The Science of Reading in Practice

The Science of Reading (SoR) is an interdisciplinary body of research that comprises more than four decades of peer-reviewed studies, and informs our understanding of how to effectively teach and learn literacy. Our Science of Reading in Practice professional books provide a digestible understanding of the current leading research and are filled with practical strategies that teachers can immediately implement in their instruction.

“We can draw upon and learn from quality research and practice. Focus on what we know works. Focus on purposefully guiding children to decode words, chunk words, and—most of all—read fluently, proficiently, and joyfully.”

Dr. Julia B. Lindsey, author of Reading Above the Fray and Small Groups, Big Results

“The future of our students who struggle to read does not need to be bleak. We have reason to be hopeful. We can turn the tide. We can teach in a way that will help all our students and, in doing so, prevent illiteracy.”

Lindsay Kemeny, author of 7 Mighty Moves and Rock Your Literacy Block

The Five Pillars of Reading

Research has identified five key areas for literacy instruction, which are all rooted in the Science of Reading. These concepts, or pillars, are essential for readers to progress from decoding successfully to becoming skillful readers.

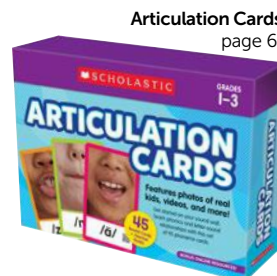

Phonemic Awareness:

The ability to hear and manipulate phonemes, or the individual sounds, of spoken words.

Slide Into Phonics, page 66

Articulation Cards, page 67

Phonics:

Phonics is the relationship between the letters and sounds of a language.

NEW! First Little Readers Phonics, page 18

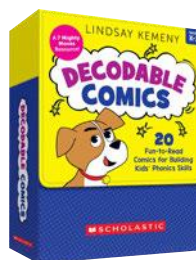

Active Phonics, page 51

Fluency:

The ability to read correctly, quickly, and with appropriate expression.

NEW! Decodable Comics, page 20

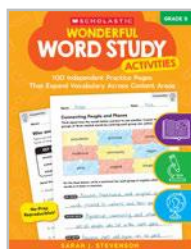

Phonics Playlets, page 66

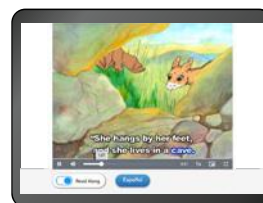

Vocabulary:

YOUR LEVELING RESOURCE GUIDE

Lexile® levels, CEFR (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages) bands, and Guided Reading levels are all used to assess language and reading proficiency and match students to appropriate resources. All frameworks help educators understand a learner's language development, but they do so in different ways.

Lexile® Framework for Reading:

A Lexile measure is a universal metric that places individual reading ability and the complexity of a book, article, or text on the same scale.

Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR)

The CEFR is an English language teaching framework that places learners in proficiency bands.

Guided Reading:

Guided Reading levels place students' reading ability to certain texts, on a standardized alphabetical system.

The Birds of Killingworth

Every spring, in the small town of Killingworth, the birds appeared. They sang with joy when they arrived. They sang that winter was over and the snow was melting. They sang that flowers were blooming as purple flowers filled the trees. Soon the trees were covered in birds. Robins, orioles and bluebirds sang together. Crows and sparrows joined the chorus. Wrens, warblers and finches added their refrains. The air was a symphony of bird songs.

The birds sang, "O! Be happy! Be happy! Spring is here!"

The birds built homes in the trees and bushes. Some built large nests with lots of room for eggs. Others constructed small, cosy nests. There were soft, downy nests and there were nests of hard twigs. Soon every nest held eggs! The happy birds rejoiced in song about the future.

The children loved the birds. However, most of the adults did not. The farmers were working in the fields when they heard the birdsong. Disappointed at the arrival of the birds, the farmers shook their heads and said, "There are too many birds. The birds will eat our crops and they will destroy our fruit. We will not have enough food. We must do something."

They held a town meeting but the children were not allowed to go to the meeting to defend the birds. Only one adult spoke for the birds. He threw open the windows and said, "Listen to the birds!" A beautiful flood of birdsong came into the hall.

“One of the best qualities of YA lit is that it addresses the needs and interests of its readers so well. Teens and young adults are “in transition,” constantly evolving and searching for their sense of self. Their needs are not only physical, but emotional, intellectual, and societal.”

Unit 1: 2D Shapes

1.1 Identifying 2D shapes

Let's learn

Objectives:

- Describe objects by their shapes.
- Recognize and name the four basic 2D shapes: circle, triangle, rectangle and square.

Materials:

- 1 copy of Objects Cut-outs (BM6.1) per group
- 1 copy of Shapes Cut-outs (BM6.2) per group
- 5 sheets of paper in letter size per group
- Objects in the shapes of circle, triangle, rectangle and square: 1 object in each shape for demonstration, 1 object in each shape per group
- Modelling clay: 1 slab for demonstration, 1 slab per group

Resources:

- CB: pp. 117–120
- PB: p. 80

Vocabulary:

- 2D shape
- circle
- rectangle
- shape
- square
- triangle

(a) Stage: Concrete Experience

Place a circular object against the board and trace its outline. Then remove the object. Write 'circle' below the shape.

Say: The shape of the (circular object) is a circle.

Continue to trace the other objects in the demonstration set to introduce the other three shapes (triangle, rectangle and square). Have students work in groups. Distribute a sheet of paper in letter size and an object in each shape (circle, triangle, rectangle, square) to each group. Ask students to trace the outline of their objects on the sheet of paper and label the shapes as shown on the board.

Unit 1: 2D Shapes

You will learn:

- How to identify 2D shapes.
- How to describe 2D shapes.
- How to name 2D shapes.
- How to use modelling clay to make 2D shapes.

Concept Videos provide clear guidance on how to teach math topics. The Math Academy is a virtual professional development tool designed for educators to better understand the PR1ME™ Mathematics pedagogy, offering four certifiable modules.

PR1ME™ Mathematics STUDENT MATERIALS

The Student Coursebooks and Practice Books incorporate leading pedagogy like the Readiness-Engagement-Mastery instructional design and the Concrete-Pictorial-Abstract approach.

The targeted and focused practice directly supports the Five Core Competencies:
Critical Thinking, Collaboration, Communication, Confidence, and Creativity.

CRITICAL THINKING

+ Plus
Solve the problem in another way.

Draw a circle on a piece of paper and cut it out. Divide it into 10 equal parts to represent the pie. Color 9 parts to represent Nathan's share. Cut out and remove 6 of the colored parts to represent the fraction of the pie that Nathan ate.

There are 3 out of 10 equal parts left. So, Nathan had $\frac{3}{10}$ of the pie left.

Compare the methods in Steps 3 and 5. Which is better? Why do you think so?

- ☒ 1. Understand ☒ 2. Plan ☒ 3. Answer ☒ 4. Check ☒ 5. Plus

Students develop critical thinking and problem-solving skills through the UPAC+ process: Understand, Plan, Answer, Check, and explore alternate solutions.

COMMUNICATION

Math Journal

- Do you think a proper fraction or a mixed number is greater? Explain your answer.
- Give two examples of items that are packed in half dozen.
- Explain what it means for two fractions to be equivalent.

PR1ME encourages students to describe and reflect upon their problem-solving approaches, which develops metacognition skills.

CREATIVITY

CREATE YOUR OWN

Tank A can hold 34 liters of water.
 Tank B can hold 12 liters of water less than tank A.
 What is the capacity of tank B?

Read the word problem.
 Change the word problem so that the answer is 14 liters.
 How did you decide what to change in the word problem?

Next, solve the word problem. Show your work clearly.
 What did you learn?

PR1ME cultivates student creativity with opportunities to create their own mathematical problems, brainstorm solutions, and think outside the box.

COLLABORATION

THINK ABOUT IT

Sarah and David solve this problem in different ways.

$$\frac{5}{8} + \frac{1}{8} = ?$$

Sarah

$$\begin{aligned} 5 + 1 &= 6 \\ 8 + 8 &= 16 \\ \text{My answer is } \frac{6}{16}. \end{aligned}$$

$$\begin{aligned} 5 + 1 &= 6 \\ \text{My answer is } \frac{6}{8}. \end{aligned}$$

David

Who is correct?
 Why do you say so?

Who is wrong?
 Why do you say so?

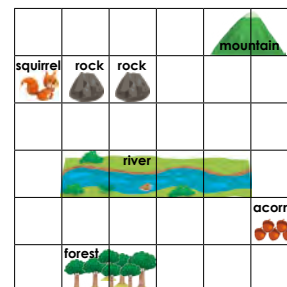

What did you learn about adding fractions?

PR1ME inspires students to work with one another through collaborative discussion to solve problems.

CONFIDENCE

MISSION POSSIBLE

Help the squirrel find the acorns. The squirrel is facing east.

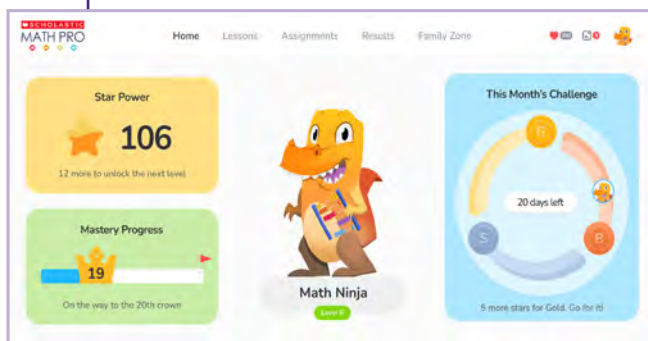

- a) Show the squirrel how to move to the box where the acorns are by drawing the correct arrows in the box below. You may use each arrow more than once. The squirrel can only move to an empty square.

PR1ME's systematic approach builds confidence in all learners with ample opportunities to take ownership of one's learning.

Math Pro provides students with a personalized dashboard, supporting independent and self-regulated learning. Individualized learning experiences ensure every student is appropriately challenged and supported to develop mathematical confidence and mastery.

Students can view their performance upon logging in, including their mastery progress and any achievements earned.

View all assigned activities in one place.

Students can receive accolades from their teachers to recognize their work and develop their social-emotional skills.

FL Riddles

Listen to the riddles. Then match each riddle with the right fl word from the box.

Word Box

flowers Florida flash flap flock

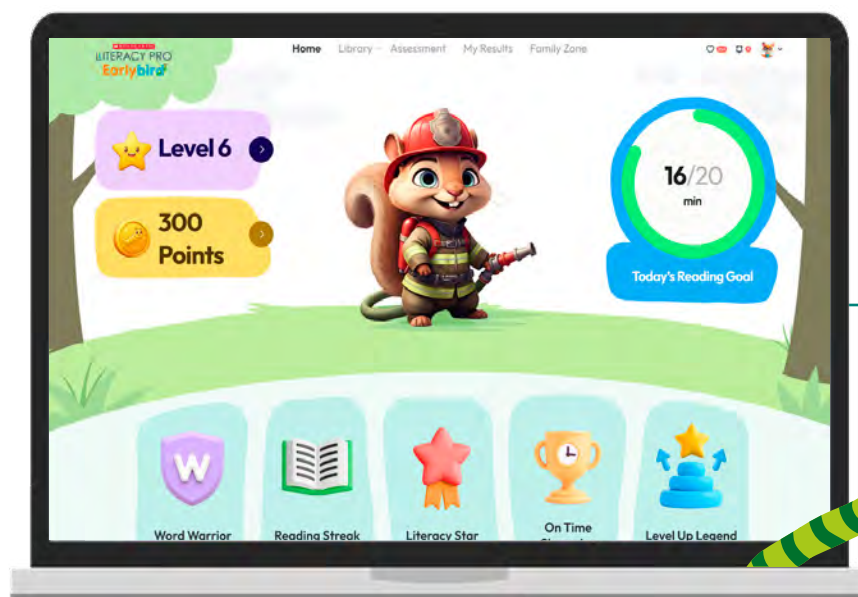

- You put these in a vase.
- This kind of bird is big and pink.
- A firefly's light does this at night.
- This is a state in our country.
- Boats do this on water.
- It rhymes with stop.

Reading Tips: fl

Before Reading

- Read aloud the title of the book. Have children use the title and the cover illustration to make predictions about what the story will be about.
- Introduce the fl sound. Explain to children that the letters fl are a blend that is used in words like fly. Write the word fly on the chalkboard and have a volunteer circle the letters fl. Go through the pronunciation of the word with the children. Ask them to suggest other words that contain the fl sound.
- Have children listen as you read the title again. Ask them to name all the words in the title that have the fl sound.
- Tell children that this book has lots of words with the fl sound and that the words are in boldface type. Skim the book with children and look for words containing the fl sound. Have children point to a few of them as you read them together. Run your hand under each letter as you blend each word aloud. Say and hold each sound in the word, blending the sounds together. Then have children repeat the word.

A quick snapshot of a child's progress is visible upon logging in, including books assigned by a teacher.

Texto del Estudiante, Grado 1

Texto del Estudiante introduce y desarrolla los conceptos y las habilidades.

Cuaderno de Práctica contiene ejercicios y tareas para la evaluación sumativa y formativa.

Guía del Profesor provee esquemas de trabajo, secuencias didácticas, recursos para fotocopiar, respuestas y soluciones a los ejercicios y problemas.

Libro de evaluaciones sugiere evaluaciones de mitad y fin de año escolar para cada grado.

La nueva edición de ¡Matemáticas al Máximo! incluye actividades y características pedagógicas para desarrollar al máximo el pensamiento matemático, como: Explora, Misión Posible y UPAC+.

MISIÓN POSIBLE

Guía a los estudiantes a la solución de problemas a través de los cuatro pilares del Pensamiento Computacional, contribuyendo al desarrollo del Pensamiento crítico y la Confianza en la clase de matemáticas.

MISIÓN POSIBLE

Ángela está jugando. Ella tiene dos pelotas pegajosas para lanzar al tiro al blanco.

Si ambas pelotas pegajosas caen en el tiro al blanco con una puntuación total que tenga un "0" en la cifra, ella se ganará un juguete de peluche.

¿Cuáles son los posibles pares de números en los que las pelotas pegajosas se pueden quedar para que ella se gane el juguete de peluche?

EXPLORA

Fomenta el trabajo Colaborativo a través de la exploración de conocimientos previos. Además, desarrolla Confianza en los estudiantes en el uso de las matemáticas como instrumento de solución de problemas.

EXPLORA

Maria y su familia están en la playa.

a) ¿Cuántas personas hay en tu familia?

b) ¿Hay más personas en tu familia que en la de María?

¿Cómo podemos resolver este problema? Coméntalo con tu grupo y completa las columnas 1 y 2.

1. Lo que ya sé que me ayudará a resolver el problema	2. Lo que necesito descubrir y aprender	3. Lo que aprendí
---	---	-------------------

UPAC+™

El "+" permite desarrollar la Creatividad de los estudiantes y así, puedan generar soluciones alternativas a problemas.

1 Comprendo el problema. ¿Cómo obtenemos el segundo número a partir del primer número? ¿Cómo obtenemos el tercer número a partir del segundo número? ¿Qué debo encontrar?

2 Pienso qué hacer. ¡Puedo buscar el patrón!

3 Resuelvo el problema.

1	4	10	19	31	46
+3	+6	+9	+12	+15	+?

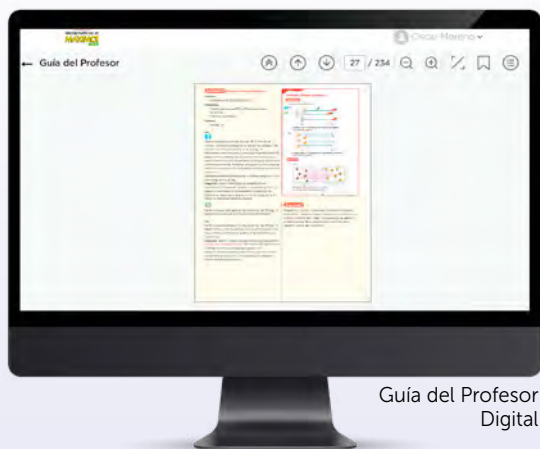

$46 + 18 = 64$
 $64 + 21 = 85$

3, 6, 9, 12, 15, ...
Estos son los productos de la tabla de multiplicar del 3.
3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21
Debo sumar 18 a 46.
Debo sumar 21 a 64.

4 Compruebo si la respuesta es correcta. 31 46 64 85
-15 -18 -21
Mi respuesta es correcta.

5 + Más Resuelvo el problema de otra manera. ¿Puedes resolver el problema de otra manera? Si es así, muestra como encuentras la respuesta.
