Director's Notes

This is the first show I have ever directed and it has been such an exciting thing to experience. Frankenstein is a story that has fascinated me since high school. Its compelling story, history, and underlying messages have stayed with me since first studying it in class. When picking the script for the show, I wanted something as close to the book as I could get. Don't get me wrong I adore the more classic, universal monsters, version of Frankenstein. I just wanted to bring to life the version of the story many don't know, the story that I find so interesting. I was particularly excited when I found our version of the script because it included Mary Shelly and her life. So much of her life influenced the writing of Frankenstein, so I loved that the script shows the parallels of both worlds.

The design of this show was by far my favorite thing to bring to life. The gothic horror genre is super interesting to me, as I love the dark imbued into the whimsical and haunted. I was also very inspired by Guillermo del Toro's Frankenstein, as well as other movies, such as Crimson Peak and Dracula. I wanted to play heavily into the look of the Victorian era while still playing into the whimsical and spooky. Much like in del Toro's Frankenstein, I decided to set our timeline in the 1850s, which lies closer to the beginning of the Victorian era. This would allow us to keep the Victorian themes while providing us a slightly easier visual look to recreate, in particular for the dresses, as they were more puffy and simpler, compared to the later tighter and more intricate silhouettes of the 1880s and 1890s. It was a joy to research the time period and the book in designing for the show. Finding ways to integrate historical accuracy into a more mythical story was a very unique and fun challenge.

This has been the most wonderful cast I could ever hope for. They took the show head on and added so much life and creativity into it. I'd like to thank Alexis Shry and Emberlin Molina, who amazed everyone by filling in when someone was absent. I'd also like to give a super special thanks to my tech heads Shylee, Krista, Kelly and Cheyenne. All of them have dedicated so much time, energy, and their own artistic creativity into making this show stage ready. They are really the reason my vision made its way to the stage. Lastly, I'd like to thank my family, in particular my parents, who supported me in this big endeavor and helped to make sure that everything went smoothly and made it to the stage. I really hope you all enjoy Frankenstein!

~Lily Sandner

Special Thanks

- Alexis Shry and Emberlynn Molina for being great understudies!
- Shylee Graf for committing so much time to learning how to sew historical patterns and being so dedicated to this project!
- Gabardi, Chase, and Phoebe for being side-line supporters!
- Mom and Cheyenne for taking extra time to paint the set!
- The Cast and Crew for supporting my first time directing!

Lamp Post Creative Learning Center

Co-Founders Nicholaus and Corinne Sandner started with a dream. After 20 years of creative learning, teaching, and sharing with 14 years in Montezuma County, they wanted to expand the opportunities for the community to creatively play and explore together. They are so excited to bring art, music, theatre, STEM, and leadership to ALL ages. We are here to provide a facility/campus to house plays, learning groups, clubs, and classes to meet the needs of our community in Southwest Colorado.

Everyone should have the chance to creatively learn something new and have fun with the people around them.

Our goal is to build community and friendships through hard work, integrity, learning, and faith. It will be a place where various people can come and have a place to share their craft and expertise with others.

Lamp Post is looking for community members to help share this dream by partnering with us through:

- ➡ Donations
- ➡ Volunteering
- ➡ Sponsorships
- ➡ Attend Events

We want everyone to have the opportunity to come and creatively learn. Your financial help will make this possible.
