Eden Cook seems to be having a good time in English class.

Hallie Jacobson is working hard on her still life drawing in art class.

Didn't you know that Allison Pachtman is trying out for the Suns?

Brad Durchslag, Jeremy Joseph, Hollye Schumacher, and Lindsay Schmid all take time out from their studying to goof around.

Meryl Thomas likes to "climb around" while studying.

The Places We Go On Campus

The Lower School swimmers work hard and have fun at the same time.

Above: Brooke and Neeka escape from the heat into the wonderful world of...popsicles!

Above: The Upper School computer room is always "the home away from home" for freshmen.

Homework has already made Eric Cornwell "lose it" in the quad.

Craig Couche, as he walks out of his first Civ I test.

BLUE AND GOLD DAY

Sen!iors, David Spetzler and Brian Cornwell, pose with Thunder before the assembly.

Right: Thunder welcomes the lower school kids to their first spirit day gathering.

Below: Erin Dulaney is happy to be back at school. Right?

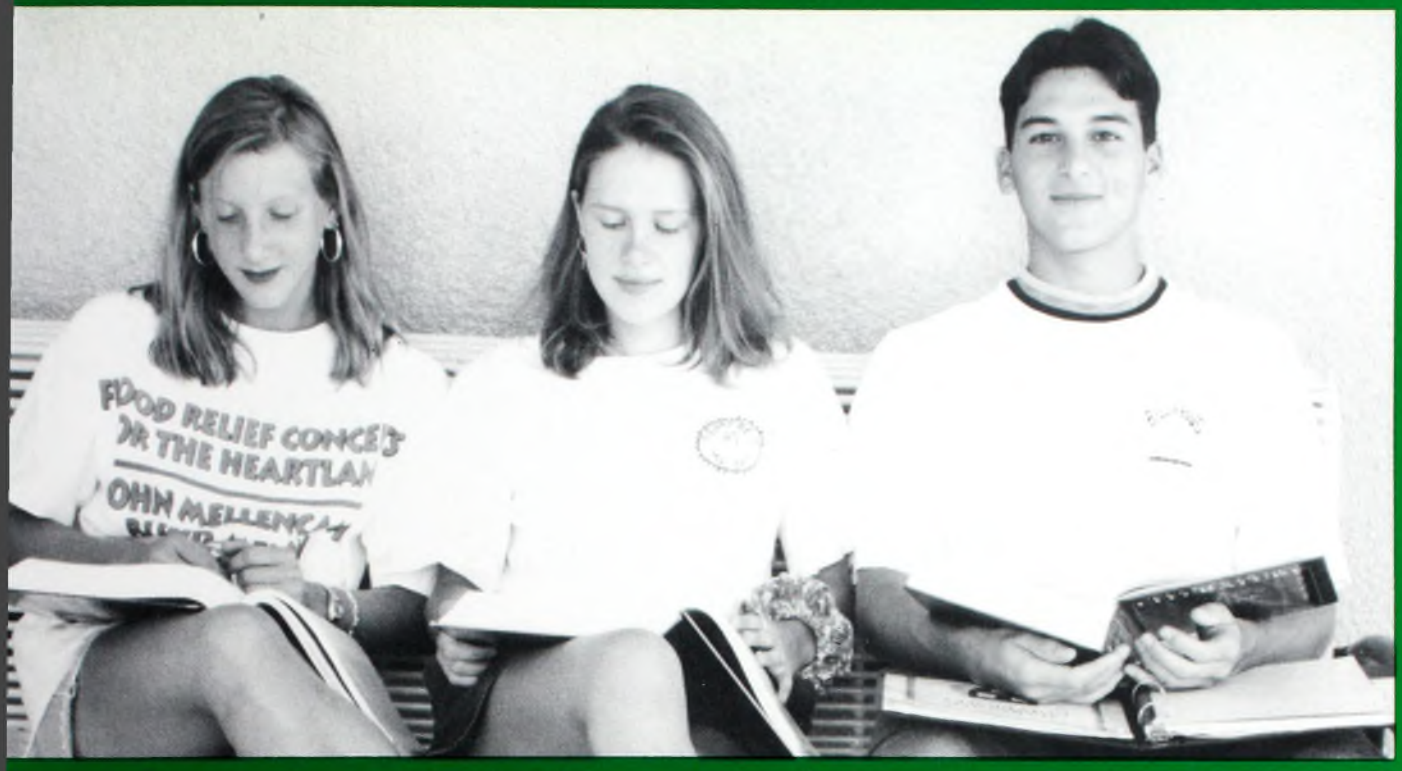

Above: Becca Lyons gets into the swing of things again as she perfects her first paper.

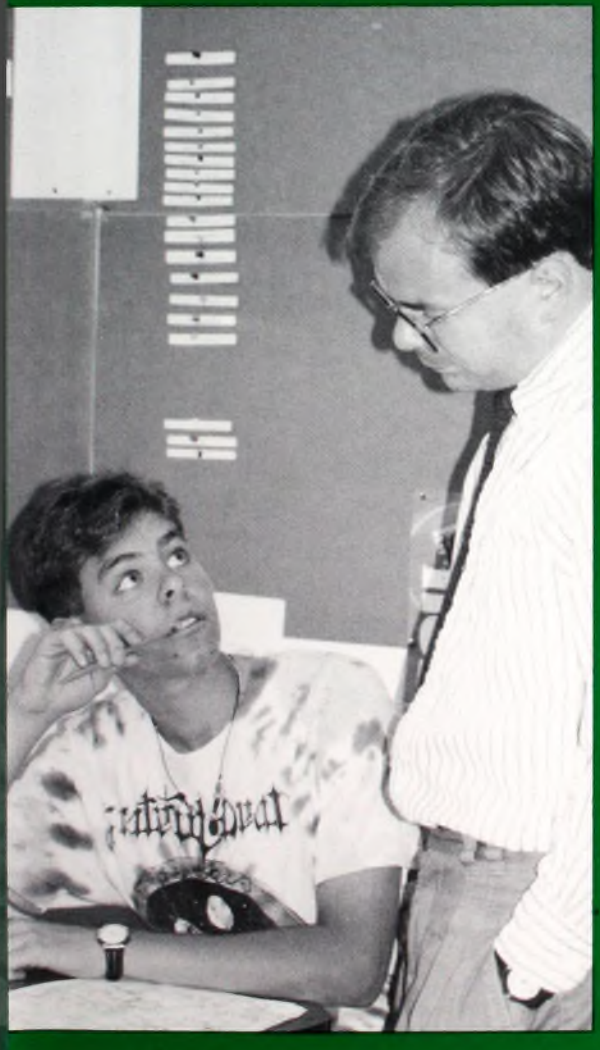

No more pool, we must go back to school.

Above: Erin Loback is already feeling the stress of Junior year. Sleep deprived, she is forced to take a nap at school.

Above: Three juniors, Julie Levenberg, Lindsay Schmid, and Jeremy Ringel, must have an English test. My, how Dr. Collins piles on the work.

Below: Freshmen compare notes on their classes, teachers, and homework. If they think this is bad, just wait until they have to worry about college, too. Their problems have only begun.

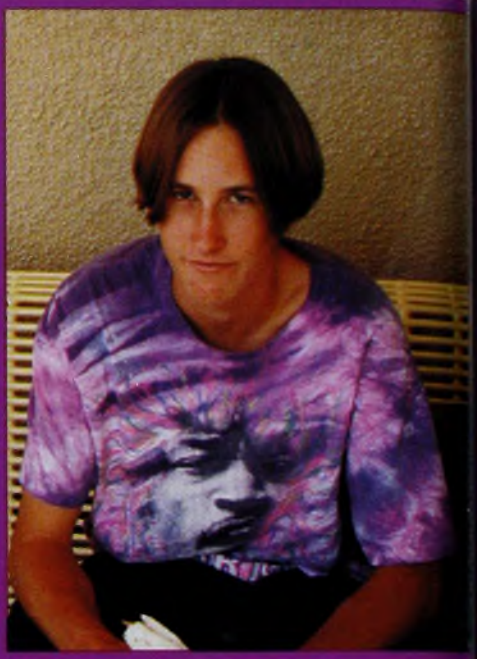

Left: "Now Eric, what exactly are you doing? That sure doen't look like anything which could be relevant to my class," says Dr. Cags. "Umm. . . ." replies Eric, finding himself at a loss for words.

Life in the Quad

Above: "What's happenin' hot stuff?" says Josh Kanner. Hey Josh, does this line ever work for you?

Above: Thomas Harvey sees money in his future, however the amount is very limited. Below: "What are you looking at?" asks Jed Cook.

Hey P.C.D.S. - We're Off Campus!

Right: Friends for life; Neeka and Erin.

Above: Jed Cook nerver misses a great lunch and a chance to get off campus when he hears people are going to Creative Croissants.

Right: Tom Krause, Jessica Cooper, Ravi Bisla, and Erin Loback are enjoying a group hug "after hours".

Jessica, Danielle, and Shelly are getting their exercise by roller - blading at the beach.

Hedra Taylor can't believe what she's reading in the newspaper.

Right: Andrew Arbesman - preppy and prepared.

We're Always Stylin'

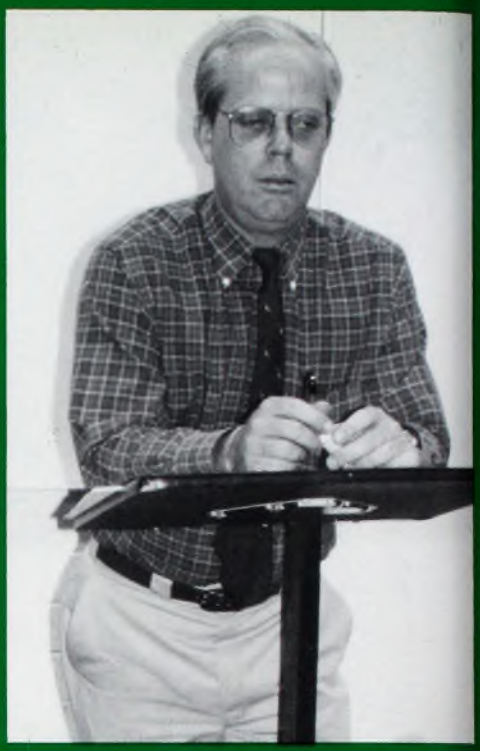

Below: A stranger wearing strange clothes in a strange climate. Or is it Hawaii Five---whoa!

Below: Josh Kanner and Sarah Michet sport a casual, comfortable style.

I spy teachers, yes I do. I spy teachers, how 'bout you?

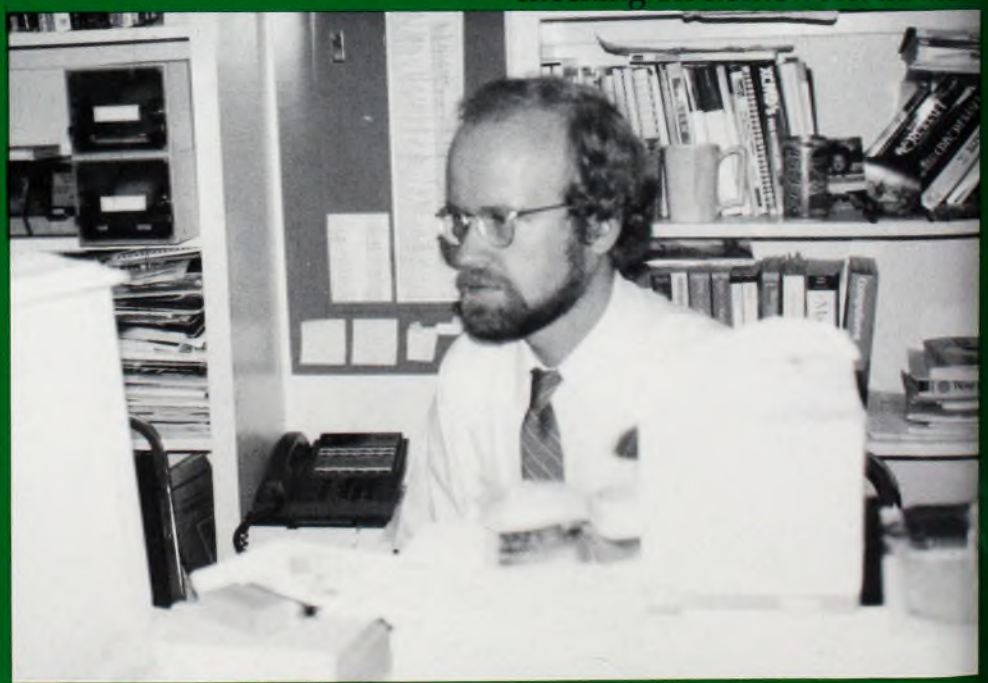

Above: Mr. Cook is trying hard to successfully teach his students the fine art of creating a masterpiece.

Below: Mr. Swingler seems to think his new physics problem concernig a small, furry animal is quite humorous.

Mr. Bruning preparing for his next AP Spanish lesson. Ugh.

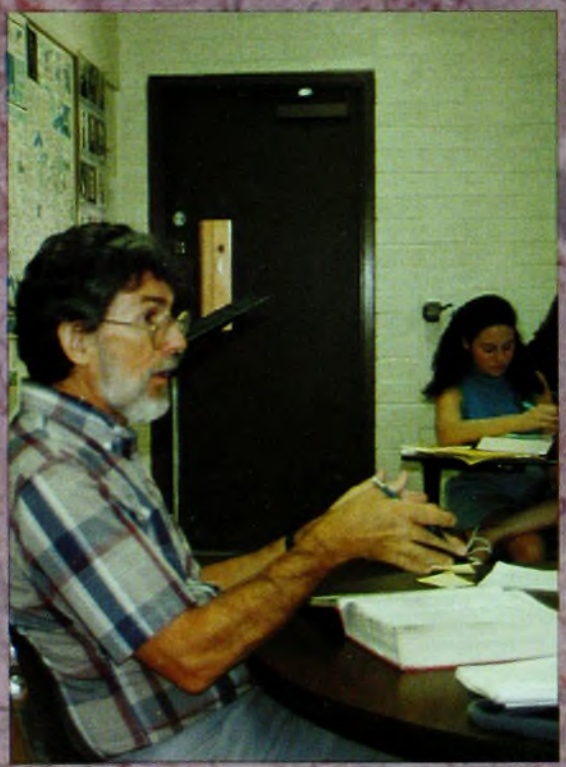

A perfect example of Ms. Fischer's willingness to listen to just about any homework excuses.

Dr. John Collins
1990-94

How soon does he begin to freak out. . Right away? Happiness was much more happy. Unlike how they were treated in the. . . well the. . .um. . . well, they were heroes. Rise up and slam back down. 666. BURDT. I'm an alien from outer space. When some young chick marries some old dude. . . what's gonna happen? Hahahahahaha! Some hanky panky's been goin' on. Whose mind is in the gutter? Let's talk about Ishmael for a minute. . . There's a connection, I promise. We hear in the next chapter that. . . Ahab is mad. Then what does the little infant do?. . . Goo Goo Gah Gah. . . and then she pointed to the A and said Mama, mama. I also believe she realizes the ecstasy of the one moment. If you want to learn how to read. . . It's very important for you. . . to learn how to read. Row, row, row your boat. . . He's a soul sucker. Did anyone ignore this question? I DON'T KNOW!!! Buzz... Thank you for playing."

Thank you for the glorious years of laughs and classes that would never have been the same without you.

The Senior Class

Nature, nature, what do you know? If you handle your problems, you're certain to grow

A message from Mrs. Madden, Head of the School

"And he sits and thinks of the things they know
He and the forest, alone together-
The springs that come up and the summers that go,
Autumn dew on bracken and heather,
The drip of the forest beneath the snow...
All the things they have seen,
All the things they have heard;
An April sky swept clear and the song of a bird..."

"The Charcoal Burner", Now We Are Six, A.A. Milne

Wherever you go in future years, from elementary grades to middle school, from middle to upper, from senior year in high school to freshman year in college, from college to graduate school to career, from one career to another, I wish for you exciting challenges. I hope that you have problems to solve and solutions to find, for a life without those would be a life without growth. But as you focus your fine minds and the knowledge and skills you have gained through your educational experiences, I wish for you the commitment to take time to enjoy and reflect upon the gifts and beauties of nature as Christopher Robin's friend, the charcoal burner, in the lines above has done. Involvement with or appreciation of our physical world from enormous canyons to the exquisite symmetry of a single flower can provide needed balance to study or business pressures and just plain pleasure.

Each of us at Phoenix Country Day School has lived, at least for part of our life, here, in one of the most beautiful of the 50 states and one with a tremendous variety of ecosystems. Enjoy it now, and wherever you go in the years ahead, look for the particular natural beauty of that location and regard it as a magnificent gift to Man to be valued and cared for-lest it be lost. You are becoming the keepers of all natural wonders of our world.

The Talking Heads

Teaching a class, or taking a walk, our PCDS Heads do much more than talk, they give us advice, they help when we study, they're always around when we need a buddy!

Faculty go to the Fair!

When the fair comes to town and the rides have begun, we wait with much squirming to have all that fun, but when the fair is over and the games are all through, what is there left, then, what can we do? The faculty here are beyond compare, they make all our learning seem like a fair, with all things to see and all things to know, you don't only enjoy it, you are taught and you grow!

Faculty go to the Zoo!

There are so many animals down at the zoo,
It seems they have nothing but eating to do,
And what can they give us for all that we feed?
Something we can't learn while we write or we read.
PCDS teachers know that learning is more,
That what you can find in a book numbered four,
Our learning goes deeper than what we must write,
Our teachers give us ideas on which we can bite.

The Field

Out in the field there is a little family of roadrunners,
The mother, then the father, then their children is the order they're in,
On their journey back to their nest..

Way out there,
There is a coyote running and playing with his brother;
Awaiting their hunt.

In a palo verde tree,
A lone hummingbird is fluttering near a branch,
Drinking the sweet sap from a flower.

And in the center of the field,
The only mesquite is droppong dried seed pods,
Slowly turing the ground brown.

- Clay Pell

And Activities

A Friend

You can talk with a friend,
and walk with a friend.
You can disagree with a friend,
and be with a friend.
When there are problems, you can stay with a friend,
and play with a friend.
You can share with a friend,
and you can care for a friend.
You can have fun with a friend,
and you can be in the sun with a friend.
You can hug a friend,
and you can bug a friend.
You can rap with a friend,
and you can nap with a friend.
You can stay home with a friend,
and talk on the phone with a friend.
A friend is someone you can trust,
a friend is a Must!!

" At PCDS, a student's senior speech, required for graduation, is the culmination of a series of research projects designed to give each senior the experience of preparing and presenting a short, 7-10 minute, well organized and researched talk on a topic of personal interest. The speech may appear daunting at first. Actually, I have seen only one student come close to not completing the speech in time for graduation, and that was at the school I formerly headed. After three or four no-shows, the student overcame her stage fright and finally appeared at a hastily called assembly late in the morning on the day of her 4:00 pm graduation, making a fine presentation.

David Spetzler

Public speaking inevitably improves with practice, and while the first few experiences can be intimidating, they are usually, however, far more successful than the speaker expects. The faculty and staff at PCDS and I have watched with pleasure as classmates take pride in each other's speeches, and individual students feel pride (and, yes, relief) at his or her own successful mastery of what is for many students a new challenge. We have also seen the quality of speeches improve as each class listens to those seniors who precede them and observes and learns from others' experiences.

Brian Cornwell

Those of us who must speak often wish we had begun earlier. You will have many opportunities to speak in public in the future. Do take them and enjoy them and remember the day you were a triumphant senior speaker at PCDS."

Mrs. Kendall ... has been an integral part of the lower school for the la fifteen years. Her official title is lower school aide, but Mrs. Kendall has done very much more. She has been the lower school representative to the comput department and has developed a terrific first grade computer program. She al has researched software for lower school use and has previewed new materia with faculty.

Mrs. Kendall also has been in charge of the faculty work room. She has ke catalogues in order, the machinery functioning and the teachers supplied wi book covers, xerox copies and speci materials. Everywhere you look, Mr Kendall has been there to help. She the first to pitch in where someone needed.

Mrs. Kendall plans to travel with h husband, but wants to continue to vo unteer at PCDS. She has promised stay home the last week in August ar the first week in September. The Low School needs Mrs. Kendall to get th year off to a good start! Bon Voya and thanks, Mrs. Kendall.

Ms. Hoffman...

has taught mathematics and science in the middle school for the past two years. La year she served as a host to Ms. Fujiwara, our exchange visitor from Japan. H professionalism and cheerful smile will be greatly missed by both her colleagues and the many mathematicians whom she taught. Ms. Hoffman is planning to start a pre-kindergarten program in the Tempe area. We wish her well in her new educational endeavor and keep on hiking!

Farewells...

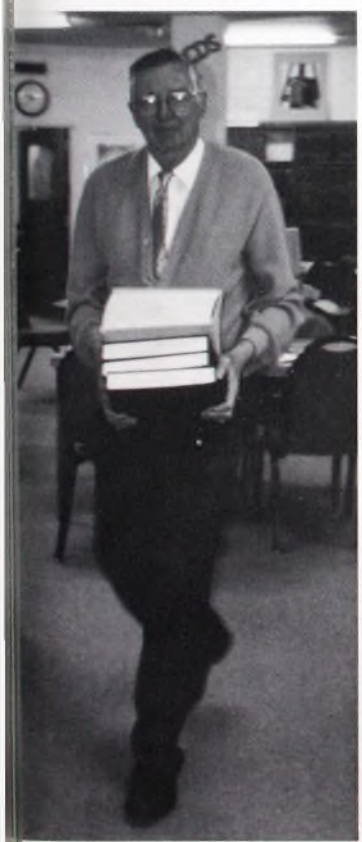

Mrs. Swenson... is retiring again! PCDS has had the good fortune to have Mrs. Swenson on staff in various capacities at intervals over the last twenty years. She has taught first, second and third grade as well as served in the library. Each time Mrs. Swenson has left, it was to further her studies. She has a Masters in counseling and is a published author. Next, Mrs. Swenson plans to go back to school to do further work in special education. These last four years she has done a superb job in both third and second grade. She is respected and beloved by all. Mrs. Swenson may be leaving again, but we are comforted by the fact that each time she has gone, she has come back. Therefore, we will say "adieu" - "'til we meet again" and we all hope she will be back in the very near future.

Mr. Houle... PCDS will miss your dedication, love of books and latin. We always knew where you stood and where we stood, which makes life much simpler and easier to deal with. Your dogged determination to retrieve library books did cause you to be the only librarian in America to nearly lose his arm to a black widow spider, hidden deep in a student locker. But most of all, we will miss your keen sense of humor and spontaneous laughter.

Ms. Suzanne Davis... The faculty and students of the upper school will miss your spirit and support. Your efforts to keep us straight and on track were much appreciated. You added a great deal of life to the upper school office.

Where Did the Time Go? From This ...to...This

BRIAN,

You have an exceptional commitment to your road racing. Commitment is what transforms a promise into reality. It is the words that speak boldly of your intentions and the actions which speak louder than words. It is making the time when there is none. Coming through time after time, year after year, Commitment is the stuff character is made of, the power to change the face of things. It is the daily triumphs of integrity over skepticism.

You have that special commitment it takes to achieve your goals. The future belongs to those who believe in their abilities—so "Go for the Gold", Brian, because you are the future!

We love You and will always be there for you!
MOM AND DAD

Brian,
"It's been a long and often painful trip of growing up together---- you only have four years left and I have twice as many-----I would like some pity please! Have a great time in college."

To Mr. Joe Cool —
When we were little I would beat you up.
Fighting constantly, we never gave up.
But now we are older, & I want you to know
How much you mean to me —
I almost don't want to go.
I'm going to miss you so very much.
So when times are hard,
And the going gets rough,
Remember me, and don't ever give up.
Love, Elizabeth

Congratulations Jake –

We are so very proud of you and everything you have accomplished.

All of our love and support go with you on your next adventure in life.

Mom & Dad

Dear First Born:

We've always loved you best because you were our first miracle. You were the genius of a marriage and the fulfillment of young love. You sustained us through the hamburger years, the first apartment (furnished in early poverty), our first mode of transportation and the T.V. we paid for in 36 months. You were new, had unused grandparents, and enough clothes for a set of triplets. You were the original model for a mom and a dad who were trying to work the bugs out. You got the strained lamb, the open safety pins, and refused to take any naps. Your every new word and every new discovery was unique in the annals of babydom.

And through the years you have never, ever disappointed us. The lessons you have taught us far outweigh any we have attempted to pass on to you.

We all love you
the world is now yours!!!
Momme, Dad and Michael

Dear Second Child,

We've always loved you the best because you drew a tough spot in the family and it made you stronger for it.

You cried less, shared more, wore faded hand-me-downs, and never in your life walked first, had the first birthday first, dated first. But this only made you more special. You brought with you the special needs of a serious child, but one with a very unique sense of humor. You are both the voice of reason and the firecracker.

You were the one we relaxed with and realized that a dog could kiss you and you wouldn't get sick. You could cross a street long before you were old enough to get married. And you helped us to understand that the world wouldn't collapse if you went to bed with dirty feet.

You were the child of our busy, ambitious years. You have shown us how to compromise and forgive. Without you, we never could have survived the job changes, the many moves, and the tedium and routine that is marriage.

We love you.
Momme, Dad, and Terence

Shelly Q,

From an organized, self-sufficient and enthusiastic little doll, you've grown into, guess what.....a taller and more mature version of the same! We're proud of your determination, good judgement and effervescent embrace of life! Vanderbilt has no idea of the impact you'll make when you arrive on campus next fall. They're going to love it, and we're going to miss it!

The Phoenician Staff

1993 - 1994

To the PCDS community:

The Phoenician is a student-run publication which the students are responsible for producg with the assistance and guidance of the faculty advisers. The staff of the Phoenician is mposed of enthusiastic and dedicated students who are willing to make a significant effort wards producing a high quality yearbook using the latest desktop publishing technology. he yearbook program is an extra-curricular activity which meets once per week and in addion, students are required to come in on some weekends in order to meet final deadlines. Alough some experience is helpful, it is not a prerequisite for students to be chosen to be on the aff.

The editors, staff, advisers and numerous members of the PCDS community have made every fort to check for spelling mistakes, omissions, inappropriate photographs and captions in or taste. Despite our efforts, we apologize for any errors which may have gone unnoticed. Thanking you for your support we hope that you enjoy this year's yearbook and appreciate e generous efforts of our students.

CUB SCOUTS

THANK YOUS

The Yearbook Staff would like to thank Mrs. Paula Silverberg for her wonderful and life-savin soocer photos.

We would also like to thank Mrs. Beth Zink for her incredible cover and mystery man design They are absolutely wonderful and we love them!

Thank You

After all the Thursday and SATURDAY meetings (pizza, bagels, and subs), morning meeting announcements, and the rushed deadlines, we finally completed this book! When the editors decided the theme, All the Places We Go, we hoped everyone would understand what we meant. It is supposed to be fun with a Dr. Seuss mentality, and I hope this came across. There are a few people that I would like to thank for their extra hard work who really made a difference in making this book. . .

Dr. Cags, you saved this book time and time again. Without all of your help this book would never have gone to print. You made sure the pictures were coming in and the layout staff was doing their thing so the editors wouldn't have to do the whole book. Thank you for everything. You are the best!

Mrs. Zink, your cover design is incredible and the little dorky dude that we have popping up all over the book is great! Your technical skills and photos made the book better.

Liz, with all of your layout expertise from last year you made my Saturdays with your ability to make pages out of nothing.

Sarah, you came to the rescue every time we needed you. The Macs became annoying, but you didn't let that bother you.

Mark, no matter what it took you made sure we had all the pictures we needed even if it meant you taking most of them.

Julie and Jocelyn, the Ad ladies. You two did a great job getting the money and laying out the pages.

Ariel, the snazzy caption lady. You made so many funky poems and one-liners. We all thank you for that.

I would also like to thank the following people for their help at the crucial deadline times: Jake Weiner, Yen Tran, Kristin Stamm, Trista Eaden, Lindsay Schmid, and Courtney Smalley.

THE GOODBYES WE MUST SAY

The places you have gone can prepare you in no way for the friends you must leave and the farewells you must say.

GOODBYE

The year is now over,
The time went so fast,
We look toward the future ,
But reflect on the past.
Don't rest in the Valley
Because today is your day.
Your mountain is waiting,
So. . . be on your way!

GOODBYE
