A final message from Mike

I have in these last days as minister at GMC been considering the last nine years here and wondered if I should address the changes at GMC during my tenure as minister. But the reality is I'm not one for looking back and wouldn't want to address the good, the bad and the indifferent of ministry to the people of GMC over that time. I'll leave that kind of thing to the parting politicians of our world, declaring the wonders of their times in office, as we've seen many a departing Prime Minister do at a lectern in Downing Street in recent times.

As a Christian first and foremost, but also as a minister of the Word of God my focus is not the past but the future. For the people of God are a resurrection people, knowing resurrected life now, imperfect as we are, while remaining also a people for her husband, when Christ will come again...

> God's dwelling place is now among the people, and he will dwell with them. They will be his people, and God himself will be with them and be their God. 'He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death' or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away." Revelation 21.3-4

It is this, pointing the church to true faith in God's promises, that I am committed to. For there is no other that can bring such comfort in this life and an everlasting life to come. And notice I said it is the church, who are the people of God.

And the people of God are expected to gather and worship, to share in fellowship, prayer, service to one another as well as to the stranger and needy. This call marks a difference between a church attender and a church member – for the difference is commitment.

Rev Mike Weaver

A challenge for people of God today is to convince them they need not only attend church, which can be a challenge in and of itself, but that they need to commit to the church family as members.

Society today has become more individualistic, and so those who seek spiritual faith may hop from one place to another never committing fully and becoming accountable with identity found in a single local faith community.

Today, many people of faith believe it's possible to 'be a good Christian' without joining a local church, but God is not silent on this issue.

1. Being part of a church family identifies you as a genuine believer

"By this [love] all people will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another." John 13:35

The 'one another' here is the community of Christ. No one believer can be alone – Jesus calls people of all backgrounds into community as the 'body of Christ'. It is when we are one together, we are His body.

2. Being part of a church family challenges an attitude of self-centredness

The local church is a place where we learn how to get along with others from diverse background and to practice unconditional love through sharing in both our struggles and successes, together.

"If one member suffers, all suffer together; if one member is honoured, all rejoice together." 1Corinthians 12:26

When we're in regular contact with one another we learn fellowship and connectedness, for Biblical fellowship is about being as committed to one another as we are to Jesus. John 3.16 is a well-known verse among Christians, but 1John 3.16 less so, but it speaks to us about our church family...

"By this we know love, that he laid down his life for us, and we ought to lay down our lives for the brothers." 1John 3:16

3. Being part of a church family helps you develop 'spiritual maturity'.

Just attending worship as a passive spectator does not grow maturity in the Christian faith. It also takes engagement in church life. Paul writes...

"He [Jesus] makes the whole body fit together perfectly. As each part does its own special work, it helps the other parts grow, so that the whole body is healthy and growing and full of love." Ephesians 4:16

The term 'one another' or 'each other' is used over 50 times in the New Testament. We're commanded to love each other, pray for each other, encourage, admonish, greet and serve each other, as well as teach, accept, and honour one another.

Who are you doing these things with?

4 Being part of a church family is necessary because the body of Christ needs you!

Paul writes to the Corinthian church...

"To each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for the common good." 1Corinthians 12:7

In other words, Christ followers have a ministry or gifting that can serve the local church for the benefit of all. And the 'all' in this, is the people in a local congregation. Together God equips His people as He builds his church.

5. Being part of a church family enables and supports you in sharing Christ's mission in the world

The mission of Christ in the world was incarnate in the person of Jesus as He physically ministered across Galilee and Judea in the 1st century. But today He uses the spiritual body, which is His church. The church is God's instrument that models not just His love, but it also carries the message of the Good News of Jesus to the wider world.

It says...

"For we are God's masterpiece. He has created us anew in Christ Jesus, so we can do the good things he planned for us long ago." Ephesians 2:10

God works through us, with everyone having a contribution to make as a part of His body. To be that body we must be connected to one another so to do the good work He has for us to do.

6. Being part of a church family can help keep you from stumbling

Stumble (VERB): to step awkwardly while walking or running, or to fall or begin to fall; to experience difficulties or make mistakes.

All of us, at some stage of life have stumbled, both physically and spiritually. Physical falls can result in grazed knees or even broken bones though these will heal. Spiritual falls though are perhaps more devastating on our human soul, for given the right situation all are capable of sin (which is spiritually falling and stumbling away from the right ways of God). But we as church family are encouraged to support one another in our spiritual walk with God...

> See to it, brothers and sisters, that none of you has a sinful, unbelieving heart that turns away from the living God. but encourage one another daily...so that none of you may be hardened by sin's deceitfulness. Hebrews 3:12-13

We are commanded to be part of one another's lives, supporting and loving. If you know someone who is wavering in their faith right now, it is your Christian duty to go after them...
"My brothers and sisters, if one of you should wander from the truth and someone should bring that person back," James 5:19

So why the church? Why church membership?

The church is made up of the people of God with, we hope, the spiritual protection of godly leaders. Church leadership is to guard, protect, defend and provide for the welfare of His flock, for...
"Their work is to watch over your souls, and they are accountable to God." Hebrews 13:17b

We live with the reality of spiritual warfare and Satan seeks those detached from the body of Christ, isolated from God's family, because they are defenceless against his tactics.

So, as I move onto pastures new, to the new flock God has called me to serve, I am mindful of the importance of His Church in the economy of the Kingdom come. I love God's people, His church and I will greatly miss those He has allowed me to serve this last nine years, as I will come to love those He has called me to serve.

But what I love most is seeing people come into the body of Christ and find family as they come home to their Creator and Redeemer.

As I sign off, I remind you all, that those who come to worship each Sunday are called to more than that. You become a Christian by following Christ and committing your life to Him, but becoming an active member of His church, on a local level, is the natural next step to becoming part of His family.

A decision for Christ brings salvation. A decision for His church brings fellowship.

I thank you for your fellowship and support and now wish you every blessing in Christ Jesus during this upcoming vacancy. I pray that you will seek God's will, as He prepares your hearts to receive the minister you need in this next season for GMC.

In Christ

Across continents, Together in Christ

A Message from the International Relations Committee of Thomas Gillespie Memorial Presbyterian Church, South Africa

As Rev. Mike and Emma Weaver prepare to conclude this chapter of their journey with Gillespie Memorial Church, Dunfermline, we at Thomas Gillespie Memorial Presbyterian Church, Mount Ayliff, South Africa, join you in marking this significant moment.
I write on behalf of our International Relations Committee, our leadership and our entire congregation to express our gratitude for a relationship that has grown across thousands of kilometres and reminded us that, in Christ, distance does not have the final word.

Mrs Bana
Spokesperson: International Relations Committee
Thomas Gillespie Memorial Presbyterian Church

From Historical Connection to Living Partnership

The relationship between Thomas Gillespie Memorial Presbyterian Church and Gillespie Memorial Church is deeply meaningful to us.
A relationship between churches separated by continents can easily remain something remembered through history or expressed through occasional correspondence. What we have experienced, however, has become something much more: a living relationship between Christian communities.
Mike and Emma have played an important role in helping this relationship grow. Through communication, hospitality and opportunities for engagement, they helped ensure that our connection was not simply between two church names, but between people seeking to know, encourage and journey with one another in Christ.
For us as an International Relations Committee, this is what genuine Christian partnership should be. It is not simply about what one church can give another. We all have something to give, something to receive and something to learn from one another.

When Partnership Became Personal

This partnership became particularly tangible when our Minister, Rev. T.T. Pitoyi, travelled from South Africa to Scotland and visited Gillespie Memorial Church.
We want to express our special gratitude to Mike and Emma for the manner in which they welcomed and took care of our Minister during his time in Scotland.
When a congregation sends its Minister thousands of kilometres away from home, it means a great deal to know that he has been received among brothers and sisters in Christ. You opened your home and your lives to him, assisted him throughout his visit and enabled him to experience the life and fellowship of the Church in Scotland.
Thank you for taking care of our Minister.
In receiving him, you were also receiving the congregation that sent him. Your hospitality towards him became an expression of friendship towards all of us at Thomas Gillespie Memorial Presbyterian Church.
Sometimes one person crosses the ocean, but through that one person two communities meet. That is what this visit meant to us.

To Our Gillespie Memorial Church Family

Our gratitude extends to the entire Gillespie Memorial Church congregation.
Thank you for welcoming our Minister, sharing your worship and fellowship with him, and embracing the developing relationship between our two congregations.
We recognise that Mike and Emma's departure is not only a transition for them; it is also a significant transition for you.
As you enter this new chapter, please know that your brothers and sisters in Mount Ayliff are praying for you. May God guide you, preserve your fellowship and continue to reveal His purpose for your congregation.
We also want to assure you of something important:
Our partnership with Gillespie Memorial Church does not leave with Mike and Emma.
Thomas Gillespie Memorial Presbyterian Church remains your friend and partner. We hope that the relationship between Dunfermline and Mount Ayliff, Scotland and South Africa, will continue to grow.
There are still stories to share, opportunities to pray for one another, things to learn from each other and new possibilities for mission and fellowship that God may reveal.

Friendship Beyond Dunfermline

At the same time, our friendship with Mike and Emma does not have to end because their place of ministry is changing.
As they begin their ministry at Urquhart & Glenmoriston, we would love to remain connected with them and, where God opens the way, explore new opportunities for fellowship and partnership.
Our continuing friendship with Mike and Emma and our continuing partnership with Gillespie Memorial Church do not compete with each other. Both are expressions of the wider fellowship we share in Jesus Christ.

A change of charge changes where a minister serves, but it does not have to erase the relationships Christ has created along the journey.
One Body, Many Places
Paul reminds us:
"So in Christ we, though many, form one body, and each member belongs to all the others."
— Romans 12:5
We worship in different countries and different contexts, and thousands of kilometres separate us. Yet Christ makes us one Body.
That is perhaps one of the greatest gifts this partnership has given us: the reminder that the Church of Jesus Christ is always bigger than our own congregation, our own country and our own context.
Mike and Emma, as you enter this new chapter, please know that there is a congregation in Mount Ayliff, South Africa, that remembers you with gratitude and will continue to pray for you.
And to our brothers and sisters at Gillespie Memorial Church, we remain with you. We look forward to continuing this journey and discovering what God may yet do through our partnership.
From Mount Ayliff to Dunfermline, and now also towards Drumnadrochit, geography may separate us, but Jesus Christ continues to unite us.
May God bless Mike and Emma in their new ministry. May God bless Gillespie Memorial Church in its new chapter. And may God continue to strengthen the friendship, fellowship and partnership He has established among us.

Advent message from your locum Minister

"For to us a child is born, to us a son is given, and the government will be on his shoulders. And he will be called Wonderful Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.' Isaiah 9:6

Sometimes we are asked to consider, 'what's the best Christmas you have ever had?' What do you base your answer upon – the quality or quantity of gifts, the greatest happiness experienced, the parties or the food?

A Christmas to remember

One of my most memorable Christmases as a child took place amidst tears and disappointment. My mum was tired of my brother and I rushing through to the lounge in the early hours of Christmas morning having been temporarily stalled with a stuffed stocking hanging up in our bedrooms until we could bear it no longer, and so with great excitement and screeches of delight we would charge through to the lounge and forage under the Christmas Tree. We quickly tore off the wrappings and labels of the brightly coloured packages left under the tree hardly able to contain ourselves, but in all the mess and excitement it was impossible to make out who had given us what, who the gift was from and therefore who we should thank later on once things had returned to some kind of normality. So mum came up with her brilliant plan. She would unwrap all the presents once we had gone to bed on Christmas Eve and take note of what each of us had received and who the gift was from so we could write our thank you letters later on like good and appreciative children.

Rev Maggie Lane

The gifts were all set out - one pile for my brother, and one for me – 'this is much better,' thought mum, 'they will see instantly what they have received and we won't have all this confusion and mess!'How wrong could she have been?

As we burst through the living room door around 6am mum and dad were ready, the room was organised but my brother and I stopped dead in our tracks, where were the presents under the tree, what was all this stuff sitting out on a chair looking less than impressive. I burst into tears – without realising it or meaning to, our parents had taken away from us the wonder of opening a gift to see what was inside, there was no anticipation, half of the excitement was not knowing, of choosing a brightly coloured package and feeling it and then ripping it open, in many ways it did not really matter what the gift was it was the mystery, and the hope of the longed for particular gift. We went through the rest of the day without our usual joy despite having received a respectable pile of presents – we didn't even go out to show our gifts off with friends or hear what Christmas had brought them; it just wasn't the same. It was all neat and tidy and orderly but the wonderful surprise was missing.

Christmas comes and goes every year full of unrealistic expectations and some are better than others, this one has remained in my memory despite more than 60 years passing.

It was a painful Christmas that I have long reflected upon, because it taught me something important, Christmas is not about all the gifts. The excitement and wonder of Christmas is in the one gift that is almost discarded amongst all the plans, expectations and mess, – we have almost forgotten who gave this gift and rarely remember to thank him.

God gave us the most surprising and amazing gift at Christmas, the gift of his son. It wasn't neat and tidy - a baby being born never is neat and tidy, its messy and unpredictable. We won't find him under the Christmas tree but in a stable, wrapped in swaddling clothes. Hosts of Angels sang out at his coming, a star pointed to where he lay and guided wise men from the East seeking a king and bearing great gifts for him. Shepherds left their flocks and came in search with excitement and wonder and no one was disappointed, the much longed for gift of God with us had arrived, and his coming changed everything.

Friends can I encourage you to make room for Jesus this Christmas? Don't miss the greatest gift of all. He waits to be received into your life to bring you hope, joy, peace and love.

Christmas will come and go and some may even be glad to see the back of it, but in receiving the gift of Jesus we receive an eternity of presence!

A blessed Christmas to you all
Maggie

GMC Heartbeat team

Drum roll please....introducing Gillespie Memorial Church's Heartbeat Team: Lorna Cook; Hope & Jack Wiggall; Judith Anderson; and Richard Harrison!
The Team's role is to make sure that GMC's God-given Vision is at the centre of the church, and that there is a plan to follow to ensure this Vision is realised.
The Vision, however, needs to be determined by GMC, so the Team is currently running a monthly course following Leading Your Church Into Growth's Seven Steps of Church Growth.
The monthly sessions are on the first Thursday of every month at 7.30pm in the Gillespie Centre, and on the first Wednesday of every month at 2.30pm in the Gillespie Centre. Everyone is encouraged to attend and participate in these sessions. This is about the future of GMC and we are ALL part of that.
The first two sessions covered 'Understanding' and 'Inviting'. Look out for future dates to add to your diary.

With thanks to Lorna Cook for the contribution

Men's Breakfast

The men's breakfast was first established back in 2019. We normally meet once or twice a month, early on a Saturday morning, although we're also looking at whether a Sunday morning, before church, might also be suitable.

We're distinct from a life group in that we host men from other churches and none - it's an informal environment and easy to invite someone to. If nothing else, they are guaranteed a top-quality bacon roll along with tea and coffee!

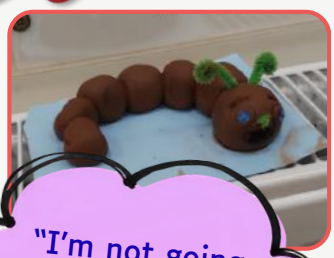

We've been known to undertake service type activities such as gardening or litter picking, however the normal format is to discuss excerpts (typically a chapter or two) from a book with a Christian theme. We do this in order to anchor the conversation on issues related to the Christian Life. The current book is 'The Road Back to God' by Joe Barnard, and previous titles have included 'The Hole in our Holiness' by Kevin DeYoung and 'Dying Well' by John Wyatt. Note that using a book shouldn't prevent reluctant readers and casual attendees from coming along. It isn't necessary to have a copy of the book or even to have read it to take part!

Being this group also gives you the opportunity to serve the church in other ways, for example, we occasionally get the nod when something really manly needs done - like lifting sofas or snooker tables!

Interested in joining in? We normally appear in the intimations, however, the best source for updates, reminders and questions is our WhatsApp group - ask Grant Ralston or Richard Harrison if you'd like to be added. An email address is also available in the What's on Where section at the front of the newsletter.

With thanks to Richard Harrison for the contribution

Messy Church continues as usual in the back hall one Sunday a month – it's a wonder you don't hear the excited laughter of the families who learn about Jesus through crafts, activities, puppet stories and sharing a light meal.
Recently we have been celebrating harvest, exploring how we can know God when we cannot see Him and Justice – How Jesus came to set us free!
We've moved ice cubes between two glasses using string and salt, built lava lamps, made models of God's creation and sheaves of wheat, quizzes, sent hope and thank you cards, stones and letters and more than anything else talked, answered questions as best we can – youngsters ask the best questions! It's a different kind of worship but anchored in the same Bible and Good News we are all called to share.
I leave you with some comments from Messy Church, paraphrased as I always forget to write them down!

"I'm not going home until I have seen the puppet story!"

"The bottle is the world, the water those who do not know Jesus yet. We are the oil; we sit in the world but are called to be different. When we are like the salt in the world, we become bubbles around those who do not know Jesus yet."

"We leave the crafts out and when friends come round it gives an opening to talk about Jesus – they might not come to Messy Church but we can chat"

PS: We always need volunteers to help. Why not come to Messy Church and join in as we share God's Word in a fun, creative, Christ centred way. I'll tell you a badly kept secret, Messy Church is for all ages 0 -100+

Messy Blessings
Anne

As I write this in the first week in November Blythswood Shoe Appeal is drawing to a close for this year. The shoeboxes we filled at GMC are in Perth being checked for the final time and Ukrainian calendars, books or biblical texts put in the boxes as appropriate.On 12th November the lorry is scheduled to leave for Ukraine with our 40 boxes and many, many more.

CHANGING LIVES FOR GOOD AND FOREVER

I am so amazed at the many donations which I have received for the appeal this year from members of GMC, GMC Messy Church, Clothing Bank, friends, neighbours and my own family; shoeboxes from Sport Direct and Clarkes, the list goes on. Every donation equally valued from elastic bands, to wrapping paper, hats, gloves, socks toiletries, toys to filled boxes. Precious gifts given with love for families we will never meet but we pray will know someone cares and that God loves them for who they are.
Small things accumulate to give change!

With thanks to Anne Monk for the contribution.

Church Finances

With thanks to Fiona Boyle for the contribution

The good news is that we're continuing to cover our general costs plus our regular obligations to the Church of Scotland – thanks to everyone who has increased their giving over the last few months to help with this.
We (finally) switched the heating on a few weeks ago so, just like at home, our gas and electricity bills will increase as we head into the much colder months. We're trying to judge it so that it's neither too hot nor too cold, but just comfortable as we meet for Sunday Worship. Please bear with us as we try to get this right – especially as the recent weather has been a bit warmer than expected!

At the AGM in May, Ronnie mentioned that we were collating a list of items, where members of the congregation could 'sponsor' the cost. This covers a wide range of £value, so it could be paying for a filter for the coffee machines in the church or centre, or contributing to a new laptop for the office. If you would like to support GMC this way, please speak to Barbara Anne for a copy of the list.

We do believe that the Lord would still have GMC as a light for Him in Dunfermline, and we know He will provide for our needs. Let's be sensitive to how he wants us to support the life of GMC practically.

What we are asking of the congregation

- Please pray for wisdom and provision from our loving Father to allow us to maintain the work and witness for Him in GMC in the heart of Dunfermline.
- Please consider helping through giving, fundraising, or supporting practical cost-saving measures e.g. giving a greater proportion of your tithe to the church if you split it across several groups.
- And please continue to stand with us as we work to put the church on a more sustainable footing.

GMC Church Treasurer: vacant role

Role: GMC Church Treasurer
Role summary: Manage church finances by overseeing all income and expenses, underpinned by the development and monitoring of annual budgets to ensure financial health and transparency. Act as the main GMC point of contact with the Church of Scotland Finance team to ensure financial and regulatory compliance. Research and pursue opportunities for grant funding where required.

Key Responsibilities:

- Prepare financial reports: Produce monthly, quarterly, and annual financial statements for church leadership, the congregation and Church of Scotland Presbytery.
- Ensure regulatory compliance: File necessary tax documents, charity commission reports, and adhere to financial regulations required by the Church of Scotland.
- Monitor financial controls: oversee cash handling, expense approvals, and safeguarding assets procedures.
- Liaise with the Independent Examiner: Facilitate annual review of accounts and respond to financial inquiries before submission to Church of Scotland Presbytery.
- Manage payroll, gift aid and grant submissions: ensure all regular activity is completed for payroll and gift aid submissions. Research opportunities for relevant grant funding; prepare and track submissions.
- Advise on financial decisions: Provide input on major expenditures, fundraising initiatives, and stewardship campaigns. Oversee all fund management.
- Attend church meetings: Present financial updates at board, committee, or congregational meetings as required.

The GMC Church Treasurer would be supported by the following roles already in post:
·Bookkeeper who maintains bank accounts, reconciles bank statements, monitors account activity and makes regular payments, pays invoices, and expense claims.
·Administrator who maintains accurate records of all financial transactions using appropriate accounting software or systems; tracks donations and tithes by recording and reporting all contributions, ensuring confidentiality and accuracy.
·Finance Team who provide Kirk Session input and overview, while taking on tasks as required to support the Treasurer in overall smooth running of GMC's financial activities.

If you think this role is something you can do, please contact Maggie Lane or Ronnie Aitken.
