond Stantz: Well, no sense in worrying about it now.

Dr. Peter Venkman: Why worry? Each one of us is carrying an unlicensed nuclear accelerator on his back.

I know just who I am, and what's in my head is that I don't really give a d just who you think I am, it's who I am.

-Less Than Jake

I am not going to sit on my butt as the events that affect me unfold to determine the course of my life. I'm going to take a stand. I'm going to defend it. Right or wrong, I'm going to defend it.

Ray: Uh, no.

Gozar: Then Die!!!

Winston: Ray, when someone asks if you're a god, you say Yes!!

Now looking back on all the days gone by I sit and wonder what it'd be like if I never went away would I see the world the way I do the memories that brought me to this place that I now call my home today. I want to go there, and I'm not scared, our time's just begun. Oh yeah, life goes by so d quickly, for me, wanna have some fun. -The Mad Caddies

Senior Dedication

Thank you, Mrs. Barranco

The senior class of 2004 dedicates this yearbook to you, Mrs. Barranco. We were the last class to have the honor of your guidance through Civilization I, and we can only feel sorry for those who may never be "scholars" of the Barranco variety. Your warmth, compassion, spirit, and sense of humor drove us to succeed in and survive freshman year; your excitement about learning and devotion to your students continued to inspire us in American Government and Russian History Through Literature. From the exploits of Roman emperors to the policies of current presidential candidates, the knowledge you have imparted has helped us understand the world at large. Your passion for what you were teaching has always been obvious, but your own strong opinions never interfered with your encouragement for us to form our own thoughts. But most importantly, you have taught us to remain true to ourselves while respecting others. You have shown us—with an open heart and sincere smile—that a teacher can also be a true friend. We will miss you in the years after we leave PCDS.

Thank you for all you have done for us.

Where will they be...

Elena Abarinov: Elena has a tremendously successful career in medical research but abandons it all after a chance encounter with the Dalai Lama at a falafel stand. She is now the proprietor of a widely popular yoga clinic in Beverly Hills, helping movie stars to "find their inner Zen." ••• Cynthia Benin: When Cynthia graduates from college with the best record on record, the collegiate head honchos gather together and determine that summa cum laude does not apply. An entirely new category must be created for Cynthia. Its new name? Extra Super Maximum Infinitum Laude. With a cherry on top. And some sprinkles. ••• Kylie Birnbaum: After criss-crossing the globe several times just to be in the same vicinity as her idol, Britney Spears, Kylie lands herself in the pages of the Guinness Book of World Records under "World's Most Devoted Fan." See also: "World's Scariest Fan." Impressed with Kylie's determination, Britney eventually makes her a personal back-up dancer. ••• Alisha Blischok: Minding her own business one sunny day, Alisha was accosted by someone who screamed "Good God, you sparkle! Can I bottle you?" She is now the face of and inspiration for Bubbly—Ralph Lauren's new fragrance. You can catch Alisha on the TV and those giant print ads in Times Square, flashing a smile and telling the world: "Bubbly. It's not just an aroma, it's a state of mind." ••• Leah Bloomberg: A promising young writer with an immediate and devoted following, Leah is relentlessly stalked by fans demanding that she write more and more and more. Burned out and more than a little frightened, Leah retreats to a Salinger-esque life of hermitism in the New Hampshire hills. She probably won't be coming to the reunion. ••• Claire Brandon: Claire packs up her car, and starts a cross-country drive to discover small town America—her plan being to write a short story for every town she comes across and capture its simplistic views and charming eccentricities. Turns out small town America is really, really boring. Claire turns to writing harlequin romance novels, where the real money is. ••• Alex Brey: In every little town there is that crazy old man with all the cats who never comes out of his rickety shack save to chase a few trespassing kids off his lawn while brandishing a broom. In the little hamlet of Hooheyville, Idaho, that man is Alex Brey. Get off his property, you meddling kids! ••• Morris Chan: Morris was last seen striding confidently in the direction of...well, no one is exactly sure where Morris was going. But he was going with a purpose. ••• Peter Curzon: To no one's surprise, Twinkles ends up in the Ice Capades...as the official Zamboni Operational Engineer. He makes the ice super smooth—which is the only actual reason why the figure skating powers that be don't suspend him when he shouts, "Sweep the legs!" in the middle of the program. ••• Carolyn Daucher: After being crowned Queen of Sarcasm and becoming a world-renowned grilled-cheese chef, Carly's Pepsi addiction finally catches up to her, and she is admitted to the brand-new Coke wing at the Betty Ford Clinic. Upon her release, she regains her British accent and becomes an International Woman of Mystery. ••• Elizabeth Dias: The prophecy of the senior class of '04 comes true as Elizabeth becomes the new PCDS French teacher. To prepare, she heads out to buy as many color-coordinated outfits (with shoes!) as she can find. ••• Brigit Donovan: After becoming the world's most beloved kindergarten teacher, Brigit sadly has to file for disability insurance when all attempts to unlatch devoted students from her legs prove unsuccessful. ••• Chris England: After seeing a life counselor who urged him to "follow his own course," Chris cut off his ties with his twin brother. He moved cross country and is now the producer of a popular series of educational videos entitled Lacrosse: the Cult and Its Victims. ••• Jon England: Jon still doesn't know why Chris won't return his calls. He issued this statement: "Chris, if you are out there, dude, this is NOT funny anymore. I'm serious. I am this close to telling mom." ••• Sophie Epstein: After a scout catches Sophie doing the Gwyneth Paltrow walk for enraptured change-throwing crowds at Grand Central Station, her comedy career is launched. She is responsible for the revival of Saturday Night Live but leaves in a storm of controversy, after punching out Chris Kattan, screaming "Nobody likes you, Mango!" ••• Rachel Etzkorn: The CIA recruits Rachel out of college, attracted not only by her keen powers of observation but also by her small stature. Rachel's compactness allows her to retrieve secret files and eavesdrop on criminal conversations without drawing attention. She is also highly portable. ••• Sara Fastenberg: Sara played crazy good basketball in college, leading her school to an NCAA championship. Her career hit a snag, however, when the WNBA's newly-passed minimum height rules prevented her from going pro. Unfazed, Sara started a professional 5'6" and under only coed league, which now surpasses both the NBA and WNBA in ticket sales. ••• Stephanie Fineman: Stephanie goes on to write a series of award-winning exposes on the steadily decreasing efficacy of pick-up lines. Her inspiration struck following the 50th attempt of a random guy to impress her by saying "Fineman, huh? All I know is, you are one fine woman." ••• Jordan Fisher: Jordan grew up, got married, and had some kids, but he leaves it all behind when he finds his heart is still back in Phoenix, with his first and one true love—Mr. Martin. ••• Val Garagiola: With her charismatic personality, and strong voice, Val takes the only career path she feels uses her skills to the fullest—union leader. No matter what the issue, Val will be your voice. Currently, she is leading a successful uprising of hotdog vendors against the empire that is Diamondbacks baseball.

...in 30 years?

Alex Gray: Alex continues her illustrious equestrian career and goes professional. However, when her winning streak accompanies her to every competition she enters, she is eventually forced to retire for killing the suspense. Alex currently works as editor for Horse and Hound Vogue, a new magazine bent on revitalizing the equine image. ••• Jonathan Halevy: Jonathan learns about a school of thought that teaches that the length of one's life is determined by the amount of words he or she speaks, that life is over once you have reached your word limit. Remembering with fear his days of high-school debate, Jonathan now lives a life of silence as a mime. ••• Adina Hirsch: Adina is now the president and CEO of the country's largest charitable organization. Her success in feeding the hungry and home-ing the homeless mostly derives from her "scare tactics" to get big business to cough up cash. She is now the most feared and respected woman in corporate America. ••• Caroline Hogan: Caroline makes a living as a hotshot lawyer, feared throughout the business for her nearly unmatched debating skills. She rarely loses a case. However, Caroline finds herself in frequent trouble with judges, who often hold her in contempt for speaking way, way too fast. ••• Lee-Lynn Huang: On a routine business trip to Djbuti, Lee-Lynn makes the fateful decision to go on a safari. The jungle natives take a shine to her and make a confused Lee-Lynn their queen. She rules over her little acreage of jungle with an iron fist and orders the beheading of all tourists who mispronounce her last name. ••• Ashley Humes: Ashley moves to Hawaii and lives out her life on the beach in quiet contentment, surfing everywhere she needs to go. She supports her lifestyle by beading jewelry for the sunburned tourists. ••• Jason Hung: Jason ends up, essentially, ruling the world. Labeled by Fortune Magazine as "Guy Most Likely to Make Bill Gates Look Poor," Jason starts a successful computer business and anyone who ever knew him buys stock. You and everyone you know own something built by Jason, Inc. There's no escape from his evil empire. ••• Ryan Islam: Ryan becomes the first person ever to become a celebrity without acting, singing, playing an instrument, running for office, selling anything on the Home Shopping Network, or making out with Paris Hilton. His fan club now rivals Tom Cruise's in sheer volume. ••• Katie Kurtzweil: Katie, guitar in tow, becomes a darling of the coffee-shop circuit, attracting large crowds and a devoted following wherever she goes. Repeatedly offered lucrative record contracts, she rejects the trapping of fame and stays "true to the music." ••• Erika Levin: Erika is now a freelance fashion designer, working for many different labels and dressing stars. She bounces back and forth between New York, London, Milan, and, most recently, Paris—where she's been trying desperately to talk Johnny Depp out of his hobo look. ••• Jen Lewkowitz: After years of getting up at ungodly hours to become a better swimmer than your average fish, Jen decides that her true place is on frozen water instead. She is now vigorously training to land a coveted (cough, cough) spot on the U.S. Olympic Curling Team. Good luck, there, Jen. ••• Michelle Lisa: Michelle lives the simple life, having decided all that she needs are her friends—and the basic survival essentials, of course. Michelle needs some money, for groceries and whatnot, so she now works at a place called Tony's Chicken Shack. ••• Charlie Lupica: After getting kicked out of successive circus acts for "freakish and unnatural behavior," Charlie decides to go into business for himself, creating the newest ultra-caloric fast food chain. His specialty? The Chalupica. ••• Dante Lupinetti: No one can presently find Dante Lupinetti. Rumor has it that he has changed his name (again) to Ralph and moved to Madagascar, where he spends his time writing lemur-themed poetry and collecting little cocktail umbrellas. ••• Kyle Malhotra: Kyle starts out as an eager young photographer for National Geographic, but his experiences quickly embitter him. An entire special episode of When Animals Attack was filmed of his experiences flashing bright lights at wild animals. Kyle has mostly healed, and is now currently writing his memoirs. ••• Tammy McGavock: Tammy goes to school forever—getting her A.B., her M.B.A., her M.D., her P.h.D., and a law degree. Finding little satisfaction in her educational triumphs, she moves to Belize to teach third-world children the art of lacrosse. ••• Greg McGrath: Greg's refereeing days came to an end when he was banned from the sport of soccer for making his twentieth consecutive twelve-year-old girl cry. He is also currently up on aggravated assault charges for savagely beating an old high-school classmate who addressed him as "Goog." ••• Sam Mendelson: Sam sets out to (ha!) prove all those people who ever called him lazy wrong. "Just watch!" he was heard to utter. "I'm going to invent things...useful, groundbreaking things beyond the grasp of your imagination!" He subsequently forgot. ••• Kristin Oelze: With her ruthless bump-set-spike routine, Kristen demolishes all professional volleyball competition and qualifies easily for the Olympic team. However, she misses her chance for gold and glory because she's late for the flight. ••• Aaron Packer: Aaron joins Alejandro's band as their drummer but is fired right before they hit the big time because the whole ketchup-chugging thing was just too weird. He now works at a fast-food joint, telling anyone who will listen about his days as a musical heartthrob. They keep the condiments under lock and key.

••• Sal Pozo: Sal starts a rockin' band, Salt Well, and sets out on tour. When it comes to light that the band actually appears to be named after Sal, a power struggle ensues and the drummer quits in a fury. Sal is now the only known musician to play bass and drums simultaneously for the same band. ••• Elizabeth Reahard: Years after graduating PCDS and leaving her cross-country days behind her, Elizabeth starts to feel the pangs of loss. She yearns to again run for miles and miles and end up where she started. In a burst of nostalgia, she signs up for the Boston Marathon but lives to regret it. ••• Mike Reinbold: Mike was recruited by the CIA as part of their covert organized-crime-infiltration sector. His current top-secret, hush-hush assignment is to pose as a Jamaican mobster. Godspeed, Mike. ••• Becky Repko: Becky—Rebecca to you now—is a professor at Stanford, where she teaches one of the university's most popular undergraduate courses: This Book is to Dye for: Hair Color and Its Impact on Modern Literature. Becky—Rebecca, sorry—is also an unofficial coach for the cheerleading squad. Oops, you weren't supposed to know that. ••• Amado Sainz: Since the passing of Mr. Rogers, Amado keenly felt the void in the world of children's television programming. His proposition for a new show, which he pitched as "Sesame Street meets Soul Train," was met with enthusiastic approval from the network head honchos. Mr. Amado in the Hood will begin filming shortly. ••• Alejandro Saldaña: Alejandro has been living it up in the limelight, basking in the fame brought by playing guitar in his hit band. Firing Aaron revitalizes their musical image, but it isn't until their single, "Little Ketchup Packets," hits the billboard top 10 that their careers really take off. ••• Ry Schubert: After spending a few post-collegiate years living with his parents because "debater" turned out not to be a viable career option, Ry wised up, bought a suit, and moved to D.C. He is now a lobbyist for the Republican Party. ••• Sierra Seip: Having never forgotten Charlie's pledge (signed, witnessed, and notarized in Mrs. Thompson's class) to marry her if they were both single by their thirtieth birthdays, Sierra now fills her days stalking "her Chuck." With her surveillance-equipped van, she hunts down any possible competition for her beloved and "neutralizes the threat." ••• Mansi Shah: Tiring of classical violin after years of traveling the world, playing with symphonies in eleven different countries, Mansi comes to the conclusion that bluegrass fiddling is really more her thing. She auditions successfully to join the Dixie Chicks, but four's a crowd so they decide to kick out the blonde one. She was dead weight anyway. ••• Lesley Silverthorn: Lesley becomes a neurosurgeon of wide acclaim, and her book, Your Brain is Squishy, remains on the New York Times bestseller list for 31 weeks. Never one to slack off, Lesley also finds a successful side job manufacturing and marketing baby food for adults. ••• Rosika Singh: Rosika, running for no particular party, becomes the first female President of the United States in an unprecedented unanimous election. At first, there is some half-hearted opposition, but once the slogan "Rosika for President: Because Rosika Knows Best" hits signs and airwaves everywhere, the remaining candidates drop out since they can't really argue with that. ••• Lizzy Smith: Lizzy, among her many achievements, makes it onto Jeopardy, which she wins repeatedly because Lizzy knows all. However, she loses in the final round of the Super Grand Championship because she doesn't frame her (correct) answer in the "What is...?" format. Infuriated, Lizzy leapfrogs her podium and strangles Alex Trebek. She is up for parole soon. ••• Sarah Spencer: By some twist of fate, Sarah ends up working at the United Nations headquarters in New York, where—by virtue of hard work and a sparkling attendance record—she is promoted to Goodwill Ambassador to Bali. Her duties including sunning herself on tropical beaches and drinking fruity cocktails. ••• Sam Thompson: Sam is still on the run from authorities on multiple charges of polygamy. He is rumored to have sought sanctuary in Utah. If you want to hear from Sam, alias, Bert Ernie, please contact police in any office of the following states with warrants for his arrest: Arizona, Alabama, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Kansas, Nebraska, Delaware, Oregon, and South Dakota. ••• Stef Trompetter: Having graduated from culinary school, Stef decides the best way to make it to the big time is to take on The Man himself: the Iron Chef. After beating him soundly (turns out the Iron Chef can't make mac and cheese), she gets her own primetime cooking show, Chef Stef. ••• Mike Vrla: Mike becomes a hockey star of Gretsky-esque proportions, but his life feels strangely empty as his perpetual quest to find the vowel missing from his last name results in nothing but disappointment. Despite insistence from his friends and family that "it doesn't work like that," Mike still harbors dreams of making it on Wheel of Fortune and buying a vowel. ••• Cam Warner: Cam achieves a history-making break down of the gender barrier when his bold spirit leads him to try out for the Laker Girls. Redubbed as "The Laker Persons of No Specific Gender," their new sparkle and addition of the Gigolo cheer to their repertoire inspires the team to new heights. ••• Tara Weiger: After a chance encounter with Mia Hamm led to a spontaneous pick-up soccer game, Tara's mad soccer skills are made known to the world. The new American prodigy is sent overseas to learn Italian-style fiery football. ••• Jordan Wyndelts: Jordan forgoes art and most human contact when she decides to train to become The Ultimate Dance Revolution CHAMPION!!! She turns out to be pretty good, but loses to Gary Coleman in the final sudden-death round.

Men's Lacrosse

A battle of good vs. evil

Right: Sal Pozo hurls the ball away to the opposite side of the field as any good goalie should.

On your mark, get set, go! The team practices running sprints across the field.

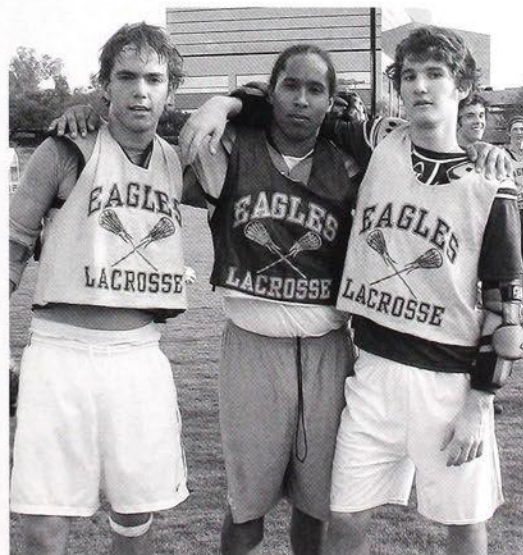

"Our defensive is offensive!" grunts the "D-Unit" of the team.

Left: Emerson Reiter races down the line so fast a sonic boom is heard for miles round!

Right: Jeff Roberts, Chris England, and Peter Curzon say, "Yeah, we play lacrosse man. Got a problem with that?"

Women's LAX

Chicks with sticks

Right: The team huddles around Coach Lance for a strategy talk.

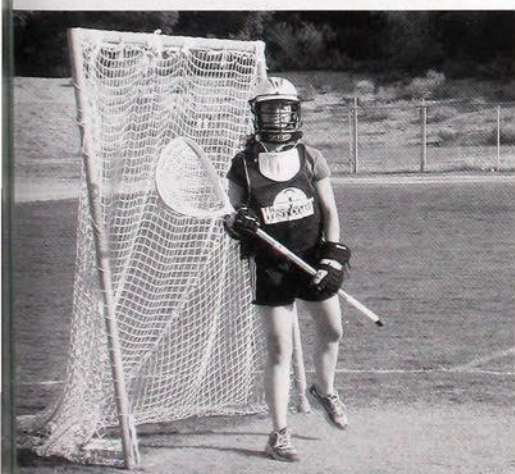

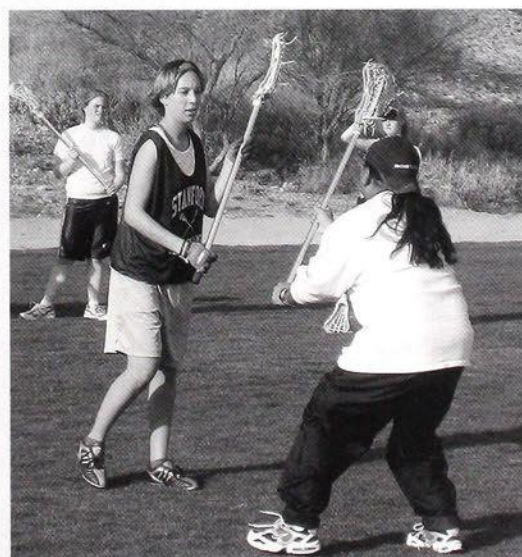

The team, well most of the team, practices the fine art of stretching before practice.

Tennis

what a racket!

1.

1. Mark Greenburg follows his swing all the way through like a pro. 2. Mark Greenburg and Mark Corey eagerly await a chance to pulverize their opponents. 3. Anand Jayachandra, Joel Fineman, and Scott Griffen practice for the cover of Sports Illustrated (not the swimsuit edition, though).

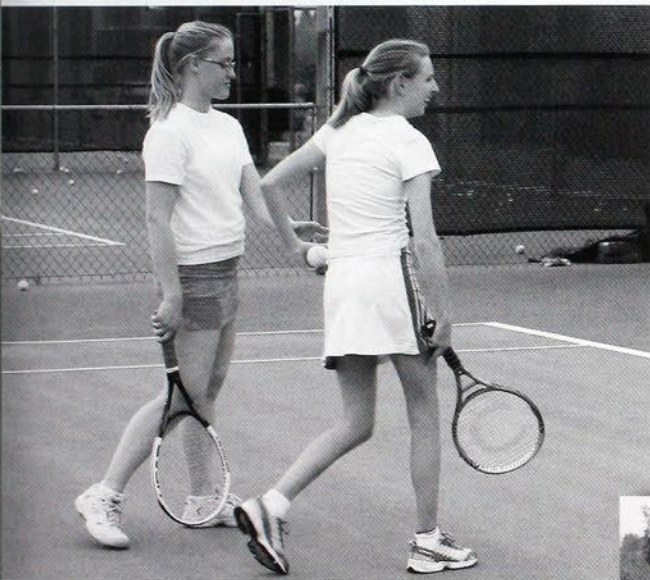

2.

Top Row: Alexis Glascock, Jessie Baum, Sarah Watson, Danny Soloman, Callie Thompson, and Nera Beganovic.
Bottom Row: Courtney McConnell and Kerry Persen.

1. Dani Solomon and Callie Thompson get ready to play a killer game of doubles. 2. Alexis Glascock and Jessie Baum duel it out for first to serve. 3. Sarah Watson hits her shoes with her tennis racket in an overly excited state of anticipation.

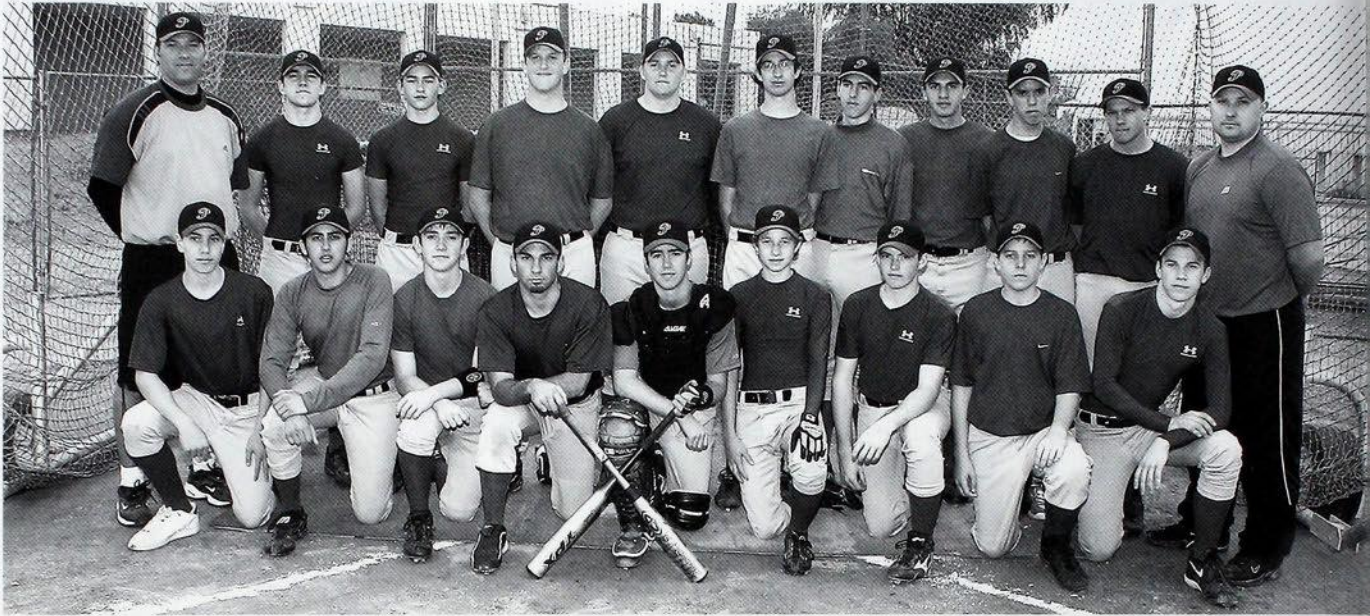

2.

Men's Baseball

Chicks dig the RBI

1. Greg McGrath stealthily creeps his way down the third-base line. 2. Justin Abbate stops himself from swinging at the pitch in the dirt. Good eye, Justin, good eye! 3. John Schupbach adjusts his batting stance while waiting for the pitch.

3.

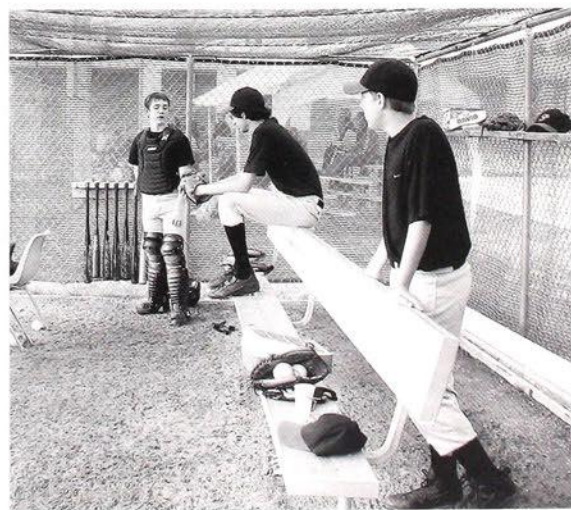

1. Alex Ashby hits a ringing double into the right field gap. 2. Sam Mendelson shows great poise on the mound. 3. John Kester delivers a strike during a scrimmage game against Valley Lutheran 4. Jake Swokowski patrols right field and waits for any fly ball hit his way. 5. Andru Roysden, Sam Mendelson, and Jake Swokowski are by no means bench warmers. No, they're official foul-ball retrievers.

2.

5.

Women's Softball

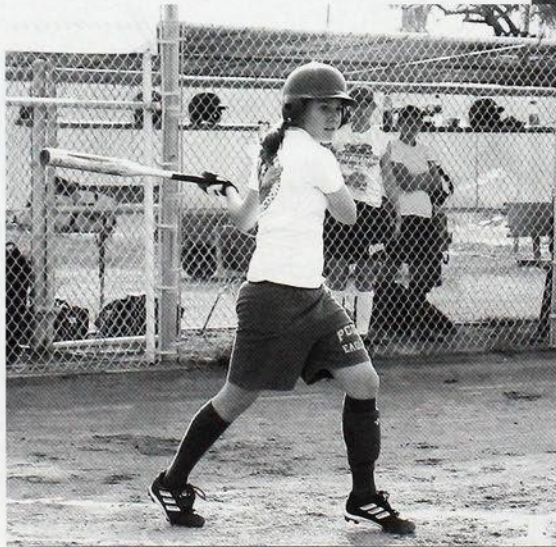

Diamonds are forever

Right: Coach Larry passes on some secret signs to help Sara Fastenberg while she's on first base.

The team huddles together to discuss strategy, as well as international politics, of course.

Left: Alisha Blischok pitches another strike without even breaking a sweat. Well, okay, maybe a little sweat.

Right: Cynthia Benin stretches to catch Alisha's strike and save the ump from a black eye. What a duo!

Right: Valerie Garagiola is always poised and ready for the ball in the outfield.

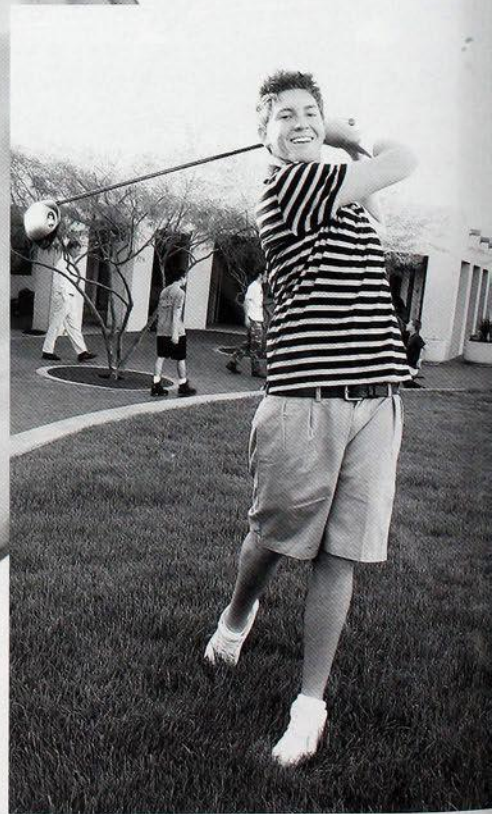

Golf

Always under par

1. John Wolfe leans on his golfing skills in the quad. 2. Tracy Thomas shows off his impeccable golf swing in the quad. 3. Prashanth Mahalingam and Matt Kostrivas getting a little cozy with their golf clubs.

Creating a book of any magnitude is a tremendous accomplishment and a yearbook is no exception. It's a labor of love (most days) for those who toil days, nights, and weekends with the sole goal to create the most pleasing, attractive and informative record of the past year at Phoenix Country Day School. For those who have served so diligently this year, I have nothing but admiration for and gratitude to you: the results have been wonderful and my experience with you has been delightful.

I would first like to recognize Madame Editor Elena V. Abarinov. A more tireless worker or one stronger in her convictions does not likely exist. She has supplied her vision, guidance, good humor, and hard work to make The 2004 Phoenician what it is. Many thanks, Elena.

The "Dynamic Duo" of Assistant Editors, Daniel Scarpace and Toby Seadler were superb in their performance and stalwart in being here when it counted. Thank you for your good cheer and even better loyalty to the yearbook. Photo Editor Kerry Person managed an impossible job and always with a smile. Special thanks to Caroline Daucher for her sterling work as Captions Queen (and Time Warp Specialist, 1st Class). Kudos! Other students also gave of themselves when it counted and deserve special credit as well: Scott Carlson, Jessie Baum, Kiera Dillard, Ruchika Gupta, and Cassie Sonntag. For photo support above and beyond the call of duty, special thanks to our own Communications Office (Joan Risley and Debra Kolbet), Ryan Gibbons (and his coffee-flavored humor), Lee Silverthorn (great endsheets, Lee!) who always seem to be there when you need them—and often before you realize it!

To the patient parents who allowed these students to spend hours and days in the Lab—and then provided transportation: my heartfelt thanks.

To the faculty and staff of all three PCDS divisions, your support and assistance were invaluable in shooting needed pictures, identifying those cherubic faces, and generally helping the whole process along.

To Nancy Krase, photographer extraordinaire: we couldn't have done it without you. The quality of so many of these images is due to your professional expertise and incredible willingness to be there to serve the PCDS community.

To Ali Vritska and Terri Schnell of Herff-Jones, many, many thanks. Your warm support carried us through (and past) many deadlines. This book is a result of your hard work, as much as ours.

And finally, to Geoff Campbell, Head of the Upper School: you have been so kind to and supportive of the Yearbook staff this year—we thank you. And it should not be forgotten that you were the original captain that set this ship off on its deep water this year. We reached port safely!

Andrew Reese

Branksome Cookies

Isn't it strange
That princes and kings,
And clowns that caper
In sawdust rings,
And common people
Like you and me
Are builders for eternity?

Each is given a bag of tools,
A shapeless mass,
A book of rules;
And each must make-
Ere life is flown-
A stumbling block
Or a steppingstone.

"When I grow up," I tell Miss Rumphius, "I too will go to faraway places and come home to live by the sea."

"That is all very well, little Alice," says my aunt, "but there is a third thing you must do."

"What is that?" I ask.

"You must do something to make the world more beautiful."

"All right," I say.

But I do not know yet what that can be.

Miss Rumphius, Barbara Cooney. 1982.

Claire Brandon

You have already done so much to make the world more beautiful. We can't wait to see what will happen next!

We are so proud of you!

PCDS 2004 → STANFORD 2008

You may give them your love but not your thoughts,
For they have their own thoughts.

You may house their bodies but not their souls,
For their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow,
which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.

You may strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you,
For life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday.

From your “two families”
forever standing on the happiest place on Earth
with you in the center

Dear Alisha,

For the past eighteen years you have been the driving force inspiring us to be both good parents as well as close friends. Your dreams have become our dreams. Your search for your own being has and continues to be one that constantly gives us delight. Our pride in you has evolved to our belief in you – a belief that whatever your dreams are, they will be turned into reality by a person who will achieve greatness in her lifetime.

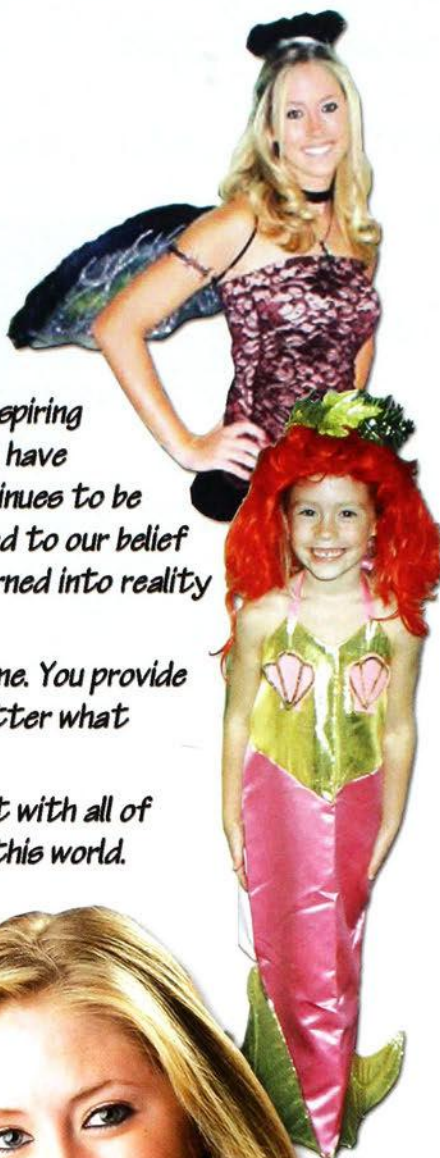

You have and continue to give us more than you can ever imagine. You provide us a vision of life which we know will be lived to its fullest, no matter what direction it takes.

We are both happy and saddened that this time has come, but with all of our love and support we know that you will make a difference in this world.

Thank you for the memories – both current and those yet to come. These next years are exciting for us as you continue to mature into a wonderful young woman.

You light up our lives ...
