Our Non-Regulated Training Programmes

Which One's Right for You?

We offer two types of high-quality, non-regulated training products, designed to enhance and recognise your learners' skills.

Quality License Scheme (QLS) Recognises organisations that consistently deliver high-quality, non-regulated learning. Rather than evaluating learner competence, it provides assurance that the provider has robust systems and processes for designing, delivering and continuously improving training.

The Quality License Scheme serves as a quality mark for providers and offers external recognition of organisational quality.

Quality Learner Programme (QLP) QLP provides programme-level recognition for non-regulated qualifications where learners must demonstrate knowledge, skills or competence through structured assessment.

The aim is to create credible non-regulated programmes that support learner progression and carry value with employers.
