ELEVATING EXTRAORDINARY CARE FOR GENERATIONS TO COME

Covenant HealthCare continues to take thoughtful, forward-thinking steps to ensure high quality care remains close to home for residents of Saginaw and the Great Lakes Bay Region for generations to come. With a strong focus on expanding access and advancing innovation, Covenant is redefining what extraordinary local healthcare can look like–today and tomorrow.

From enhancing specialty, primary and urgent care, to investing in the latest technology, medical education, and community health, Covenant HealthCare continues to raise the bar for what local care can be: a stronger, more accessible system of care designed around the needs of the community.

Covenant HealthCare leaders break ground on new state-of-the-art orthopedics facility in April 2026.

Creating Additional Access Points for Care

Expanding access to the right levels of care in the right locations helps meet our patients' needs. Covenant Primary Care is now available in Essexville, with an additional location—a new build—coming soon to Freeland. Additionally, to further complement the Medical Diamond project, Covenant is partnering with the Saginaw County Health Department to create new primary care, urgent care, and public health facilities near the hospital's main campus. The new sites will support both organizations in delivering care and working to improve health outcomes in the 48602 community and beyond.

Advancing Care Through Innovation

Ongoing investment in advanced technology is helping Covenant expand what is possible for patient care. Notable additions include a first-of-its-kind fetal monitoring system designed to support high-risk delivery of triplets, robotic-assisted bronchoscopy, which allows clinicians to biopsy hard-to-access lung nodules and diagnose lung cancer earlier, as well as a new Advanced Imaging Center at the Covenant Mackinaw Campus in Saginaw, featuring leading-edge PET/CT, MRI, CT technology, and more.

A New Destination for Orthopedic Care

Covenant is enhancing musculoskeletal care with a new outpatient orthopedics facility on the west side of its Mackinaw Campus in Saginaw. This facility will bring a full range of orthopedic and sports medicine services together under one roof, becoming home to one of the region's most experienced orthopedic teams along with the new Covenant HealthCare OrthoExpress—an orthopedic-focused urgent care center—one of the only of its kind in the area.

Bringing Advanced Neuroscience Care Closer to Home

Covenant HealthCare in partnership with Henry Ford Health Neurosciences is also expanding access to complex, highly specialized neurological care with enhanced services in neurosurgery, spine care, stroke treatment, neurology, and neuro-oncology. Henry Ford Health clinicians have joined Covenant providers to deepen Covenant Neurosciences services which includes an award-winning stroke program. A new state-of-the-art neuroscience facility is slated for construction in the near future at the Covenant Mackinaw Campus.

Investing in the Next Generation of Physicians

The longstanding Covenant commitment to medical education reached a new milestone. In recognition of decades of support, CMU College of Medicine will now be known as the Covenant HealthCare College of Medicine at Central Michigan University. As part of the Advancing Health Together initiative, Covenant made a significant, multi-year investment to strengthen the pipeline of future physicians, ensuring individuals and families across the region have continued access to well-educated doctors and extraordinary local care for decades to come.

Caring Beyond Our Walls

The health of the community doesn't rest on medical care alone. Housing is foundational to all health needs and outcomes. That's why Covenant HealthCare is investing in Extraordinary Neighborhoods—removing blight, creating new housing options, and partnering with Habitat for Humanity and others to revitalize homes and community spaces in the Covenant Neighborhood, including Bliss Park. In addition, the Walk to Work program, designed to help make home ownership more affordable for Covenant employees, provides up to $30,000 toward the purchase or renovation of a home that's just a short walk away from the main hospital campus.

With each new technology, partnership, improvement, and facility, Covenant HealthCare is making a clear commitment to be here for Saginaw—now and for generations to come.

Communities Across the County

BUENA VISTA CHARTER TOWNSHIP

Buena Vista Charter Township is a community in transition in the midst of a long-range master plan to grow with intention and embrace the future. A diverse mixture of residential, commercial, industrial and agricultural areas provides countless opportunities for development and growth. As a soil-rich part of the County, it is among the top agricultural crop areas in the state of Michigan and the nation. It is also home to industrial innovators Nexteer Automotive and Duperon Corporation as well as the 2023 General Aviation of the Year Award winner H.W. Browne Airport.

Abele Greenhouse and Garden Center

ABELE GREENHOUSE & GARDEN CENTER

For more than 130 years, Abele Greenhouse and Garden Center in Buena Vista Township has been helping color the landscapes of Saginaw County and beyond. What began with the Abele family in the late 1800s has grown into a multi-generational business rooted in resilience, relationships, and community pride. Today, Matt and Jennifer Bouvy, along with their son Corbin, continue that legacy, blending deep family tradition with a commitment to exceptional customer service and quality that keeps customers returning year after year.

Jennifer Bouvy says the greenhouse has always been part of her life. “I grew up in the business, did all kinds of things from the moment I could walk I was out here,” she said. Although both Jennifer and Matt built careers as certified public accountants, they eventually felt drawn back to the family business. That decision has allowed them to continue growing not only flowers and plants, but meaningful relationships throughout the region.

For the Bouvys, success is ultimately about people. Jennifer credits the business’s growth to strong relationships with customers, employees, and the broader community. “We try to have great relationships with our customers so that we can build them up as gardeners and make people feel successful,” she said. “We have employees here that have been here since I was a little kid, and we try and treat everybody like family.” It’s that personal connection and long-term investment in the community that continues to make businesses like Abele’s an important part of what makes Saginaw County special.

BIRCH RUN TOWNSHIP

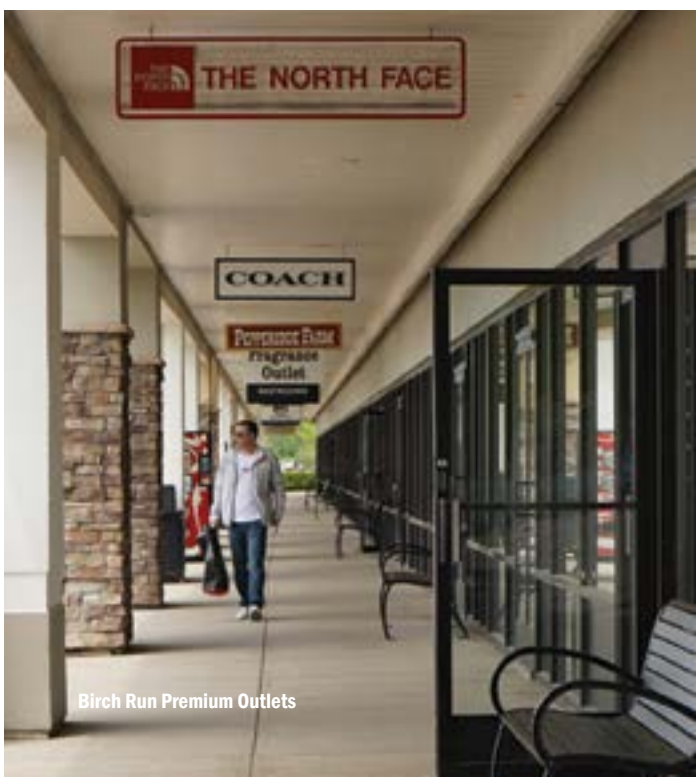

Birch Run Township, which includes the Village of Birch Run, is home to over 5,800 residents who enjoy living in a peaceful rural setting but have quick access to shopping, employment, and entertainment. Located off one of the busiest exits along the I-75 interstate from Florida to Michigan, Birch Run welcomes thousands of visitors every year due to its family-friendly attractions, premium shopping, seasonal events, and plenty of lodging and dining opportunities.

BIRCH RUN PREMIUM OUTLETS

For decades, Birch Run Premium Outlets has helped position the Great Lakes Bay Region as a shopping and tourism destination for visitors from across Michigan, the Midwest, and Canada. Originally opened in 1986 as one of the country’s earliest outlet malls, the center transformed the small village of Birch Run into a major retail hub and continues to attract shoppers with more than 100 stores.

“Birch Run Premium Outlets has been a cornerstone of our community and regional economy for 40 years. Its impact reaches far beyond retail — driving tourism, supporting local businesses, creating jobs, and bringing visitors into our community who then discover all that Birch Run, Bridgeport, and the surrounding Great Lakes Bay Region have to offer,” said Katie Roebuck, director of the Birch Run Bridgeport Chamber of Commerce. “For many families, a trip to the outlets has become a tradition, and that continued draw speaks to the lasting value Birch Run Premium Outlets brings to our region. We are honored to recognize their lasting impact and ongoing commitment to our community.”

The ongoing success of Birch Run Premium Outlets reflects the strength of Saginaw County as a place where businesses and tourism can grow together, year after year.

FRANKENMUTH

Well known to over 3 million visitors in 2025 as Michigan's Little Bavaria, Frankenmuth is also home to just over 5,000 residents due to its relatively low cost of living. Driven by tourism and farming, the local economy also includes retail, manufacturing, small businesses and light industrial organizations. The City of Frankenmuth is a tight-knit, family-friendly community with a suburban feel and a strong sense of local pride and tradition. For those who enjoy a more pastoral setting, Frankenmuth offers a picturesque rural countryside outside of the city and the Cass River provides opportunities for fishing and kayaking. For dining, residents and visitors alike enjoy an assortment of wine tasting, breweries, and local restaurants including famous chicken dinners from the Bavarian Inn or Zehnder's of Frankenmuth.

BRONNER'S CHRISTMAS WONDERLAND

For more than 80 years, Bronner's CHRISTmas Wonderland has helped make Saginaw County synonymous with Christmas traditions celebrated around the world. Known today as the World's Largest Christmas Store®, Bronner's traces its roots back to 1945, when founder Wally Bronner began painting signs and creating displays while still in high school. What started as a small creative business steadily evolved into a destination that now welcomes millions of visitors to Frankenmuth while remaining firmly rooted in the community where it began.

According to Wally's daughter, Maria Bronner Sutorik, the company's growth was a natural extension of both family and community connections. Wally gained early experience working in his aunt's general store and decorating windows for local businesses before expanding into holiday displays for cities, churches, and shopping centers throughout the region. "It was all kind of a natural progression," Maria said. As visitors traveled to Frankenmuth for shopping and famous chicken dinners, many began asking for decorations for their own homes, helping inspire the retail experience Bronner's is known for today.

Over the decades, Bronner's has become part of countless family traditions. Maria says one of the company's most beloved offerings — personalized ornaments — grew from a simple gesture at a company Christmas party, when Wally hand-lettered ornaments for employees' children. Today, families return year after year to find ornaments marking milestones, celebrations, and memories. "That is a tradition for a lot of families," Maria said. "We're seeing generations now that used to come here with grandma."

Even as Bronner's has grown into an internationally recognized brand, the family has remained committed to keeping the business in Saginaw County. Maria says the region has provided everything the company needs to thrive. "We haven't had a need to go anywhere else," she said.

CHESANING

Chesaning Township, including the Village of Chesaning, is a dynamic community with a relaxed lifestyle. Over 4,700 residents enjoy the beauty of living along the Shiawassee River but with access to local highways for easy commuting or vacation travels. Chesaning is home to the Saginaw County Fairgrounds and features a vibrant downtown shopping district, local restaurants, and relaxing outdoor opportunities for canoeing, kayaking, hiking, camping, golf and festivals.

CHESANING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Nestled in the heart of Mid-Michigan, Chesaning was originally known as "Big Rock" a name rooted in the area's Native American history. A close-knit community, it has grown from agricultural beginnings into a community that celebrates its heritage and its future. Supporting that growth since its founding in 1924 is the Chesaning Chamber of Commerce, whose mission is to actively foster business growth, member services, and a united community. The Chamber currently serves approximately 130 business and associate members.

Village of Chesaning

Chesaning Chamber of Commerce

Early initiatives included supporting road development projects and advocating for restroom facilities at the railroad station. The Chamber also played a key role in the establishment of the Howard Nixon Airport.

The Chamber hosts several signature events each year, including the Annual Dinner, Chesaning Area Fireworks, Scholarship Golf Outing, and the Dry-Tri Triathlon. In addition, the Chamber offers networking events at local businesses to encourage collaboration and strengthen connections among members.

Members are encouraged to promote their events through the Chamber's electronic message sign, weekly email newsletter, and social media platforms. Community members and visitors also rely on the Chamber's website and office as trusted resources for event details and local business information.

FREELAND

Freeland is a bedroom community situated next to the Tittabawassee River in Tittabawassee Township. It is centered between the cities of Saginaw, Midland and Bay City and home to MBS International Airport. Its almost 7,700 residents enjoy a mix of residential neighborhoods, agriculture, small businesses and recreational opportunities with easy access to shopping, dining and travel. A close-knit community, Freeland celebrates their fishing heritage each year with the four-day Freeland Walleye Festival featuring entertainment, a competitive fishing tournament, family-friendly activities and more. Additional area recreation includes golf, disc golf, hiking, biking, and bird watching. In the winter, the annual Freeland Lights display at Hayes Park features a synchronized light show with music broadcast through the month of December.

Gene Therrien, Storm Master Exteriors

STORM MASTER EXTERIORS

Since its official launch in Freeland in 2011, Storm Master Exteriors has built its reputation on a simple philosophy: help people first. Owner Gene Therrien brings more than two decades of industry experience to the company, which specializes in roofing, siding, windows, and exterior renovations throughout the Great Lakes Bay Region.

While many contractors rely heavily on subcontractors, Storm Master focuses on maintaining its own crews and building trust directly with customers — a principle Gene describes as “not outsourcing trust.”

Gene’s path to the industry was anything but traditional. After serving in the U.S. military in air defense intelligence and later studying entrepreneurship and construction management at Central Michigan University, he entered the construction field in 2003, later navigating the financial crisis in 2007-2009. He saw an opportunity to bring professionalism and customer-centered service to an industry that often lacked both. “The goal here isn’t to close a deal,” Gene said. “The goal here is to earn that trust.” This mindset continues to shape how the company approaches every project and customer interaction.

When deciding where to grow the business, Gene chose Saginaw County because of the people and sense of community he found here. Originally from Dearborn, he said Saginaw County and the surrounding region felt more personal and relationship-driven than larger markets he considered. “I’d rather raise my family here,” he said.

At its core, Storm Master Exteriors sees its work as more than construction. Gene says the company exists to solve problems and help homeowners and businesses protect what matters most. “Earning profit is a byproduct of doing your job well,” he said. “The goal is being helpful.”

Lindsay Kerry, McNalley Office Service

Ribbon cutting for the new Hemlock Schools Wolgast Fieldhouse

HEMLOCK

Located in Richland Township, Hemlock was first settled in 1865 and has deep agricultural roots. New residential developments complement established neighborhoods and rural homesteads, supported by a strong school system and a growing local economy. The area is home to Hemlock Semiconductor (HSC), a major manufacturer of hyper-pure polysilicon used to produce semiconductor wafers essential to nearly every electronic device. While HSC's mailing address is Hemlock, its manufacturing campus spans both Richland Township and Thomas Township. Richland Township is also home to Corning, an advanced manufacturing facility supporting the growing demand for U.S.-made solar components.

McNALLEY OFFICE SERVICE

For more than 45 years, McNalley Office Service has helped businesses across the Great Lakes Bay Region create workplaces that are functional, welcoming, and built to last. Founded in 1979 by Lindsay Kerry's parents, Randy and Mary McNalley, the company began as a small Hemlock-based upholstery and office service operation and has evolved into a full-service commercial interiors business serving organizations from Saginaw to Flint and throughout the Thumb. Today, Lindsay and her brother Nolan McNalley lead the family business with the same values it was built on decades ago: hard work, service, and doing right by customers.

For Lindsay, the business has always felt like home. "As kids, we came to work with mom and dad. We didn't have daycare, so we were just always here," she said. After building a career as a chemist, Lindsay returned to the family business in 2014 when her parents began planning for retirement. Rather than see the company close its doors, she and Nolan stepped in as partners to carry the business forward. "I couldn't watch this fail," she said. "He needed a partner, and I decided to come back." Today, she says it is hard to imagine being anywhere else. "I just love our area so much. I couldn't imagine living anywhere else."

That deep connection to Saginaw County is reflected in how McNalley Office Service approaches its work. The company partners with businesses of all sizes, nonprofits, startups, and home offices to create spaces where people enjoy spending time. From commercial interior design and office furniture to installation and window treatments, the team focuses on practical solutions that fit the needs and budgets of local businesses. Lindsay says the goal is simple: "We just want to do a good job. We want people to be happy to come to work."

Lindsay credits the company's success to the mindset her parents established from the very beginning. "We don't view it as customer service," she said. "We view it as doing the right thing."

MERRILL

The Village of Merrill was incorporated in 1889 named after a railroad worker who befriended and assisted locals during forest fires that year. Prior to that, it was a small settlement that grew around a local sawmill established when the Saginaw Valley and St. Louis Railroad developed the area. Just under 670 residents who work mainly in agriculture, manufacturing, retail, construction and service industries reside in the community. Merrill is home to a mix of specialized manufacturing companies with a strong focus on metal fabrication, precision machining, and defense-related production. It also offers an abundance of natural beauty with nearby camping, hiking, and area parks. The Village of Merrill offers a strong sense of community where neighbors are actively involved with each other through local schools, churches and businesses.

MAGNUS BOX

What began as a response to a heartbreaking situation for one small business has grown into a technology company helping protect businesses across the country. Founded in 2018 and headquartered in Merrill, Magnus Box specializes in cloud backup and disaster recovery services designed to keep businesses running when the unexpected happens. Founder and owner Mike Slodowski says the company's mission is simple: make sure businesses never lose everything because of a data disaster.

The idea was born after witnessing a local business lose years of critical files stored on a failed external hard drive. The cost to recover the data was too high. "Their business went out of business, because they lost all their data," Mike said. "That's what really started this." Since then, Magnus Box has focused on helping companies securely back up their information so they can recover quickly from cyberattacks, hardware failures, natural disasters, or accidental data loss. General Manager Luke Premo says the company's biggest focus is helping businesses prepare for situations they cannot control. "It's like having an insurance policy," he said. "You hope you never need it, but if something happens, you can actually get your data back."

Although the company works in the fast-moving technology sector, its roots remain firmly planted in Saginaw County. Mike says starting in a smaller community helped the business grow through relationships and trust. "It's easier to sell when you're in the community and people know you," he said. From Merrill and Hemlock festivals to local farmers markets and small-town connections, the team believes the region offers both a strong quality of life and an environment where local businesses genuinely support one another.

Today, Magnus Box continues to reflect the values that shaped it from the beginning: helping people protect what matters most. Their real focus is helping businesses stay secure, operational, and prepared for the future

Winter at Hartley Outdoor Education Center

Team Building at Hartley Outdoor Education Center

Hartley Outdoor Education Center

VILLAGE OF ST. CHARLES

The Village of St. Charles is home to just over 2,000 residents who enjoy the traditions of small-town living surrounded by natural beauty. In addition to a picturesque downtown, St. Charles is the gateway to the 20,000-acre Shiawassee Flats, a Michigan State Game Area and the 10,000-acre Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge, a designated U.S. Important Bird Area. The area is also home to several parks and is a stop on the Saginaw Valley Rail Trail.

HARTLEY OUTDOOR EDUCATION CENTER

For generations, Hartley Outdoor Education Center has welcomed students, educators, businesses, and community groups to its 311-acre campus near St. Charles in the heart of the Great Lakes Bay Region. Operated by Saginaw Intermediate School District, Hartley officially opened as an outdoor education center in 1975 on the historic site of Big Chief Coal Mine No. 8, one of the longest-operating coal mines in Michigan.

Today, Hartley is known not only for its hands-on outdoor education programming but also for leadership retreats, team building experiences, and corporate events designed to strengthen collaboration and workplace culture. Surrounded by forests, trails, and outdoor learning spaces, the campus is home to unique historical landmarks, including the only historical mine experience in the Great Lakes Bay Region, the restored Schroeder Log Cabin, the Murphy Farm historic site, and the Fowler School, a fully restored one-room schoolhouse originally built in 1882.

From student field trips and environmental education to high ropes challenges and corporate team-building activities, Hartley continues to create meaningful experiences that connect people through hands-on learning, local history, and the outdoors.

CITY OF SAGINAW

With a population of over 44,000, the City of Saginaw is borders both sides of the Saginaw River. Founded in 1819, Saginaw has undergone several reinventions from lumber town, to industrial manufacturing and automotive center, and most recently to a medical service and medical manufacturing hub for northeast Michigan. The City of Saginaw is also a focal point for regional live entertainment as home of The Dow Event Center, Temple Theatre, Saginaw Art Museum, Saginaw Children's Zoo, Saginaw Arts & Enrichment Center and Rose Gardens, Castle Museum of Saginaw County History, Pit & Balcony Community Theatre, and more.The City is also home to OHL hockey team the Saginaw Spirit and Arena Football team the Michigan Arsenal.

Bobby Fish, Fuzzy's

FUZZY'S RESTAURANT

For generations of Saginaw residents, Fuzzy's Restaurant has been more than a place to grab breakfast or lunch — it has been a gathering place filled with familiar faces, homemade meals, and community connection. Co-owned today by brothers Bobby and Jake Fish, the restaurant carries forward a long family tradition in the local restaurant industry that dates back to 1951. Their aunt purchased Fuzzy's in 1999, and when it came time for the next chapter, the brothers stepped in to keep diner in the family.

Bobby says Fuzzy's is built around the kind of experience that has become harder to find in a world of chain restaurants. "Definitely a family atmosphere, like a real classic diner," he said. "Good food, a bakery, sweets... just vibes, good home-cooked food." The restaurant serves homemade daily specials, fresh breads, and baked goods prepared in-house — meals that keep both longtime and new customers coming back for generations.

Although Bobby originally planned a very different career path, including time in law school and running a construction business, he says taking over Fuzzy's felt natural. "We really didn't want to see it go out of the family," he said. Now, his favorite part of the business has little to do with the food itself. "The people, 100 percent the people," Bobby said. "I could turn around right now and probably talk to seven people I see every morning." Over time, those relationships have become generational, with grandparents bringing children and grandchildren to the same restaurant they visited years ago themselves.

That sense of loyalty and community support is part of what Bobby believes makes doing business in Saginaw special. "If someone's doing something locally and they're doing it properly, and you know they're good to their customers, Saginaw will come out and support them," he said.

Top three health priorities experience success.

BWell Saginaw Makes Healthy Headway

With a clear mission of making Saginaw County one of Michigan's Top 25 healthiest communities, the 12 organizations making up the BWell Saginaw Partner Coalition* are dedicated to improving Saginaw County's health outcomes collaboratively. Born out of the pandemic, BWell Saginaw is a collective strategy to apply a COVID-like sense of urgency to Saginaw County's Top 3 health priorities: obesity and related chronic disease, mental health and substance use, and maternal and child health.

Since 2023, each of Saginaw's Top 3 health priorities saw exciting successes. [see above graphic].

Big Results in Maternal & Child Health
For decades, Saginaw has held one of the state's highest infant mortality rates. Reducing infant mortality matters because it reflects — and shapes — the overall health, stability, and future strength of a community.

Between 2023-2025, total infant deaths decreased by 43%, with preventable sleep-related deaths down 17%.

Thanks to initiatives like the ABCs of Safe Sleep campaign, BWell Saginaw partners work together with one voice and one clear message to educate the community about placing a baby to sleep alone, on their back in a crib.

BWell Saginaw also champions Rx Kids -- which launched in 2026 in the City of Saginaw, Bridgeport and Buena Vista townships. Rx Kids is proven to increase prenatal care, helping to make both moms and babies healthier while reducing pre-term births and low birthweight deliveries – also important factors in lowering infant mortality.

Rx Kids delivers one-time $1,500 "no-strings-attached" cash to pregnant women during mid-pregnancy and $500 per month for the first six months of the baby's life.

In Saginaw County, one in two births in 2026 and beyond will likely be Rx Kids babies.

Just five months into the program, 275 families were accepted, 175 babies were born, and more than $600,000 prescription dollars were distributed to moms in the City of Saginaw, Bridgeport and Buena Vista townships.

According to a report published in Bridge Michigan, the resources provided by Rx Kids stabilize households and boost the local economy -- where dollars are spent locally on baby supplies, food, rent, utilities, and transportation.

Making a difference.

Meet Brian Keenan-Lechel

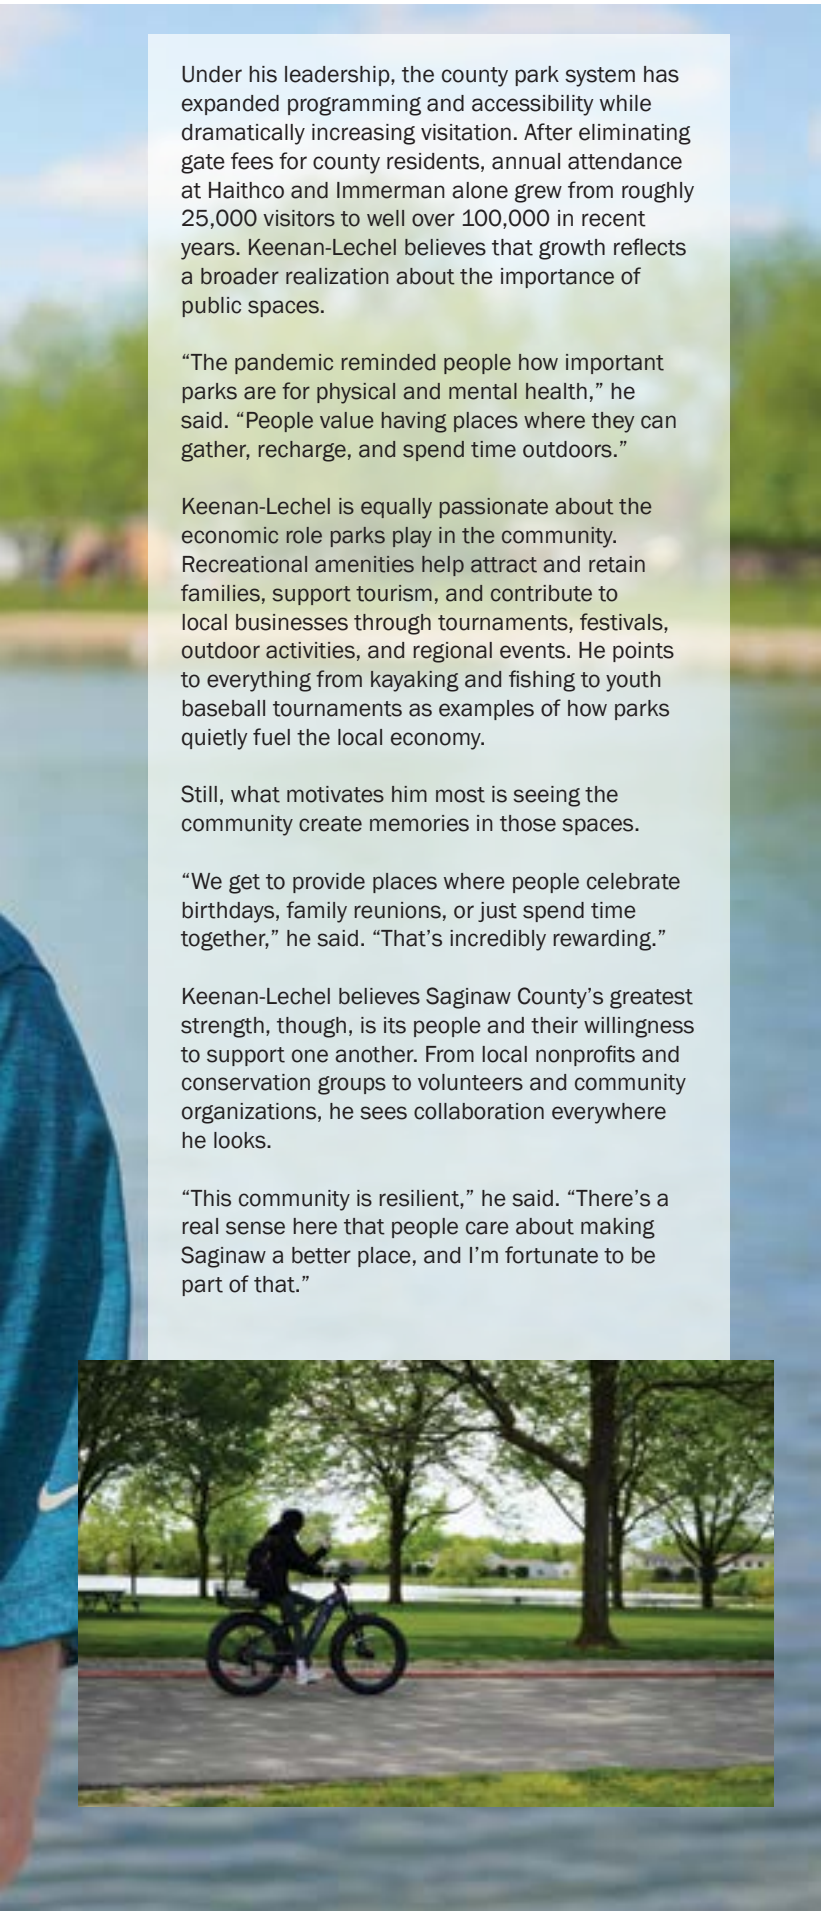

For more than a decade, Saginaw County Parks and Recreation Commission Director Brian Keenan-Lechel has helped shape the outdoor spaces, programs, and recreational opportunities enjoyed by thousands of residents every year. But his connection to Saginaw County parks started long before he ever stepped into a leadership role.

Born and raised in Saginaw, a graduate of Heritage High School, Keenan-Lechel discovered early that community involvement and recreation could bring people together in meaningful ways. After earning a recreation degree from Central Michigan University with studies in leadership, hospitality, and event management, he initially expected a career in a larger metropolitan area or university recreation. Instead, a series of opportunities brought him home. "I was applying for jobs all over the country," Keenan-Lechel said. "But Saginaw kept presenting opportunities to get involved, to build connections, and to make a difference."

Returning to the area in 2011 to work at the YMCA, he oversaw teen and family programming and became involved with local organizations and events. That experience led him to the Saginaw County Parks and Recreation Commission in 2015. What he thought was a career move quickly became something far more personal.

Today, Keenan-Lechel oversees a county park system that includes more than 900 acres of parkland, miles of trails, beaches, campgrounds, nature preserves, and year-round recreational programming. From the Saginaw Valley Rail Trail to Haithco Recreation Area, Imerman Memorial Park, and the growing Saginaw River Headwaters Rec Area, he sees parks as more than just outdoor destinations.

"Parks are part of quality of life," he said. "Whether a family spends the day at the beach, someone hikes with their dog, kids play baseball, or adults find a place to unwind after work, these spaces matter."

Under his leadership, the county park system has expanded programming and accessibility while dramatically increasing visitation. After eliminating gate fees for county residents, annual attendance at Haithco and Immerman alone grew from roughly 25,000 visitors to well over 100,000 in recent years. Keenan-Lechel believes that growth reflects a broader realization about the importance of public spaces.

"The pandemic reminded people how important parks are for physical and mental health," he said. "People value having places where they can gather, recharge, and spend time outdoors."

Keenan-Lechel is equally passionate about the economic role parks play in the community. Recreational amenities help attract and retain families, support tourism, and contribute to local businesses through tournaments, festivals, outdoor activities, and regional events. He points to everything from kayaking and fishing to youth baseball tournaments as examples of how parks quietly fuel the local economy.

Still, what motivates him most is seeing the community create memories in those spaces.

"We get to provide places where people celebrate birthdays, family reunions, or just spend time together," he said. "That's incredibly rewarding."

Keenan-Lechel believes Saginaw County's greatest strength, though, is its people and their willingness to support one another. From local nonprofits and conservation groups to volunteers and community organizations, he sees collaboration everywhere he looks.

"This community is resilient," he said. "There's a real sense here that people care about making Saginaw a better place, and I'm fortunate to be part of that."

There's always something to do.

Meet Tony Serra

It seems every step and decision led Tony Serra to his role as executive director of TempleArts in Saginaw. It began when he was five and his father opened a Saturn store and moved the family here. They left for a year, once, but when his father decided to shift career gears, the family unanimously voted to come back to Saginaw.

Always musically inclined, Serra plays piano and also played alto sax in Nouvel's school band. His first experience with theatre, though, began with a school requirement that all 8th grade students participate in the school play. And even though he had never sung, acted or danced before, he found himself doing all three when he was cast as Dusty Biffel, a grizzled old ranch hand in the school's production of Wrangler Ranch. His mother, recognizing that he had some vocal talent, suggested he take voice lessons. "My mother's philosophy for all of her kids was to foster talent through training," said Serra.

An avid golfer, Serra wanted to play for Nouvel High School but didn't make the team. To help ease his disappointment, a friend suggested he try out for a production of Snow White, which he did, and he never looked back. Performances in The Sound of Music and It's a Wonderful Life led to auditions in local community theatres resulting in performances at Pit & Balcony, Bay City Players, and Midland Center for the Arts where he developed his skills.

When it was time for college, Serra said, "I always wanted to be a pilot, and I actively researched colleges where I could do that." However, when the school librarian learned about his pilot plans, she told him he needed to be in the theatre. "I'm not sure why," said Serra. "Maybe she knew science wasn't for me. But I made a deal with her." Their deal was for Serra to apply to Western Michigan University where they have both an aviation program and a competitive musical theatre program that, at the time, only accepted six men and six women. He auditioned for the musical theatre program and was truly surprised to be accepted. "I was so excited, I really thought I might follow in the same path as Brian d'Arcy James," said Serra.

From there, Serra moved to New York City, got an agent, and went on casting calls to try to get a slot. "It was a grueling experience. I went to anything the agent sent me to," said Serra. After a year with no luck, the 2019 pandemic and recession hit, so with no available jobs, he was forced to consider a different career.

A friend told him about an open position at the Dunes Summer Theatre in Michiana Shores, Indiana. He applied and was selected for the position of production manager, which also included oversight of the building and grounds. The position came with room and board. “My room was a cabin with no plumbing,” said Serra. “It was like being at summer camp. There was a new production every two weeks with complete turnovers of sets and tech and everything. It taught me pacing, logistics and creativity. It was one of the most amazing times in my career.”

After two seasons, however, he was ready to upgrade his living conditions to include plumbing. Not knowing what steps to take, he once again thought about flight school and moved home to plan. “There’s a song by the Beatles with a line that feels like it applies to my journey,” said Serra. “There’s nowhere you can be that isn’t where you’re meant to be.” While he pondered his future at home, his father called with a potential job connected to the Temple Theatre that he heard about at a Chamber event. Serra jumped at the opportunity for a theatre job in his hometown, dropped off his resume and got the call. He was hired as Operations Coordinator and was immersed in all things Temple Theatre including tickets, setup, and programming. From there, he took a position with the Midland Center for the Arts where he learned donor relations, volunteer management, front of house, hospitality and launched their Thursday Night Uncorked program. That’s also where he met his wife, Michelle.

Though happy with life in the Great Lakes Bay Region, he learned from a co-worker about a Director of Operations position with the crown jewel of Michigan theatres, the Fox Theatre in Detroit. This was an opportunity he couldn’t pass up, so he applied and was selected for the position in February 2018. After five years overseeing 200+ events per year at the 7th busiest theatre in the world, a comment from his son made him take the next step in his journey. His son wanted to know why Serra always had to work when Greyson was at home. After the pandemic, he’d gotten used to having his father around. That question sent Serra searching for a more family-friendly position. Fortunately, a job posting on LinkedIn led him to the role of director of facilities and events for Little Caesar’s Arena, allowing him to be home on nights and weekends with his family.

The final step on his journey home was a phone call from a friend, letting him know about an executive director position for TempleArts. It would not only allow him to return home to a theatre he loved, but it would also include a new learning challenge with oversight of the Saginaw Art Museum as well. Always a fan of museum and anything artistic, he knew he’d found his calling.

With a newly curated Warhol Exhibit at the Art Museum and a 100-year anniversary approaching the Temple Theatre, Serra is just getting started. “The momentum and community support is immense,” said Serra. “This is where my wife and I were raised, and I want to raise our family here too. There’s just something about taking your kids to Tony’s for a steak sandwich like when we were kids.”

HEALTH CARE IS PERSONAL.
SO ARE ITS COSTS.

Perhaps no part of the economy affects each of us as personally as health care. It brings new life into the world. It cures diseases. It saves lives. It's also expensive. Your ability to afford health care is essential — and affordable health insurance is a big part of that. As prices for medical services and prescription drugs continue to rise, so does the pressure on health insurance affordability.

We want you to better understand why this is happening. We want you to know everything we are doing about it, including our efforts to lower the costs of running our company by $600 million while we maintain the quality services our members expect.

We want you to be engaged. Informed. Involved in the conversation. Because health care is personal — and we need to make it work for everyone.

Affordability matters.
