An Investment in Nutrition

Proper nutrition is one of the most important investments you can make in your dog's long-term health. At Miss Cindy's

Doodles, we feed and recommend pawTree food and supplements because we've seen the difference quality nutrition can make in overall health, wellness, and quality of life. For the best continuity of care, we encourage families to continue the pawTree products their puppy has been receiving with us.

Expanding Tastes & Tolerances

Once your puppy is about 4 months old, I recommend gradually introducing a different pawTree recipe, such as Real Lamb, Chickpeas & Lentils, and then rotating to a new recipe every few months. Exposing puppies to a variety of proteins and ingredients during their first year can help build digestive tolerance and flexibility. If you'd like to offer a fish-based recipe, I suggest choosing Real Salmon over Real Trout or Real Whitefish for growing puppies, as it provides the higher protein and fat levels needed to support healthy growth and development.

A note about grain-free recipes: I strongly recommend mixing any grain-free recipe with a grain-containing recipe.

Notes

This image shows a single page of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are approximately 20 lines visible. The paper has rounded corners and a thin dark border around the edges.
