... THROUGH OUR EYES

The Possibilities. . .

Chris Gibbs, Laura Bodell, and Guy Gamble as future artists.

Aaron Fazel and Clare Burnham could be future teachers as they read to lower school student.

An actor A fireman A magician A doctor
 An Author An entrepreneur
 A teacher A business man
 A lawyer A sailor

"Hey baby!!" says Lexie Carlson, Ashley Gustafson, Caroline McGee and Sarah Hurwitz.

Starting young, Kendall Goodyear shows promise as an athlete.

Janell Byas and Mayan Zeitlin show interest the sciences.

Seniors, Sarah Donovan, Aubrey Wieger, and Glenn Goodman, relax in the quad.

A general A principal A conductor
 A physiologist An artist
 A policeman A realtor An athlete
 A musician A scientist

Future educator, Alex Lipovsky, reads to a lower school student.

Ryan Rosen and Brian Yee enforce the rules of the quad, no questions.

Opening Day

Every school year begins with an Opening Day Procession. The entire school population meets in the gymnasium for this ceremonial beginning of the academic year. This September, the class of 2000 walked through the gym with the class of 2012.

Senior Tiffany Westlie is getting acquainted with a kindergartner.

Senior Micah Bloomberg guides his smiling kindergartner, Alec Ralston, to the assembly.

Headmaster, Mr. Brewster, gives his ceremonial opening-day address to the entire student body.

Walking into the gym with the kindergartners was so sweet, it almost brought tears to my eyes
-Liz Perla

Aubrey Wieger stands proud with her kindergartner, Amy Aube, before walking into the gym.

Mr. Hendrickson directs traffic on opening day.

Mrs. Dalton guides her new kindergarten class to meet the seniors and walk into the gym.

The Blue, The Gold, and The Spirited

The PCDS cheerleaders cheer for the blue and the gold.

The lower school goes all out to show their spirit;

Danny Lowe and Danielle Goldstein show their love for blue and gold.

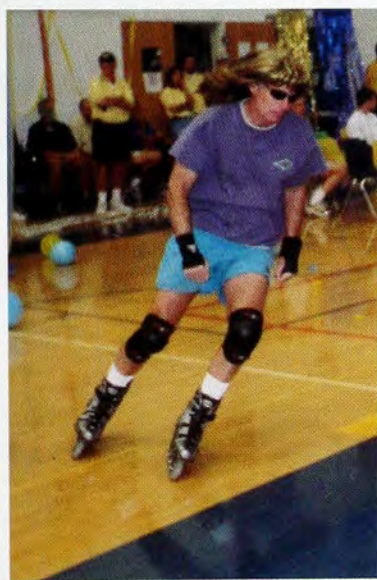

The PCDS Eagle struts his stuff.

The boys show off their cheerleading skills.

Lower school students fight to win the senior scooting race.

The mysterious rollerblader dons his wig and patrols the gym.

Mrs. Barranco and Dr. Allison show their blue and gold spirit.

Jeff Sand cheers for the girl's volleyball team.

Sign of the Times

Are we talking about decorations of the self, the planet, or near space? About style or life style or some other sign of life?

Lets talk about you. Are you a sign of the times? Do you know your own time yet, or anyone elses?

There are enduring truths. They are the signs for all times. Like decorum and not decor, you can be much more than just what others see.

"A Sign of the Times"
What time is it?
Who has time for that?
Time is a wasting?
Time to go!
John Crabb

Bringing in the New Millennium

There is a fixed progression of age, just one single path of nature; and an appropriate quality has been granted to each part of life. The infirmity of childhood, the high spirits of youth, the weight and dignity of middle years, and the ripeness of old age--each possesses a natural character to be cultivated in its own season.

--Cicero, de Senectute

2000

Senior Dedication

Mr. Hendrickson,

As a token of our admiration and appreciation, we, the Class of 2000, dedicate this yearbook to you. You have made us each feel important, being concerned when we are sick, listening when we need a friend, and allowing us to bombard your office at all hours of the day. We will miss your encouragement, support, humor, scary noises, and mostly your friendship. We value your undying devotion to the community, to the school, and to each student. Thank you for accepting our perpetual tardiness and for making our experience in the PCDS Upper School something to be cherished.

We love you, Hendy!!!

Thanksgiving Feast

The leaves are turning colors, the wind has a chill to it, it is getting toward the end of November. That is right, its Happy Turkey time. Every year for as long as anyone can remember, Thanksgiving time brought not only cool autumn air, fun family times and football but also the Lower School Thanksgiving Day Feast. Each class has the responsibility of preparing a delectable dish for the other grades to enjoy. Many classes choose to make their own pilgrim costumes, anything to promote the spirit. All the students then come together and celebrate the friendship that is Thanksgiving.

On January 28, 2000 the History Department sponsored a Millennium Festival which celebrated the course of western civilization over the last 3000 years. The afternoon began with a feast featuring Roman, Medieval, and American fare and culminated in a historical speech contest held in the Noyes Garden. Students selected and delivered speeches known for their profound influence on the western world.

The 1999 swim team was one of the most successful ever. In the Desert Region, our girls team finished with a 9-1 season record while the boys were 5-5. Many records were broken as the girls swim team finished 3rd in the State while the boys were 9th. School records were set by Heather Lee in the 50 free, Traci Brinkman in the 100 back, Michaela Skloven in diving and the 200 free relay team of Heather Lee, Traci Brinkman, Meghan Bullock and Erin Beresini and the 400 free relay team of Adam Lewkowitz, Jason Bodell, Doug Loback and Beau Roysden. Senior Heather Lee was the State Champion in the 50 free.

The Eagle Diving team, with defending State Champion Michaela Skloven, after Skloven went undefeated Dual meet for the 2nd year and again set a school record. Congratulations to Michaela who qualified to the state finals and finished State Runner-up for 1999.

Dearest Nicole,

You are the stuff that is sent from the heavens. We have always known that your eyes, looking up into the sky, saw the star upon which our destiny sits. It burns brightly. It is your light, your compass. Go find your dreams. Let your star guide you through your travels, safe in the knowing that it will always keep lighted the away back home. No place will be to far or foreign. Go discover the world and let it discover you.

P.S. If you don't come home for the holidays, your expense account is toast . . .

To the PCDS community:

I would like to thank the entire staff of the Phoenician for all their hard work in producing a book of which they can be proud. I would especially like to thank the co-editors, Michelle Hertzfeld and Kim Ruht, and the photo editor, David Biel, in the production of the book. The school community has been an enormous help in taking pictures and matching names with faces.

We apologize for any errors you may discover, and we hope you enjoy this year's yearbook and appreciate the dedication of our students.
