ISLE OF HARRIS DISTILLERY

Tarbert, Isle of Harris
The Outer Hebrides, Scotland

The Isle of Harris Distillery began with a simple idea. Over the decades, our island has suffered from a long-term decline in population, our community's numbers having halved over the last fifty years. We believed that a distillery, built for not just years but for generation, can help residents find work, set down roots and build a life in the place they called home.

In 2015, the distillery started life with just 10 people. Today, we're proud to say we employ over 50 permanent staff, a significant number on an island of fewer than 2000 inhabitants.

Isle of Harris Distillers began with their award-winning Isle of Harris Gin, followed by The Hearach, single malt scotch whisky, the second expression of The Hearach: 100% First-Fill Oloroso Cask Matured, and a third, highly limited, expression: The Hearach of Château Biac.

As a catalyst for positive change within our community, we continue to work with purpose, bringing new life to our island and supporting its aspirations to survive and thrive as we move forward together.

In the far western corner of Andalusia, Spain, lies the ancient province of Huelva where sherry-makers José y Miguel Martín 'cooper' casks with age-old craft and care before they are seasoned by their wineries in Jerez. Isle of Harris Distillery has sourced their carefully chosen Oloroso butts from them since 2015.

A distinctive expression of The Hearach from the Isle of Harris, Oloroso sherry's influence on the wood imparts an unmistakable richness and boldness to this spirit after a full maturation in the Isle of Harris warehouse.

"On the nose, there is an immediate warmth: butterscotch and iced cherry Bakewell tart, like a pastry shop on a cold morning. As it opens, brighter fruit and delicate floral notes appear, with a gentle hint of spice. The palate brings rich, buttery caramels and sweet cloves and ginger balance by the dry flinty character that's so typical of Isle of Harris spirit. The finish is light and creamy, with a soft echo of Outer Hebridean peat smoke."

ELIXIR DISTILLERS

HISTORY

Port Askaig is an independently bottled, Islay Single Malt where the family style harks back to some of Elixir Distillers' most loved whiskies of the past – rich fruit flavor, seasoned with herbaceous peat – and drives everything we do. The name derives from the port of the same name which is nearest to the home of our new-make. Over the past 15 years, we have taken young Islay Single Malt and re-rack through our meticulous cask program, where they continue to age in our warehouses until ready to be expertly blended and bottled. Through a deliberate choice in flavor profile driven by our cask program, we have created what we feel is the ultimate expression of Islay – a beautifully curated range of whiskies with a refined balance of fruit and peat. Since 2009 our Port Askaig Whiskies have won 12 Gold+ medals with an average score of 90pts from key global drinks journals.

BALLYKEEFE is the first Irish Single Estate Family Farm Distillery in over 200 years, where all barley is sown, grown, harvested and distilled on the Ging family farm. Great care is taken to produce their crops, with an emphasis on quality over quantity, because only the finest barley will create whiskey of superior flavor.

Located in the lush green countryside near Ireland's medieval capital, Kilkenny, Ballykeefe has the distinction of being the area from which the first written account of distilling in Ireland is recorded in 1324 in the Red Book of Ossory.

Super Premium is the standard at Ballykeefe Distillery. It is a hearts-only distiller's cut, which means all heads and tails are discarded. PIONEERS OF ON-FARM DISTILLING

Ballykeefe is “The Real Deal” field-to-glass operation where all of the barley, oats, and rye are sown, grown, harvested, and milled on their family farm. Every step of the whiskey distilling, aging, and bottling are also handcrafted in their distillery. The Ging family, with an unbroken farming lineage through the centuries, has pioneered the revival of lost traditions from 300 years ago: on-farm distilling.

Ballykeefe whiskey is exclusive and rare, with each bottle taken from a single cask in its natural color with no chill filtering. Our award-winning care for the environment is central to our recycling of all by-products to achieve zero off-farm waste. Dynamic temperature changes in the cask aging warehouse means a richer abundance of flavors for a high ‘angels share’.

DISTILLERIE DU
ST LAURENT

Canadian Spirits Inspired by the Sea
Distilled by Quebec craft spirits pioneers

DISTILLERIE DU ST. LAURENT began with some "tests" in a basement in Rimouski, Quebec, where two pigheaded friends disregarded conventions and were inspired by their own terroir to create whimsical and distinctive spirits.

The distillery produces Whisky using only local grains and Acerum — a brand new breed of distilled maple sap spirits.

St. Laurent is proud to be amongst Quebec's micro-distillation pioneers. Stubborn to produce spirits in a traditional way with our region's raw resources while remaining Independent; facing large corporations that are flooding the shelves with cheap generic products.

ST LAURENT RYE

Mash Bill: 80% Rye, 20% Malted Barley

Distilled twice in a copper still before maturing 3 years by the sea in american virgin oak (2/3) and ex-whisky (1/3) casks. An elegant, accessible yet wholesome spirit. Slightly spicy with fruity, sweet and wooden notes.

TASTING NOTES

Apple, leather and sweet wine on the nose. In mouth, soft spices supported by hints of nuts, pepper, oak and brown sugar. Quite oily and round on the tongue - St. Laurent's signature.

ST LAURENT 3 GRAINS

75% Corn, 15% Rye, 10% Malted Barley

After two distillations in our Scottishtype copper still, the result is a rich and full-bodied distillate. The spirit is then aged for 3 years in new charred oak casks. St. Laurent 3 Grains Whisky is made with corn from Quebec as well as rye and malted barley from Bas-Saint-Laurent.

TASTING NOTES

A grain & vanilla approach characteristic of American Bourbon, aromas of brown sugar and dried fruit, notes of orange peel, a spicy hint of rye. The slow pot still distillation delivers a long, mellow and smooth finish.

ST LAURENT ACERUM

Ingredients: maple syrup, water, yeasts

This eau-de-vie that reveals the delicate and refined aromas of distilled maple sap. The sole ingredients are Quebec maple syrup, water and yeasts. The maple wine is then distilled twice in a copper pot still and then aged in both new and used oak barrels for more than 3 years.

TASTING NOTES

Light and fruity. Aromas of apple and candied pear, notes of coconut bark, toffee and butterscotch. Slightly spicy and tannic wood notes, long and creamy finish of maple butter.

MEZCAL

MANGLAR
MEZCAL ARTESANAL

Casa Manglar, which means “Mangrove house” in spanish, is a tribute to the indigenous people living in the Sierra de Oaxaca area. They believe that the “creator” endowed all things, animate and inanimate with a spirit.

The local tradition explains the relations between men, animals, plants and earth, while ceremonies and rituals serve to strengthen the link between the world they inhabit and the world of spirits. Casa Manglar represents that transition between earth to mezcal.

The word mezcal comes from Nahuatl mexcalli metl and ixcalli which means “oven-cooked agave”. Mezcal is the best kept secret of Mexico and the most ancient distilled spirit in America. Unlike its sibling tequila, mezcal can derive from over 30 varietals of agave, most of them grown in the different regions.

TESSERON
COGNAC

Since 1905, the Tesseron family has been renowned for producing some of the finest and oldest Grande Champagne cognac in the appellation. They were kept as a trade secret until 2003, when the Tesseron's started a collection of four cognacs under their family name called: The Classic Collection.

The Maison Abel Tesseron once presented their samples under 'Lot' numbers, that were historically the trade term used to identify a blend. Using this traditional method of identification and delving into the cellars of their legendary collection of age-old Grande Champagne reserves, the Tesseron family has released four numbered 'Lot' cognacs; reflecting the lifetimes' work of four generations of refined cognac makers. Each of these cognacs illustrates the mastery and artfulness of their heritage.

EXTREME

A unique blending carefully chosen from our oldest and finest reserves at the heart of Abel Tesseron's private collection. The intense emotion you will feel on tasting this exceptional cognac originates from the beautiful slopes of the Grande Champagne vineyards, home to our Ugni Blanc, Folles Blanche and Colombard grapes. For the Tesseron's, this timeless cognac is a way of capturing our history in a bottle.

TESSERON EXPERIENCE 01

La Licorne

ARMAGNAC

For over a century, the wines and Armagnacs produced from the vineyards of La Licorne have been awarded with medals at international exhibitions- a testament to the incredible terroir located between Bordeaux and the Pyrenees mountains. Four generations of the Gessler family have preserved the rigorous standards of Gascony traditional methods, creating rich eaux-de-vie in small batches, aged in French oak. The name “La Licorne” is derived from the historic stables built by Pierre Dussaux at the end of the 19th century, which now serve as the ageing cellar. The unicorn represents the quality and noble values that the family brings to each Armagnac: authenticity, joviality and timeless devotion.

AGEING

Since the mid-19th century, Gascony tradition has preserved the same ways of making Armagnac. The natural fermentation of grape juice is followed by early distillation, to preserve the expressive fruity flavors. La Licorne has been using the same old copper for generations to create the freshly-distilled Blanche d'Armagnac, which will then be aged in oak barrels in their 120-year-old cellar.

When Black Tot founder Sukhinder Singh first discovered one of the original Royal Navy rum flagons and tasted the liquid he was astonished by its depth and complexity. THE AWARD-WINNING Isle of Harris Gin is distilled in the small harbor village of Tarbert in a small copper gin still, known as 'The Dotach'.

The distillers discard, instead of recycling, the 'heads' and 'tails' of the spirit run, leaving only the best of the distillate's 'heart' helping to create an exceptional smoothness.

DISTILLERIE DU
ST LAURENT

Eccentric, all-natural Gins inspired by the Sea
Distilled by Quebec craft spirits pioneers

DISTILLERIE DU ST. LAURENT began with some "tests" in a basement in Rimouski, Quebec, where two pigheaded friends disregarded conventions and were inspired by their own terroir to create whimsical and distinctive spirits.

Distilled in small batches in Rimouski, St. Laurent Gin is a breath of salt-sea air, of powerful herbaceous and floral notes interspersed by a pine aroma reminiscent of the Quebec boreal forest. It's a complex gin born of an unlikely union of spices hailing from the four corners of the globe and laminaria seaweed of the St. Lawrence River, hand-harvested in the Bas-Saint-Laurent region.

ST. LAURENT GIN

All-natural maritime Gin
Infused with laminaria seawead

BOTANICALS

Juniper - Coriander - Angelica Root
Cassia bark - Licorice - Lemon - Bitter Orange - Cubeb Berry - Grains of Paradise - Laminaria Seaweed

An herbaceous and floral approach gives way to pine forest notes followed by pastry aromas, fragrances of citrus as well as a peppery edge. Laminaria seaweed, also called Kombu and Devil's apron, gives St. Laurent Gin its characteristic greenish hue and a mineral and slightly salty finish.

Our famous seaweed Gin
Aged 1 year in Whisky casks

BOTANICALS

Juniper - Coriander - Angelica Root
Cassia bark - Licorice - Lemon - Bitter Orange - Cubeb Berry - Grains of Paradise - Laminaria Seaweed

A mellow and aromatic approach: the juniper is gently unveiled without harshness, then gives way to grassy notes, pepper and candied citrus. A long woody finish, slightly saline, a signature of the laminaria seaweed infusion.

POTOCKI
POLAND

Authentic Family Heritage since 1816

- Small-batch quality vodka, made for sipping and martinis
- 100% freshly harvested single-estate rye sourced from fields around distillery
- Distilled only twice in a continuous two-column still, at low speeds to ensure balance and smoothness
- The “head” and the “tail” are discarded to ensure high quality
- The common process of charcoal filtration is intentionally omitted as this would unnecessarily strip the vodka of its character.
- Every batch tasted by Jan-Roman Potocki
- No additives, such as citric acid or glycerine, are added. Only pure distilled water.
- Every batch yields its own taste, with dominant rye notes

PAIRING

Smoked salmon and caviar are traditional companions, but Potocki also compliments any fatty fish such as smoked eel. Smoked or cured ham, salami, etc. Pork belly, short ribs, steak. Chocolate cake/mousse, coffee parfait, lemon tart or sorbet.

ARAK

Lebanon

Domaine des Tourelles

عرق برّان

Arak Brun

Bekaa Valley, Lebanon

Arak Brun has been in production since the inception of the winery in 1868. It is made from the alcohol of estate grown Obeidi and Cinsault grapes, harvested at optimum ripeness, and blended with fresh anise. Domaine des Tourelles grows its own anise in Deir el Ahmar, a village in the district of Baalbek. This arak is produced inside a hundred year old cellar, processed traditionally using a three-stage distillation in traditional alembics, and aged in clay jars. Perfect for sipping neat, with water, or as an elegant addition to cocktails.

Château Ksara

KSARAK

ARAK
Ksara, Lebanon

Château Ksara is Lebanon's oldest, largest, and most visited winery. It was here, in 1857, that Jesuit brothers produced Lebanon's first non-sweet red wine.

DISTILLATION & MATURATION

The first distillation releases the alcohol from the wine in a column still, eliminating the methanol and heavy oils that spoil the taste.

The liquid is distilled with aniseed a second time in a specially designed alembic to extract the "heart" cut, the highest quality portion of the distillate.
Finally, the spirit is refined a third time to achieve the purest and healthiest arak.

The arak is then aged for 28 months in traditional hand-made clay jars from the Lebanese mountain village of Beit Chebab.

SERVING & PAIRING

Best served in a glass with one third arak, two thirds water, add the ice last.

Arak is the traditional partner with the mezze dishes and fried or grilled seafood that grace the Lebanese table, the aniseed cleansing the palate between each dish. It is increasingly consumed as an aperitif.

CHERRY ROCHER

Depuis 1705

At the start of the 18th century, Barthélémy Rocher dreamt up sweet concoctions based on macerated fruit and herbs. Thanks to his dream, the first distillery in France was established in 1705 in La Côte-Saint-André, a commune in the Rhone Valley near the French Alps. Since the first year of its inception, Cherry Rocher has been recognized for their quality liqueurs. From father to son, 8-generations have dedicated themselves to the art of distilling and blending to continue the great tradition of liqueurs and craft spirits at Cherry Rocher.

RICH, SWEET
EXQUISITELY FRUITY

Sathenay is produced in Beaune, in the heart of Burgundy. Owners Larent Noyer and Pierre Beuchet used original recipes and top of the range equipment to create their first crème liqueur: Crème de Cassis. Others flavors swiftly followed: blackberry, raspberry, a rustic vineyard peach cream liqueur, and a fragrant elderflower cream with sweet, white, floral notes that soon made it the darling of local mixologists.

CRÉME DE CASSIS

The flagship product of the Sathenay range

The famous Burgundy Blackcurrant is the most aromatic in the world and features as the main ingredient in Sathenay's Crème de Cassis.

The elaboration process respects the fruit and takes into account its fragility: the maceration of the blackcurrant berries in alcohol takes place in rotating stainless steel tanks, protected from air and light. After a passage in the press, the infusions are sweetened exclusively with French dry sugar: they contain no additives.

TASTING NOTES:

Color: Bright garnet

Nose: Explosion of fruits and freshly crushed blackcurrants

Taste: Immediate power in the mouth that reveals all the flavors of the fruit

HERBAL LIQUEUR

LA GAULOISE

LIQUEUR BICENTENAIRE CRÉÉE EN 1783

HERBAL LIQUEUR

The Gauloise name harkens back to a time long ago when France was known as La Gaule. The Roman Legions preferred this liqueur over the mead of the Gods. The recipe for this incomparable elixir was once lost to time, but in 1783, Sieur Requier, a liquorist, found it in an old grimoire and revived this once beloved liqueur.

BLENDING

La Gauloise is born when the Master Liquorist skilfully mixes angelica, St. John's wort, saffron, cardamom, génépi, and several other secret ingredients in a double distillation over a wood fire. To complete the liqueur with finesse and roundness, just the right amount of fine eaux-de-vie and sugar syrup is added.
