CHARLIE HAYDN TAYLOR

b. 1996 Jersey, Channel Islands

Charlie Haydn Taylor is known for atmospheric, mixed media paintings that explore contemplation and momentary isolation. Moving between the fictional and autobiographical, his work is characterised by the deliberate absence of the human figure. This allows the viewer to enter each scene as a first-person participant, occupying a remembered space rather than observing it from a distance.

Drawing on fragments of personal memory, Haydn Taylor combines photographic imagery with flat, minimalist areas of painted colour to reflect the imperfect nature of recollection. As familiar interiors are revisited, their original details begin to shift: certain views, objects and surfaces remain vivid, while others dissolve into partially imagined forms. Books, letters, art, household objects and consumer products act as visual anchors, inviting the viewer to construct their own narrative while contributing to the atmosphere of solitude and quiet melancholy that underpins the work.

Since 2020, Haydn Taylor has exhibited internationally with solo exhibitions in Seoul, Beijing and Singapore as well as London, Los Angeles and Jersey. His work is held in significant private collections internationally, including two royal collections.
