Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

For more than 100 years, Lutheran Hour Ministries (LHM) has been sharing the hope of Jesus Christ—and because of faithful partners like you, millions of lives around the world are being touched by the Gospel every day.

Yet the need has never been greater.

Today, more than five billion people have not heard the saving message of Christ. These are people from every culture and walk of life, many of whom have had little or no opportunity to hear that God loves them through Jesus. For them, hope feels distant. But together, we can change that.

LHM is uniquely positioned to reach those who have never been reached before. Through our global ministry model, we partner with local believers—staff and volunteers who understand their communities, speak the language, and share the Gospel with cultural sensitivity and faithfulness. Our ministry centers span five global regions, reaching into more than 60 nations, delivering Christ-centered messages that are developed locally for maximum impact and Gospel accuracy.

While the message of salvation never changes, the world around us does. That's why we continually invest in new ways to share Christ's love—through innovative media, digital outreach, and on-the-ground relationships—so the Gospel can break through barriers and reach hearts where they are.

None of this happens without you.

Your prayers, generosity, and commitment make it possible for someone, somewhere in the world, to hear about Jesus—perhaps for the very first time. Because of your partnership, individuals are finding hope, comfort, and new life in Christ even in the most challenging circumstances.

As you explore this year's ministry impact report, we pray you will be encouraged and humbled to see what God is accomplishing through you. New mission fields opened, new programs equipping people to share the Gospel right where they are, and millions of people experiencing Christ's love for the first time. Together, we are making an eternal difference—bringing the hope of Jesus to the lost, the hurting, and the unreached.

Thank you for being part of this mission.

Your Partner in HIS Mission,

Kurt Buchholz

Lutheran Hour Ministries

IMPACTING PEOPLE

LHM's establishment of a multidivisional global mission rooted in localized regional leadership took an initial step forward with the hiring of Bryan Tay as the president of Asia Ministries. Based in Singapore, Tay is LHM's first regional president living outside of the United States. By creating a ministry model that shifts leadership to regional presidents who are located closer to where ministry is happening, we can ensure that our mission is tailored to the unique needs of specific areas.

Global expansion continues to develop through the efforts of LHM's existing ministry centers. Working alongside LHM-Paraguay, a team of three interns began ministry in Bolivia that is focused on children and youth, digital outreach through social media, and multimedia content creation—areas of outreach that reflect the core of LHM's work around the world. In addition, LHM-Kenya has started airing evangelistic radio spots in a new area—in neighboring Tanzania. By working with local Lutherans from Tanzania, the inspiring Gospel messages advertise LHM's popular Bible Correspondence Courses via radio.

A new multi-language project in partnership with SAT-7 is shining Christ's light across all of SAT-7's adult channels to reach viewers in the Middle East and North Africa, as well as several countries in Central Asia. The programs include Heartbeat on SAT-7 ARABIC, GPS on SAT-7 PARS, and Let's Talk About This on SAT-7 TÜRK. The Reconnecting the MENA to Hope project uses selected topical content from LHM's Project Connect booklets to address the challenges of daily life in the region by offering hope in Jesus through unique satellite broadcasts, digital and social media, and direct follow up. Each channel's programming is tailored to the unique language, culture, and felt needs of its audience, and points viewers to additional resources to help them further explore the topics covered.

... we can ensure that our mission is tailored to the unique needs of specific areas.

Bible courses are a cornerstone of our ministry in Nicaragua. Participants at various levels of biblical understanding are strengthening their faith and discovering their calling to serve others. Currently, structured courses are offered across 11 communities in León over a three-month period. At the end of each cycle, students who complete the course receive certificates. Each year, the team in Nicaragua reaches an average of 1,500 graduates, helping them grow in their understanding of God's Word. Many testimonies have emerged from these classes, reflecting renewed commitment, spiritual growth, and transformation through the Word of God.

In Ghana and Uganda, our staff have gained access to public schools. This allows staff and volunteers to distribute our Bible Correspondence Courses to students while also sharing practical advice on topics like relationships or the pressures of youth from a biblical perspective. ♦

digital engagement

Around 40,000 grade school- through middle school-aged children participated in the interactive activities offered through this year's Gospel Adventures™ program that connected them with life and kids in Kenya. Parents, teachers, and youth leaders led children and youth through a weeklong curriculum providing hands-on activities, exercises, and other exciting ways to learn how the Gospel reaches people in this intriguing African country. Participants immersed themselves in a new culture through engaging music and videos, learned fascinating facts of daily life, and reflected on the work of the Gospel in their lives and around the world.

Thred is equipping Christians to share their faith in the digital world. Two downloadable resources were created to help individuals tell their story. The Search for Self reminds users that as Christ-followers we identify as children of God, which in this image-oriented world we live in is not always easy to remember. Not My Job encourages people to see their place in the Gospel narrative and inspires them to talk about what God has done and is doing in their lives. In addition, an ongoing email series gives 20,000-plus subscribers tangible tips and easy-to-use writing prompts for sharing their faith on social media or through text message or email.

Vivenciar.net continues to reach Portuguese- and Spanish-speaking individuals worldwide. More people than ever are searching online for information and guidance on topics like depression, toxic relationships, anxiety, and suicide. Vivenciar.net invites visitors to download topical e-books, watch videos, and talk to our team of 50-plus volunteers. The platform has reached more than 1.8 million visitors, with 80,000 downloads and 16,000 interactions.

Digital outreach in Laos continues to thrive. Using Facebook and YouTube, staff eagerly share a diverse selection of Gospel-centered content that includes music, spiritual encouragement through devotional clips, and more. Within a single month, their reach exceeded 200,000 across all platforms and they measured significant engagement with their content through shares, new followers, and meaningful interactions that resulted from their posts.

Participants reflected on the work of the Gospel in their lives and around the world.

Now in its 93rd broadcast season, The Lutheran Hour® continues to proclaim the Gospel on around 1,700 traditional radio outlets throughout North America. In addition, it is available online, as a podcast, and on platforms such as Amazon Alexa, iHeartRadio, Spotify, and Sirius XM satellite radio.

Our "for Hispanics, by Hispanics" approach to creating content continues to resonate with a growing digital-first Hispanic audience that is hungry for ministry resources that share the hope of the Gospel. The Sentido Latino podcast is now available on YouTube, an additional platform to reach out with our Hispanic ministry messages and resources to new communities in the United States and beyond. In less than a year, our YouTube channel has 50,000-plus subscribers. Sentido Latino also now has more than one million views across all platforms. ♦

right where they are

LHM showcased our Spiritual Conversations: Sharing Life, Faith, and Jesus with Friends resource developed for high school students throughout the LCMS Youth Gathering. In addition to sharing information at our exhibit booth, several staff members took the stage each day to share a taste of the interactive curriculum with attendees. Please pray that the influence of this seven-course curriculum continues to spread the Gospel among high schoolers and equips them to recognize and respond to opportunities to have spiritual conversations.

Several new Project Connect booklets were published this year. Getting (Re)Started in Prayer looks at the basics of prayer—why we do it, who do we pray to—and gives some practical suggestions for getting started. Another booklet, 35 Character-Building Prayers for My Grandchild, Vol. 1, is ideal for grandparents and parents alike and covers subjects like boldness, encouragement, generosity, and humility in easy-to-read prayers based on relevant Scripture texts. How to Forgive as We Have Been Forgiven discusses the virtually endless circumstances where people hurt one another and how the need for forgiveness is unending. Mustering up the will to forgive may seem impossible, but that's where God comes in. As He has forgiven us in Christ so, too, we can forgive others.

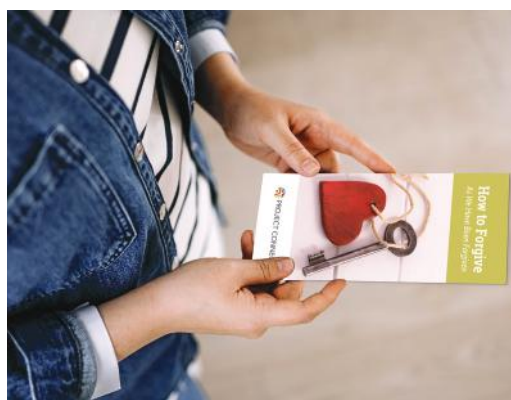

A 12-part Bible study for the incarcerated, More Gifted Than You Realize, is now available online as a download and on our Pando app. This study teaches the reader that everyone has a gift with gifts to share. Inmate testimonies were included as a helpful witness for readers to learn how God might be using them right where they are, as well as how He might be preparing them for service when they re-enter civilian life. We now have more than 10,000 subscribers on the Pando app who are accessing our resources for the incarcerated. The Edovo app continues to be successful as well, and it is now available in more than 1,400 facilities across the country.

*Please pray that the influence of this
seven-course curriculum continues to spread the Gospel.*

In May, our director of The Hopeful Neighborhood Project™ served as a keynote presenter for around 500 attendees at the 50th annual Neighborhoods USA Conference. The event gathers neighborhood leaders from around the country to share best practices and celebrate success stories. In addition to the keynote, our program director also hosted a workshop with a panel discussing National Good Neighbor Day and led an asset-mapping workshop.

The latest Nurturing Your Faith Bible study wrapped up its four-session series in the fall issue of LHM's corporate publication, The Lutheran Layman. Life to the Full explored the abundant life Jesus offers to His followers. ♦

At a women's prison in Kenya, God used LHM to help transform a woman's struggle to one of peace. Twenty-eight-year-old Caroline had suffered through six years of relentless abuse in a troubled marriage when one night she "snapped" and stabbed her husband, fatally wounding him. She was convicted and sent to prison. Living in guilt, Caroline struggled to find meaning in her life until the LHM ministry team visited and shared a powerful message of God's forgiveness and hope through Christ. Moved by the Holy Spirit, she opened her heart to Christ and joined LHM's Bible Correspondence Course. She expresses deep remorse and still lives with guilt, but today Caroline feels renewed in the grace and forgiveness she knows she has received. ♦

The Dorcas Sewing Class in Liberia continues to experience great success in attracting both Christians and non-Christians and empowering them through skills development and fellowship. This initiative not only helps women gain practical skills for developing financial independence but also fosters a sense of community among the participants—many who hear the Gospel for the first time during the ongoing classes.

God used LHM to help transform a woman's struggle to one of peace.

During the program's most recent graduation ceremony, 38-year-old Lovetta was recognized not only for her exceptional skill but also for her inspiring resilience. Having recently lost her husband, Lovetta faced the daunting challenge of providing for her family on her own. Despite her grief, she committed herself wholeheartedly to the sewing program, determined to build a new life for herself and her five children. As the ceremony progressed, the atmosphere was filled with anticipation as LHM-Liberia prepared to honor her dedication in a special way.

To Lovetta's surprise and delight, ministry staff presented her with a brand-new sewing machine, a gesture that brought tears to her eyes. The machine was more than just a tool—it was a lifeline, a symbol of hope, and a means to rebuild her life after the devastating loss of her husband. The room erupted in applause as Lovetta, overwhelmed with gratitude, expressed her thanks to LHM-Liberia for empowering her to turn her skills into a sustainable livelihood. ♦

A young man named Hassan recently came across an LHM Facebook page and was intrigued by the messages about overcoming fear. Originally from Gaza, he and his extended family moved to a different part of the Middle East where they have grown tired and hopeless from relentless war and violence. He began to engage in one-on-one conversations with the LHM team and, over time, he felt understood and believed that the staff members genuinely cared for him. LHM staff members were able to slowly share the Good News of Jesus with him. Initially he understood the love God has for us through His sacrifice for us. However, he still held to his previous faith. Gradually, the Holy Spirit led him to faith in Jesus. He shared that he finally understands that God has a personal relationship with us, based on faith in Jesus, and he is grateful that he can face his fears through faith, with strength and perseverance. ♦

Chaup is 74 years old and has always followed a non-Christian religion. When he recently became bedridden, he began looking for ways to relieve his suffering. While listening to the radio one day, he came across an LHM–Thailand program discussing how to relieve worries. He was interested in the message and started listening to additional LHM broadcasts. As Chaup heard more about Jesus on each program, he became increasingly interested in expanding his knowledge of the Christian faith. He contacted the LHM ministry team for more information. As the conversations progressed, the staff sent Chaup booklets about Jesus, encouraged him to enroll in their Bible Correspondence Course, and introduced him to a local church. Along with LHM staff, the pastor had several follow-up conversations with Chaup to nurture his faith. Through the power of the Holy Spirit, Chaup became a Christian and was baptized. He now has peace in his heart, knowing God will never leave him. ♦

Suyeon is a pianist in her 50s who works as an education instructor and serves as a performer for various organizations. As an introvert, she often finds it difficult to perform alone on stage and has struggled with her career as a musician. She was introduced to the ministry of LHM–South Korea through various personal connections. She was especially intrigued after seeing a video of one of the concerts hosted by LHM–South Korea. She appreciated the church's efforts in providing cultural enrichment for the local community and saw it as a meaningful initiative. As she became more engaged with the ministry, she started contributing ideas for lectures and concerts and began actively participating in LHM–South Korea's programs and events. The concerts and talk sessions became a source of hope for Suyeon, reaffirming her calling to share Jesus through her music. She aspires to continue using her performances as a platform for faith and inspiration, knowing that "God guides everything." ♦

May is 17 years old and has always had a passion for soccer. She played for her school team, but wanted to develop her skills further. She traveled to try out for a club team that LHM–Laos partners with. During her training sessions, the LHM–Laos staff took the opportunity to share the Gospel with her. As she listened and learned about Jesus, May encountered the love of God in a way she had never experienced before. Coming from a non-Christian religious background, she had little exposure to the Christian faith, but through the youth soccer program, she connected with the truth of God's Word. Seeing the kindness, love, and encouragement from the team, she felt drawn to Christ. Through the power of God's Spirit, May became a Christian. Now, she eagerly attends Sunday services at a local church. She finds joy in her new faith, loves God deeply, and is excited to study the Bible and grow spiritually. ♦

Loneliness is a deep and silent struggle that affects more people than we can imagine. In fact, recent studies show that nearly one in four individuals is impacted by loneliness. It is not just a number; it is a reality that breaks hearts and dims hope.

A woman named Yadira reached out to LHM–Nicaragua staff after experiencing a painful moment during her life. Her daughter and grandchildren, with whom she lived, had recently moved to another country. Suddenly, she found herself alone in her home, overwhelmed by anxiety and silence.

One day, she turned on the radio for company and came across a radio program produced by LHM–Nicaragua. An announcement during the broadcast invited listeners to a craft workshop, and something about the invitation spoke to Yadira's heart. She decided to attend—and that small decision changed everything in her life.

At the workshop, she found not just a creative activity but also community, warmth, and spiritual encouragement. Later that month, Yadira joined LHM's Equipping the Saints training workshop, where she was deeply moved by the biblical teachings and open conversations. She told staff that the messages she received have helped her overcome anxiety, manage stress, and begin to heal the loneliness that once weighed so heavily on her heart.

Today, Yadira is doing much better emotionally. Her smile is brighter and her spirit lighter. She now joins LHM staff for Saturday devotionals. "I thank God and the LHM staff that I have found a loving, kind family here," says Yadira. "I feel surrounded by love. Thank you from the bottom of my heart." ♦

LHM–Peru's new radio program, Growing in Family, shares spiritual messages and family guidance with listeners across Arequipa. Through this program, staff met a security guard, Mr. Greco, at a market near the studio where the program is broadcast. On several occasions, the LHM team gave him brochures, which helped him learn more about the ministry and its resources. A short time later, Mr. Greco reached out to LHM–Peru using one of the phone numbers printed on the brochures. During the call, he expressed a deep need for spiritual support. In response, the staff connected him with a church near his home and he continues to grow in his faith. ♦

Marcela is a young woman who has ocular toxoplasmosis and can only see with one eye. Unfortunately, she now has three bacterial infections in her good eye and needs to undergo ongoing treatment to delay blindness. She also has to take medication for the rest of her life since there is no surgical solution for her condition. She sometimes feels desperate and overwhelmed by sadness and fear but always asks for God's help since she knows He has a purpose for her life. She has been a long-time participant in the WhatsApp messaging program hosted by LHM–Argentina. "I find comfort in the reflections I receive from your ministry because they feel as though they are written specifically for me," says Marcela. "They encourage and strengthen me. I also share them with people I know, believing that they can help them, too." ♦

LHM–Latvia has hosted an annual week-long film forum, And the Word Became Film, for more than 20 years that presents award-winning films offering a good moral message or a connection with Christianity. This year, eight films were screened for around 450 people who watched the films and then participated in a discussion about the themes and ideas presented.

Alida is a 33-year-old teacher who was invited by a friend to attend. "I was deeply moved by the messages of the selected films and the issues they brought to light," says Alida. "One film that particularly resonated with me was The Great Silence, which explores the complex relationship between a brother and sister. It stirred something deep within me and made me reflect on my own relationship with my brother, whom I haven't seen in several years."

After this experience, Alida felt a strong urge to visit a church—not during services, but in quieter moments on weekdays. "There's something indescribable about sitting in silence, gazing at the altar and the crucifix—a deep sense of peace and reflection," she says. The Holy Spirit continued to work on her heart and led her to enroll in one of LHM–Latvia's Bible courses to dig deeper. ♦

The Reconnecting the MENA to Hope project in partnership with SAT-7 is providing topical content from LHM's Project Connect booklets to address the challenges of daily life in the Middle East, North Africa, and Central Asia through satellite television broadcasts and other digital platforms.

A viewer named Bahram shares, "Each [episode] has been very fruitful for me. With this program, I can understand [the topics] in a more practical way, realizing how those verses apply to my daily interactions with my family, at work, and in every environment that I find myself in."

A young woman named Firozeh says, "This was my first time watching this program and I was blessed by it. Early on in my life I felt truly lonely even though I was not alone; I had God by my side. I should have entrusted my problems to Him, but I didn't. I had faith but lacked action. Watching this program reminded me of this and I felt blessed again." ♦

Alcoholism is a leading cause of disease and death within Mongolia and is responsible for tearing many families apart. One of LHM–Mongolia's recent outreach visits confronted this critical issue when staff met a 53-year-old widow who had been married to an alcoholic. They had two sons together and tragically the older son passed away last year from heart failure due to complications from his own battle with alcohol. She is now forced to rely on the generosity of her younger son for her survival.

When the LHM team visited with her, they noticed that her ger (a traditional Mongolian home) was not well insulated for the winter; therefore, they came back with necessary materials to winterize it for her. While they were there, they invited neighbors over and shared tea while having conversations about the Gospel, hoping to bring her some comfort and community. At the conclusion of their visit, she shared that despite the difficulties she faces in life, she knows God has a plan for her. The team is now working to connect her to a local church so she can grow in her newfound faith. ♦

The seven lessons included in Spiritual Conversations: Sharing Life, Faith, and Jesus with Friends are helping Gen Z recognize and respond to opportunities to have spiritual conversations.

"I enjoyed the vibe of the class," says Addison, a student from Buffalo, New York. "I thought it was a fun way to learn how to spread faith. I have a couple of friends that I invited over to my house for a sleepover. One of them brought up some questions about why I believe what I do and what Christianity really is to me. I thought it was really moving because she's not very religious, so it felt cool that I was able to share my faith. I thought this course really helped me know how to share it well with her."

"Our students enjoyed how interactive the curriculum is and that they are given the opportunity to observe and evaluate spiritual conversations in many different scenarios and then also get to role-play themselves," says Jessica Heim, the missions class teacher at Orange Lutheran High School in California. "They appreciate that it was made specifically for their age group and that it allows them to think about spiritual conversations in a way they can actually connect with." ♦

Rev. Dr. Terrence Chan has served at Christ for All Nations Lutheran Church in the San Francisco area for 20 years. "We describe ourselves as a multi-ethnic parish of multiple congregations, languages, locations, and ministries," says Chan. He found the LHM Learn course titled Caring Conversations Across Cultures to be especially applicable to his congregation.

"This course was helpful in enabling our members to gauge how to have conversations," says Chan. "It was not only about how we can equip our people to carry out the ministry that they are already engaged in, but how they can do it better. Because of our area, it was important for us to provide training and content for how cultures communicate differently."

Through Bible study groups, members went through the LHM Learn course. They also shared the Spiritual Conversations in the Digital Age resources with the larger congregation, encouraging members to go online to watch the videos and learn more.

"We are intent on resourcing other culture and language groups so that they may carry out ministry that we ourselves might not be able to carry out directly," says Chan. "We are always looking at how we can better equip our members to interact and reach out to the people in our community." ♦

"I thought it was a fun way to learn how to spread faith."

U.S. Armed Forces members and others participated in LHM's Bible study, Called to Serve: Utilizing Our Gifts As Veterans, at Divine Shepherd Lutheran Church in Omaha, Nebraska. Based on Barna Group research in connection with LHM, the study helps veterans explore, develop, and share their God-given gifts with their family, church, and community.

Army veteran Emil Radik, who was injured after 15 years of service, helped coordinate and promote Called to Serve. According to Radik, Bible studies like this remind veterans of the gifts they possess and how God has a purpose for their civilian lives beyond their military service. Getting them to know that—"That is my mission," Radik says.

Participant Brent Loudenslager, a retired Army staff sergeant, found renewed appreciation for "the gift of grace and forgiveness from God, the gift of serving others, and the gift of love for God, family, and country." ♦

A LOOK AHEAD

When you partner with Lutheran Hour Ministries (LHM), you equip everyday Christians to confidently share their faith—one conversation, one relationship, one person at a time. Your support ignites a ripple effect of faith that reaches further than you could ever go alone. Together, we can work to grow the body of Christ—one life at a time—all for the glory of God.

As a strong, emergent, future-focused ministry, LHM is committed to harnessing new opportunities, research, and resources to fulfill our mission of Bringing Christ to the Nations—and the Nations to the Church. You can help us move forward through your support of the following ministry priorities.

Dynamic Global Expansion

More than five billion people do not know Jesus. God has called LHM to share the Gospel with these people. Our unique ministry model allows rapid expansion into areas we have not yet had an opportunity to explore. Your support is vital to our mission! Together we will launch 12 new ministries and open two new regional offices by 2028 to make Jesus known far and wide.

Global Equipping Model

Every day we are growing the body of Christ around the world by equipping Christians to share the love of Jesus right where they are. Your support empowers an evangelism movement that provides Christians with a deeper understanding of who they are, why they were created, and how they can more confidently share the Good News of Jesus in their everyday lives.

Uplifting Local Leaders

Billions have yet to hear the saving message of Christ in a way that speaks to their hearts. Your support equips local believers to share Christ's love in their own language and culture, so that every ear may hear and every life be transformed by the Gospel.

Reaching the North American Mission Field

Growing diversity, cultural shifts, and spiritual hunger are reshaping North America—opening new doors to share the unchanging hope of Jesus. The mission field is no longer far away; it's right outside our doors. Your support allows us to connect people throughout North America to the Gospel at any stage of their individual faith journeys.
