WELCOME

TO THE AUTUMN EDITION!

Hello and welcome to our final issue of 2026!

Somehow we've reached the last few months of the year already - and there's so much to look forward to! From Halloween and Bonfire Night to all the excitement of Christmas, it's such a lovely time of year for making memories with our little ones.

We have a fantastic selection of local businesses, activities and events waiting for you inside this issue. Whether you're searching for autumn adventures, festive days out, something new to try with your little one or ideas to make Christmas that little bit more special, I hope you'll find plenty of inspiration in these pages.

One of the things I love most about putting Toddle About together is discovering just how much there is for families right here on our doorstep. Behind so many of the classes, activities, events and services you see in these pages are wonderful local people and small businesses, and your support really does mean so much to them.

So, grab a cuppa, get cosy and have a browse - and don't forget to enter our competitions while you're here!

Wishing you and your family lots of wonderful adventures, a magical Christmas and a very happy end to 2026.

Loving life with little ones,

Bethan

Birthday Fun and Halloween at Beanz Barn

Beans Barn is getting ready for a double celebration this October. Its first birthday falls on 17 October, with free-to-enter games and goodie bags for children planned to mark the occasion. The fun continues on 30 October, when Halloween party play sessions will bring a seasonal twist to a visit. Families can keep an eye on Beans Barn's website and social media for the latest details and make plans to join in the birthday and Halloween fun. Visit www.beanzbarn.co.uk See P14

Music, Celebration and Wins!

Autumn and Halloween sessions are around the corner, soon to be followed by Christmas music and parties at Rhythm Time Coventry, Rugby and West Northants. The team is also celebrating three finalist places in the Class Business Awards, including Children's Activity Provider of the Year, plus a place in the What's On 4 Kids Awards finals. Book your place and join a term of musical fun!

The first class is free with a monthly payment plan using code 15TFREEMO.

Big-Screen Fun Returns to Lings Forum

Family film outings are back at Lings Forum Leisure Centre, where the popular cinema has reopened. With films for children and grown-ups, the Northampton venue offers an intimate big-screen experience for October half term and beyond. The centre is run by Everyone Active in partnership with West Northamptonshire Council, bringing cinema entertainment to the local community. Families can check the latest films and showtimes through the Everyone Active website or app, or call the centre on 01604 213478. Visit www.everyoneactive.com. See P44

Northampton Family Osteopaths has moved

Northampton Family Osteopaths has moved to York Road, close to the town centre. The new premises offer a calm space for patients of all ages, with appointments available from Wednesday to Friday.

Families can find out more about the practice and arrange a visit through its website. New patients can receive 10% off an initial appointment, normally £80, by quoting Toddle About when booking. Hurry, offer only available until the new year! See P34 Visit www.northamptonfamilyosteopaths.co.uk

Two Festive Treats at Royal & Derngate

Royal & Derngate has two festive treats for families this season. What the Ladybird Heard at Christmas brings the much-loved books to the Royal Auditorium in a new adaptation for ages three and over, packed with catchy songs and Christmas sparkle. In the Derngate this December, Beauty and the Beast promises pantomime fun from Evolution Productions, featuring television favourites Steve McFadden and Dani Harmer. From little ladybirds to a larger-than-life panto, there is plenty to add to the Christmas calendar.

A Little Christmas Magic to Keep

Miranda Walton Photography's Santa Experience gives families an unhurried, private visit with Father Christmas, with photographs to treasure afterwards. Three Christmas backdrops set the scene, while a choice of three photography collections lets families choose how to keep those special moments. From little expressions to the excitement of meeting Santa, the experience is designed to capture memories of the season. Spaces are limited, so families are encouraged to book ahead. Toddle About readers receive £50 off any Santa Experience collection using TODDLE50.

Swimming Skills for Every Season

Swimming need not stop when summer ends. Swimtime is encouraging families to keep water confidence and swimming skills on the agenda throughout the year, with lessons that bring regular activity into the weekly routine. As the weather changes, swimming offers another way for children to stay active and keep practising. The team's autumn message also highlights the importance of supervision around water in every season.

DIY SNOW GLOBE CRAFT

This DIY Snow Globe is a simple craft for kids of all ages! Create a customised glittery globe to keep or gift to a loved one this Christmas.

You'll need:

- 1 Glass Jar
- Distilled Water

- Small item to use as a focal point (eg: ornament, small toy, plastic or ceramic figurine)

- Glitter
- Clear Glue
- Glue Gun

Instructions:

1. Select a focal point object to use in your snow globe. Get an adult to use the hot glue gun to glue the focal point object to the centre of the lid of the jar.
2. Fill the jar halfway full of distilled water and then squirt in some clear glue and stir it into the water.
3. Add 1-2 teaspoons of glitter.
4. Fill the jar up almost full with more distilled water, leaving enough space in the jar for the focal point object so the jar doesn't overflow.
5. Screw the lid tightly onto the jar so that the focal point object fits nicely inside.
6. Turn the jar upside down and watch the "snow" fall!

HALLOWEEN QUESADILLAS

These cheesy cauliflower quesadillas are a fun, hands-on way to sneak extra veg into mealtimes this Halloween.

METHOD:

STEP 1: Half fill a large saucepan with water and bring to the boil. Add the cauliflower florets and boil for 10-12 minutes, until soft. Drain and set aside.

STEP 2: Blitz the cauliflower until smooth in a food processor.

STEP 3: Melt the butter in a saucepan over a low heat, then whisk in the flour until it forms a smooth paste. Cook, whisking constantly, for 30 seconds.

STEP 4: Gradually whisk in the milk a little at a time, bringing the mixture to a gentle simmer and letting it thicken after each addition. Continue stirring until all the milk is incorporated and the sauce coats the back of a spoon (about 6-8 minutes).

- INGREDIENTS:
- 150ml milk
 - 75g mature cheddar, finely grated
 - 15g tomato puree
 - Salt and pepper
 - 3-4 tortillas
 - Splash of oil
 - Pumpkin cookie cutters or a knife

STEP 5: Stir in the cheese and tomato puree, then season with salt and pepper. Fold the cauliflower puree into the cheese sauce.

STEP 6: Cut 24 pumpkin shapes from the tortillas. On 12 of these, cut out spooky eyes and a mouth with a knife.

STEP 7: Lay the 12 plain pumpkin tortillas on a tray. Spoon a teaspoon of cheese sauce onto each, then top with a face tortilla to sandwich together. Repeat for all.

STEP 8: Heat a splash of oil in a frying pan and cook the quesadillas in batches, both sides, until crisp and lightly golden.

FAMILY Date Nights

THE TRADITION I HOPE MY CHILDREN NEVER OUTGROW

by Sophie David

If you asked me what I hope my children remember about their childhood, it wouldn't be the expensive holidays, the days out or even the beautifully planned birthday parties. Of course, I hope those memories stay with them too, but when I really stop to think about it, they're not the moments I hope define their childhood.

Instead, I hope they remember Friday nights around our kitchen table.

Every Friday, our family has a date. Not the kind that needs booking months in advance or costs a fortune, but a few hours that belong entirely to us. We put our phones away, leave the washing where it is, ignore the emails until tomorrow and choose to be together. Some weeks we're making homemade pizzas, other weeks we're laughing through a giant game of Battleships over dinner, painting ridiculous portraits of one another or creating fairy doors for the garden. Occasionally we'll make fresh pasta from scratch, host a family spa evening or transform the kitchen into our own little ice cream parlour.

The activity changes every week, but the reason behind it never does.

We're making time for each other.

We didn't start family date nights because I thought we needed another thing to add to our calendar. In fact, it was quite the opposite. Like so many families, life had quietly become busy. Between school, work, clubs, homework, birthday parties and all the little jobs that somehow fill every spare moment, we realised we were spending plenty of time together but very little intentional time together. We were sharing a house, but often just passing one another in the rush from one commitment to the next.

So we made a decision.

No matter what the week looked like, one evening would belong to our family.

That one small decision has become one of the best things we've ever done.

Now, by Monday morning, one of my children will usually ask, "What's our date night this week?" It's become something they look forward to, not because they know exactly what we'll be doing, but because they know we'll all be there. It has become part of our family's rhythm, and I think children find enormous comfort in those rhythms. In a world that changes quickly, where weeks often disappear before we've noticed them, traditions offer children something wonderfully dependable. They tell them, "This matters. You matter."

As parents, I think many of us carry an invisible pressure to create magical childhoods. Social media doesn't always help. We see beautifully styled playrooms, extravagant days out and endless bucket lists that leave us wondering whether we're doing enough. It's easy to believe that making memories requires grand gestures or expensive experiences.

But I don't think childhood is built from highlights.

I think it's built from repetition.

The bedtime story read every night.

The pancakes every Sunday morning.

The walk home from school.

The way you always sing the same song in the car.

These are the moments children come to expect, the traditions they grow up inside, and often the memories they carry long after the bigger occasions have faded.

Family date nights have become one of those traditions for us. They aren't extraordinary because of what we do. They're extraordinary because we keep choosing them, week after week.

People often ask me for activity ideas, but I honestly think that's the least important part. We've spent almost nothing on some of our favourite evenings. A blanket on the lounge floor, homemade popcorn and a board game have created just as much laughter as evenings where we've bought ingredients for homemade pizzas or craft supplies for a creative project.

The activity is simply the vehicle.

Connection is the destination.

When I watch my children during these evenings, I realise they're learning so much more than I ever intended. They're negotiating whose turn comes next. They're solving problems together, learning to compromise, celebrating each other's ideas and discovering that losing a game isn't the end of the world. They're building relationships with one another that I hope will still be there long after Adam and I are gone.

Most importantly, they're experiencing something every child deserves to feel.

That someone thinks they're worth making time for.

I don't think we talk enough about that.

In a world where we're constantly distracted by notifications, overflowing calendars and endless jobs that seem too important to wait until tomorrow, making uninterrupted time for someone has become one of the greatest expressions of love we can offer.

Children notice it.

They notice when we're listening without looking at our phones. They notice when we laugh with them instead of watching from the sidelines. They notice when we've carved out time that belongs only to them.

Connection rarely happens by accident.

It happens because we protect it.

That's why family date nights have become non-negotiable in our home. Not because I think one evening a week makes me a better parent, but because I've realised that relationships aren't built in the spaces left over after everything else is done. They're built when we decide they're important enough to come first.

One day, these Friday nights will change.

There won't always be three little chairs squeezed around our kitchen table. There will come a time when Friday evenings are spent with friends, at university, at work or with families of their own. One day, my children will stop asking what our family date night will be because they'll be busy creating lives that no longer revolve around ours.

And that's exactly as it should be.

But I hope that somewhere, years from now, they'll remember how those evenings felt.

Not necessarily what we made or what game we played, but the feeling of belonging. The laughter that filled the kitchen. The conversations that somehow lasted longer than we'd planned. The certainty that, however busy life became, there would always be time set aside just for us.

My greatest hope isn't that they recreate every activity we've ever done.

It's that they recreate the feeling.

Perhaps one day, without even realising why, they'll find themselves saying to their own children, "Shall we have a family date night this Friday?"

Not because they read it in a parenting book or saw it on social media, but because it feels familiar. Because somewhere deep inside them they learnt that connection isn't something we stumble across when life gets quieter.

It's something we choose.

And if my children grow up believing that the people they love are always worth making time for, then I think our Friday nights will have given them something far more valuable than a collection of happy memories. They'll have given them a way of building a family of their own.

WHY WON'T MY CHILD APOLOGISE?

Teaching Empathy Instead of Empty 'Sorrys'

By Rachel Johnson

"Say sorry." Two little words that can turn into the longest ten seconds of your day. Your toddler crosses their arms. Clamps their mouth shut. Or mutters a "sorry" so quietly or quickly that it means nothing at all. Sound familiar?

Here's the reassuring truth: you may feel your child is being defiant, rude, or badly behaved, but they are also being what they are: very young humans who haven't learned how to be a fully functioning person yet. It's our job to teach them.

Why Little Ones Struggle To Say Sorry

Saying a genuine sorry requires something quite sophisticated: understanding that another person has feelings separate from your own, and that your actions caused them. This skill is still under construction in the under-5 brain. Right now, they are the main character in their own story. Awareness of others grows gradually, through hundreds of small, everyday moments.

So when we demand an instant, word-perfect apology from a two or three-year-old, we're often asking for something they're not developmentally ready to give. And when children learn that "sorry" is just a magic word that ends the telling-off, they say it but they don't always feel it. We end up teaching performance, not empathy.

What To Do Instead

The good news is there's plenty we can do to nurture real empathy, even before children can express it in words.

1. NARRATE THE FEELINGS, DON'T SCRIPT THE APOLOGY.

Instead of, "Say sorry to Freddie," try: "Look at Freddie's face. He's crying because you took his digger. That felt sad for him." Naming feelings out loud, calmly and often, is how children slowly learn to notice them.

Rachel Johnson is the author of Connected: Focusing on Me and We, a new book for young people, their parents and educators. She is also Chief Executive of PiXL, the UK's largest school leadership network, and a parent of three.

2. MODEL IT YOURSELF.

Children learn far more from watching us than from our instructions. If you snap at your toddler and then say, "I'm sorry I used a cross voice, that wasn't kind," you're showing them what a real apology sounds like: regret, ownership, and repair.

3. OFFER REPAIR INSTEAD OF REQUIRING WORDS.

For little ones, actions often say more than "sorry" ever could. "Shall we help Freddie build his digger back up?" or "Let's get Amelia a tissue," gives your child a way to put things right without relying on language they may not have yet.

4. KEEP YOUR EXPECTATIONS AGE-APPROPRIATE.

A three-year-old grabbing a toy back isn't always them plotting unkindness, they're testing boundaries and learning the relationship between cause and effect.

We can insist on a word, but what we really want them to understand is that other people have feelings too and sometimes we make mistakes and hurt them.

The Seeds Are Being Planted

You won't see instant results, and that's absolutely normal. Empathy isn't taught in a single conversation; it's built slowly, apology by apology, cuddle by cuddle, explanation and modelling over years.

Every time you name a feeling, model a genuine "sorry," or help your child make things right, you're laying the groundwork for a child who, one day, won't need reminding to say sorry, because they'll truly understand why it matters.

VIP CLUB READER REVIEW: LIGHTHOUSE ISLAND

Written by Tanya Barroso, Toddle About Subscriber

This enchanting wooden lighthouse playset is perfect for imaginative seaside adventures. With a rotating gem at the top, a removable rock pool and a charming collection of sea creatures, it encourages little ones to explore coastal life, weather and storytelling through play. £49.99 from www.tickit.co.uk.

We were so excited to be given the chance to review the Lighthouse Island by Tickit. It is absolutely beautiful and such a lovely quality toy. The attention to detail is wonderful with little wooden shells, rocks, a sweet seal, dolphin and charming lighthouse keeper that my little boy enjoyed playing with.

Everything is beautifully made, smooth and sturdy making it perfect for little hands and it is fantastic for imaginative play.

My little boy was creating his own seaside adventures.

I also love the natural wooden finish and thoughtful design making it a lovely display piece when not being played with.

The only bit my boy struggled with was keeping the red wooden platform on as it came off easily when being played with. However overall, it's a fantastic toy. Highly recommend - 4 Stars.
