

Our Signature Homes are based on tried-and-tested methods for layout, design, functionality, and energy efficiency, and refined over a twenty-year period. The Linear Signature Home is an efficient, linear home. This well-proportioned courtyard design has proven very popular for garden developments and compact sites.

MAKAR

Natural homes Healthy living

Naturally crafted homes designed around the way you live

A MAKAR Signature Home combines thoughtful design with natural materials to create homes that are beautiful to look at, comfortable to live in and built to stand the test of time. Generous, light-filled spaces, carefully considered layouts and a strong connection to the landscape create homes that feel calm, welcoming and effortlessly practical every day.

Healthy by nature

Built using natural materials, every home is designed to breathe, helping to regulate humidity and create a healthier indoor environment. Combined with high levels of insulation and energy efficiency, this creates a home that remains comfortable throughout the seasons while using very little energy.

Crafted with confidence

Every Signature Home reflects more than twenty years of refining our designs, materials and construction methods. Precision off-site manufacturing ensures a consistently high standard of quality, greater certainty during construction and less time on site, allowing you to focus on creating a home that's uniquely yours.

Designed for future generations

Using locally sourced Scottish timber and other natural materials gives every MAKAR home a significantly lower environmental impact than conventional construction. The result is a home that is carefully crafted for modern living while helping to protect the environment for future generations.
