Our Mission

Our mission is to fill the gap between target archery and bowhunting. We strive to provide conservation education, outdoor activities, and service projects to preserve conservation for the present and future generations.

Consider how much joy hunting has brought your life. How great would it be to give someone else the gift of the outdoors?

Our Vision

Our vision is to ensure that each youth archer has the necessary tools to become a conservationist and a future steward of the great outdoors. Children are very inquisitive, so it is important to begin educating and instilling environmental values at a young age.

What is Conservation?

Conservation is the practice of protecting and preserving our environment along with the ecological communities that inhabit them. We teach our members the long-term value of protecting our cultural heritage. Our staff is committed to instilling in our members the importance of conservation through fishing, camping, trapping, bowhunting, etc. Hunters contribute to conservation efforts through hunting equipment purchases, excise taxes, and license sales. Hunters provide valuable information from the field that wildlife managers need.

Pause and snack

S3DA members can participate in conservation-related activities at S3DA National Events. Make sure to visit the Conservation booth and explore!

Creating Future Hunters

Youth members are participating in various conservation activities, such as the Spring Turkey Hunting Contest and the Fall Hunting Contest. Outdoorsmen and women are mentoring youth members who are creating a new generation of passionate hunters.

Partners

S3DA has partnered with the Pope & Young Club to develop the Clear Path Initiative to Bowhunting. This initiative teaches all S3DA members the importance of fair chase ethics, wildlife conservation, and the rich heritage that has grown to become modern bowhunting. We must pass down our knowledge of conservation to the next generation in order to maintain the nation's traditions of wildlife stewardship.

Join us in our Conservation Efforts as we strive to protect and preserve, so future generations can enjoy and cherish.

Benefits of Volunteering

- Create lifelong memories and share your passion for nature, recreation, and the outdoors with others.
- Belong to a like-minded group that works with fish and wildlife agencies, DNRs, and other organizations to make conservation safe, fun, and adventurous for youth and their families to enjoy.

How to Become a State Conservation Coordinator

Do you love the outdoors? Do you wish to pass on your knowledge of how to protect and preserve the earth's natural resources? If so, this is the organization for you! We are looking for individuals to bridge the gap between S3DA's competition and conservation programs. Please contact the S3DA National Conservation Coordinator for more information.

If you are interested in becoming a state conservation coordinator or would simply like to volunteer in the program, please contact:

Protect our Future

We are committed to connecting families with competition archery and conservation. We will continue to work to make S3DA Conservation available to all members and provide learning opportunities through events, workshops, in-person and online activities, and social media.

We want to have a positive impact on future generations!
