MESSAGES FROM THE HEAD & DIVISION HEADS:

Mr. Campbell, Head of School

PCDS: like no other.

A school sits on the edge of the desert in the shadow of a camel's back,
The land had a starting role in films, a real director's hack,
Half of a century old, bound by new traditions,
A school, physically reinvented with renewed ambitions,
Defined by academic prowess and seeking to be that school,
The one that gets 'em in and graduates no fool.
In the end there is but one goal,
To race this thoroughbred, once a colt, once a foal,
To the end—spent and tired, nameless the school—the horse runs to catch and rest among its brothers,
Of course truth be told, it needed not to strive, achieve it had already...
It's PCDS: like no other.

PCDS Middle School...A school like no other.

A school with faculty that have competed in the Olympics and climbed Everest
A school where students carry luggage to school every day
A school where a rain shower is as exciting as the first snow
A school where we share teachers with a school in China
A school where every grade travels on an overnight trip
A school where we care not only about math problems and science theorems, but also about creativity, self-confidence, artistic expression, and each other
A school where students build rockets, create videos, design robots, and go for hikes
A school with some of the finest students in the Southwest
A school where the community is built around education and not the other way around
A school like no other that I've ever seen...

PCDS Lower School: A Place Like No Other.

PCDS is a friendly place where students, teachers, and parents care about each other and show kindnesses in small ways each day. PCDS is a learning place where children reach for new heights and get a boost as needed. It is a joyful place where teachers develop the minds and hearts of the children in their care. At PCDS, we hold the key to making the world a better place for everyone to live, learn, and give of themselves with a grateful heart.

Ms. Thommen, Lower School Head

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Our school is truly "like no other." I hope, as you look through these pages, that you discover how unique, one-of-a-kind, individual, and distinct PCDS really is. And while this theme, indeed, reflects our community, it also reflects this yearbook and the people who made it possible.

First and foremost, I would like to thank my adviser, Miss Lynch, from whom I learned the value of effective communication and positive encouragement, both key items to a successful and finally-completed yearbook. Without her, there would be no catchy puns for captions, correctly spelled student names, full-on re-staging of sports photos, grammar done to perfection, or many, many proofread drafts guaranteeing a close to flawless book. Even her "fierce New York attitude" ensured the staff thankfully never went hungry or went too long without a fair dose of sugar. Thank you for being a mentor and a role model. Secondly, I want to thank the core staff of Editors who have been with me for every twist, turn, fall, and power session. I deeply appreciate your genuine commitment to this yearbook and your willingness to stay at school until 2 AM during deadline weeks. Adam Lowe, your design sensibilities are beyond imagination. Your creativity and passion for graphic design and photography have added a special touch to this yearbook, especially on the Senior Bests page, Lifers page, and many of the senior ads. Stephanie Germaine, your careful eye and exceptional perseverance have proved to be invaluable in the production of this yearbook. You proofed pages with enthusiasm, and willingly edited pages as many times as needed; it has been a great pleasure to work with you this year. Sophie Boyer, your time-management and communication skills surprise me everyday. Your ability to delegate work, complete text assignments with ease and speed, and produce first-rate work makes you an integral part of the yearbook team. Also, Adam "Mo" Oest, you stepped into yearbook right when we needed a photographer who was willing to take photos on a moment's notice; thank you for saving the staff much hassle by taking such extraordinary sports photos. I want to thank Morgan Shepard for completing the Club section by collecting all the information, taking the photos, and laying out the pages in such a timely manner. Finally, thank you to the entire staff (listed on pg. 255) for your patience, determination, and understanding of all my miniscule content changes, strict adherence to the complicated style guidelines, and crazy assignments in such time crunches.

To Mrs. Thompson I send a heartfelt "thank you" for providing us food and supporting us every step of the way. To the US faculty: thanks for being understanding of the staff's tendencies to fall asleep during class, and the stress bubble that enclosed everyone involved in the yearbook. I am extremely grateful to the Division Heads for their contributions and their tremendous support in tracking down names and photos. Also, a special thanks goes out to the Lower School Representative, Kimberly Sauer, and to the Middle School Representative, Jane Kramer, who undoubtedly smoothed the way in the process of identifying students and selecting photos. You accommodated our needs with smiling graciousness, especially during our tight deadlines. A very special thank you is extended to Mr. Pesselato, who genially designed our fantastic title page and offered his valuable advice, and also to Nancy Crase, who took stunning sports photos. I extend my gratitude to the IT department, Mr. Mazich, Mr. Lindh, and Ms. Treadway, who let the staff completely take over the computer lab for months. You always made us feel like no request was too small or too much of a bother, whether it was force quitting applications or giving a laptop.

Last, but surely not least, I want to acknowledge my friends, who put their hard work into this book even when they were not officially part of the staff by supporting us in our last deadline. Thanks for taking time out of your busy schedules to stay after school and help out. I want to personally thank Jenny Papp, for her clever captions, Lauren Motzkin, for her untamed editing pen, Mercedes Cain for her amazing photos, Alex Zadel and Karen Feltz for their awesome editing skills, Kaleena Patel, for her swift proofing skills, and Natalie Fragiola for covering any last details. One final thank you goes out to everyone (mentioned and unmentioned here) who helped make this yearbook "like no other." —Danni Lin

I'd like to echo Danni's thanks to Division Heads, LS and MS Reps, and to the students who weren't on staff, but who went above and beyond to help us. A big thanks goes out to Debra Kolbet for sharing her collection of photos and for always being there to catch the perfect PCDS moment. To Nancy Crase: your photography is endlessly appreciated and admired. Thank you to Ms. Kiltz, and to Ms. Olson for making it work. One last factoid: Did you know Mr. Hendrickson is the best?! And: Thanks for all of your help. Thank you to Lisa Ghelfi, Barry Shepard, Will Marton, Paul VanDerWielen and Mitzi Krockover for additional photos. To Danni: you never cease to amaze me. You have been an exemplary Editor-in-Chief, Master Multi-tasker/Decision Maker/Laxer/Leader/Emailer/Student this year. Your vision, organization, creativity, and positive attitude have set the tone for our entire experience and have made this yearbook what it is. To my "Fab Five:" There aren't enough words (or space!) to express how endlessly impressed I am with each of you. Thank you for your tireless dedication to this project and for being who you are. This book is truly the product of your tremendous hard work and effort, and it is a stunning achievement for which I am incredibly proud. Thank you for making this yearbook and my first year teaching at PCDS "like no other." —Miss Lynch

DEDICATION:

Ms. SMITH

Pointing Out the Frontal Lobe of the Brain

Explaining Punnet Squares for Pea Color

"In the busy wilderness that is high school, you are our mama bear. You are the matriarch of the pack, protecting us, feeding us, and eventually teaching us to survive on our own. We come to you as little freshmen, new to the big scary world of high school. The first day, you teach us the most important of all biological truths: our goal is to survive. You not only teach us how species can evolve over time but also how we ourselves can adapt to survive high school. You told us, 'Remember to have fun with it; it's not worth stressing yourself out over everything.' To you, making sure we enjoy life is just as important as making sure we enjoy science. You help us discover the world around and within us and in doing so, you have become our friend as well as our teacher. Charles Darwin said that 'a man's friendships are one of the best measures of his worth.' So for everything you do and everything you teach, we are proud to dedicate this yearbook to you, our mama bear."

— Alex Zadel, Class of 2008

When I walked into your class for the first time, shadowing my eighth grade year, I knew that you were no ordinary teacher. I could see that you were a truly dedicated teacher, as well as a caring adult to all of your students. I had no idea that you would become so much more than just an amazing teacher to me once I came to PCDS. After getting to know you both in and out of the classroom, a few words immediately come to mind when I think of you: dedicated, understanding, and supportive. Even though your room may be all the way up in Hormel, I always know that your door is open and you are behind your infamously messy desk ready to talk and give advice to me and to anyone else who needs it. Words cannot express the attitude I have for you always being there for me at school. Many times I have called you my 'second mother,' and I realize that you actually are the 'PCDS Mother' here at school. You graciously share the same care, support, and love that you give to your own daughter to so many of your students. It is not every day that we have another mother to help us and care for us at school as much as you do. You are able to understand us as a teacher and mother. So thank you. Thank you for always being there for me and for my class. Thanks for being there after school, nights and weekends, when we are stressed, happy, or sad. Thanks for being there all of the time. Personally, you really have made such a big impact on my life through all of your wisdom. To us, you are not only a teacher, but also a mother, a mentor, a friend, and so much more. Thanks for being who you are."

— Aravind Swaminathan, Class of 2008

Let's take a trip to Botswana. Here we observe a family of African elephants marching through the savannah. Now, take a moment to imagine that we are those elephants. Our family is lead by a wise female: the matriarch. Ms. Smith, to our herd of students, you are that matriarch. You train us to be excellent biologists, navigating us through fields of daunting scientific terms, diverting us from the threat of misconception, and opening our eyes to the wonders of the natural world. To the senior class you are not just a great teacher— you are a mentor and a friend. Even though you are busy, your door is always open. Like the fluid plasma membrane, students are constantly flowing in and out of your classes and your office. Of course there's no question why students are attracted to you like Drosophila melanogaster (a.k.a the fruit fly) is to a bug light. You are inviting, comforting, absolutely hilarious, and very bright. Your enthusiasm is contagious and your passion is infectious. Ms. Smith you are an amazing, loving soul. Although we may not have the memory of an elephant, the senior class can confidently say that we will never forget you."

PCDS SALUTES...

SENIORS:

*Congratulations to our National Merit Semifinalists. They are Aaron Baumann, Ian Brandon, Ivy Epstein, Todd Jenkins, Navdeep Khera, Lauren Motzkin, Kaleena Patel, and Greg Peairs. Six seniors were named Commended Students by the National Merit Scholarship Program: Samantha Debold, Eric Lewis, Danni Lin, Ally Resnik, Gary Simpson, and Alex Zadel. A total of 14 seniors, more than 20 percent of the class of 2008, have received National Merit recognition.

Lauren Motzkin was a summer intern at the Biodesign Institute of Arizona State University. She worked in the Institute's Center for Infectious Diseases and Vaccinology with researcher Yeralid Sotomayor, assembling a coronavirus from different DNA fragments to help understand mutations that occur in coronaviruses, such as SARS.

Navdeep Khera contributed over 165 volunteer hours to Hospice of the Valley's Teen Volunteer Program. He has volunteered in the Thunderbird Palliative Care Unit on a weekly basis since 2005 and is currently an active volunteer. He also held an internship at Merrill Lynch for three months, for which he received excellent recommendations and the offer of another internship.

Yesenia Armendariz was named a National Hispanic Scholar by the College Board. The honor serves as an endorsement of her academic achievement, and her name has been submitted to U.S. colleges and universities.

Kaylie Marsh received the 2007 Youth Leadership Award at the Spirit of Community Leadership Awards Luncheon on Dec. 14. The Youth Leadership Award recognizes a youth leader who has made contributions to his or her community, family, and school, and also exemplifies leadership and community service values. Kaylie's involvement in Camp Swift, a summer camping opportunity for 300 underprivileged inner-city children, was a factor in her qualification for this award.

Michele Barnhill was selected by the Arizona Republic to play for the First Team, All-Arizona Soccer Small Schools.

Ms. Thompson and Mr. Campbell salute the students.

Basil Latif

leManley Gishie was accepted into the Interim Year program at Phillips Academy, better known as Andover, in Massachusetts.

JUNIORS:

Jack Schwimmer earned a spot in the All-State Band playing alto sax, second chair.

Jessica Ornstein organized a fashion show, held Jan. 11, 2008 that raised $2,800 for the Wellness Community of Phoenix, an organization that provides support, education, and hope to cancer patients and their families.

SOPHOMORES:

Basil Latif was appointed to the Governor's Youth Commission (GYC). The GYC is intended to be a diverse and representative body of the high school population within the State of Arizona. The primary purpose of the GYC is to advise the Governor and the Governor's Office for Children, Youth, and Families on issues affecting youth in Arizona.

FRESHMEN:

Ryan Dougherty earned the highest PCDS score on the AMC 10 given in February. Greg Peairs earned the highest score on the AMC 12 and qualified to be invited to the American Invitational Mathematics Exam.

ALL UPPER SCHOOL:

Members of the PCDS Student Diversity Leadership Advisory Council (SDLAC): Sophia Boyer, Benazir Khan, Emily Morazan, Sakina Pasha, Matt Tibi, and Richie Zitomer attended the Student Diversity Leadership Conference in Boston, Massachusetts Nov. 29-Dec. 1 sponsored by The National Association of Independent Schools. These students were also invited by the Scottsdale Unified School District Service Learning program to attend the Youth Voices event at Saguaro High School on Jan. 14, commemorating the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The presentation included speeches by Scottsdale Mayor Mary Hanross and one of the original members of the Tuskegee Airmen, Major Clovis Jones Jr. The keynote speaker was actor and founder of the Eracism Foundation Inc., Louis Gossett Jr. The SDLAC members in attendance were Hutch Balholm, Sophie Boyer, Lizzy Burton, Destiny Huynh, Benazir Khan, Emily Morazan, Richard Wong, Richie Zitomer, and James White, Assistant Head of the Upper School. Musicians Ryan Dougherty, Yuka Milton, and Jack Schwimmer auditioned and qualified for the West region Festival of Honor. They will audition for All State in the spring.

The PCDS Latin Club recently won two prestigious awards: the Spirit Trophy, which is awarded to the school that is the most organized, dedicated, and shows the most teamwork/effort regarding the Latin language, and the OMNI Award, which is awarded to the school that earns the highest score based on points earned during academic competitions.

*The Art Club went to the November First Thursday gallery event in Scottsdale. Deepa Rao, Art Club President, has made it a priority to get the Art Club out into the community. Art Club member Jenny Papp, with financial assistance from her mother Rosellen Papp, made it possible for ten Art Club members to view the Picasso Ceramic Exhibit at the Desert Botanical Gardens on Nov. 11.

*The Junior State of America Club helped launch the first Spring State Convention in Arizona, with a $300,000 grant from the Robidoux Foundation.

PCDS debaters will represent Arizona at the National Scholastic Debate Tournament in Las Vegas, June 16-20. The winning team of Matt Rosenzweig and Mark Zhang, both juniors, finished first among all Arizona schools (1A-5A) in the national qualifying round held at Central High School. This is the second year in a row that PCDS has qualified for the national tournament. PCDS also placed first in the State Scholastic Debate Championship at River Valley High School on March 14-15, where the school competed in a 1A-3A tournament against smaller high schools. Two other PCDS teams (freshmen Ian Neufer and Kathie Zhang, and sophomores Basil Latif and Alex Gonzales) shared third place. This is the fourth consecutive year that PCDS has won the state 1A-3A championship. The debate team is coached by Matt Guthrie.

MIDDLE SCHOOL:

*Eighth grader Rachael Franks organized her own team for the Town of Paradise Valley Relay for Life, which was held on the PCDS campus the first weekend in May. Last year she was the youngest team leader at the event. She is also working with the town as one of the event organizers.

*Seventh graders volunteered at St. Mary's Food Bank in November, where they bagged 2,100 lbs. of potatoes and yams for Thanksgiving and assembled over 1,400 boxes used to pack food for daily and weekly distribution. St. Mary's, the world's first food bank, assembles approximately 4,000 food boxes per week.

*Seventh graders went to St. Vincent de Paul on Dec. 21, where students made sandwiches and bagged lunches for the less fortunate. The students also toured the entire facility and sang Christmas carols. Finally, Students made centerpieces and helped set up for dinner.

*Seventh grader Derek Chan won the Middle School Geography Bee. The runner-up was Quinn Larkin.

*Seventh grader Melanie Cohen won the Middle School Spelling Bee. The second-place winner was James Hobin.

*Sixth grader Ashlynn Miller was cast as Tweedle Dee in Alice in Wonderland, which is directed and choreographed by Debbie Allen.

*The sixth-grade annual sock drive collected a record number of 1,700 pairs of socks for those in need. The socks were sent to UMOM and Sunnyslope Family Services Center in Phoenix.

*The PCDS Green Tide robotics team placed second in the robot section of state competition on Dec. 15 at Carl Hayden High School. The team also took second place overall in the East Region in their debut performance on Dec. 8. This is the first year PCDS has had a robotics team. During the state competition, the team had three great runs of the robots and a flawless research presentation. They were in first place for most of the day, with another team beating their score in the last round (325 to our 310). Only three teams scored over 300 all day in the robot competition. Members of the robotics team are Amy Aube, Rohit Kothur, Alexander Garner, Kevin Meath, James Hobin, Ben Mattinson, Frances Rucker, Joe Schornak, and Avery Silverman.

The Middle School presented a check for more than $1,000 to Jon Jettner, Chief Executive Officer of the National Make-A-Wish Foundation. The donation was the proceeds of Middle School's Penny Vars.

Mathletes captured 7 of the top 15 spots in the regional MathCounts Competition on Feb. 17. A total of 19 schools competed for the regional championship, sending 4-8 students from each school. After three grueling hours of test-taking, the PCDS team placed second as a team and went on to the state competition, held on March 1 in Tucson. Members of the PCDS regional team were Nicole Bassoff, Rohit Kothur, Frances Rucker, and Avery Silverman. The alternate team included Sam Ax, Brennen Lee, Ben Mattinson, and Micah Travis. In individual placements, Frances Rucker placed second; Brennen Lee, 4th; Nicole Bassoff took 8th place. Avery Silverman placed 11th, Ben Mattinson placed 12th, Rohit Kothur, 14th; and Micah Travis, 5th. The MathCounts team placed seventh in state competition.

LOWER SCHOOL:

Fourth grader Jessica Sherman authored a cookbook, which is being sold as a fundraiser. The title is State Fair Blue Ribbon Recipes. The book contains recipes for which she has won awards at the Arizona State Fair over the past three years. The cookbook is for sale for $10 at Kitchen Classics, 4041 E. Thomas Rd. All of the proceeds go to the Kids in Gear Program at the Arizona Science Center.

Jae VanderWielen, Teddy Peles, and Brierly Wand, an all-Kindergarten team, were the winning team in the Arizona State Chess Championship in Tucson on Jan. 12. This is the sixth straight Kindergarten title for PCDS. About 400 players from across Arizona competed in 10 divisions. Brennen Lee is the new Arizona sixth-grade champion. He is one of the top-ranked players in his age nationally and has won two national scholastic titles and several Arizona titles, beginning in Kindergarten at PCDS. Also participating were first graders Luc Bergera and Darshan Mand (medalist); Griffin Fletcher, second grade; Spencer Wand, Parker Whitfill, and Curan VanDerWielen, third grade; and Ammar Mand, fourth grade.

We can't return, we can only look behind from where we came and go round and round in the circle again

Be who you are and say what you feel because those who mind don't matter and those who matter
don't mind.

The beaten path is the safest but the traffic is terrible.

Just look around, and you'll find that somewhere close
There are a few people who care about you most--
People whom you can go to for support or a hug,
People whom you can count on, trust, and love.

Happiness is felt by making other people happy

Minds are like parachutes-- they only work well when opened

Happy are those who dream dreams, and are willing to pay the price to make them come true

Question the authorities, and the authorities will question you.

Not by might and not by power but by spirit alone shall we all live in peace

No speed of wind or water rushing by
But you have speed far greater. You can
Climb back up a stream of radiance to the sky,
And back through history of the stream of time.
And you were given this swiftness not for haste,
Nor chiefly that you may go where you will,
But in the rush of everything to waste,
That you may have the power of standing still—
Off any still or moving thing you say.
Two such as you with such a master speed
Cannot be parted nor be swept away
From one another once you are agreed
That life is only life forevermore
Together wing to wing and oar to oar.

TIME WARPS

Abby Abraham: combined her love of both psychology and celebrity gossip to become a shining face on the Los Angeles mental health scene as the new Dr. Phil(lis).

Yesenia Armendariz: successfully founded and now runs APPLE (Association for the Protection of Penguins and the Longevity of the Environment).

Jillian Attaway: is a brutally honest reviewer of books, movies, television, and music for USA Today. She lives in Vail with her husband, an Olympic skier.

Hutch Balholm: is now the nightly anchor for NBC News as well as the Head of Al Gore's Official U.S. Green Team. He has been voted "Best Smile" by the Sierra Club for three straight years.

Michele Barnhill: turned her fear of grime into a nationwide campaign against germs, publishing several books on sanitizing your house—and a few cookbooks—and speaking to school groups about "the importance of cleanliness" during the pro soccer off-season.

Aaron Baumann: moved to France after making millions through his own SAT prep company. He now collects classic race cars and hosts luxurious parties on his 250-foot super yacht.

Will Bixby: has become world-renowned for his fifteen seasons in MLS and has been voted "Mr. Congeniality" by his teammates three consecutive times. He has houses in Vail, Yellowstone, Bermuda, and Los Angeles.

David Blackwell: along with his wife Caroline "Carrie" Nation, bought a cabin in Idaho where he continues to backpack and take photographs for National Geographic.

Laura Bodell: won the lottery the day after her 21st birthday. She used her winnings to build, furnish, and secure a five-star luxury hotel in Lebanon, appropriately named "Bodell's Beautiful Abode," coincidentally located next to Steven Corey's sprawling estate.

Ian Brandon: gave up his dream of becoming a drag racer after a close call at 200 mph and instead opted for a "slower" way of life as a CIA undercover operative in France.

Lizzy Burton: is currently living off the success following her double win at the Academy Awards for best director for "The Best of Senior Speeches—A Documentary" and "The Long March Revisited."

Mercedes Cain: purchased a large-class RV and hit the road shortly after graduating college, traveling to every major and minor Guitar Hero tournament in the continental United States, and happily living off her first-place prize money.

Andrew Charlson: is living the high life as the first male Dallas Cowboys' cheerleader in the new millennium, and in the off season is traveling the country as an inspirational speaker addressing "the benefits of good sound and lighting."

Alexa Cohn: is now infamous for being the only Victoria's Secret model in New York who can down an entire Chipotle burrito in under sixty seconds. Seriously!

Steven Corey: inherited a gigantic estate in Lebanon from a distant relative and promptly closed his prospering dental practice to open a hundred-acre water park, cleverly titled "Steven Corey's Water Park."

Becca Crane: is now Lizzy Burton's personal chef and nutritionist while also running a restaurant in Santa Barbara called, "Food for the Crane-ium" that specializes in classic home dishes like beef stew and "Mattioni-n-cheese."

Tori Crase: is currently traveling all over the world as a fashion photographer. However, despite her exotic travels, her favorite fashion hub will always be Milan, where she often spends time with her co-designer and bff Natalie Garagiola.

Bubba Dahkoshay: worked his way to the top of the L.A. hip-hop scene as "DJ Butterfingers" with his smooth beats and masterful mixes. He now focuses his attention on helping other up-and-comers in the industry make it big.

Quinn de la Concepcion: was working as a veterinarian in L.A. when Joe Jonas happened to walk in with his dog. He quickly fell in love with her sharp wit and veterinary skills and the two now live in a beautiful beachside home in Hawaii.

180 Sam Debold: quickly rose to the CEO position at Mattel due to the popularity of her design for "Stick-to-Your-Morals Barbie," another ambitious blonde who sparkles and makes wise life choices.

Abby DeVries: married the French Minister of Foreign Affairs after meeting him at a Dancing with the Stars-style ballroom dancing competition in the Swiss Alps. They are now brilliant dance partners, as well as France's top diplomats.

Y Epstein: conquered the art world with her original anime comic "Ai Wei's Warriors." Despite her success, she couldn't resist the offer to become Head Zookeeper at Eric Lewis' Space Age Jurassic Park and once again work with her friends.

Karen Feltz: founded and runs the global design firm that created the first fully-sustainable portable energy source. The company is so rich that Karen is now carried place to place in a sedan chair held by Raja Bell and Grant Hill.

Jay Fielder: is a part-time race car mechanic/designer and a full-time father of five daughters and one son, Jay Jr.

Jay Gamble: was finally dubbed the "International Grandmaster of Chess" and has an Elo chess rating of 2630, but only he and his chess-prodigy son know what that means.

Patricia Garagiola: followed her roots to Italy where she works in Milan as a successful fashion designer. Despite her hectic schedule, she still manages to find time to organize the annual International Board of Visitor's Ball.

Stephanee Germaine: is the lead executor of the committee (aptly nicknamed "O's Dough") that oversees the distribution of Oprah's charitable funds. In her spare time, she mildly stalks the stars of the Phoenix Suns.

LeManley Gishie: was recruited by a college wrestling coach for his "manly" name and is now the two-time defending NWE Champion, known now as "The Manly Gishinator."

Emily Gogolak: recently won the Nobel Peace Prize for her work with Marc Jacobs creating an economical and ecologically-friendly line of clothing in southern Asia, but her secret hobby is managing the first all-vegan fast food chain Go-Go Green."

Amy Gold: is a full-time jet-setter, making memorable red carpet, television, and music video appearances in glittering old outfits as a member of Bubba Dahkoshay's hip-hop entourage, LeManley Gishie's wrestling posse, and occasionally Dick Pappas' presidential cabinet.

Andrew Grady: is the starting shortstop for the LA Dodgers and, upon Abby's urging, became the official model/spokesman for Polo's Plaid Shorts Department.

Tipper Gustafson: is a contributing editor to The New Yorker, but is more often than not hidden away in her private bungalow in the Caribbean working on her fiftieth novel, From Debutante to Royalty.

Destiny Huynh: wrote What's in a Name?, the new gold standard for baby name books, which has achieved Dr. Who notariety. She now tours the world with Oprah's Book Club.

Julia Ivanova: schemed her way into the Windsor family's inner-circle and quickly won the heart of beautiful Prince William. She is now relaxing as she waits to become the next Queen of England.

Todd Jenkins: is now teaching math at PCDS, where he rules with an iron fist, giving a week of detention for tardiness and incomplete homework assignments.

Navdeep Khara: is the lead college basketball analyst and announcer for ESPN and writes a weekly Fantasy Sports column for The New Yorker.

Eric Lewis: bought the entire real estate available on the Moon and equipped it with exotically-bred giant lizards to create the universe's first-ever Space Age Jurassic Park.

Danni Lin: while serving as Editor-in-Chief of The New York Times, she had an epiphany about her future. She promptly quit her job, married a Republican, and moved to Tahiti to pursue a prosperous career in belly dancing.

Jonathan Lorentzen: was inspired by his youthful dream of being a "F.B.I." agent to (more realistically) become a different sort of inspector. He is now a mortician and part-time rapper.

Kaylie Marsh: is the Director of seven—yes, seven—non-profit organizations, most importantly Camp Swift.

Lauren Mattioni: is currently working in the deepest hidden labs at Harvard University to sequence and analyze "caveman" DNA. In her spare time, she performs dramatic poetry readings at local coffee houses, and rakes in royalties for her famous "Mattioni-n-cheese" recipe.

distinctive

Lauren Motzkin: was the reigning editor of Vogue until she decided to join up with several male celebrities to form a non-profit organization to help end illiteracy (and also hopefully end her single life).

Becky Myer: has settled down as a mother, coach, and spokeswoman for Nabisco Cheez-Its after her record-setting career with USA Softball.

Jessica Nicholls: followed in Mark Twain's footsteps and became a novelist, dedicating her first novel to both Twain and her other key source of inspiration, Schweik.

Jenny Papp: moved to New York to pursue her dream of becoming a fashion designer, but instead quickly met and married the fantastically handsome U.S. Ambassador to Greece. The couple now live in a villa in Athens. Her three step-children go to boarding school in Antarctica.

Nick Pappas: realized his dream (perhaps much to the chagrin of his classmates) and was elected President of the United States. He will go down in history as the first President to have his collar popped during an inaugural address.

Katelyn Pascavis: is a family woman and model-turned-CEO of a prominent foundation that helps support "the fashion challenged" by conducting clothing interventions across the country.

Kaleena Patel: has taken the phrase "child-friendly" to a whole new level, working each day with children as a prominent pediatrician, and returning home each night to manage her twelve-child household.

Greg Peairs: is the Lead Engineer behind Lewis' Space Age Jurassic Park and commutes monthly between Earth and the Moon. In his spare time, he continues to work on a serum that will allow him to live forever. So far, his research has been inconclusive.

Ryan Pearlman: moved his way through the ranks to become the Sheriff of Maricopa County, only to leave the force to head up his own private defense company in Europe, specializing in customizable tasers.

Deepa Rao: now dedicates the majority of her time to art and to her new husband Johnny Depp, after significantly helping the fight against world hunger with her design for a photosynthesizing arm sleeve. Sorry, it only comes in green.

Ally Resnik: used her creative design skills with ties and tie-dye to win the sixth season of Project Runway. She then started her own hippie commune in western Pennsylvania with the winnings.

Chelsea Robbins: used her outgoing personality to not only become the youngest partner in her New York City PR firm, but also to achieve her goal of becoming the first member of the class to be married and start a family.

Gary Simpson: is now the Head of the Women's Studies Department at Wellesley College and is the author of Love, Poetry, and Unmanly Sensitivity.

Manasi Soni: upon returning from a three-year stint in the Peace Corps, Manasi bought camera equipment and a VW van that runs on biodiesel. She now stars in her own traveling TV show called "On the Road with Jackie Kerouac."

Jimmy Steeby: ditched his job as a historian and is now the leader of a small band of militant libertarians operating out of a remote compound in northern Montana.

Aravind Swaminathan: opened his own chain of do-it-yourself prank stores featuring his trademark collapsible orange construction cones, inspired by the original cone prototype developed during his high school years. Every once and a while, he can be seen resurfacing at odd hours on his old turf at PCDS, undoubtedly seeking additional design inspiration.

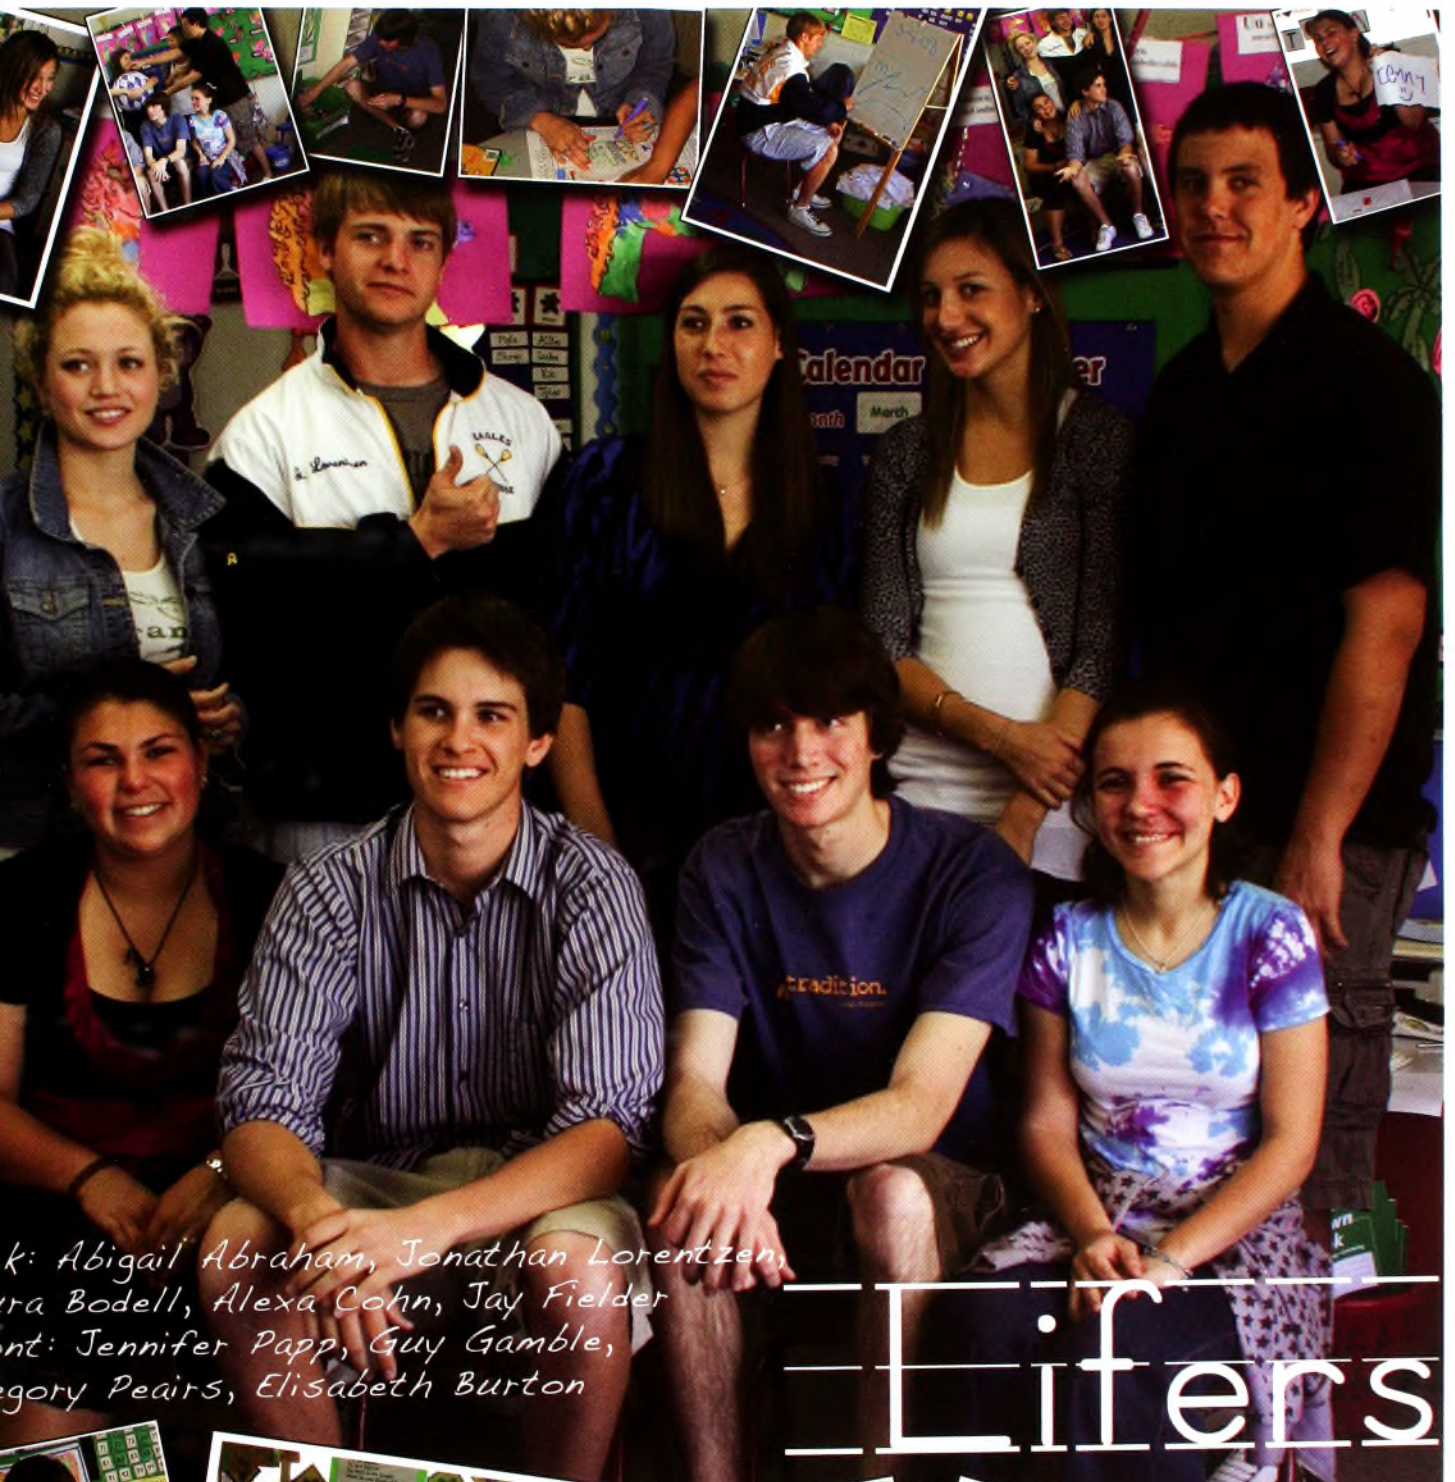

Warren Wagoner: After years of holding low-profile jobs (weight trainer, owner of The Chopping Block Grill, car collector) it was revealed in a governmental leak—much to the surprise of family and friends—that Warren had secretly been employed as a secret agent ever since junior year of high school.

Nina Warner: used her arsenal of random knowledge to nearly double the Jeopardy winnings of the famous Ken Jennings, making enough money to finance her writing and world travels.

Caitlin Wilenchik: became the U.S. Ambassador to Italy, but left the post after a feud with President Pappas. She now runs a multi-national interior design corporation operating in L.A.

Richard Wong: now holds the record for most consecutive wins on Iron Chef America and is particularly popular for his passionate victory speeches at the end of each show.

Alex Zadel: became the leader of an underground political opposition group while visiting Belgium to market and distribute Karen's fuel source. Her whereabouts are currently unknown.

WOMEN'S GOLF

Coach: Brian Ellingson and Pan Wright

Captains: Karen Feltz, Caitlin Wilenchik

Varisty: Isabel Hines, Alex Favier, Hannah Keogh

"Golf this year was all about improvement. Losing two key seniors this year allowed the rest of the girls to step up and really work on their techniques. Led by excellent coaches, the team learned from the best. Three out of five girls shot their best rounds of the season at the regional tournament!"

KOSOWER FITNESS CENTER

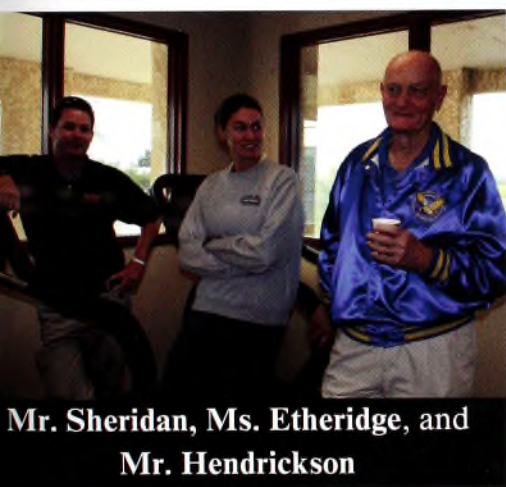

Mr. and Mrs. Gamble

Mr. Kosower

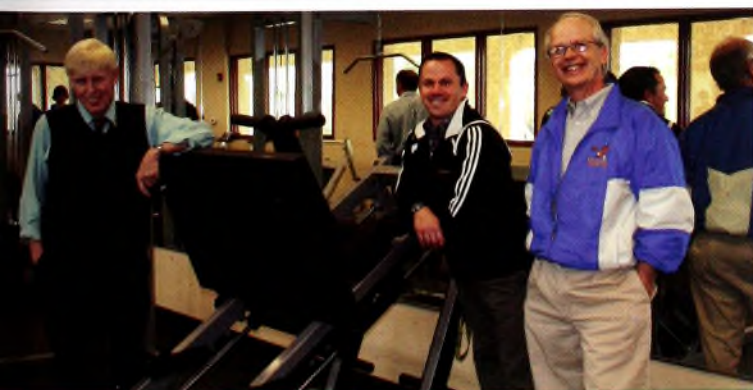

Mr. Campbell presents an honorary plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Hirvela.

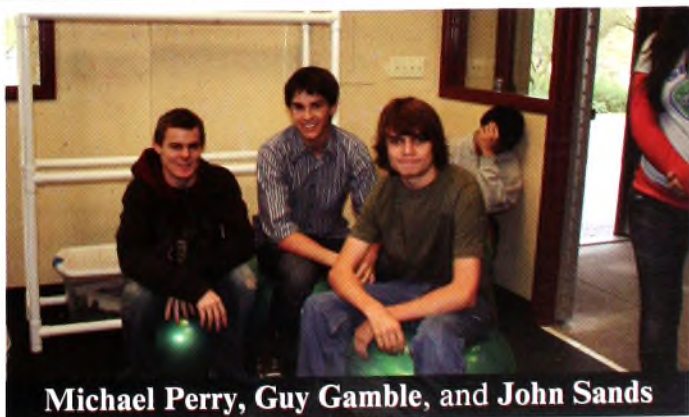

Mr. Sheridan, Ms. Etheridge, and Mr. Hendrickson

The Kosower Fitness Center had its grand opening on February 25, 2008. Students, parents, faculty, and staff were present as Mr. Campbell thanked Mr. and Mrs. Gamble and Mr. and Mrs. Hirvela for their generosity in making the facility possible. The Center was set to be named after the Gamble Family, but in a surprise twist, the Gambles presented Mr. Kosower with a plaque stating its new name: "The Kosower Fitness Center." PCDS faculty and staff are active participants in the running of the Center. On a daily basis, Trainer Terrance Sheridan, P.E. Instructor Sadie Etheridge, and College Counselor Patrick McHorney monitor and train students and faculty in this new state-of-the-art facility.

Mr. Kosower, Mr. McKean, and Mr. Schweikher check out the new workout equipment.

Hi,
I'm Becky

It's only for a moment you were mine to hold, the plans that Heaven has for you will all too soon unfold.
So many different prayers I've prayed for all that you might
But most of all I want to know you are walking in the truth

And if I've never told you, I want you to know... that as I watch you grow—

I pray that God will fill your heart with dreams
And that Faith gives you the courage to dare to do great things
I'm here for you whatever this life brings,
so let my love give you roots and help you find your wings

May passion be the wind that leads you through your days
And may conviction keep you strong, guide you on your way
May there be many moments that make your life so sweet
But more than memories—

I pray that God will fill your heart with dreams
And that Faith gives you the courage to dare to do great things
I'm here for you whatever this life brings,
So let my love give you roots and help you find your wings

It's not living if you do not reach for the sky!!
I'll have tears as you take off but I'll cheer as you fly!

I pray that God will bless your heart with dreams
And that Faith gives you the courage to dare to do great things
Let my love give you roots, and help you find your wings

COLOPHON

Please remember The Phoenixian is a student-created publication and we work hard to represent Phoenix Country Day School and its students, faculty, and staff. We apologize for any errors or omissions on our behalf.

The Phoenixian, Volume XLIV, was produced by the yearbook staff of Phoenix Country Day School in Paradise Valley, Arizona and was printed by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, TX. The account was serviced by representative Susan Fearnside.

The theme, Like No Other, was developed by the Editorial Staff in July and August at the summer workshop held by Taylor Publishing. The cover is a four-color matte lithograph, designed by the Editorial Staff in August. The cover features embossing of the "P" graphic, which is uv-coated, along with three stripes.

The book's 256 pages are printed on Enamel 100 pound paper stock in full color. All body copy is set at 12 pt. Times TPC. Headlines are set in 65 pt. Copperplate Gothic TPC. Section divisions are set in 72 pt. Muscript and page numbers are set in 20 pt. Muscript. Colors used: Process Blue, Super Blue, All-American Red, Poppy, Pansy, Royal Purple, Emerald Green, and Kelly Green.

The Phoenixian was produced using Studioworks, Adobe® Photoshop7.0®, and Adobe® Photoshop CS3® on Apple® Macintosh® G4 Computers with 1.25 GB RAM and 80 GB hard drives and an Epson Perfection 3200 Photo scanner. Digital photos were taken with 3-, 4- and 8- megapixel digital cameras. Pages were directly submitted to the plant via internet through Taylor Publishing Studioworks. MountainView Photography took portraits. Sports photos exclusively taken by Nancy Crase, Adam Lowe, and Adam Oest. Nine-hundred and eighty copies of the book were made available to students and faculty on May 19, 2008.
