About Us

Premium Quality Soy Wax Candles

NOVVAA is a professionally managed soy wax candle manufacturer based in Madhyamgram, West Bengal, India. We are committed to crafting high-quality, eco-friendly soy wax candles for customers across India and worldwide.

We specialize in the manufacture and supply of premium soy wax candles, offering a wide range of scented, decorative, and customized candles. Our focus on quality, sustainability, and customer satisfaction has helped us build reliable long-term partnerships with clients across diverse markets.

Our candles are thoughtfully designed and manufactured to meet the evolving preferences of modern consumers, retailers, hospitality businesses, gifting companies, and corporate clients.

We use carefully selected raw materials and follow systematic manufacturing processes to ensure consistency in fragrance, appearance, burning performance, and overall finish. From classic jar candles and elegant decorative designs to customized shapes, fragrances, colors, and packaging, we provide flexible solutions according to our customers' requirements.

Our experienced team pays close attention to every stage of production, including wax preparation, fragrance blending, wick selection, moulding, finishing, quality inspection, and packaging. This helps us maintain dependable product quality while fulfilling both small and bulk orders.

Sustainability is an important part of our approach. By focusing on soy wax-based products and responsible manufacturing practices, we aim to offer candle solutions that align with the growing demand for environmentally conscious products.
