

THE AGENCY

THE AGENCY WITH HEART:
SERVING THE COMMUNITY IN 2026

From grassroots fundraisers and local sporting clubs to major charity events and national awareness campaigns, giving back to the communities in which we live and work remains at the heart of who we are at The Agency.

Across Australia, our teams continue to dedicate their time, energy and resources to causes that matter. Whether supporting mental health, championing youth sport, raising funds for cancer research, or strengthening local community connections, these initiatives reflect the values that unite us beyond real estate.

Here, we shine a light on some of the inspiring people, organisations and causes that have touched our hearts so far this year.

Keys to the Community

Damien Botha, Luke Sinclair & Corey Pitt, Bundaberg, QLD

The Keys to the Community initiative, led by Damien Botha, Luke Sinclair and Corey Pitt, continues to grow from strength to strength.

The concept is simple but powerful: with every successful settlement, a donation is made to a charity or community organisation chosen by the vendor. By the end of the financial year, the initiative is expected to surpass an incredible $20,000 in community donations, supporting a wide range of local causes and creating meaningful impact throughout regional Queensland.

Supporting women's football

Wayne Reithoff and Bec Gardner, Launceston, TAS

Wayne Reithoff and Bec Gardner are continuing their commitment to community sport through their sponsorship of the Launceston City FC Northern Championship Women's Team for the 2026 season.

As a way of giving back to the club community, Wayne and Bec are also offering a $500 cash discount to any Launceston City FC member or friend who lists their home with them during the season. Their ongoing support is helping strengthen pathways for women in football while reinforcing the important role local clubs play in bringing communities together.

Backing Junior Sport

Team Hutchinson, South Illawarra, NSW

At Team Hutchinson, supporting local families extends beyond property.

The South Illawarra team proudly sponsored a local junior basketball team by providing new uniforms, helping young players take to the court with confidence. Adding to the connection, Sales Associate Jackson Paulic volunteers his time as coach, mentoring the players both on and off the court.

The team understands the dedication parents make to support their children's sporting ambitions and is proud to play a small role in creating opportunities that build confidence, teamwork and community spirit.

Walking for mental health

*Team Harris,
Central Coast, NSW*

In March, Team Harris from The Agency Central Coast laced up their walking shoes and completed a 28-kilometre charity walk from the Toukley office to the Terrigal office in support of the Black Dog Institute.

With the backing of their network and local community partners, the team raised an impressive $3,548 for mental health awareness and support services.

Mental health affects so many people within our communities, making this a cause that resonated deeply with the team. By coming together for the challenge, they not only raised valuable funds but also helped spark important conversations around mental wellbeing.

A decade of school community leadership

Suzi Bryant, Southern Highlands, NSW

For Suzi Bryant, community involvement has been a long-standing commitment.

Living and working in Moss Vale, Suzi has spent more than a decade supporting local education through various leadership roles within both the Moss Vale Public School and Moss Vale High School P&C associations.

From fundraising for playgrounds, Indigenous gardens and solar panels, to advocating for improved school facilities and helping provide affordable meals for students, Suzi's contribution has helped create lasting benefits for local families. Her work has also strengthened communication between schools, students and parents, ensuring the community remains connected and supported.

Supporting Legacy on ANZAC Day

Thomas Stoltenberg, Inner West Sydney, NSW

This ANZAC Day, Thomas Stoltenberg and his partner dedicated their time to supporting Legacy, raising $2,070.15 through donations collected while distributing sprigs of rosemary during the Dawn Service and March in Sydney's CBD.

Their efforts helped support Legacy's ongoing work assisting the families of Australian veterans, while honouring the spirit of remembrance and community that ANZAC Day represents.

Raising funds for cancer research

*Renae Darlington,
Sydney, NSW*

The Agency's Head of Growth for Property Management, Renae Darlington, lent her expertise as Charity Auctioneer at the Pink Finss Pink Tie Ball held at Hawkesbury Racecourse.

With more than 400 guests in attendance, the event raised an impressive $121,000 for cancer research and support services for local families across the Hawkesbury region.

Renae's involvement reflects the many ways our people contribute their skills and experience to support important causes beyond the workplace.

Celebrating women in business

*Tony Abboud & Team,
North West Sydney, NSW*

Tony Abboud and the North West Sydney team played an important role in supporting this year's International Women's Day Lunch, hosted by the Macquarie Park Ryde Business Chamber.

The event brought together business leaders and community members to celebrate the achievements of women in business while raising funds for the Lisa Harnum Foundation, an organisation supporting women impacted by domestic and family violence.

The afternoon showcased the power of collaboration, leadership and community engagement, while highlighting the positive impact local businesses can have when they come together for a common purpose.

Supporting initiatives for kids

Dan Smith, Dale Woodhams & Team, Sunshine Coast, QLD

For many years, Dan Smith and the Sunshine Coast team have proudly supported Play Matters Sunshine Coast through fundraising, volunteer hours and donations.

This year, Dan funded the installation of new shutters for the facility, contributing approximately $5,400 to improve the space for local families who rely on its programs and services.

Meanwhile, colleague Dale Woodhams continues a much-loved annual tradition through his Easter colouring competition, which attracts around 100 entries from local children. Each year, the colourful artworks proudly fill the office windows, creating smiles for children and parents alike while strengthening connections within the community.

Supporting Veterans through the ANZAC appeal

Bert and Eliza Geraerts, Beaumaris, VIC

Bert and Eliza Geraerts proudly volunteered throughout April to support the Beaumaris RSL ANZAC Appeal.

By selling badges on behalf of the RSL, the team helped contribute to a fundraising effort that exceeded $30,000, supporting veterans and the important services provided by the organisation.

The experience provided a meaningful opportunity to connect with the local community while honouring those who have served.

Growing community connections

*Janeen Hanson,
South East Queensland*

New to The Agency, Janeen Hanson is already making a meaningful impact in the community she serves. As a Property Partner in South East Queensland, Janeen has committed to giving back with every property sold, donating a portion of her commission directly to the Yarrabilba Community Garden.

The garden's mission is to encourage a deeper understanding of food systems, sustainability and community connection, providing an inclusive space where locals can come together, learn together and grow (plants) together.

Looking ahead, Janeen's next goal is to support the installation of irrigation throughout the garden, helping ensure this valuable community space continues to thrive.

Giving the gift of life

The Agency National Team

Individuals and teams across The Agency have rolled up their sleeves to support Australian Red Cross Lifeblood.

Already, several members of The Agency team have donated blood or plasma, collectively helping to save 54 lives. Each donation represents a simple act of generosity that can provide vital support to Australians in need.

Supporting families in need

The Agency WA

Recently, members of our Western Australian team had the opportunity to give back at Ronald McDonald House WA, spending an afternoon preparing meals for families navigating incredibly difficult circumstances.

By stepping into the kitchen and preparing meals, our team was able to provide a small but meaningful gesture of care and support.

Fighting for a cause

Abi Dallakoti and the Inner West team, Inner West, NSW

Community spirit took an unexpected turn when Abi Dallakoti from our Inner West Leasing Team stepped into the boxing ring for a charity fight night supporting Sydney Children's Hospital.

Abi's willingness to take on the challenge inspired plenty of support, with the wider Inner West team turning out in force to cheer him on and contribute to the cause. It's another example of the passion our people bring to supporting important community initiatives and making a positive difference wherever they can.

More than real estate

These stories represent just a snapshot of the incredible work happening across The Agency every day.

From supporting mental health and cancer research to championing education, sport, veterans and local charities, our people continue to demonstrate that real estate is about more than property - it's about people.

To everyone who volunteered, donated, sponsored, organised and participated, thank you. Your generosity, commitment and compassion continue to make a lasting impact in communities across Australia and remind us what it truly means to be The Agency with Heart.

Australia's real estate.
