RE: Sitting Idle

I've learned that peace can look a lot like boredom.

Moving at hyper-speed
has kept my heart
racing; slowing down
isn't easy. Turns out,
I don't like sitting idle. I'm too ambitious.

With kind discernment,
[@ASSETBYTESSA]

THE AUDACITY ISSUE

I am not the most reliable source when it comes to my sister; I tend to gravitate towards being a loving, shameless fan. So this may not seem fair, but I really don't care: she's so much more than you think.

I HAVE ALWAYS FELT STRENGTH AND BOLDNESS IN HER PRESENCE.

She lifts others as she climbs, moving through life with a rare balance of grit and grace. The standards are high, and they should be. She feels the fear and does it anyway, knowing true audacity isn't the absence of fear, but choosing to move forward regardless... and yet, her strength never loses its softness.

We talk about audacity: what it takes to claim it, what it takes to keep it.

“We have to be audacious; it's the only way we are going to get what we want,” she says. “I think it's learnt and practised... it's a skill.”

To her, practising it comes down to one thing:

“COURAGE. I THINK AUDACITY IS ULTIMATELY
THE COURAGE TO BE SEEN
AND HEARD; TO NAME
WHAT YOU FEEL, ASK FOR WHAT YOU NEED, AND DECIDE WHAT YOU WILL AND WON'T TOLERATE.”

Ain't that the truth.

MISS KANINNA'S
BLACKPRINT HAS BEEN ON
REPEAT. IT'S THE MOOD,
THE INSPIRATION.

When I listen to it, I want to shake my ass and rebel against the government at the same time. It's loud, ferocious, and makes you want to headbang, pull a stank face, and curl your lip.

EVERY TRACK LEAVES YOU FEELING LIKE A BADDIE WITH A VENDETTA.

Our fav tracks are BLACKPRINT and LOOK AT ME NOW [feat. Kobie Dee]. We loved them so much they set the tone for our Leopardess shoot.

The cadence, the beats, the lyrics, it's a full-body experience. It's the kind of mixtape that belongs on the revolution playlist.
