Its seamless surface enhances sightlines and encourages gathering. Thoughtful design choices maximize efficiency while maintaining a warm, welcoming aesthetic.

Kitchen Remodel

4930 S. 72ND STREET

Sometimes removing a wall can be the key to unlocking a space's potential. Once the wall between this kitchen and dining room was removed, it allowed the opportunity to anchor the new kitchen with a large and functional island, while still retaining the dining room. The natural lighting which now floods the kitchen creates an open and inviting entertaining area in place of a once cramped and dark work space. New wood flooring was feathered into existing flooring, which was then sanded and refinished throughout the first floor. Finish details of quartz countertops, a warm tile backsplash and accents of champagne bronze complete this kitchen.

FEATURES INCLUDE

- Painted and alder wood cabinetry
- Island design with integrated appliances
- Hidden tiered spice drawer
- Updated railing in family room
- Custom designed basement door
- First-floor powder bathroom updates
