ABOUT R.J. FORBES

R.J. Forbes Painting is a family-owned and operated surface preparation and coating company that has been protecting surfaces and building lasting relationships since 1978.

Founded by Ross J. Forbes and now led by the second generation of the Forbes family, the company provides comprehensive solutions from surface prep to final finish for commercial clients throughout New England and industrial customers nationwide.

With over 40 years of expertise, R.J. Forbes specializes in advanced surface preparation techniques, high-performance coating applications, and facility restoration services across diverse industries including manufacturing, healthcare, oil & gas, marine, and power generation.

The company's commitment to safety, environmental responsibility, and delivering projects on time and on budget has established them as trusted maintenance partners rather than just service providers.
